KEIGHLEY. — QUEEN'S THEATRE.—Proprietors, Messrs. Carson and Kendall; Acting-Manager, Mr. Will Carson.—Sapho greatly pleased Monday's audience. The company are undoubtedly very capable, and include talented artists in Miss V. St. Lawrence (Sapho) and Mr. Otto Minster (Jean Gaussin), who practically bear the burden of the play on their shoulders; Mr. Geo. Antley, as Uncle Cesaire, is a big favourite; Mr. Oliver Rogers (Le Grande) is very humorous; Mr. H. Langford, Mr. Pringle Roberts, and Mr. Roy Milton render able support.

KETTERING.—AVENUE THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. Frank Payne.—The attraction this week is Mr. A. E. Smith's pantomime of Babes in the Wood. Miss Kathleen Garnon is a dashing Robin Hood, and Maid Marian is daintily represented by Miss Elsy Douglas; while the Babes are charmingly portrayed by Miss Rosie Morris and Little Ivy Rochefort. The comic element is admirably sustained by Messrs. Reed and Lerne, Mr. J. H. Maxwell, and Mr. W. T. Hutchinson, who cause continuous merriment. Excellent specialities are introduced by Miss Marie Walker on the trombone, and Wal Bendene, contortionist; and the Palace troupe render some effective dancing.

KIDDERMINSTER. — NEW OPERA HOUSE.—Licensee and Managing-Director, Mr. Jas. P. Moore; Acting-Manager, Mr. R. C. Gudgeon.—The boards are occupied this week by Messrs. Fred J. Little and Fred Darcy's pastoral pantomime, entitled Little Red Riding Hood. In the title-rôle Miss Verona Philis is very pleasing; Miss Ada Twibell as Boy Blue well supports her; Prince Charming is played by Miss Emmadon in dashing style; Mr. E. Ridgwell as the wolf is active, while Mr. J. Templar Ellis as Baron Badlot is funny. The Bros. Lavelle as Johnny Green and Jimmy Stout (the tired pair) cause roars of laughter by their quaint and eccentric methods.

KILMARNOCK.—KING'S THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. R. C. Buchanan; Resident-Manager, Mr. J. Major Wand.—Another of Mr. Charles Macdona's companies is attracting good houses this week in the perennial comedy, A Chinese Honeymoon. The artists entrusted with its interpretation revel in their parts. Mr. Ernest Sefton's impersonation of Pineapple is highly diverting; Mr. Harold Cotter makes a pompous and delightful Hang Chow, being ably supported by Mr. Louis Ashmede as Chippy Chop and Mr. Frank Sutten as Hi Lung; Mr. J. Maxwell Edwardes in the part of Tom Hatherton acts and sings with good taste; Miss May Davis displays versatility in the character of Mrs. Pineapple; and Miss May Stevenson as Soo-Soo, Miss Louie Leighton as Mi-Mi, and Miss Alma Bolton as Mrs. Brown are all clever and effective.

KIRKCALDY.—KING'S THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. R. C. Buchanan; Resident-Manager, Mr. John Burton.—Mr. J. Gar Kiddie's company is appearing this week in The Babes in the Wood. Miss Amy Allnutt is a satisfactory Robin Hood; Miss Belle Travers is delightful in the rôle of Marian, and renders her musical numbers in good style; Mr. Leonard Charles is a very effective demon, and his singing in association with Miss Nora Prendergast (a pleasing Fairy Queen) is much admired; the two Babes have capable exponents in Misses Lillybelle and Sylvia—the little ones are clever, and sing and dance wonderfully. There is no lack of the comic element, Messrs. D. J. Tandy (Uncle), Harry Albery (Dame), Farr and Farrand (Pages), Grapho and Jackson (Ruffians), and Mr. Dawson Dewick as Soft Sammy all contributing to the fun. Mr. Dewick is also responsible for the stage-management. The banjo solos of Messrs. Farr and Farrand deserve special notice. Others who are successful are Miss Kathleen Emmet and Miss Nellie Dyson. The chorus give good assistance.

LANCASTER.—ATHENÆUM.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. S. Rogers; Acting-Manager, Mr. Alfred Hook.—Mr. Herbert Ralland's company opened here on Monday with La Poupee. Mr. Fred Seymour was exceedingly good as Hilarius, and Mr. Arthur Cozens and Mr. Walter Balfour were most successful in the parts of Lancelot and Father Maxime respectively. Miss Mysie Devine made a hit as Alesia, and the other parts were well sustained.

HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, J. Porter and W. J. Fergusson; Acting-Manager, Mr. John Martin.—Mr. Chas. Raymond's Clito in a series of poses is drawing remarkably large audiences this week; Hanvarr and Anna Lee supply a clever sporting act, The Golfer and the Maid; Nada Moret is a comedienne of ability; and De Lil, illusionist, fairly baffles his audience. Charles Cardle, baritone; Hulbert, ventriloquist; De Vere and Kenwick, in a comedy act, all add to the success of the entertainment. The Hippograph continues to be an attraction.

PALACE.—Proprietors, Messrs. J. and C. Fell; Manager, Mr. John Fell.—King and Delane, in a musical burlesque, The Rival's Arrival, head the bill here, and are accorded a good reception. The Monckton's are funny in a comedy act, Are Wives Dummies? and the Days are extraordinary thought-readers. The Two Daniels are smart dancers, Cullen and Coyle have some good patter, and other items include Harry Leaton, comedian; Young Igo, comedian; and the Edison-Swan Animated Pictures.

LEAMINGTON. — THEATRE ROYAL. — Lessees, Messrs. Milton Bode and Edward Compton.—Manager, Mr. Harry Hunter.—The comic opera, The Little Michus, is being played here to large houses, and the management are to be congratulated upon securing such an excellent company as Mr. George Dance's for its presentation. Mr. Foster Courtenay scores a great success in the character of General Des Ifs; and the Little Michus—Marie Blanche and Blanche Marie—have charming representatives in Miss Alice Coverick and Miss Gipsy Dale. The part of Gaston Rigaud is ably sustained by Mr. William Everard; and as Bagnolet Mr. Gilbert Childs is exceedingly good. Miss Mary Young is an excellent Madame Michu; and the character of Pierre Michu finds an able exponent in Mr. Leon Simkin. Some clever dances are introduced by Mlle. Marjorie, and a capable chorus and orchestra, under the bâton of Mr. Otto Manns, do much for the success of the piece.

LEEDS.—EMPIRE PALACE.—Moss' Empires, Ltd.; District-Manager, Mr. Gerald Morton; Resident-Manager, Mr. Alex. Galley.—Deane Tribune's clever tabloid pantomime Bo-Peep is the leading line this week, and with the popular comedian himself dispensing any amount of fun and frolic in a big part, makes a capital half-hour's entertainment; Kelly and Ashby are doing their well-known billiard act with undiminished success; Browning and Wally find their acrobatic and gymnastic comedy turn high in popular favour; whilst the original naval speciality by Carlos Caesaro and some fine vocal work by the Cambrian trio of ladies meet with unstinted applause. Dan Conroy, comedian, is going as well as ever; and other popular contributors to the programme are Frank Harwood, character-vocalist, and Edie Veno, comedienne.

HIPPODROME.—Proprietor, Mr. Thos. Barrasford; General-Managers, Mr. Claude Shayler and Mr. Chas. Weldon.—The illusionist Gustave Fasola is at the top of the bill this week, and with a mystifying show attracts and interests good houses. The Bensons are amongst the most popular entertainers, their musical and vocal comedy being much enjoyed; Nat Clifford, a favourite comedian, is doing well; an excellent gymnastic turn by the Brothers Krags is a feature; Adams and Ward contribute comedy and acrobatics in enjoyable style; and Keir and Kempton with comedy sketch are in high favour. Other good and successful turns are done by Winona, with shooting speciality, and Leah Adell in a captivating vocal scena.

CITY VARIETIES.—Proprietor, Mr. F. W. Wood; General-Manager, Mr. J. C. Whiteman; Acting-Manager, Mr. S. Jones.—The feature of the week's bill is a fine picture film of the recent Moir-Palmer boxing match, every important detail being depicted most clearly. At the foot of the bill Collinson's Comedy Company appears in a mirth-provoking knockabout sketch; the Macdonald Trio are prominent with a clever musical speciality; Rappo and Ella bring a novel pot-pourri act. The comedians are Mark Tapley and Andy North, and both prove smart. The Lannons are here again with dancing speciality; whilst Laurin and Cinders, in musical extravaganza, and Ruby Dahl's marionettes are amongst the most popular turns.

LEICESTER.—ROYAL OPERA HOUSE.—Proprietors and Managers, Messrs. Milton Bode and Edward Compton; General and Business Manager, Mr. Henry Dundas.—The musical comedy The Spring Chicken is being introduced to local playgoers here for the first time this week by Mr. George Dance's chief company, and is meeting with a splendid reception. The entire production is done in a lavish manner, and the full chorus and special orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Knight Pearce, are also adjuncts that add to a bright entertainment. Mr. Fred Payne creates great merriment as Mr. Girdle, and is aided and abetted in that department in excellent style by Mr. Edwin Dodds as Felix and Mr. J. S. Durant as Gustave Babori. Miss Nellie Kavanagh scores a well-deserved success as Mrs. Girdle, and Miss Chrissie Ralland as Rosalie is deserving of high praise for a charming embodiment. Miss Clarice Cartner as the Baroness Papouche is very good, and as Baron Papouche Mr. A. Drinkwater is capital. Both Mr. C. Brierley as Stephen-Henry and Miss Lilian Errol as Emmy-Lou are amusing as a couple of youngsters. Others who also deserve a meed of praise are Mr. Harry Averell (Boniface), Mr. Cecil Moyland as the proprietor of the Crimson Butterfly, and Miss Florence Wix as Dulcie Babori.

THEATRE ROYAL. — Sole Lessees and Managers, Messrs. Milton Bode and Edward Compton; Business-manager, Mr. E. R. Beaumont.—To-day the pantomime of Aladdin terminates its career so far as this theatre is concerned. During its run of four weeks the various artists engaged have worked with a will that reflects great credit upon them.

PALACE THEATRE, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; District-Manager, Mr. Hatton Wharton; Acting-Manager, Mr. C. Finch-Hatton; Assistant-Manager, Mr. Bertram G. Iles.—Premier position is held here this week by the famous John Leopold company in the sketch The House Boat, which is well staged, and affords plenty of amusement. Carney and Armstrong prove most entertaining in their singing, whistling, and acting; the original Matweep-Hugoston troupe of Russian singers and dancers return, and give a remarkably clever acrobatic display; Parker and Parr, Welsh vocal entertainers, score a well-deserved success; Sybil St. Elmo is an operatic vocalist who wins favour; The Saphos display cleverness in a comedy bar act. Others entertaining are Trippello, in a musical turn; the Six Primrose Girls, singers and acrobatic dancers; Little Tich Bourn, comedian and big-boot dancer; and the American Bioscope is retained, and depicts "Curfew shall not ring to-night."

PAVILION THEATRE. — Proprietor and Director-General, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Acting-Manager, Mr. Walter Lapworth.—Heading this week's bill is the Chee-you-say Family of Chinese conjurors. Johnny Holland and Co. create hearty laughter with the farcical absurdity Our Betsy. Edwards and Dacre are smart comedy duologue artists; Marion Scott is a popular comedienne; Cissie Coman, in pictorial songs, is retained over another week; Walter H. Pallister's Bioscope is again a special feature of the programme; Les Eldines in the sketch Our Slavey, and J. Hegarty, comedian and sifflеur, are also entertaining.

LEIGH.—THEATRE ROYAL AND OPERA HOUSE.—Proprietor, Mr. J. W. Cragg; Resident-Manager, Mr. Harry Rousby.—Mr. John Gerant and Co., with the military drama At Duty's Call, is the attraction here this week. Mr. Harry Scott furnishes a manly impersonation of Capt. Geo. Alison, and the villainies of Harold Alison are realistically portrayed by Mr. John Gerant; Mr. Ernest St. John portrays General Gordon with good effect; Miss Lily Crammonde endows the rôle of Dora Drummond with many fascinating features; Miss Jeannie Weston acts with undoubted skill as Selema. The humour of the piece is abundantly supplied by Mr. Harry Ugar and Miss Eva Belle as Terry O'Hallaron and Mary respectively.

ASSEMBLY ROOMS.—The Paris Modern Theatre Company is occupying the above hall this week with a wonderful series of coloured animated pictures. The programme, which embraces a wide range of subjects, is amusing, instructive, and interesting.

LEITH.—NEW GAIETY THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. R. C. Buchanan; Resident-Manager, Mr. John Darlison.—The concluding week of the pantomime, The Fair One with the Golden Locks, has been marked by a special performance, initiated by Mr. R. C. Buchanan, for the benefit of Leith Hospital, which took place on Thursday afternoon. All the members of the company and the local staff of the theatre gave their services for the good cause, and a "bumper" house, crowded in every part, showed the heartiest appreciation of the piece and the players, whose efforts have gained not only the plaudits but also the thanks of the whole community. The performance, under the patronage of Provost Mackie and Town Councillors, was cordially supported by the public, and realised a handsome sum.

LIMERICK.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Manager, Mr. Robert Fogerty.—The return visit of the Bandmann-Palmer company is very welcome. On Monday that eminent actress appeared as Catherine in the piece entitled From Washerwoman to Duchess, before a very appreciative audience. Mr. F. Skein was a clever Fouché, and as Napoleon, Mr. Sydney Bland, a careful artist, showed ability. Mr. Robert Pittard was very realistic as Marechal Lefebvre, and as Launes Mr. Ashmore Vincent was characteristic.

LINCOLN.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Sole Proprietor, Mr. Frank King.—The Marvellous Pardoes are presenting Cinderella with great success this week. Miss Lottie Holland as Prince Charming and Miss Beattie Shamrock share the principal honours, while the humour of Mr. Tom Hulme and other comedians is decidedly entertaining. Mr. Tom Griffith's songs are a feature of the performance, and he was vociferously encored for "The Storm Fiend" on Monday evening. Specialities by Mr. John Pardoe (Mr. William Pardoe being off, unfortunately, through illness), the Desmond Girls, the Three De Veres, and others were enthusiastically received.

PALACE.—Sole Proprietors, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; General-Manager, Mr. Sydney Arthur.—A return visit of Blanche and Diacoff, who cycle at a terrific speed around an almost perpendicular track, is proving a big success, a cycling competition being run in connection with the turn. The Two Kays sing capitally; Belle Braham's pictorial songs go well; George Hall's whistling makes a hit; and items from Rose Elliott, Fyne and Hurley, Reilly and Taylor, and Raymond's Bio Tableaux are extremely well received.

LIVERPOOL. — ROTUNDA THEATRE. — Manager, Mr. M. Montgomery.—The old-time Silver King still possesses drawing powers, which is shown by the large amount of patronage bestowed upon it here this week. It has been presented in good style by Messrs. Polini and Melford's company, the members of which did it full justice. Mr. Fred D. Daviss made an admirable Wilfred Denver, playing with much dramatic power; a tender and sweet Nellie came from Miss Daisy Scudamore; Mr. Edward J. George again distinguished himself as Jaikes; Mr. L. St. George Lowther presented a capital picture of Captain Skinner; the part of Henry Corket was in the careful keeping of Mr. George Belmore; Mr. Arthur Wright handled the rôle of Elijah Combe with every satisfaction; Messrs. S. Bingham and S. Hatchway did the utmost with Binks and Bronson; Miss Flossie Hale Daviss and Master Douglas Thomas showed discretion as Cissy and Ned; and Miss Mary Simpson was good as Mrs. Gamage.

LYRIC THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Henry C. Arnold; Directors of Entertainments, Messrs. T. Barrasford and F. Willmot; Acting-Manager, Mr. Fred Coles.—J. F. Preston and company top the bill here with an intensely dramatic sketch, entitled Rogues of the Turf. The piece is well played by Mr. J. F. Preston and Miss M. F. Barlow, and others. A clever turn is that of the Bros. Pim, who delight the audience with their comedy bar act; Blake and Granby are laughable in their sketch, The Man in Possession; Nellie Farrell comes in for a gratifying reception; the Fergano Trio are smart equilibrists; Yorkshire Tom, mimic, is good, as is Leo Tramor, comedian.

STAR THEATRE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Harris Fineberg.—The Ugliest Woman on Earth has paid a return visit to the popular Star, and done good business. Included in Mr. Frederick Melville's company are Miss Beatrice Homer, who with the highest ability holds the title-rôle; Mr. Philip Darien is particularly well suited to the part of Jack Merriman; Mr. Edlin as Tubby and Miss Nellie Jackson as Aggie Brown cause much laughter; Miss Nell Oliver presents a most satisfactory Rose Courtenay; Mr. Leyton Cancellor had the heavy part of Hubert Gold, of which he gave a meritorious performance; Miss Violet Macaree submitted a capital picture of Morita; Mr. Allan Davonport was Tam Redvers, and Mr. Charles Barrett Antonio.

QUEEN'S THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. Lingford Carson; Resident-Manager, Mr. Fred L. Arthur.—Mr. Carson's bright and tuneful pantomime, Babes in the Wood, remains a second week, to the delight of patrons.

ROYAL HIPPODROME.—Managing-Director, Mr. Thomas Barrasford; Manager, Mr. Walter Hassan.—This is the last week of Mr. John Tiller's pantomime, Aladdin, which has proved exceedingly popular during its month's run. Included in the general programme are the Villions troupe of acrobatic cyclists, who have merited and secured a most flattering reception; Anthony, a funny conjurer, whose work is much enjoyed; Chas. Cardow, a smart comedian and entertainer; Ted Saunders, with his clever imitations of leading stars; and Mamie Cannon, a lively and neat coon comedienne.

NEW PARTHENON.—Lessee, Mr. Fred E. Weisker; Manager, Mr. Edwin W. Smith.—This old-established place reopened on Monday under new proprietorship. At the top were Clark and Glenney with their especially funny act, The Haunted House; Dolly Andrews, a dainty comedienne, who recently made her début on the stage, had a flattering reception for her neat singing and dancing; some excellent Irish songs came from the character-vocalist Don Cameron; Leo Vincent showed considerable powers as a ventriloquist; and others in the bill were Warden, Reed, and Co., speciality artists, and Zernyi, contortionist.

ROYAL PALACE OF VARIETIES.—Manager, Mr. M. Montgomery; Acting-Manager, Mr. Frank O'Toole.—Here this week the "Royal" Stock Company is presenting Her Fatal Past. Mr. Percy Boucher arouses great laughter with his Jonathan Nobbs; Mr. Harry Tresham makes a fine Mark Desmond; Mr. Sydney Grant is a meritorious Gilbert Fernside; Mr. Cecil Ravenswood plays well as Leonard Fernside; Mr. Robert Wilton ably portrays Dicky Bird; Miss Florence Palmer proves a popular Honor Symes; Miss Beryl Ravenswood excels in the dual rôles of Ruth Fernside and Belle de Lara; and Miss Florence Cameron is amusing as Kitty Springwell. The Royal Bioscope has some fine pictures.

PADDINGTON PALACE.—Lessee, Mr. M. Montgomery.—Here this week the "Royal" Stock Dramatic Company has appeared in The Slave of Sin. Mr. Charles Herberte was well placed as Professor Morley; Mr. Albert Sember acted with power as Gordon Morley; Mr. H. G. Brandon proved a humorous Alphonse; Miss Lina Nazeby made a striking Ida Ross; the part of Mother Moocher was in the trained keeping of Miss Sara Blumenthal; Miss Lilian Burns distinguished herself as Elsie Beresford; and others who afforded strong support were Miss Florence Barnes (Clara Jenkins), Mr. Frank S. Strickland (Dr. Selby), Mr. Walter Foster (Wiley), and Mr. Francis E. Wybert (Stephen Fletcher). The Royal Bioscope has some unusually good pictures.

PARK PALACE, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. Walter de Frece; Director of Entertainments; Mr. Fred Willmot.—The south-end house has a capital programme this week. At the top is the popular Florrie Gallimore, who has a rousing reception for her old and new favourites; Captain Devereux's performing dogs are a source of keen interest; Billy French renders in good style several coon ditties; as a club manipulator Joe Hennessey is an acceptable turn; the Royal Victorian Boys are excellent international dancers; Josie Frettelli's scena, The Mirror and the Maid, is richly enjoyed. Also in the bill are Mac and Hill, singing and talking comedians; and Watkins, eccentric comedian.

WESTMINSTER.—Lessee, Mr. Fred E. Weisker; Acting-Manager, Mr. G. Montgomery.—Foremost here this week are Miss Zeta Grey and company, with the comedy scena, A Lancashire Lass, which is full of good singing and fun; Clark and Glenny cause much laughter with their sketch, The Haunted House; T. C. Edwards renders several songs in excellent fashion; the Orchids are smart patterers and vocalists; some acceptable coon singing and dancing are provided by the Two Wiltons, and Harry Mantell, comedian, also appears.

EMPIRE.—Proprietors, Moss' Empires, Ltd.—The final week of Mr. J. F. Elliston's pantomime, Puss in Boots, is announced.

HAYMARKET.—Licensee, Mr. J. S. Childs.—Harry Calden's sketch company remains another week, this time playing Hurrah, Boys, Hurrah, which is in five tableaux. Miss Alma Curzon shines as a comedienne; George Harris gives a neat society entertainment; some taking songs come from Harry Chester, comedian; and Bowman and Belle as vocalists, dancers, and paper-tearers receive well-deserved applause. The Bioscope shows some excellent films.

OLYMPIA, LTD.—Manager, Mr. A. W. Young.—The Earthquake remains in the bill, and has proved a magnet. Harry Cadle's "Casey Court" pantomime of Mick Whittintun was richly enjoyed; Techow's cats were watched with keen interest; Hall and Earle, comedy acrobats, were responsible for a deal of laughter; the Arthur Lloyd Trio with the sketch, Little Charlie, were particularly amusing; Barrington, the trick pianist, was loudly applauded for his really clever efforts; Zanfretta and Napio, the musical knife-grinders, proved an excellent turn; Phil and Nettie Peters, with their amusing comedy, This Side, gained much approval, and Charles Pastor, a clever comedian, also appeared.

TIVOLI.—Proprietors, Liverpool Theatre of Varieties, Ltd.; Manager, Mr. James Marks.—This latest addition to the number of local places of amusement is being well supported, and success is bound to follow if excellent programmes such as that offered this week are put forward. Recently the "boards" had to be shown before the curtain went up, while it is particularly noticeable that the class of patron is as good as that which enters any other local theatre whatsoever. Miss Marie Dainton heads the bill, and is heartily applauded for her particularly neat imitations of her sister artists; Hill and Whitaker, a couple of accomplished musicians, have a most flattering reception, their old nigger melodies and banjo and harp selections "bringing down the house"; J. H. Darnley and company are very diverting in their laughable sketch, What a Night! the Seven Wulfrunas give every proof of their ability as comedy acrobats; the Sisters Marion are talented juvenile duettists; and also in the bill are Joe Mac, comedian and dancer; the Bros. Levett, vaulters; and Lozelle, gymnast.

ROSCOMMON.—Lessee, Mr. Fred Willmot.—Foremost here this week is Georgina Leonard, a popular vocalist, with some good pieces; the Sisters

Belmont sing several neat duets and dance well; the Faulkner Trio have a very funny sketch, Rival Tourists; Toney Iveson, the tramp at the piano, proves highly amusing; and others in the programme are Frew and Frow, character comedians and dancers; and Gertie Cunningham, serio and dancer.

LLANELLY.—ROYALTY THEATRE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Z. Andrews; Acting-Manageress, Miss Alice Rocheforte.—A very bright entertainment is being given here this week by Dr. Leon Vint and his Globe Choir and Scenorama; Madame Vint adds much to the show with her wonderful second sight manifestations. The principal variety artists are the charming and clever Sisters Parez, novel instrumentalists; Miss Sylvia Phillips, a clever and dainty Welsh young lady, comedienne and sketch artist; Miss N. Hartmann, a high-class ballad vocalist; Miss Victoria Drew, L.C.M., a very good high soprano; Miss Georgina Jeans, a clever Welsh contralto; Miss Rachael Morgan, Australian contralto; Miss Gertie Gordon, quick-change artist and clever dancer; Miss Gertie Vint, a charming coon vocalist; Mr. James Molloy, humorist. Miss Maud Hummerston is the pianist for the troupe, and Dr. Vint is a most efficient guide, philosopher, and friend.

LONDONDERRY.—OPERA HOUSE.—Sole Proprietor, Mr. W. Payne-Seddon.—Mr. R. A. P. Williams's company is appearing in The Babes in the Wood pantomime here this week with great success. Miss Mai Duncan is a vivacious Robin Hood, and Miss Alice Chant is capital as Maid Marian; the Queen of the Fairies is nicely played by Miss Gellatly; Mr. George Melvin is a lively Helen McMutchin; and Mr. Charles Howarth plays the Wicked Baron very well. The production includes a number of capital variety turns.

LONG EATON.—LYCEUM THEATRE.—A variety company, headed by Mr. Claude Ginnett's Dick Turpin's Ride to York, occupies the boards this week. There are half a dozen well-trained horses, but the impressive finale, in which the death of Black Bess occurs, is a remarkable performance. The ever-popular story is watched with interest. The variety business at the close is excellent, and pictures by the Imperial Bioscope are quite up to date. The musical mélange is very good.

LOUGHBOROUGH.—NEW THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietors, Messrs. W. Payne-Seddon and George Robertson; Acting-Manager, Mr. Lindsey Edwards.—The members of the Gay Parisienne company gave a variety entertainment on the first three nights of this week. Capital turns were submitted by Miss Lilian Talbot, Miss Holford Berinager, Miss Madge Soutter, Miss Nance O'Neill, Mr. Will Harman, and Mr. Leslie Waller. The Imperial Glee Singers scored a great success. Mr. Arthur Carlton's company in The Span of Life appeared on Thursday.

LOWESTOFT. — MARINA.—Managing-Director, Mr. E. A. Smith.—The Tyrant is being presented this week for the first time locally. Special mention must be made of the artistic performance of Miss Marie Dagmar as Tisbe. Another fine piece of acting was that of Mr. Fred C. Somerfield, who handled a most difficult rôle in a masterly manner. Praise must also be accorded to the Misses Lallah Shelton, Millie Ford (a pretty and charming Lady Catherine), and Miss Lizzie Chambers. Mr. Roy Fortescue, in the name-part, seemed to revel in his work.

HIPPODROME.—Proprietor, Mr. Geo. Gilbert; Manager, Mr. Frank Freeland.—The season of animated pictures and variety amalgamation, now in its uninterrupted run of nine weeks, has been the greatest success since the opening of the building. The huge auditorium is packed nightly with enthusiastic audiences. The pictures, of the highest possible quality, are thrown on the screen with a steadiness and precision that reflects much credit on the operator. The variety company includes Zenora, equilibrist; Leslie and Flayer, comedy artists; Nora Doone, singer and dancer; and the ever-popular Leslie Reed.

LUTON.—GRAND THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. E. Graham Falcon; Business-Manager, Mr. Louis J. Beard.—Miss Rose Faith's company in the costume play, No Cross, no Crown, was here the first three nights of the week. Mr. W. Carridan ably portrays Sir Francis Luttrell; and Messrs. Harrison Chapman and Herbert de Ville ably reproduce Professor Nebb, an old tutor, and Austin Blake, a lawyer, respectively. Miss Rose Faith is successful as Clare, the second Lady Luttrell; and Miss Gwen Stewart as Lady Margaret Luttrell and Mistress Gray is very good. The dresses are bright, and the play is well received by good houses.

MACCLESFIELD. — ROYAL. — Proprietor and Manager, Mr. W. K. Gatley.—A Royal Divorce is being presented here by Mr. W. W. Kelly's company. Miss Edith Cole as the Empress charms all by her pathos; as Napoleon, Mr. F. Victor presents the part very effectively; Mr. C. Agnew makes a capital Talleyrand; and as the Marquis De Beaumont, Mr. Graham Woods acquits himself admirably. Miss Agnes Imlay is pleasing as Marie Louise; and Miss Ellen Richmond is very charming as Stephanie. Mr. A. Grenville does extremely well as General Augereau; and Miss Gertrude Entwistle gives a clever representation of Blanche.

MANCHESTER. — ROYAL OSBORNE THEATRE. — Manager, Mr. W. B. Broadhead; Acting-Manager, Mr. P. B. Broadhead.—Drama gives way to pantomime here this week. It is the story of Cinderella, told by Mr. Martin Byam, and produced under the direction of Mr. Theodore Adye. A big audience manifested delight at Monday's performance, for the company is an excellent one, and the staging quite brilliant. Chief among the comedians is Mr. Edwin Garth, whose humour as Arabella, one of the ugly sisters, is quite in his best style; Mr. Howard Ward as Dulcibella, is also very amusing. Capital fun is added by Messrs. Bennett and Martell, as Pimple and the Baron respectively; and Messrs. Earle and Melville are brisk and entertaining as a couple of knockabout comedians. Miss Helen Kaye is a charming Cinderella; Miss Iris Bamfield makes a dashing Prince; and Miss Louie Davis as Princess Pearl dances in a style worthy of high praise. Others who do well are Miss Mabel Ashton as Dandini and Miss Mary Clarke as the Fairy; while among the specialities, the dancing of the Starlight Quartette is very good. Many popular songs are introduced, and the entire production is a credit to all concerned.

METROPOLE THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. W. B. Broadhead; Acting-Manager, Mr. P. B. Broadhead.—Henry Herne's great water sensation, Blackmail, is the principal attraction here this week. Another big turn is that of Clown Zertho and his wonderful dogs; capital business is added by Carr and Rose, operatic vocalists; Leon and Leoni, expert musicians; Arthur Slater, the whistling man in white; the Leotards, comical clowns and hat-throwers; Ce Me Marie, a wonderful contortionist; Walter Curtis, comedian; Chris Masters, character vocalist; and a fine series on the bioscope.

ST. JAMES'S THEATRE.—Lessee, Mr. R. Flanagan; Manager, Mr. Gus Flanagan.—Mr. Fred Granville presents here this week an interesting musical drama, entitled For Better or Worse. A trio of officers of the Guards—Captain Hilliard, Major Crawford, and Lieut. Dalrymple—are conspicuous in the action, and these rôles are ably filled by Mr. Charles Witlock, Mr. Robert Forder, and Mr. Clement Burge respectively. Mr. Edmund T. Sayers as the actor, Horatio P. Ranter, gives a particularly good performance. Among the ladies, Miss Georgina V. France is capital as Olive Heathcote, the merchant's daughter; Miss Harrietta Taylor and Miss Mabel Wood give clever depictions of two burlesque artists; and Miss Dolly Varden is amusing as Melinda, the cook. Clever specialities are added by the Clements.

GRAND JUNCTION THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. W. B. Broadhead; Acting-Manager, Mr. P. B. Broadhead.—The Midnight Wedding, last week's success at the Royal Osborne Theatre, is the attraction here this week.

QUEEN'S THEATRE. — A notice of the revival of Othello will be found in another column.

EMPIRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; Acting-Manager, Mr. H. Hall.—An exceptionally fine musical turn is offered here this week by the famous Savonas, the storm scene from William Tell being rendered in a most realistic and masterly manner, gaining unstinted applause. Wonderfully clever and amusing are the Craggs, in their acrobatic sketch, Billy, and they are deservedly well received; Ernesta does some juggling and equilibristic feats in a highly finished way; Horace Jones, a capital Welsh comedian, makes a decided hit; and Jack Neill sings a Scotch song in good style, and amuses with smart patter. Mona Macdonald is a charming comedienne; Percival is good at the piano; considerable laughter is caused by the Monte Myro Troupe; and Arnold Bell's company appears in an absurdity, entitled Smash and Dash. "That Gem of a Slavey" is an amusing film shown on the bioscope.

PALACE.—General-Manager, Mr. Walter de Frece; Secretary, Mr. Peter Watson; Acting-Manager, Mr. Nelson Barry.—Fred Karno's Football Match is still the big attraction here; the Four Rio Brothers appear with success in a neat gymnastic novelty; Pyck, Tholl, and Taylor are seen to advantage in a delightful dancing scena; Annie Nelson, ballad vocalist, sings well; Diamond and Beatrice present a pleasing musical novelty; and the Two Hartfords are clever in their equilibristic cycle act. Very funny are the Palace pictures.

HIPPODROME. — Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; Acting-Manager, Mr. E. P. Morgan.—The Flood, a wonderful spectacle, still holds the chief place in the programme here. This tremendous sensation is supplemented by the Seven Perezoffs, in a comic juggling pantomime, entitled An Evening in a Parisian Café; Harry Russon, an accomplished actor-comedian; the Avolos, who do wonderful things on six upright poles; J. H. Scotland, an excellent operatic basso; the Scheull Brothers, smart head and hand equilibrists; the Schutzenlieslern Quartette of charming singers; Alma Gray, clever singer and dancer; two pleasing items by the choir; and "The Runaway Van," a comic and exciting subject on the bioscope.

TIVOLI. — Managing-Director, Mr. Charles A. Wilkes; Acting-Manager, Mr. Arthur B. Wilkes.—Miss Sylvia Cavalho tops the bill here this week in Lulu, an interesting episode in the life of an actress, and plays with dramatic skill, ably supported by Mr. Clifford Pembroke, Mr. Frank Wood, Miss Ida Chapman, and Miss Alice Drummond; Kate A. Traill is an excellent singer; F. H. Dundas is a descriptive vocalist with a good style; and exceedingly clever are Onda and Artell, in their gymnastic act. Gillin, a smart ventriloquist, is well received; Daisy Read sings and dances nicely; and other good turns are those of Percival and Morley, in a duologue, Turtle Doves; the Allens, in a musical act; De Voy, Hurst, and Fredericks, in an absurdity; and Rose D'Alberg, comedienne. Raymond's Vivagraph pictures are good. Austin Rudd, the popular comedian, is billed, but on the occasion of our visit did not appear.

KING'S, LONGSIGHT.—Manager, Mr. W. B. Broadhead; Acting-Manager, Mr. P. B. Broadhead.—Fred S. Peake and company are to the front here this week, in that excellent dramatic sketch, The Hypocrite, and are well received; Fred and Maud Vypond are delightful entertainers, and are greatly appreciated; Frederica's performing toy terriers are well trained; the Pichel Troupe of Risleyists perform some daring feats; Nellie Navette dances well; the Aeronauts are clever grotesque acrobats; and Johnson and D'Evere are good in a cycle act. Other smart items are contributed by Vowles and Bryan, in song and story; and Conway and Garland, comedians. "The 100 to 1 Shot" is depicted on the bioscope.

QUEEN'S PARK HIPPODROME.—Manager, Mr. W. B. Broadhead; Acting-Manager, Mr. P. B. Broadhead.—Messrs. Cullen and Carthy's capital pantomime, The Babes in the Wood, is here this week, adapted to suit two performances nightly, and is attracting good houses. The company is a strong one, and includes, besides Messrs. Cullen and Carthy, as the Robbers, Miss F. Carlile (Robin Hood), Miss Nancy Thornton (a charming Maid Marion), Miss Gertrude Martini (Fairy), Dolly Cullen and Elsie Jordison (the Babes), and Messrs. Arthur Stratton (Baron), Little Cluley (Bantam), and George Casey (Dame). Specialities are added by the Sisters Volbecque.

HIPPODROME, HULME.—Manager, Mr. W. B. Broadhead; Acting-Manager, Mr. P. B. Broadhead.—The Bounding Pattersons head the bill here this week, in an exceptionally clever act; as usual, Tom and Marie Motramo, musical comedy artists, cause roars of laughter; La Roland, in her "mysterious grotto dances," gives a pretty and effective turn; the Paolias are fine specimens of muscular perfection; and Gus Harris scores in his dramatic song-scena, The Synagogue. Other successful items are those of Charles Valvo, ventriloquist; Primavesi, juggler; Tom Reed, comedian; and Beatty and Blanche, comediennes and dancers. "The Wrong Clue," an interesting film, is depicted on the bioscope.

MANSFIELD.—GRAND THEATRE.—Proprietors, Mansfield Theatre Company; General-Manager, Captain Cecil Clayton.—A good house attended here on Monday, when Mr. Edward Marris's company opened a three-nights' engagement with The Cingalee. Mr. Arthur Ferris plays Chambhuddy Ram with infinite humour; Mr. Frank Manger scores heavily as the Hon. Harry Vereker; and as Bobby Warren Mr. W. J. Austin is a decided success. The part of Boobhamba is excellently rendered by Mr. Hugh Webb; Mr. Coope Edmunds is an amusing Sir Peter Loftus; Miss Ethel May is a vivacious Nanoya; and Miss B. Frey admirably impersonates the part of Lady Patricia Vane. Peggy Sabine is in the capable hands of Miss K. Kennedy. The staging is, as usual, praiseworthy.

HIPPODROME.—Managing-Director, Mr. Herbert Darnley; Resident-Director, Mr. Tom Jennings.—This is the last week of variety at this house for the present. The current programme is largely composed of pictures, projected by Vernon's Imperial Bioscope. Mr. Ryder Davies gives some interesting turns, and receives applause.

MARGATE.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Exclusive Manager, Mr. Edward Michael; Business-Manager, Mr. A. Austin-Leigh.—The nautical, comical pantomime (from the Elephant and Castle Theatre, London) depicting in humorous manner The Adventures of Robinson Crusoe, was presented here on Monday by Mr. J. M. East's company. Speciality turns are introduced most effectively by the Four Diamonds, H. E. High (a clever roller skater), and the Phydoras (particularly smart musical experts). Miss Agnes Paulton, a fascinating Crusoe, sings very well indeed; Mr. Will Smith is exceedingly funny as Mrs. Crusoe; Mr. H. E. High sustains the part of Man Friday in a particularly humorous manner; Miss Eileen Guilbert sings delightfully in the part of the Fairy Romance. The Bros. Phydora put plenty of active fun into the roles of Ben, the Bosun, and Mick, the Mate, and Miss Ada Davidson does well as Jack. Miss Maud Denny sings pleasingly, and as Polly Perkins sustains her part with grace and vivacity. Mr. Henry W. Hatchman, as Will Atkins, the "heavy villain," is also good.

HIPPODROME.—Sole Joint Proprietors, Messrs. F. Mouillot and Walter de Frece; General-Manager, Mr. J. de Frece; Resident-Manager, Mr. C. F. Bawtree.—The variety entertainment this week is really a good all-round show. Lily Lawrence, comedienne, is an attractive turn, and Fred Harrison, eccentric comedian, causes plenty of genuine amusement. Cissie Lupino, speciality dancer, is exceedingly clever; Les Zelovas, in their novel acrobatic and gymnastic pot-pourri, are worth seeing; and Geo. W. Foster, comedian, meets with an enthusiastic reception. Gerbardi Mohr, described as the somersault king, is very smart.

MEXBOROUGH.—PRINCE OF WALES'S THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. W. H. Melton.—Mr. G. Carlton Wallace's company occupies the boards here this week with the drama The Love that Women Desire. Mr. Jerrold Heather is prominent with a thoughtful interpretation of Philip Carnaby; Mr. J. O. Stewart is a capital Squire Abingdon; Mr. Alf Brandon is well placed as Richard Abingdon; Mr. L. Montgomery presents a forcible portraiture of Frank Hardy; Miss Lallah Stanhope gives evidence of dramatic skill in the rôle of Sybil Thorburn; Miss Cicely Desmond is a charming Madge Abingdon; and Miss N. Griffiths a capable Mariquinha.

MIDDLESBROUGH. — THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Charles Imeson.—Claudian pays a return visit here this week. The company is that of Mr. William Maclaren, who in the title-rôle is apt and natural; of genuine merit, too, is the acting of Miss Lily C. Bandmann as Almida; Mr. Douglas Earle as Agazil has a thorough grasp of the part; and Mr. Charles Chaloner as Belos and Miss Maud Garth as Edessa are responsible for much vivacity. Mr. F. Owen Chambers does full justice to the part of Thariogalus; and Mr. Weston Hubbard gives a clever study of Alcares. In the prologue, Mr. S. Brisco Fairbridge as the Holy Clement, Mr. Edward Grogan as Theorus, and Miss Rosa Webster as Serena acquit themselves with credit. A clever cymbal dance is given by Miss Amy Hardcastle, and the scenery and dresses are pretty.

OPERA HOUSE. — Managing-Director, Mr. Robert Arthur; Acting-Manager, Mr. W. K. Chatto.—The visit of the D'Oyly Carte Répertoire Company caused enthusiasm on Monday evening, when The Mikado was presented. Mr. Albert Kavanagh as the Mikado was very amusing; Nanki-Poo found a clever representative in Mr. Strafford Moss, whose singing and acting were alike excellent; Mr. Chas. R. Walenn, an excellent comedian and a capital vocalist, caused roars of laughter as the Lord High Executioner; Mr. Fred Billington, in his old part of Boo-Bah, provoked laughter; Pish-Tush was in the safe keeping of Mr. Leicester Tunks; and Mr. Fred Drawater was in excellent form as Go-To. Miss Hope Hastings made a pleasing Yum-Yum; and the Misses Lulu Evans and Mabel Burnege was equally attractive. Miss Theresa Rassam acted with much ability as Katisha.

EMPIRE PALACE.—Managing-Director, Mr. John Brill; Manager, Mr. Charles G. Rembges.—Lily Burnand provides the star turn here this week, and scores a distinct success with some of her latest songs; Bosanquet is a novel and ingenious violinist, and introduces the Bosanquephone; a very entertaining turn is provided by Edward E. Ford, the Australian sundowner; and Nanny Goldman, Mr. Holles, and company cause much laughter in their sketch The Little Charwoman. Will Freedo, comedian and dancer, does well; and Alsopp and Beckwith create roars of laughter. Other turns are Steeley and Dowton and Lily Tiso, comedienne and dancer.

OXFORD PALACE. — Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Alf. Graham.—There is a capital programme presented here, the chief attraction being entitled Prince Arthur, which is produced by Arthur Wyndham and Co. It is an extract from Shakespeare's King John, and the story is told in a concise and clear manner. The Smithsons cause roars of laughter in the sketch Love Germs; the Marlo-Dunham Trio give an exceptionally smart triple-bar display; Wallace Whitney is an excellent character comedian; and Charles Vincent, comedian, pleases. Other turns are provided by Beattie Foster, comedienne, and Jesso, versatile artist.

MOTHERWELL. — NEW CENTURY THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. R. C. Buchanan; Resident-Manager, Mr. Reginald Grant.—Mr. Chas. Macdona's principal company is here in The White Chrysanthemum. Miss Muriel George is particularly good as O San, her singing being a feature of the production; Miss Wilmot Kosteck is effective as the cute Yankee girl, Cornelia Vanderdecken; and Miss Dorothy Sephton is altogether charming as the society lady, Betty Kenyon. Mr. H. E. Garden jumps at once into popular favour as the irresponsible Chippy; Lieut. Reginald Armitage is capably sustained by Mr. H. Langdon Bruce; Mr. Shirley Lea does well as the peppery old Admiral. Sir Horatio Armitage; Mr. Richard Telford is good as Sin Chong; and is well supported by Mr. James Dallas as Private Perks. There is a bright and tuneful chorus, under the bâton of Mr. J. M. Hutcheson.

NEWCASTLE-ON-TYNE.—PALACE THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. T. W. Rowe; Business-Manager, Mr. E. B. Clarke.—Messrs. Armadale and Warren's company is here in The Face at the Window. Mr. T. W. Dunscombe appears in the rôle of the French detective, Paul Gouffet; he displays much vigour and tact in the part, and is well received. Mr. Scott Leighton, as Lucio Delgado, could not be better placed.

THEATRE ROYAL.—Managing-Director, Mr. Robert Arthur; Acting-Manager, Mr. F. Teale Lingham.—Now in its fourth week, Mr. Robert Courtneidge's production of Aladdin continues to provide delightful entertainment for crowded audiences, with whom Mr. Neil Kenyon as the Widow Twankey, Mr. Chas. Harvey as Abanazar, Mr. Fred Allandale as Pekoe, Mr. Alfred Clark as the Emperor, Miss Florence Smithson as the Princess, Miss Lily Morris as Aladdin, and Miss Kitty Cavendish as Biddy, one and all prove great favourites.

TYNE THEATRE AND OPERA HOUSE.—Lessees, Messrs. Howard and Wyndham; Acting-Manager, Mr. Fred C. Sutcliffe.—Record houses continue to be the rule at Aladdin at the Tyne Theatre. Nothing funnier in modern pantomime has perhaps been seen in Newcastle than the tea-table scene between Mr. Harry Lauder and Mr. Dan Crawley, two comedians who work capitally together all through the piece. Miss Beryl Somerset in the title-part and Miss José Collins as the Princess both are proving very popular, and all the other principal parts continue to be ably filled.

GRAND THEATRE.—Lessees, Messrs. Bacon and Bolam; Managing-Director, Mr. Sidney Bacon.—Messrs. Armitage and Leigh's company in that popular play, Leah Kleschna, is playing this week to well-filled houses. Mr. Paul Belmore gives an admirable impersonation of Monsieur Garnier; Mr. W. F. Grant gains much sympathy as Paul Slyvaini; Mr. Hamilton Deane is exceedingly good as Raoul Berton; Mr. Campbell Goldsmid and Mr. Roland Daniels as Schram and General Berton are admirably represented. Miss Bessie Rignold, in the title-rôle, gives a most realistic portrayal of the character, and is accorded a hearty reception at the fall of the curtain. She is accorded adequate support by Miss Ethel Russell (Madame Berton), Miss Helene Belgrave (Claire Berton), Miss Violet Thorold (Sophie), Miss May Hammond (Frieda), and Miss Ethel Summers (Charlotte).

EMPIRE THEATRE.—Proprietors, Messrs. Moss' Empires, Ltd.; Managing-Director, Mr. Richard Thornton; Resident-Manager, Mr. Harry Esden.—Jake Friedman and his company in a Dutch operetta, entitled Happy Holland, are top of the bill here this week. The piece is certainly original, and comprises, amongst a host of good things, a Dutch ballet, which comes in for special appreciation from the audience; a number of catchy songs and some very sweet concerted music are introduced. In the dual rôle of Jakey Codlevassel and Fraulein, Mr. Friedman has parts well suited to him. Paul Conchas performs some clever juggling feats, and is assisted by a comedian who keeps the house in roars of laughter. Mr. and Mrs. Lucas give a pleasing turn in their scene from Dickens' Old Curiosity Shop, and are heartily applauded. The Coloured Meisters are a troupe of finished vocalists; the Paxton Trio give some smart hand-balancing feats; Harold Hughman displays much merit in imitating birds and animals; Harry Lawson is a comedian who is ever popular here; Frazer and Mac, in their comedy instrumental act, score heavily; Princess Pauline, comedienne, renders her songs in good style. The Bioscope completes the programme.

PAVILION THEATRE. — Managing-Director, Mr. Thomas Barrasford; Manager, Mr. Will H. Boardman.—Sam Mayo, the "original immobile comedian," has been very successful here. Another interesting turn is that of the King's College Boys in excerpts from opera, and their combined efforts are much appreciated. Some smart conjuring tricks by Henri Bekker mystify everyone, and the Lilian Brothers give a capital performance on the trapeze and rings. A most amusing sketch, My Burglar, is given by Harry Thorne and Zoe Coe. Sam Spira is a clever mimic; his impersonations of children at a party are worthy of special mention. Mark Leslie does well in his coon song and dance; Amurat, a musical athlete, supports a piano and man on his chest whilst playing a cornet; Bertha Duckett is a great success in her male impersonations. The Barrascope pictures provide much amusement this week.

NEWPORT.—LYCEUM.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Sidney Cooper.—Newport's pantomime, Dick Whittington, in its last week here, continues to draw good houses. The transformation scene, the "Seasons," is indeed a work of art and generally admired. De Lello and Metz, clever young acrobats and jugglers, are nightly warmly recognised; and Chas. Wood's impersonations are appreciated. Walter Payne's pictures contribute in no small degree to the success.

EMPIRE.—Moss' Empires, Ltd.; Manager, Major Gallaghar; Assistant-Manager, Mr. Page.—Tom Costello meets with a warm reception here; Percy Houri is a clever concertinist; Frank Darwen and Gertrude Bradshaw were absent on Monday evening, and W. P. Dempsey, Dot Harding, and Jennie Mackay deputised. Demsey sang with much drollery, and captured the house; Miss Mackay was well received; and Dot Harding danced with a grace that was delightful. Jas. Brady, eccentric comedian, contributed comic songs; the Three Ramoniers contributed clever balancing feats; Froby and Ruge gave a comedy acrobatic turn; Kitty Marion was successful in a military song; and Frank C. Young and Kathleen de Voie gave a terpsichorean novelty, "Dancing by book." The Chronophone makes its first appearance here.

NORTHAMPTON.—OPERA HOUSE.—Proprietors and Managers, Mr. Milton Bode and Mr. Edward Compton; Resident-Manager, Mr. Charles Hermann.—Mr. Frank Curzon's well-selected company opened here on Monday in The White Chrysanthemum. Miss Dorothy Court, who has a sweet voice, gives a most effective performance of the title-rôle; Miss Gracie Sinclaire is very good as Cornelia Vanderdecken; Miss Marie North makes a bewitching Betty Kenyon; genuine comedy is furnished by Mr. Davy Burnaby as Lieut. Chippendale Belmont; Mr. F. Pope Stamper sings and acts with ability as Lieut. Reginald Armitage; Mr. St. John Hamund makes a big success as Admiral Sir Horatio Armitage, K.C.B.; Mr. O. E. Lennon is full of fun and agility as Sin Chong; and Mr. Harry Paulton, jun., makes the most of his opportunities as Perks.

PALACE OF VARIETIES.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Fred H. Anderson; Acting-Manager, Mr. Thos. A. Evans.—An enjoyable programme is put forward this week. Miss Madge Grey creates enthusiasm by her humorous imitations; the Pauldos, in their speciality act, give an interesting display of strength; John Cronow, facial expert, rapidly portrays a number of notabilities; Charles Vandyke and company of pantomimists appear in Nicodemus, with laughable results; Charles Russell's patriotic song is well received; and other good items are the Palace pictures by C. Vincent, songs by Ena Richards, song and dance by the Two Rubies, and a turn by Max Milian, equilibrist.

NORTH SHIELDS.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Arthur Jefferson; Acting Manager, Mr. Horace Lee.—Messrs. Glenville and Osmond's company is presenting The Still Alarm here this week. Mr. Matthew H. Glenville, in the rôle of Jack Manley, acts with good effect; Mr. George Arthur as John Bird plays with ability; Mr. Tom Beasley ably depicts Willie Manley; Mr. Fred Osmond makes a good Doctor Wilber; and Mr. Lewis Gordon is seen to advantage as Franklyn Fordham. As Elinor Fordham, Miss Maud Warburton gives a capital portrayal; Miss Mabel Veriton is a satisfactory Mrs. Manley; and Miss Gertie Reed is popular as Carrie Wilber.

CENTRAL PALACE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Wm. Mould.—Nelson's Newsboys' Quintette, comedians, vocalists, and dancers, top the bill here, and are thoroughly successful; Miss Eunice Ames, comedienne, comes in for a capital reception; and Mr. Harry Bancroft, actor-vocalist, is very popular. The Eagletons, comedy artists, are entertaining; and Master Arthur, vocalist, Messrs. France and Francis, acrobatic comedians, and the Bio-photoscope are all successful.

NORWICH.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Manager, Mr. Fred Morgan.—Mr. Frederick Melville's powerful company is here this week in The Beast and the Beauty. Mr. Herbert Ford is successful as Jack Barrymore; Mr. William Passmore cleverly impersonates the old Earl of Loman; Mr. Bernard Mervyn is excellent as Henry Denver; and Mr. Eric Campbell is good as Samson. Miss D. Gwynne appears as Delilah Vane, and is much appreciated; and Miss Lydia Audrey charmingly acts the part of Violet, exciting much sympathy.

HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, Messrs. E. H. Bostock and F. W. Fitt; Manager, Mr. Councillor F. W. Fitt.—An excellent programme is provided this week. George Formby, "the silly singer of silly songs," had a capital reception; the Ergotti and King Leni troupe of Risley artists do some clever tricks; Leo Tell gives a good turn with his mimicry of musical instruments and farmyard stock; Hector, the Wire King, astonishes with his feats on the wire; Will McIvor is successful as an actor-vocalist; Lillie Langtry is a charming comedienne; Donatas, the one-legged clowns, are much appreciated; Edith Courtney, ballad singer, wins much applause; Fred Southern and company, including Miss May Emery, convulse the audience with laughter in their absurdity The Private Hotel; and the Hippodrome Bioscope exhibits some very comical pictures.

NOTTINGHAM.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Managing-Director, Mr. Robert Arthur; Acting-Manager, Mr. Howard Finney.—The fourth week of Dick Whittington opened on Monday to a crowded audience, and the spontaneous merrmient was even more pronounced than in the former weeks. Miss Madeline Du Val, as graceful as ever in her portrayal of the name part; Miss Gladys Huxley, retaining all her vivaciousness as Alice; and Miss Maud Lake, looking charming as the Princess of Morocco, are accorded warm receptions and encores for their songs. Miss Maud Holland's clear and resonant tones ring out true and sweet in her song; and Mr. Fred Maguire richly earns spirited praise for his fine rendering of Handel's song "Revenge." The comedians, Messrs. Harry Brayne, Bert Danson, Fred Solo, and Bert Lloyd, continue to make their business as humorous as it is possible, and are amply rewarded by continuous laughter. The Cat, as presented by Mr. Johnny Fuller, is a special favourite with the children, who applaud to the echo his comicalities and clever acrobatic feats.

GRAND THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. Charles P. Cooke.—Jack and the Beanstalk continues a merry and bright performance, and immensely popular with the patrons of this theatre. Miss Daisy Silcott puts a large amount of energy into her rôle as Jack; and Miss Phyllis Yorke makes a sprightly Princess. Miss Ruth Wallace looks charming as the Fairy, and sings pleasantly; while the Sisters Brand evoke hearty plaudits for their smart dancing. Mr. Charles Marston as the Demon uses his fine baritone voice to good effect in a song; the Misses Lily Lloyd and Frances Hunter also add a considerable share to the entertainment. In the fun-making, the comedians spare nothing in their efforts to please, and the honours are fairly equally distributed between Messrs. James May, Charles Gardner, A. G. Lytton, and Condor and Elgar. Mention should also be made of the neat dancing by the Yankee-Doodle Girls.

EMPIRE THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; Acting-Manager, Mr. Chas. H. Bowmaker.—La Milo has made her appearance here this week to audiences which have packed the house. Her classical poses are remarkably faithful, perhaps the most interesting being that of the Venus de Milo. Between the representations her manager (Cruickshanks) gives an exhibition of his marvellous gift in lightning pictures. An exceedingly smart artist is seen in Alexander, whose trick cycling on a table evokes loud applause; Wilson and Waring introduce an amusing sketch, a special feature being the quick changes of costume by Waring; Fred Elton proves himself a capable pianist, and his vocal efforts cause the greatest hilarity; some capital fooling is indulged in by the Three Guitanos as eccentric acrobats; and the Corcoran Brothers submit a musical turn. The Northern Troupe of International Dancers add to the enjoyment of the evening; and the American Bioscope supplies a series of humorous films. Harry Anderson makes an entertaining character-vocalist; and Winnie Derson earns warm approbation.

NUNEATON. — PRINCE OF WALES'S THEATRE AND ENTERTAINMENTS CO., LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. A. F. Cross; Acting-Manager, Mr. Walter J. R. Bryan.—Mr. Edward Marris's company is affording great satisfaction to good houses in The Duchess of Dantzic. The honours of the evening undoubtedly rest with Miss Blanche Leford, who, in the title-rôle, sings charmingly, and acts with a natural drollness that is highly pleasing. Miss Lily Hildroe as Renee is a dainty little character, and Miss Norah Melton is well placed as Lisette. Mr. R. Mansell Fane gives a capital portrayal of Sergeant Francois Lefebyre, Mr. Frank Bradley has a thorough grasp of the part of Napoleon, and Mr. Dan F. Roe does excellent work as Papillion. Among others in this excellent cast are Mr. L. Winter, Mr. G. Mannering, Mr. Vernon de Ville, Mr. Cecil W. Pache, Miss Muriel Wilson, Miss Poppie Dale, Miss Gwen Carr, Miss Lilian Drake, Miss Nancy Liddell, Miss Eva Lifun, Miss Sophie Allbut, Mr. Herbert Pinoch, and Mr. G. R. Gordon.

OLDHAM.—EMPIRE THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. E. Dottridge; Assistant-Manager, Mr. J. Hulme.—Mr. William Greet's principal company is paying a welcome return visit here this week with the popular musical comedy The Earl and the Girl. Mr. William Stephens, in his original character of Jim Cheese, is as successful as ever, being well supported by Miss Jennie Richards as 'Liza Shoddam. Miss Frances Earle is dainty and pleasing as Elphin Haye; and Miss Gertrude Melville is a clever Daisy Fallowfield. Miss Beatrice Anderson is a vigorous, strong lady, Mrs. Black; and Miss Joan Cliffard is good as Virginia Bliss. Mr. Arthur Harrold sings well as Dick Wargrave; and Mr. Percy E. Wright is very good as the Hon. Crewe Boodle. Mr. Fred W. Patrick is capital as Host Hazel; and Messrs. Courtin, Norman, and Taylor, in the respective parts of Bunker Bliss, Downham, and Mr. Talk, contribute much to the success of the comedy.

COLOSSEUM.—Manager, Mr. W. Eastwood; Messrs. Levy and Cardwell's pantomime, The Sleeping Beauty, will be withdrawn this week. Benefits to the principal artists were given, on Wednesday evening, Miss Dolly Dodds and Miss May Gibson; Thursday, Miss Kitty Trewhitt and Wee Georgie Wood; and Friday, Messrs. Doyle and Gibson.

ROYAL THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Manager, Mr. E. Dottridge; Assistant-Manager, Mr. W. Howgate.—Miss Fanny Wentworth heads the bill; she is a capital entertainer. Sid May gives some excellent impersonations of various artists; Tate and Tate, comedy trampolin artists, are clever; Nancy Sykes, an episode from "Oliver Twist," is well played by Miss Georgette Thierry and Mr. Bernard Lielt, supported by Miss Daisy Rochefort and Messrs. Hodgson and Doyle; Hinton and Wooton are good in football on bicycles; Bert H. Delmar, in a mimetic monologue, does well; Espinosa and Neilson are capital song and dance artists; the Royal Dottoscope shows a couple of interesting pictures.

HIPPODROME. — Manager, Mr. E. Dottridge; Assistant-Manager, Mr. Nuttall. — Frank Caffrey, Irish comedian, meets with a good reception; and so does Lazern, the mystic, an illusionist. W. T. Ellwanger and company cause much laughter with a funny sketch, The Peacemaker; Lilly Hayes is a charming comedienne and dancer; the Lovelaces sing some good songs, well illustrated; Massona is neat in his juggling act; and Mark Merry is a quaint comedian. The Dottoscope is again showing new pictures.

OXFORD.—NEW THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Thomas Lucas, J.P.; Acting-Manager, Mr. C. C. Dorrill.—For the fourteenth year in succession the management here has engaged a company of Mr. Milton Bode's for the annual pantomime, and the reception accorded to Dick Whittington on Monday by a packed house proved their judgment to be again correct. Miss Gladys Warren makes an ideal Dick, her face and figure exactly suiting the part and her acting and singing being quite good; Mr. Bob Hutt works hard and successfully as Fitzwarren; Mr. Rolando Martin is a droll Idle Jack; Mr. Fred Danvers a most amusing Cook; and the Firmans are whimsical as Captain Scrupper and Bill Oakum. Miss Flo Challis makes a capital Tommy Trot; Miss Kathleen Severn sings and acts daintily as Alice; Miss Beatrice Lane does well as May; Miss Nellie Lauraine is an imposing Empress of Morocco; Miss Wanda Zaleska agreeably fits the part of Fairy; and Mr. Carne Curre fairly earns the applause liberally bestowed on him by the children for his clever performance of the Cat. Some excellent dances are contributed by Collins' Six Lancashire Lasses; and Wallau shows himself to be a very clever juggler.

PAISLEY.—PAISLEY THEATRE.—Sole Proprietor, Mr. J. H. Savile; Acting-Manager,

Eric is an amusing ventriloquist; Harry Leybourne, comedian and dancer, is received with great favour; a capital draw is Satsuma, Japanese juggler; Jack Rae, comedy gymnast and hat manipulator, contributes an entertaining number; Hetty Lee, soubrette and dancer, gives an excellent and refined turn; J. K. Macfarlane, Scotch comedian, is exceedingly funny; the De Breans, sciographists, furnish an entertaining turn; and the Hippodrome Bioscope concludes the show.

EMPIRE.—Lessee, Mr. J. H. Savile; Manager, Mr. Tom Toy.—A bright programme is presented here this week. The star turn is the Casey Circus, which elicits applause; Dick Dunford, Irish comedian and dancer, is entertaining; the Two Olivers, American comedy artists and expert dancers, are excellent; Frank Leayton, comedian, makes a hit; the Sisters Du-Barrie, male impersonators and top-boot dancers, give a commendable show; and Shiela McNeil, styled "The Lass frae Killiecrankie," is applauded.

PENTRE. — LYCEUM THEATRE. — Sole Owners, Messrs. Carlton and Duckworth; Manager, Mr. Sam Duckworth; Resident-Manager, Mr. Harry Counsell.—Messrs. Travies Green and Arthur Hinton's company is here this week in Home, Sweet Home. Mr. Arthur Hinton as Stephen Armitage portrays the rough, but true-hearted, fisherman to the life; Miss Leila Zillwood as Joan gives an admirable interpretation of the simple fisherman's daughter and the haughty Duchess; David Armitage is cleverly depicted by Mr. Frank Hudspeth; the Duke of Ancaster in the capable hands of Mr. Henry Compton; Mr. Percy E. Davidson portrays the gay aristocrat, the Hon. Percy Ashfield, in humorous fashion; and is admirably seconded by Miss Jennie Clare as Sybil Fay, her songs being excellently rendered. Mr. Travis Green as Lucas Lyle is seen to advantage; and Little Dolly Turner gives a pathetic portrayal of Dora.

PERTH.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Sole Lessee and Manager, Mr. J. H. Savile; Acting-Manager, Mr. Frank Aldridge.—Mr. Charles Macdona's company had a very successful three nights' engagement here in The Toreador. Mr. Sidney Granville's delightful rendering of Carajolo, a toreador, was well received; Mr. Robert Rous created considerable amusement as Sammy Gigg; Mr. Fred Thompson elicited hearty applause in his clever impersonation of Sir Archibald Slackett; and Mr. Herbert Willis was no less successful as Augustus Trail. Mr. Richard Adams was admirably adapted to the pleasing rôle of Pettiter; Mr. Henry Arthur made a striking Governor of Villaya; Mr. George Martin's Rinaldo and Mr. Daniel Maston's Moreno were excellent; while Messrs. Arthur Penborn Harry Playfair, Fred Graham, and Owen Ford were successfully placed as Bandmaster, Mr. Probitt, Waiter, and Porter respectively. Miss Gwen Clifford scored as Mrs. Malton Hoppings; Miss Nina Carlton's forceful impersonation of Donna Teresa was accorded unstinted approbation; Miss Winsome Etherington's Dora Selby and Miss Beatrice Rowe's Nancy Staunton fully merit the applause with which their efforts were greeted; Miss Leah Howard's talent was shown to considerable advantage in Susan; Misses A. Chambers and Winifred Downing were well adapted to the parts of La Belle Bolero and La Belle Otera; Misses Florence Wood, Doris Ainsley, M. Carlton, and Edith Mason were admirable bridesmaids; and Miss Cicely Ashbourne's solo dance was given with much acceptance.

PLYMOUTH. — THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. C. F. Williams; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. Langdon Lee.—Notwithstanding Blue Beard is now drawing to the end of its career, its popularity shows no signs of waning. Plenty of new business has been recently worked in, which has had the effect of increasing the attractiveness of the production, while the various artists have now become strong local favourites. Miss Du Cane is nightly encored with her song concerning the vicissitudes of Mr. Brown; Messrs. George Brooks, Frank Bertram, and Wilfrid Shine share the honours as comedians; Miss Peggy Primrose as Fatima is extremely winsome; and Miss Muriel Langley still sustains the rôle of leading boy.

GRAND THEATRE.—Lessee, Mr. C. F. Williams; Manager, Mr. Percy Williams.—Mr. Chas. Locke's company, in The Streets of London, is doing good business at Stonehouse. Mr. Charles Locke is very versatile and humorous as Dan Piffy; Mr. Cecil A. Melton is an accomplished Badger; Miss Ethel Kay is a sympathetic heroine; Miss Elaine Vanbrugh makes a good adventuress; and Mr. Chas. Baird a creditable villain.

PALACE OF VARIETIES.—Manager, Mr. Jack Field.—Bella and Bijou return after a comparatively short absence, but with some excellent new business, their skit on the Suffragettes being immensely enjoyed; the Seddons are another excellent turn, and fully deserve their enthusiastic reception; the Maitland Comedy Trio present a highly-diverting sketch, entitled The Picture; the Three Missouris return after a lengthy interval with their irresistibly funny number, Captain Kettle; Gilbert Girard is an accomplished animal mimic; Will Bell is a smart step-dancer; and Edie Maddison is an attractive vocalist and dancer. Vernon's pictures complete a good evening's enjoyment.

PORTH.—THE PALACE (late OPERA HOUSE).—General-Manager, Mr. C. W. Poole; Acting-Manager, Mr. Walter Bynorth.—Heading the bill this week are the Cumberlands, athletic acrobatic cycling wonders, who give an excellent performance. Other turns are Joe Conway, the boy comedian; Gold and Sterling, in The Welsh Girl and the Artist; Garvetta and Parr, in their double potpourri act, There's Going to be a Show; Clark's Nippers, in their speciality; Rita and Roma, versatile vaudeville entertainers; Mlle. Rita, in her marvellous contortion dance; Miss Billie Burford, a smart vocal comedienne; and the Palace Electric Bioscope, with up-to-date films.

PORTSMOUTH. — THEATRE ROYAL. — Licensee and Manager, Mr. J. W. Boughton; Acting-Manager, Mr. Armstrong Bell.—The very able company of Mr. George Edwardes still holds the stage here with Two Naughty Boys, whose pranks have been highly appreciated.

EMPIRE PALACE.—Secretary Mr. W. Pratt.—An excellent all-round programme is offered to the patrons of this house for the current week. The Stavordale Quintette of Banjoists and Harpists give a popular musical turn; Frank Maura, the Mexican wonder, is a clever equilibrist and balancer; the Delomes, dancers, please greatly; Kitty Clover and company, in The Pet of the Ballet, again score well; Culpitt and Adele are amusing; the Sauterons are expert jumpers; the Three Panamas, in an acrobatic dancing potpourri act, are much appreciated; the Three Brothers Curran give a smart boxing act; Jock Whiteford, Scotch comedian, is most diverting; and Payne's Bio-Photoscope, with some new pictures, completes the bill.

PRESTON.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietors, the Executors of the late Mr. Wm. Johnson.—This week Mr. Geo. Dance's principal company is here on a return visit with Veronique. The part of Florestan is admirably taken by Mr. Roland Bottomley, who renders his songs with sincere expression; Miss Ethel Negretti is a captivating Hélène; Mr. Tom Seymour creates much amusement as Coquenard; Mr. Percival Knight capably defines the humour of Loustot; Agatha has a clever exponent in Miss Doris Greville; and Miss Edith Devonshire makes an excellent Countess.

ROYAL HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, Messrs. W. H. Broadhead and Sons; Resident Acting-Manager, Mr. E. J. Linsdell.—Harry Daniels and company head the bill here this week in a funny musical farce, entitled Rent, which evokes continuous hearty laughter. Very pleasing and popular entertainment is provided by Haley's Juveniles; Harry Carlton and his two fellow comedians cause great merriment; and others who contribute successfully are Lily Watson, comedy patter artist; Smith and Johnson, coloured duo; Harry Briggs, triple-voice vocalist; Wragg and Wragg, military athletes; and Ridgwell, character comedian. Excellent bioscope pictures complete.

RADCLIFFE. — GRAND OPERA HOUSE. — Sole Owner and Manager, Mr. George T. Sante; Acting-Manager, Mr. Jas. Boothman.—As usual, Hardie and Von Leer's company, with The Two Little Vagabonds, is meeting with well-merited success. The vivacious and animated Dick of Miss Edie Martin and the sad little waif of Miss Josie Beltram deserve unstinted praise. Miss Rosslyn Vane as Barbara and Miss Grace Heywood as Marion Thornton treat their respective parts very naturally. Mr. Lionel Elias as Bill Mullins gives a capital rendering; Mr. Arthur E. Melbourne is a distinct success as George Thornton; and Mr. Sidney Vantier does well as Capt. Darville.

RAMSGATE. — AMPHITHEATRE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Henry Bowman.—A great deal of amusement has been caused by the performances given this week by Mr. J. B. Mulholland's company, in the eccentric farce, The Electric Man. Mr. Bernard Copping is in all respects admirable in the dual rôles of Walter Everest and the Electric Man, and the many diverting situations in which he finds himself are presented very cleverly. As his mystified landlady (Mrs. Anderson), Miss Amy Fanchette adds considerably to the merriment; Jack Strange, the young medico who is a friend of Walter, is a part handled with skill by Mr. Hastings Lynn; and Mr. A. Wheatman, as Mr. Jobbins, private enquiry agent, is thoroughly successful. The Misses Gertrude Tate and Isa Bellington charmingly impersonate the characters of the fiancées of Walter and Jack. The Electric Man has been preceded at each performance by a laughable curtain-raiser, entitled Obliging a Friend.

RAWTENSTALL. — GRAND THEATRE. — Lessee and Manager, Mr. Arthur de Frece; General-Manager, Mr. George Dickinson.—Mr. Alfred B. Cross and company are here this week in The Manxman, which was performed on Monday night before a large and appreciative audience. Mr. Cross, as Pete, gave a wonderfully clever and natural impersonation, frequently receiving well-merited applause. As Kate Cregeen Miss M. Watersford was truly excellent, her interpretation being both powerful and womanly; Mr. Sydney S. Kearns, as Philip Christian, was also successful in his portrayal of this character; and Mr. Dudley Stuart was equally good as Ross Christian; Mr. Frank Etheredge made a typical Cæsar Cregeen; and Mr. Tom Bowron an acceptable Dr. Mylcreest. Miss Kitty Livesey was an excellent Bella Kelly; Miss Mona Spearing a clever Miss Christian; and Miss Nellie Freeland was good as Nancy.

ROCHDALE.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietors, The Northern Theatres Co., Ltd.; Managing-Director, Mr. W. Robinson; General-Manager, Mr. Otto C. Culling; Resident-Manager, Mr. J. Hague.—Two Little Drummer Boys occupies the boards here this week. Mr. Frank Fuller as General Kingsley is all that could be desired; Mr. Fred Emery wins favour as Captain Frank Carsdale; Mr. Archie Helsby cleverly portrays the part of Captain George Darrell; and Mr. J. Magrath as Corporal O'Quirke is very amusing. Miss Maggie English and Miss Lily Beverly are well placed as Eric Carsdale and Jack Smith; Miss Edie Macklin makes a bright and lively Molly Meadows; Miss Mildred Eversleigh wins all hearts as Alma Kingsley; and Miss Kathleen Magee is a typical Drunken Meg.

CIRCUS AND HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, Smith and Co.—The Dayton Family top the bill here this week. Rs Risley acrobats they are hard to beat. The Cecilian Family submit a refined turn as musicians, dancers, and impersonators. Other items include the Alex Victor comedy glee singers; the Wheelers, in A Tramp's Holiday; the Three Beyers, trapeze artists; the Percys, duettists and dancers; Mabel Luzerne, vocalist; and Vernon's Bioscope.

EMPIRE. — Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Thos. Hargreaves. Acting-Manager, Mr. Frank Hargreaves.—J. W. Hall had a gratifying reception here on Monday evening; Herr Fritz, with his illusions and tricks, quite mystifies his audience; Maud Ross, dancer; Will Mitcham, vocal and musical comedian; Almon, the upside-down marvel; Jack Ross, double-voiced vocalist; and pictures by the Empire Bioscope, complete the list.

ROTHERHAM.—THEATRE ROYAL, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Resident-Manager, Mr. Holbery Hardy.—Again are local playgoers being entertained with pantomime, Mr. Edwin C. Jazon and company providing the attraction with Aladdin. Miss Edna Latoune is very smart in the title-rôle, her songs being well received; Miss Florrie White is a pleasing Princess; Miss Lila Lingard a sprightly Pekoe; and Miss Blanche Vernon an effective Caramel. Mr. Cyril Carle as the Emperor is seen to advantage; Mr. B. Best scores as the Grand Vizier; Mr. Harry Verno is a successful Abanazar; and Mr. J. C. Morris an amusing Widow Twankey. Messrs. George and Edwards are responsible for much of the fun as Ping and Pong; Misses Beatrice Sinclair and Pattie Holden, as Slave of the Lamp and Genius of the Ring, contribute considerably to the success. Specialities are introduced by Kavados, cannon ball juggler; the Sisters Varley, vocalists; the Sisters Reno, with an excellent terpsichorean turn; and Max Merlin, in a really sensational performance.

RUGBY.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Managing-Director, Mr. A. F. Cross; Acting-Manager, Mr. Geoffrey Fulton.—Mr. T. Arthur Jones and company are this week presenting Life's Sweetest Sins. Mr. T. A. Jones as Captain Harold Marson gives a masterly rendering; Mr. Oswald Douglass as Dr. Colbrooke is excellent; and Mr. Robert Lawin as Kimberley Coutts and Mr. Clem Horlock as the Rev. Ed. Gray are both good. Mr. Edgar Morgan is clever and humorous as Bob Tanner; as Ernie Wodestone Mr. Fred Wilson is good; Miss Hazel Dent is clever and artistic as Doreen Rivers; as Fay Colbrooke Miss Mary Ainslie makes the most of her opportunities; and Miss Elsie Walton as Bess Grayson is excellent.

SALFORD.—PRINCE OF WALES' THEATRE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. E. B. Goulden; Acting-Manager, Mr. Harold Goulden.—Mr. Lester Collingwood's comic pantomime, Blue Beard, written by Ernest Dottridge, commenced a week's run on Monday, and is drawing crowded houses. Mr. S. Lockridge makes a satisfactory Bluebeard; Ibrahim is very funny in the hands of Mr. Fred Lindo; Miss Marie Liston, a sprightly Selim, gets much applause for her singing; Fatima is charmingly presented by Miss Millie Warde, who also sings well; Mr. Harry Tilbury keeps the house in roars as Sister Anne; Cassim and Beda are represented by the Sisters Gladys and Irene Wingrove, who do some good dancing; Mr. Fred Warwick as Shakabac and Mr. Dan Biglow as Shakaleg, with Messrs. Wheeler and Wilson, keep the fun rolling. Specialities are also given by the Valerie Girls, novelty dancers; and the Three Rubys, in an acrobatic and trapeze act.

REGENT THEATRE OF VARIETIES, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. W. Turner; Manager, Mr. Herbert Raymond; Secretary, Mr. J. C. Patterson.—A good programme is being given here. Percy Maye cleverly disguises himself as a female. A very enjoyable turn is given by the Primrose Quartette. The sketch, Poor Beggar, by John Le Hay, supported by Miss Mary Duggan and Charles Cautley, is very amusing; Matt Wilkinson, with J. Bryant, Stanley Gabrielle de Bonheur, and Violet Beatrice, have a clever dramatic episode, The Fisherman's Daughter Vernando, the ventriloquial barber; Lowenwirth Bros., Hebrew dialect comedians; Cline and Clark, smart dancers; George Prince, crazy comedian; and Miss Alexandra, Royal burlesque actress, also appear.

ROYAL HIPPODROME.—Manager, Mr. W. B. Broadhead; Acting-Manager, Mr. Percy B. Broadhead; Resident Acting-Manager, Mr. C. H. Wentworth.—There is plenty to keep the audience laughing in Holland and Wood's comic pantomime, Aladdin, written and invented by Charles Wilmott and William Holland. Abanazar is very comical as presented by Percy Curry; Frances Haskoll does well as Aladdin; George Reeves is good as Widow Twankey; and a funny Wishee Washee is Walter Watson. Nash and Noel do several specialities; the Three Trees (Dolly, Bibby, and Portia), vocalists and dancers; Kendrick and Laura, vocalists and dancers; and Chameleon Cave Guards, in military manœuvres with electric colour effects, are among the other specialities.

SALISBURY.—COUNTY HALL.—Proprietor, Mr. Arthur Whitehead; Business-Manager, Mr. T. Brinsmead.—Crowded and appreciative audiences are witnessing Mr. John A. Thomson's Jack and the Beanstalk. In the title-rôle, Miss Edith Wallis scored a great success; Miss Maggie Allwood made a charming Jill, singing and dancing in a bright manner; Miss Georgie Mansell as Johnny and Miss Nellie Stewart as Bo-Peep caused great amusement; Miss Ella Rose as Britannia was most successful; as Sir Peter Pippin Mr. Wallace Bosco was excellent; Mr. Harry Harcourt as Mother Hubbard made the most of the part; and Mr. Teddy Worth as Tommy Tucker and Mr. Percy Galino as Billy Piper did well.

SCARBOROUGH.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietress, Mrs. Henry Mayhew; Manager, Mr. Fred P. Morgan.—The great attraction here this week is Fred Granville's pantomime company in The Babes in the Wood. All the members of the company are brilliant artists, which the audience soon recognise by their unstinted applause at every performance. Miss Cissie Bodina, as Robin Hood, established herself a warm favourite, and is well suited to the rôle; Miss Hetty Lind, as Maid Marion, is full of life and go, and her songs, particularly "Zuyder Zee," could not have been better received; the Kimberley Boys, as Burgling Bill and Gentle George, are responsible to a large degree for the success the company have attained here; Mr. Norman Hall, as the Wicked Uncle, has a part that fits him exactly; as the village school mistress, Mr. Joe English obtains many laughs; Mr. J. McLanley as Friar Tuck assists materially in the completeness of the production; as the Fairy Miss Maud Lind sings with excellent effect; the Babes are Master Harry Boden and Miss Edie Bell, who win general favour for their admirable performance. The specialities are up to date, and include the Three Graces, who, as living statues, give particularly fine studies and classical poses. The Three Bodinas submit an excellent rendering of "The Bandolero" and "The Soldiers' Chorus" (Gounod); the Clancy Girls evoke the liveliest interest and heartiest appreciation for their dancing and acrobatic performance.

PEOPLE'S PALACE AND AQUARIUM.—Managing-Director, Mr. Wm. Morgan.—Mark Anthony is the star here this week, and with his songs and clever imitations is the cause of unlimited merriment; the Elgars, with selections from light opera, are both possessed of excellent voices, which they use to great advantage; T. E. Johnston is always a favourite with local audiences; the Brothers Tarrant, comedians, are very droll; La Tosca, on the silver wire, gives an excellent performance, and is equally at home on the rolling globe; the Two D's are amusing with their magic luncheon; and Vernon's Imperial Bioscope concludes an enjoyable entertainment.

THE HIPPODROME.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. George Zalva. — The great attraction here is Lackie Thompson's Topweights, who give a first-class exhibition of boxing, wrestling, and club-swinging; Miss Marie Yorks, comedienne, deserves her success by the dainty way in which she renders her songs; Dan Noble, Jimmy James, and Johnny Walker are all able comedians who contribute to a popular programme; the Hartz Trio give a sensational turn as illusionists; and the animated pictures are appreciated by the audience.

SEACOMBE.—IRVING THEATRE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. James Kiernan.—Mr. Lingford Carson's company holds sway here this week with The Power of the Cross. Mr. George A. de Gray, the author of the play, gives a weird and striking impersonation of Baron Wolf Curzola; and Rita Lascelles is strongly presented by Miss Mildred Cottell. Gerald Fairfax (Mr. Charles Linney) and Dr. Leslie Fairfax (Mr. Alexander J. Haviland) are both well played. Benjamin Hawke is carefully looked after by Mr. L. Fred Tenaur; and Blanche Kingsley is ably acted by Miss Phyllis Vaughan. Mr. A. Read plays the part of David Kingsley with all due dignity; and Margaret Seaton is skilfully presented by Miss Stanley Burt. The comic relief is well sustained by Mr. Richard E. Nugent as Timothy O'Dowd and Miss Etta Turner as Dolly Gray.

SHEERNESS.—THE PALACE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Phil Reymond.—The bill here includes the Dancing Toy Soldier, a very eccentric turn; Miss Marie Florence, who makes a big hit with her serio songs and expert dancing; Mr. Gus Daniels also scores in his comic and descriptive songs; Mr. Phil Reymond continues a big favourite, his clever comedy songs being loudly applauded; Mr. Horace Sade Leggett is a good comedian and dancer; and the Sisters Chancit are a clever pair of duettists and dancers.

THE HIPPODROME.—General-Manager, Mr. Fred Leighton.—Crowded audiences still continue to patronise the excellent programmes here. Amongst the prominent turns this week are Rose, Ross, and Rosert, who create endless amusement in the comedy act Always Moving; Daisy de Roy, comedienne, gains a pleasing reception; the Gartell Trio, in a musical item, are eminently successful; the Woelhaffs (Fred and Marie), in a combined musical and burlesque act, gain hearty applause; Lillian Devon,, comedienne, possesses a pleasing style both in song and dance; and a similar compliment is due to Cissie Ferndale, burlesque actress. Eugene Brant, eccentric comedian, is deserving of praise; and the usual display of pictures concludes a most enjoyable programme.

SHEFFIELD. — LYCEUM THEATRE. — Managing-Director, Mr. John Hart; General-Manager and Treasurer, Mr. J. E. B. Beaumont.—Messrs. Dottridge and Longden's pantomime company opened to a good audience on Monday in Aladdin. Miss Fanny Wright, the popular Ganem of last years' Royal annual, acted with vivacity and refinement as Aladdin; Miss Kitty Brewster was quite a picure of Oriental beauty as the Princess, and her performance gave the utmost pleasure; Mr. Daley Cooper, who has often amused local playgoers since his first appearance on the Royal boards with the famous children's Cloches de Corneville in 1881, again showed his ability as a burlesque actor in the part of Abanazar, and in song, dance, and patter he was alike successful. Mr. Julian Mack was a funny and resourceful representative of Widow Twankey Mr. Picton Roxborough made a most imposing Chinese Emperor; and the Brooks Brothers kept the fun going. Clever specialities were introduced by the Brewster Troupe, Messrs. Robins and Collier, and the Brooks. Mr. Rylestone deserves credit for a splendid production.

THEATRE ROYAL. — Managing-Director, Mr. John Hart; General-Manager and Treasurer, Mr. J. E. B. Beaumont.—The successful annual, Mother Goose, has proved one of the regular old-fashioned Royal pantomime triumphs, and "Boxing Night business" is still the rule. The Bros. Valdo are immense favourites; Miss Daisy Jerome wins encores nightly; Miss Maisie Gay continues to charm as the handsome principal boy Colin; Mr. Jack Pleasants as a fun-purveyor is simply "A1 at Lloyd's"; and all the other performers are on good terms with the habitués of the theatre.

ALEXANDRA THEATRE. — Managing-Director, Mr. W. D. Forsdike; Acting-Manager, Mr. C. W. Ramsay.—"Is pantomime declining?" If the crowded state of the Alexandra nightly be any criterion of the general taste, the answer is an emphatic "No." Dick Whittington is still running smoothly.

EMPIRE PALACE.—Proprietors, The Moss Empires Co., Ltd.; Acting-Manager, Mr. Alan D. Dunbar.—The refined and delightful Miss Madge Lessing appeared for the first time in Sheffield on Monday, and was received with cordial applause. Mr. Harry B. Meynott, the inimitable Mr. Bronson in The Belle of New York, assisted by his fair and vivacious partner, appeared with great success in a smart little comedy. The Three Olympiers in their bronze statuary act were loudly applauded; Park's Eton Boys were enthusiastically received; Mlle. Marzella's birds were deservedly applauded; a daring and graceful aerial show was given by the Renard Trio; and other items were Boyd and Gilfain, duettists; La Danseuse, characteristic dancer, and the American Bioscope.

Batty.—Hadj Abdullah's Arabs are a favourite turn here; Sadler and Ross are very funny; Marlow and Manton, in a sketch, Other People's Babies, are amusing; Stewart and Morgan, vocalists, are good; Joe Humphreys is a character-vocalist of a high order; James Toner, the "newsboy mimic," is much appreciated; the Four Juggling Geraldos are smart, and Payne's Bioscope completes the programme.

STOKE.—HIPPODROME.—Proprietor, Mr. T. Allan Edwardes; Manager, Mr. H. Miller.—Mr. Fred Granville this week presents his pantomime, The Forty Thieves. Miss Emmie Milsted as Morgiana sings and acts admirably; Miss Edna Cragge makes a dashing Captain; Burley and Burley are diverting as the policemen; Mr. Sid Cotterel is quite a host in himself as Fitz Hassarac; and Mr. Watty Griffen is excellent. The specialities include Henry Abdy's canine hippodrome; Mlle. Marvelle's cockatoos and macaws; the Sisters Poole; and the Oriento Troupe of Acrobats.

STOURBRIDGE. — ALHAMBRA THEATRE. —Manageress, Miss Maude Lynton.—The French Spy is proving a strong attraction here this week. Mr. Fred Benton, under whose direction the company appears, plays a prominent part as Fritz, a German strong man; in the title-rôle Miss Madge Devereux proves herself an accomplished actress, and the same way be said of Miss A. Harrison Tate as Olga. Mr. Beresford Lovett as Captain Sommers is a conspicuous figure, and Mr. Max Coutts finds favour as Count Romanoff; Mr. Hugh Travers gives a dignified impersonation of General Trepoff. Much of the comic element is 'n the trustworthy care of Messrs. Charles Digby and Seymour Perry.

SUNDERLAND.—AVENUE THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Chas. E. Machin.—Mr. J. F. Ellis-ton's pantomime, Dick Whittington, written by Mr. J. Hickory Wood, is still drawing crowded houses. Miss Maidie Scott, a dashing Dick, scores by her various vocal efforts; Miss Veronica Brady is entrusted with the important part of Alice, to which she does ample justice, her song, "Timinee," winning for her many admirers. She is also a dancer of considerable ability; Mark Sheridan keeps the house in constant good humour, his plate-breaking scene being exceptionally funny.

KING'S THEATRE.—Managing-Directors, Messrs. Stevens and Buchanan; Acting-Manager, Mr. H. Carlo.—Little Red Riding Hood is to be withdrawn to-night. The comedians are led by Mr. George Le Clerq, who has become quite popular in his impersonation of Johnny Stout. He is ably assisted by Mr. Ben Brown, who gives a whimsical rendering of Jimmy Green.

THEATRE ROYAL.—Managing-Director, Mr. Chas. E. Machin; Acting-Manager, Mr. Jas. Hemingway. —Messrs. Carpenter and Cooper's company, with The Spider and the Fly, is the attraction at this theatre. Mr. Stanley S. Gordon gives a capital rendering of Cyril Girdlestone; Mr. Ellis J. Preston infuses considerable power into the rôle of Welby Girdlestone; Mr. Chas. A. Preece is amusing as Remus Roe; and Mr. H. C. Lanceley is seen to advantage as the Rev. McAllister. Miss Nina Naughton gives a refined and pathetic rendering of Edith McAllister; as Stella Grey Miss Amy Venimore is excellent; and Miss Lucy Murray is a bright and winsome Molly.

PALACE THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Proprietors, Messrs. Rosen and Bliss; Acting-Managers, Messrs. Alfred Browne and S. B. Stringer.—An excellent all-round bill is provided here this week, the place of honour being held by Harry Grey (billed as the Australian Nugget); Mlle. Flora Lumière's electrical fairy grotto is worthy of special praise; Mlle. Victoria Dagmar, gymnast; Stanley and Greenop, banjoists; Olive Armadale, comedienne; Maxford and O'Neill, cross-talk comedians; the Wedburns, comedians; Brady and Johnston's comedy-sketch company, in Turning the Tables; and Vernon's Imperial Bioscope are also among the attractions.

SUTTON-IN-ASHFIELD.—KING'S THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. Edward Gray.—Messrs. Payne-Seddon and George Robertson's company opened on Monday for three nights with Charley's Aunt. Mr. Basil Lynn as Jack Chesney, Mr. Tom Macfarlene as Lord Fancourt Babberley, Mr. A. Claremont as Charles Wykeham, and Mr. Percy Tyler as Stephen Spettigue all work well together; and Mr. T. S. McCavilland makes Colonel Chesney a capital character; and Miss Grace Baring is good as Donna Lucia.

SWINDON.—QUEEN'S THEATRE—Proprietor and Responsible-Manager, Mr. Alfred Manners.—Swindon's first pantomime is now a thing of the past, it having terminated on Saturday last amid intense enthusiasm. It was followed on Monday by the first production in this town of that sensational American drama, At Cripple Creek. This play, containing as it does numerous good points, is splendidly staged throughout, and is capably acted by Miss Ida Molesworth and Mr. Mark Blow's company, under the business management of Mr. Eric G. Merrie. Mr. Stanley Bedwell gives a particularly fine study of the part of Joe Mayfield, his work being deservedly appreciated. The villainous parts are strongly presented by Mr. Eric Hudson as Martin Mason and Mr. Oscar Power as Manuel Alvarez. Miss Agnes Verity stands out very prominently with an excellent impersonation of Dynamite Ann; while Miss Lily Beagle is delightful as Belle Gordon, and Miss Daisy Charlton scores as Maggie. Little Rosie Hopkins is bright and pleasing as Tatto, and Mr. Will Hook causes considerable merriment as Reggie Harwood; Mr. Arthur D. Layland, the stage manager, must also be complimented on his success as the Indian.

TON-Y-PANDY. — ROYAL. — Lessees, Messrs Carlton and Duckworth; General-Manager, Mr. S. Duckworth; Resident-Manager, Mr. Ridgewood Barrie.—The boards are occupied this week by Mr Ernest Adrim's company, in the musical farce Our Irish Visitors. Mr. Ernest Adrim is very successful as Colonel M'Mahon,. Mr. J. W. Braithwaits is good as Mr. O'Brady, Gilly Softsolder is in the safe hands of Mr. Alfred D. Adams, and the remaining characters are all satisfactorily rendered.

TORQUAY.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Licensee and Managing-Director, Mr. W. H. Mortimer; Secretary, Mr. Arthur Pearse.—Little Red Riding Hood, played by Mr. John A. Thomson's company, concludes its visit here this week. Large audiences continue to patronise the performances, and this week a number of new songs have been introduced, giving the pantomime a swing which is rarely to be found after a fortnight's stay. New dances and specialities have been worked in with good results. Miss Ella Willmer, in the title-rôle, is dainty and captivating, her dancing being especially admired. As Prince Allfair Miss Beatrice Varley continues to be a favourite, and her songs are repeatedly encored. As Tommy Green Mr. Fred Anderson is as sprightly as ever; and with Mr. Lovell Rowland as Simple Simon provokes much merriment. Miss Ivy Boulton as Boy Blue and Miss Kate Pennington as Ro-sa also do excellently; Mr. Fred Latimer (the Dame) and Mr. George Newham (the Baron) work well together, and cause general hilarity. Mr. Fred Boulton is also extremely good as Paddy, as is also Mr. James Pulo as Sandy. As Johnny Horner and Margery Daw respectively Miss Bessie Carlisle and Miss Edith Carew are very successful. Miss Fay Desmond (the Fairy) uses her fine voice to advantage in her song, "Carmenia and the fairies." There is an excellent chorus, who, working well together, contribute much to the success of the pantomime. There are some excellent specialities, the Howards being particularly good in their mystifying performance of telepathy. Mr. Frank Medhurst is the general-manager, and Mr. Arthur Sheldrake is the musical director.

TUNBRIDGE WELLS.—THE OPERA HOUSE.—Lessee, Mr. Charles Carey; Manager, Mr. L. J. Gunnell.—The second week of Mr. J. D. Hunter's pantomime of Little Red Riding Hood is proving an even greater success than the first. On the night of our visit, owing to the sudden illness of the leading comedian, Mr. Bertram Gunnell took the part of the wicked Baron at the shortest notice, and scored a big success. Mr. J. D. Hunter himself has made a great hit as a suffragette in a humorous sketch. Further mention may be made of the specialities in the Palace scene. Miss Rosa Rosetti is an accomplished performer on the violin and 'cello; and Miss Vera Dudley has a charming Dutch song and dance; while Miss Sadie, the principal boy, has a new song, which is well received.

WAKEFIELD.—ROYAL OPERA HOUSE.—Proprietors, Sherwood and Co.—The pantomime Cinderella was produced here on Monday by Mr. Charles Chard's company. Miss Nancy Newell makes a winsome and dainty heroine; Miss Kittie Phelps is dashing and vivacious as Price Florizel; Mr. Harry Pleon as Pimples contributes largely to the success; Miss Minnie Terry does well as Dandini and, with her sister, Miss Bella Terry, as Eglantine, renders some vocal numbers in good style. Miss Ethel Davies is charming as Fairy Sunbeams; the part of the Demon is effectively rendered by Mr. John Syme, who sings well; Mr. Robert Williams is comical as the Baron; Messrs. Yorick and Yorick, highly amusing brokers' men, contribute a fine acrobatic turn; Miss Allen Amber is seen to advantage as Maudie, one of the Ugly Sisters; and Miss Cecilia Kent is good as the other. The New York Quartette dance smartly.

HIPPODROME.—Lessee, Mr. Alfred Selwyn; Manager, Mr. Sydney Tolfree.—Tarro Myaki, Japanese ju-jitsu wrestler, gives a clever performance here; Miss Helen Charles, mimic and siffleuse, contributes a clever, refined turn; the Nettas (Will and Dol), duettists, merit appreciation; Miss Nellie Nora appears in a pleasing musical act; Adelina in her speciality is successful; the Vaudevilles, sketch artists, are amusing; Miss Carrie Elliott and Mr. Tom Warde, comedy artists, prove popular; and an excellent performance is given by Mr. Shaw Lene, whistler and comedian.

WALSALL.—HER MAJESTY'S THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Proprietors, The Walsall Theatres Co., Ltd.; General-Manager and Secretary, Mr. W. H. Westwood.—Marguerite Ismay and her White Coons present a capital sketch, entitled Kickapoo; Griffin and Dubois are clever acrobatic eccentrics; the Sisters Carina, in their musical mélange, are capital; Clarissa Talbot and Albert Pearce give an enjoyable turn in their song-scena, The Spider and the Fly; Alexandra Edwin, soprano, is successful; and Tom Hughes, comedian; Alburtus and Millar, in a very bright and charming act; and the American Bioscope, complete an excellent programme.

GRAND THEATRE. — Proprietors, The Walsall Theatres Co., Ltd.; General-Manager and Secretary, Mr. W. H. Westwood.—Mr. Chas. Watson Mills' company occupies the boards here this week with A Wrecker of Men. Mr. Frederick Biron appears successfully as Jim Murley; the Risca Mallison of Miss Olga Audré is charmingly portrayed; Mr. Thompson Carruthers makes a capital Eric Melville; as Pharosaphus, Mr. Milner Noble is good; Miss Beatrice Reynolds is well placed as Slopper; and Miss Cissy Podmore makes a sympathetic Doris Melville.

WARRINGTON.—ROYAL THEATRE OF VARIETIES. —Proprietors, Messrs. W. Johnson and J. Potter; General-Manager, Mr. J. Potter; Director of Amusements, Mr. Fred Willmot.—An excellent entertainment is submitted here this week. A musical sketch, A Night in Japan, is a special item. Mr. Stephen Harland, as Lieut. Vernon, scores in a round of popular songs; a winsome Geisha girl is Miss Tina Franks; and Mr. W. S. Power is an exceedingly funny Wishee-Washee. The McConnell Trio delight all in their musical mélange, A Musical Mistake; F. S. Hulme is an up-to-date comedian; and Eily Adair a vivacious comedienne. Renson and Waite are expert patterers and dancers; and Marton is a clever mimic. Billy Richardson, stump orator, is as popular as ever; and the bioscope pictures are a delightful collection.

WEDNESBURY. — THEATRE ROYAL. — Lessee, Mr. Harry Battersby; Acting-Manager, Mr. Kuner. —On Monday Mr. Allan Wilkie's Shakespearean company opened here in Hamlet. The title-rôle was admirably portrayed by Mr. Wilkie; Mr. G. Alexander Marsh's interpretation of Laertes created a favourable impression; Claudius was effectively played by Mr. John Paley; an artistic rendering of Polonius was given by Mr. George Munroe; and Miss Carrie Baillie made a charming Ophelia; Miss Eily O. Dempey being responsible for excellent work as the Queen. The Ghost was successfully presented by Mr. Herbert Morgan. On Tuesday evening The Merchant of Venice was admirably staged. The Corsican Brothers, Romeo and Juliet, Othello, and The Bells are also in the répertoire.

WELLINGBORO'.—EXCHANGE HALL. — Good audiences witnessed the performances on Monday and Tuesday of The Duchess of Dantzic by Mr. Edward Morris's excellent company. In the title-rôle, Miss Denny Fitzherbert was a great success; and Renee de St. Mezard was charmingly interpreted by Miss May Hollom. Mr. Mansell Fane's version of François had many excellent features; and the prominent part of Napoleon was admirably carried out by Mr. Weldon Atherstone. Mr. Frank Attree was so good as Papillon that one wished to see more of him and Miss Hettie Ludlow. Mr. D. Fitzgibbon and many others acquitted themselves in good style.

WELSHPOOL. — TOWN HALL. — The Worst Woman in London was last Monday staged here by Miss Inez Howard's company, the several members of which fully sustained their well-earnt reputation by giving a most able representation of the drama. Miss Dora Price won golden opinions for her well-studied portrayal of Frances Vere, and all the other parts were in good hands. The escape on the telephone wire in the last act was realistic and exciting.

WEST BROMWICH.—THEATRE ROYAL AND OPERA HOUSE.—Lessee, Mr. Harding Thomas; Manager, Mr. Herbert Vere.—Mr. Herbert Barrs' company opened here on Monday with Aladdin. The title-rôle was well played and dressed by Miss Maudie Vincent; the Princess was all that could be desired; Mr. Will Sherlock was responsible for much fun as Abanazar; Mr. David Phillips as Widow Twankey kept the house in continual roars of laughter; and Mr. Carl Fredericks did well as the Emperor.

NEW HIPPODROME.—Manager, Mr. H. W. Player. —The comedy-sketch Three of a Kind, under the direction of Miss Ethel Arden and Mr. Geo. Abel, tops the bill here this week. The Captain and the Mate, by the Izons, is well received; the celebrated local whistler, Mr. Frank Newbury is greeted with applause; a unique comedy juggling act is presented by the Cromwells; a smart turn is given by Perrette and Mona, entitled Teasing the General; the Paytes provide some good songs; Tom Smith makes his turn very entertaining; applause greets the Jackson Troupe of singers and dancers; and several interesting pictures are shown.

WESTCLIFF-ON-SEA. — KING'S HALL. — Proprietors, Messrs. P. Vandy and J. E. Adams; General-Manager, Mr. Paul Vandy.—Another very fine variety programme has been provided at this new and increasingly popular place of amusement. The Three Chantos' unique spectacle, the phantom ship, heads the programme. Sid Stanto as a trick instrumentalist is decidedly clever; Marquis and Myronetti give a breezy little comedy, Little Willie; Alfonzo revolves barrels and crosses on her feet with marvellous rapidity; J. H. McCann goes through some remarkable feats on roller-skates; Miss Gabrielle Hope imitates Sousa and other composers on the piano to the delight of all; Walter Hurlstone, concertino soloist; George Bernand, with his little scena, "The Charge of the Light Brigade"; The Groves in a tricky comedy skit; Miss Queenie Seymour, the pretty dancer; and Mr. Miller Verren, vocalist, complete the complete the company.

WEST HARTLEPOOL.—GRAND.—Lessee, Mr. Fred Granville; Manager, Mr. Herbert E. Fecther. —Mr. Charles Macdona's company is here in the musical play, Three Little Maids. On Monday evening the songs and choruses were repeatedly encored. The trio of Branscombe girls, Ada, Hilda, and Edna, have charming exponents in the Misses Mabel Kerridge, Daisy Sylverton, and Eva Weigh. The merriment caused by the acting of Mr. Frank Henderson as Lord Cheyne commences at the rise of the curtain, and is kept going constantly until the fall. Mr. Eric Barrington as M. de L'Orme, and Mr. Frank as Bryan Molyneaux, creditably acquit themselves; Gretchen is brimful of vivacity, as depicted by Miss Laura Wright, and her dances, in conjunction with Mr. Bert Barton (excellent as Cupid), are vociferously re-demanded. Others who ably fill the rôles allotted to them are Miss Kate Graham-Beck as Lady St. Mallory, the Misses Hilda Stericker, Bertha French, and Nellie Clapton, as the protégées of Lady St. Mallory, Miss Maud Madle as Miss Price, and Mr. W. Burgess Barratt as the Rev. Mr. Branscombe.

PALACE. — Proprietor, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. Julius Simpson.—Learto and his clever dog, Babs, in musical comedy; the Gregson Comedy Trio, in a speciality act, The Dummy; and the Four Maisanos, in musical eccentricities that are at once decidedly amusing and remarkably clever, have all appeared before a West Hartlepool audience previously, and their reception on the present occasion is most gratifying. The bioscope pictures are particularly good this week; capital ballads are rendered by Sophie Knight; Harwood's Juveniles, in a novel scena, A Children's Christmas Eve, are a strong item on the programme.

WEST STANLEY.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietors, The Stanley Theatre Co., Ltd.; Managing-Director, Mr. Mark H. Lindon.—Poole is paying a return visit here; beside the pictures, the programme includes a powerful variety company.

VICTORIA THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. T. C. Raws; Responsible Manager, Mr. John Cassidy.—The programme here this week includes the Oetzman Troupe, Rodin, Will Palette, Bella Leaburn, Nellie Du Val, Akbar, and Magna.

WEXFORD. — THEATRE ROYAL. — Proprietor, Mr. E. P. Ronan. — Mr. F. R. Benson's South Shakespearean Company opened on Monday with The Taming of the Shrew to a delighted and enthusiastic audience. Mr. Bernard Limpus gave a capital interpretation of the part of Petruchio; and with Miss Christie Laws, a charming actress, who did full justice to the rôle of Katherina, shared the honours of the evening; Miss Kathryne Stocks was a graceful and fascinating Bianca; Mr. John Cairns was excellent as Baptista; Mr. Otto Hazlewood as Vicentio was well placed; and the Lucentio of Mr. Charles Maunsell left nothing to be desired. Messrs. Bernard Merefield and Leo Briggs, as Tranio and Grumio, extracted all the humour possible out of their respective parts; and the Pedant of Mr. Ernest Bodkin was very good. Romeo and Juliet, As You Like It, The Merchant of Venice, Hamlet, and Macbeth are billed for the remaining nights of the week.

WIGAN. — ROYAL COURT THEATRE.—Proprietors, The Wigan Entertainments Co. — Mr. E. Hill-Mitchelson's company has appeared here in the military play Revenge. Mr. E. Hill-Mitchelson takes the part of Prince Orloff; and Mr. Geo. Daiper as Capt. Loris Vanessa endows the character with considerable power and vitality. The King is represented by Mr. Jerrold Ord; and Count Musant by Mr. Francis Serle. Miss Alice Baxter is a vivacious and coquettish Cora Brook; and Miss Violet Carlyle as the Queen acts the part gracefully and sympathetically. The villainess, Draga Vanessa, has a capable exponent in Miss Amy Ellam; and Miss Maud Stuart and Miss Ada Douglas as Tusha and Olga and Miss Grace Aimiers as Lieut. Maurice play their respective parts admirably.

THE HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, The Wigan Entertainments Co. — Francis and Alfred, comedy jugglers, are remarkably clever and amusing entertainers; and Mason and Bart, as comedy gymnasts, win great popularity. The Cellos, musical entertainers; Spry and Monti, in a comedy scena; Percy Farrimond, local singing collier; and the Silverstone quartet of vocalists and dancers, are also well received. Harry Taylor, a local aspirant to music-hall fame as a comedian, is a humorous singer of great promise. Excellent comedy is also furnished by Keen and Waller, George Collins, John Alexander and pantomime company, and Frank Boyce.

WOLVERHAMPTON. — GRAND THEATRE.—Lessees and Managers, Mr. E. H. Bull and Mr. Milton Bode; Acting-Manager, Mr. Percy Percival. —There was a capital house on Monday last to welcome Mr. Edward Compton and company on the occasion of another visit. It so happened that it was the eminent comedian's birthday, and he was the recipient of a bouquet of flowers, which he acknowledged with one of his excellent little speeches. Davy Garrick was the attraction for the evening, and Mr. Compton played with his accustomed ability, which time does not detract from; Mr. Henry Crocker, as usual, made an admirable Alderman Gresham; and Mr. Denis W. Cleugh was a capable Tom Tallyhaut. As Violet, Miss Mackenzie was very successful indeed, and on each succeeding visit her genius is displayed to greater advantage; Miss Marie Hassell is very effective as Mrs. Rumbelow; and Miss Barbara Pigot does capitally as Selina Sowerberry. The friends of Gresham are ably portrayed by Mr. Philip Gordon, Mr. G. Wallace Johnston, and Mr. Vernon O. Crabtree. The play was preceded by a one-act comedy, The Desperate Lover, which met with much approval. Edmund Kean, The School for Scandal, and The Rivals were also included in the week's programme.

EMPIRE PALACE.—Baldwin's Bank Clerks are the leading item in this week's bill, and they give a good entertainment; the Borgheti Troupe of acrobats are clever. Other attractions include Montague Biggs, female impersonator; Deane and Dawson, comedians; Marie Elsie, vocalist; and Charles Clarke, comedian.

THEATRE ROYAL AND HIPPODROME. — The Sledge Hammer is being produced here by Mr. George Henry's company, the principal characters being ably impersonated by Mr. Frank Litchfield, Miss Marion Ashley, Mr. Howard Brenan, Mr. A. J. Murray, and Mr. Arthur Chisholm.

WORKINGTON.—OPERA HOUSE.—Lessee, Mr. Stanley Rogers; Manager, Mr. Falconer Jackes.—On Monday night there was a good house to witness Mr. J. A. Campbell's company in The Little Breadwinner, when stirring interest was manifested in its development. Mr. E. Santley as Dorrington presented a fine embodiment; Mr. M. Boulton was effective as Richard, and Mr. S. Leedham was popular in the part of Charles. As Joseph Prior Mr. A. Maurice proved a capital villain; Miss Mary Fulton acquitted herself excellently as Margaret, riveting the attention of her auditors; Miss J. Bostock was satisfactory as Bridget, and so, too, was Miss N. Thorne-Hallam as Kato. Little Emmie Thomas won applause as Meg. Other popular parts were Miss K. Melville as Ruth and Miss Lissa Young as Bobby.

WORTHING.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Manager, Herr C. Adolf Seebold.—Miss Ida Molesworth and Mr. Mark Blow's company is here this week with Under Two Flags and A Sailor's Sweetheart. In the first-mentioned piece Mr. Wellesley Draper gives a refined yet withal a manly impersonation of the character of Bertie Royellien; Mr. Charles West does well as Barklie; Mr. Charles Brooke capably enacts the character of Lord Royellien; Mr. Robert Faulkner excellently presents the character of Lord Rockington; Mr. Harry Benson is a favourite as Rake; Mr. Arthur Elwyn does well as Colonel Chanteauroy; as does Mr. Joseph Cowell as Captain Claude; Mr. Fred Beck is a typical Ezra Baroni; Miss Mabel Ormonde well delineates the character of Princess Venetia; and Miss Amy Maitland acts with natural force.

WREXHAM.—EMPIRE MUSIC HALL.—Proprietor, Mr. J. J. Scott; Manager, Mr. Herbert Nicholls.—This week a capital all-round company has provided a splendid entertainment here. Chas. H. Gould and company, in their new farcical comedy sketch, A Matchless Match, caused roars of laughter, the characters being Archibald Weddum (an amateur matrimonial agent), Mr. C. H. Gould; Bertie Bachelor (looking for a wife), Mr. W. King; Lottie Green (looking for a husband), Miss Nellie Atkin. Mr. Joe Huda, a refined negro entertainer, had a great reception; while Mr. Seth King, character comedian; Mr. Jake Euston, coloured comedian and dancer; Mr. Harry Plowden, a quaint comedian; and the pictures were also good.

YORK.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessees, Messrs. Waddington; Acting-Manager, Mr. H. J. Dacre.—The annual visit of the Carl Rosa Opera Company is an interesting event, vastly enjoyed by local playgoers, who have crowded the theatre this week, and been most enthusiastic in their applause. As Lohengrin, on Monday, Herr Julius Walther delighted all by his masterly rendering of this fine part; the fresh voice of Miss Grace Nicholl has lost none of its charm and beauty, and in the trying rôle of Elsa this brilliant artist repeated a wonderfully clever performance; a newcomer is seen in Mme. Marie Alexander, who sang the music allotted to Ortrud with perfect taste and expression; Mr. Arthur Winkworth looked Henry the Fowler to the life, and rendered his songs with his accustomed vigour; Mr. Frederick Clendon as the Herald was sufficiently declamatory, and was most successful in his vocal efforts; Mr. Dillon Shallard, in the rôle of Telramund, is entitled to unstinted praise. Il Trovatore, Carmen, The Merry Wives of Windsor, Tannhäuser, and Faust, were given during the week.

OPERA HOUSE AND EMPIRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Wm. Peacock; Acting-Manager, Mr. Sidney Brooke.—Mr. J. W. Rickaby's return visit is proving a huge success; Florence Smithers and party are clever in their sketch; Hector and Sultan do well; the Brothers Ashley, in their sketch, score heavily; Bu-Val, Sid Bandon, Les Marsumas, and the Bioscope complete the company.

FREEMASONS AT WORK.

Robert Burns Lodge, No. 25 on the register of the Grand Lodge of England, and with a history dating back to the year 1750, held its installation meeting on Monday last at the Frascati Restaurant, when Mr. Herbert Brook was installed Master by his predecessor in the chair, Mr. J. K. Boddy. Mr. Brook was for a period of upwards of twenty years one of the late Mr. D'Oyly Carte's most trusted and experienced managers, and during that period he visited not only every town of importance in the United Kingdom with the Gilbert and Sullivan operas, but being a gifted linguist, he was in sole charge of the company which played for so long in Berlin, Vienna, and many other large cities on the Continent. In addition to this he, on several occasions, visited America, in the same capacity.

The installation ceremony was most impressively performed by the retiring Master, and Mr. Brook at its conclusion appointed and invested his officers. Mr. W. S. Penley and Captain John Barlow, both Past Grand Treasurers, were unavoidably prevented from being present; but Mr. E. H. Bull, the present Master of the Lodge of Asaph, a very old friend and brother-manager of Mr. Brook's, was able to be present and support his old colleague on this interesting occasion.

A banquet followed the business, the new Master presiding, the usual toasts being interspersed with an excellent programme of music.

The Earl's Court Lodge, which has amongst its members many members of the theatrical and musical professions, held a very successful ladies' night on the 10th inst., in the Alexandra and Balmoral Halls of the Trocadero Restaurant. Upon the arrival of Mr. S. Mussell (the reigning Master), and Mrs. Mussell, the latter was presented by Mr. J. Worth (Past-Master and Treasurer), in the name of the Lodge, with a magnificent bouquet. The W.M., assisted by his wardens, Messrs. Ernest Jones and T. Leete, received guests numbering about 150, after which the company adjourned to the banqueting room and partook of a well-chosen dinner, served in this noted establishment's best style. In consequence of the long amusement programme, the toasts were limited to those of "The King," proposed by the W.M.; "The W.M.," proposed by Mr. Albert J. Taylor, I.P.M.; and "The Ladies and Visitors," proposed by Mr. W. S. Lyon, P.M.

Excellent arrangements for the entertainment of the company were made by Mr. G. L. Sharpe, and, thanks to the efforts of the Misses Hylda Felstead, Annie Grew, Messrs. Charles Bennett, Duncan Meffan, Charles Pond, Maurice Garland, and Whit Cunliffe—the last-named stepping across from the Pavilion to oblige with his ever-popular "A different girl again"—a most enjoyable evening was spent. During the proceedings, elegant souvenirs were presented to the ladies. Several letters and telegrams of regret were received from several of the members, including Sir Edward Letchworth, Col. Blunt, Col. Watts, F. H. Pedgrift, Harry Bawn, Gilbert Gerard, E. Lester, and C. Walton.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

BERLIN, THURSDAY, Jan. 17.—Dr. Max Bernstein is as clever a lawyer as he is a dramatist, and that is saying a good deal. He lives in Munich, where he has a large practice, and he gets through a quantity of literary work in addition. His wife, too, is well known in literary and dramatic circles under the name of Ernst Rosmer. Dr. Bernstein's latest play was most cordially received. It is in the author's brightest and wittiest manner, and although it would improve by energetic cutting (three acts would more than suffice), the excellent acting kept the audience in the best of humours from start to finish. Dr. Bernstein used to write serious plays, but he has found that the majority of theatre-goers like to laugh, and his natural wit and smart satire stand him in good stead. In Hertha's Hochzeit the principal figure is one Rosenthal; he is not particularly original—we have seen his counterpart in many plays—but he is so eager to help everyone, so ready in "Rath und Tath," that we always welcome him. The not very interesting heroine, Hertha, is the only daughter of the wealthy Commerzienrath Heyden. She dabbles in the emancipation of woman, and spouts Ellen Key and others who profess not to recognise the necessity of matrimonial fetters. Hertha even discloses her sentiments at a public meeting, where she is opposed by a young engineer named Lutz, and completely routed. Lutz is poor, but he is in love with Hertha, and although it takes the length of nearly four acts to unite them, in the end the self-willed, haughty young millionairess is as tractable and as much in love as any man could wish. Herr Heyden himself is the poorest-drawn character. His fortune is far greater than his wit, and his chief ambition is to gain a decoration for his button-hole in the shape of a distinguished order. So he puts up bronze statues ad infinitum in the hope of pleasing his Sovereign and catching his attention. This character, also, is not new in German comedies. In the capital cast Herr Arndt as Rosenthal made the greatest hit, but Fräulein Gasny, Herr Walden, and Herr Klein were very good too; while the suffragettes were humorously portrayed by Fräuleins Marland, Jona, Maren, and Struntz. Dr. Bernstein was present, and had to appear before the curtain some six or seven times in response to the hearty applause.

THE Schiller Theatre N. gave a remarkable performance one afternoon last week. It was a new volks-play by Rudolf Greinz on a very old theme, Das Tiroler Krippenspiel von der glorreichen Geburt unseres Heilandes. The performance, which was in aid of a charity, was under the immediate patronage of Princess Radziwill and a bishop, and attracted a large audience, who followed the six highly original scenes with devout attention. It was rather strange to hear the shepherds who kept their watch by night speaking the dialect of the Tyrolese hills, but the Angel (Fräulein Wachner, of the Royal Schauspielhaus) spoke in beautiful High German, and was apparently understood. The Holy Kings, Joseph and Mary, and King Herod all appeared in turn to speak their lines, and the Schiller company did their best with the unusual characters entrusted to them. It was a mixture of naïveté and art, but not without a degree of charm. The incidental music was descriptive and appropriate, and the same may be said of the mounting.

THE revival of Ibsen's play Wenn Wir Toten Erwachen at the Lessing last week proved—as was only to be expected—a great success in all senses of the word. This "epilogue" is undoubtedly the most ideal and beautiful of the famous dramatist's works. It was his last will and testament to the friends who loved him—his "pax vobiscum"—and if only for this reason it will live for ever. The performance was another triumph for Dr. Brahm, whose unerring taste has gained for his theatre the reputation of "Germany's first stage." Not only was the cast a faultlessly even one, but incomparable harmony reigned down to the smallest detail. Fräulein Triesch was, unfortunately, hindered by indisposition from taking the part of Irene—which she created some years ago here—but an admirable substitute was found in Fräulein Dumont. Herr Bassermann as Rubek, Herr Marr as the "Bear-Killer," and Fräulein Wuest in the rôle of Maja, each and all carried their audience with them. The impression created was almost too profound for applause, but in the foyer nothing was heard but expressions of the greatest appreciation.

THE new Gebrüder-Herrnfeld Theatre was recently opened in the Kommandanten Strasse, in the City. It is a handsome little building both inside and outside, and seats close upon 900 persons. The Brothers Herrnfeld are popular, up-to-date managers, and their theatre has always been the acknowledged centre of melodrama and burlesque, while they themselves are actors of no mean parts.

MME. SUZANNE DESPRES commences her season at the Neues Theatre to-night. The opening piece is La Fille Elisa, a three-act drama by Jean Ajalbert, to be followed by a one-act comedy by Jules Renard, entitled Poil de Carotte. Mme. Desprès is accompanied by the entire company of the Théâtre de l'Œuvre, and eight performances have been contracted for thus far.

THE Royal Schauspielhaus has revived Hamlet after an interval of some weeks. Herr Matkowsky is giving the title-rôle, which has become one of the eminent actor's best characters. The part of Ophelia was taken by Fräulein Wachner, but the account rendered of it was not so satisfactory as that of many other rôles in the talented young artist's repertory. Herren Pohl, Staegemann, and Vollmer were worthy of much commendation, and the mounting was particularly fine.

A NEW departure for our latest Schiller Theatre took place in the form of the first of a series of chamber concerts on Sunday afternoon. The acoustics of the new building are excellent, the artists were first-class (Herren Zajic, Kwast, Hasse, and Grünfeld played a Mozart quartet), and a crowded audience tendered enthusiastic applause.

I MUCH regret to record the death of the esteemed playwright and song-writer Dr. Arthur Pserhofer at the early age of thirty-five. He was an Austrian by birth, and equally popular in Vienna and Berlin. Dr. Pserhofer died of inflammation of the lungs at a private hospital here, and the body will be removed to Vienna.

SHOWMEN IN COUNCIL.

The eighteenth annual meeting of the United Kingdom Showmen and Van-Dwellers' Protection Association (The Showmen's Guild) took place on Wednesday, Jan 17, at the Memorial Hall, Manchester.

Mr. Wm. Gibson presided, and supporting were the invited speakers, the Rev. H. Norburn, Rector of St. Agnes, Birch, hon. local chaplain; Charles Howard, Esq., hon. local solicitor; and the Guild organiser and chaplain, the Rev. T. Horne; T. Watson Wright, Esq., Guild socicitor; and Mr. T. Hurst, hon. sec. The members of the executive council and committee present included Messrs. George Green, V.P. (Glasgow), P. Collins, V.P. (Walsall), T. Collins, V.P. (Liverpool), G. H. Kemp, V.P. (Leicester), Geo. Cornwell, V.P. (Bolton), T. Payne, V.P. (Ashton), T. Whiting, V.P., R. Newall, V.P., Wm. Clark, V.P. (Manchester), H. J. Wallis, V.P. (Liverpool), E. P. Holland (Macclesfield), Wm. Shuttleworth, J. Geoghegan and E. Geoghegan (Oldham), H. R. Hibbert, J. Jewell, and R. Ingham. Members of committee: Messrs. W. Keyes (London), Enoch Farran (Doncaster), J. Ravenscroft (New Brighton), J. Wilson (Preston), J. Walker, V.P. (New Mills), Prince Samouda (London), Messrs. Mercer, John Ingham, W. Steward, Jewell, Horton, Cordwell, Hughes, Watt, R. Deeks, G. Wallis, A. Hibbert, Chadwick, and Horrocks, and Mesdames Whiting, Mercer, Massey, Holmes, Deeks, Cordwell, Ingham, Miss Green, and others. Amongst the hon. members and friends of the Guild were Messrs. E. W. Ward (Cameo), representing the V.A.F., Tom Smith (G.C.R.), Wm. Kemp (L. and N.W.R.), R. Pike, Wm. Pike, Fred Bibby, and other gentlemen.

The CHAIRMAN, in his opening remarks, dwelt with great satisfaction and pleasure upon the acceptance of the Society's work by the Corporation and the general public. He had attended and had taken part in the meetings of the Association in various parts of the country, and it had delighted him to see the cordial manner in which their work had been received, and to hear the verdict of public approval expressed by the municipalities upon that work. He believed that if show people realised the importance of their Trade Protection Society—that if they understood how it had prevented serious injury to them and their business, all would unite in one solid body to further and to strengthen that work. (Applause.) He would ask Mr. Horne, in the temporary absence of the Hon. Secretary, to read

THE ANNUAL REPORT.

The Rev. T. HORNE, on rising to read the report, was most warmly received. He read the report as follows:

THE UNITED KINGDOM
SHOWMEN'S AND VAN DWELLERS' PROTECTION ASSOCIATION, THE SHOWMEN'S GUILD.
President, LORD GEORGE SANGER.

SEVENTEENTH ANNUAL REPORT.

There are two things that your Executive Council must ever keep in mind: The first is, that the primary objects of your organisation shall be achieved; and the second is that the Society shall be maintained in such working efficiency that not only justifies, but increases, the public esteem that its long and honoured career has won.

Your executive officers for the past seventeen years have worked hard and with signal success for these two things: (1) The defence and vindication of the fair ground industry; and (2) the uplifting and betterment of show life in all its branches. Past experience has fully justified the working policy of the Executive Council, and to-day the travelling showman occupies an honoured place in the industrial evolution of the Empire.

It is now recognised that to provide the necessary amusement at our fairs, feasts, wakes, and general holiday times, is an integral part of our complex national life, and that showmen carry on an industry as honourable and as necessary as any other trade or calling in the Commonwealth.

The old puritanical prejudice against popular amusements for the people is fast dying out, and both on social and on scientific grounds it is becoming recognised that amusements and recreation are increasingly necessary to counteract the strenuousness and the exhaustion of modern industrial life

At last, after centuries of neglect and abuse, the showman takes his proper place in the national economy. It is extremely gratifying to your executive officers to point out the many proofs of this great advance in the status of showmen, and the ever-increasing recognition of that fact by corporations and public bodies, and especially by the greatest tribunal of all—the Imperial Parliament.

Your Executive Council is convinced that only the most determined adherence to the policy and work as set out above will conserve the position and influence of the Guild, and also lead to even greater success in the immediate future.

Early in the year your Executive Council had to open up negotiations with the London County Council with regard to an order of the Parks and Open Spaces Committee of that body, prohibiting living vans (the homes of the workers) drawing on the open spaces at Hampstead, Blackheath, and Wormwood Scrubs at the Bank Holiday fairs controlled by the County Council.

Your Executive arranged a conference on the matter with the London County Council; the president (Lord George Sanger), the chaplain (the Rev. T. Horne), F. H. Pedgrift, Esq. (of The Era), and hon. treasurer for London, with twelve representative metropolitan showmen, formed the deputation.

The veteran showman and Guild president, Lord George Sanger, presented the case for rescinding the order against living vans so convincingly that the prohibition was removed, and vans again allowed with the shows on the open spaces.

Another extremely satisfactory outcome of this conference was the desire to co-operate with your Society shown by the County Council in order that the Bank Holiday fairs on London's great open spaces might all the better serve the interests of the people at holiday times.

Your Executive Officers are convinced that the lead thus given by the great London County Council will have a great influence with other public bodies. Instances of this gratifying fact are already to hand. The meeting of your Society at Gloucester Fair was presided over by the Mayor. The City Sheriff, the Town Clerk, and a considerable number of the Aldermen and City Councillors attended the gathering. The same thing also marked the Guild meeting at Hull Fair, where the Mayor presided, and was supported by a large attendance of the City Council. The meeting at Rotherham Fair (in the absence of the Mayor) had for its chairman the Rev. Canon Goodall, the Vicar, and with him were members of the Corporation and local clergy. The annual meeting at King's Lynn (one of your Society's oldest fixtures) was again held in the Town Hall, under the presidency of the Mayor and the patronage of the Aldermen, Borough Councillors, and the local clergy, and to finish this unbroken record of success as regards meetings in 1906, mention must be made of the gatherings at Bolton, the annual meetings at Manchester, London, Porth (Wales), Longsight, and the special meeting at Gorton Wakes.

Your Hon. Organising Chaplain has attended and spoken at all these important meetings during the past year, and your Executive look forward to the year 1907 with confident hope that even more gatherings may be held than in the past most successful and encouraging year.

Your Committee again rejoice in the decreasing number of Parliamentary Bills seeking powers to penalise the show and fair ground business. This has entirely resulted from the thorough and persistent manner in which your Executive Officers have met and repelled every attack.

During the past year four Bills of serious importance were introduced into Parliament, three private Bills by public bodies, and one Bill by a private Member of the House of Commons. Your Committee have again to make the gratifying report that each Bill was successfully dealt with, and the proposals touching with our interests either withdrawn or amended.

In the appended report of our Parliament Agent, F. Millar, Esq., details of the private Bill legislation are given. In this report your Committee only attempt to deal with the greater issues and deeper principles at stake. The most important of the Parliamentary victories of 1906 was that of the Middlesex County Council Bill. For many years past showmen had been asking:—Is it possible for the wit of man to devise a form of words that should effectively abate the nuisance and danger to public health of gipsy and squatter settlements, and yet be free from harm and danger to the business interests of travelling show people?

We rejoice greatly that the Middlesex County Council has been the first to recognise the fundamental difference between the business of the showman and the itinerant gipsy. Committees of the House of Commons dealing with private Bills have repeatedly thrown out clauses aiming at bringing the gipsy under local government as regards sanitation and police matters.

The opposition to these clauses has been carried on entirely by the organised showmen, in order to compel local authorities to recognise the essential differences between the trade of the showman vandweller and the avocations more or less dubious of the travelling tinker and squatting gipsy.

The Committee of the House of Commons dealing with the Middlesex Bill recognised that showmen ought to be exempt from the gipsy sanitary and settlement clauses. The difficulty, of course, was to clearly define the business of the showman, and to separate it from any confusion with gipsies dwelling in vans or tents, and travelling hawkers trading in vans.

The following amendment to the objectionable clause was finally agreed upon:—

"This section shall not apply to any person dwelling in a tent or van or other similar structure who is a showman or roundabout proprietor or stallholder—not being a pedlar or hawker. Nor to any landowner who suffers any land to be occupied by such persons in such manner aforesaid."

There are several considerations of great interest to showmen arising out of this last victory of theirs in the Parliamentary arena. The first and most important is that, for the first time in private Bill legislation a clear and understandable definition of fair-ground trader, whether he be showman, roundabout proprietor, or stallholder, is set out in an Act of Parliament.

Up to the present time no such definition has been embodied in legislation, and its accomplishment marks another upward step in the status and public recognition of the showman's avocation in life. Hitherto draughtsmen of Parliamentary Bills have refused to recognise any difference whatever in the classes of people using tents or vans.

In season and out of season we have pleaded for the recognition of the showman separate and apart from other classes of people using tents and vans, and it is to us an occasion of great satisfaction that what we have so persistently advocated has been at length obtained.

Your Committee gladly record that the other two private Bills, those of Pontefract and Wallassey, were amicably settled, and your interests fully protected. There remained only the Bill introduced into the House of Commons by a private Member; a Bill which revives under worse conditions some of the most objectionable features of the notorious Movable Dwellings Bill of the late George Smith. The ostensible object of the Bill is to provide for the education of vagrant children, but it is so badly drafted that all children of parents whose working life necessitates moving from place to place would be brought under the powers and penalties of the Act should it unfortunately become law. There is not the slightest effort made to distinguish the child of the respectable showman, or fair-ground trader, from the child of the habitual tramp and wandering criminal, and we have not the slightest hesitation in saying that you are face to face with the greatest invasion of your domestic rights, and are liable to the most terrible degradation ever attempted against you and your avocation in life.

The Bill was introduced by Mr. Spicer, and backed by Sir John Kennaway, Mr. Toulmin, Mr. Cameron Corbett, Mr. Lewis Haslam, Mr. Vivian, and Mr. McLean:—

Be it enacted by the King's Most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:—

1. When a child is so moved from place to place as to prevent such child from receiving regular education under the Elementary Education Acts, 1870 to 1902, the parent or person having the custody or charge of such child shall be guilty of an offence against this Act, and shall be liable, upon summary conviction, to imprisonment with hard labour for a term not exceeding three months, and such child may be adjudged to be a child of vagrant parents within the meaning of this Act.
2. Any constable may take into custody without a warrant and charge before a Justice of the Peace with the commission of an offence under Section 1 of this Act, any person whom he shall have cause to suspect of having committed such an offence, and such Justice of the Peace may order the detention of such person in prison until the charge is heard, and such constable may take charge of any child in respect of which an offence is suspected, and deliver him for safe custody to the master of the workhouse of the parish or union in which the aforesaid person has been apprehended until the charge is heard.
3. When any parent has been convicted of an offence under Section 1 of this Act, the Court may adjudge any child in respect of which an offence has been committed to be a child of vagrant parents, and may order that the child of vagrant parents shall be received into the workhouse or the union in which the parent was taken into custody, or the child was adjudged to be a child of vagrant parents, whereupon Section 1 of the Poor Law Act, 1889, as amended by Section 1 of the Poor Law Act, 1899, shall apply, and the Guardians of the poor of such union shall be empowered as regards such child of vagrant parents, to pass a resolution vesting in themselves, as provided by the said section, the rights of the parent or parents of such child. If the Court orders such child of vagrant parents to be received into a workhouse, the Court may order that the whole or any part of the cost of the maintenance of such child shall be provided by the parent of such child, and paid to the Guardians by whom such child is maintained.

There are other clauses in this precious Bill providing for certain contingencies as to the cost of maintenance or the emigration of children at the hands of the Guardians of the Poor, and to be met by the County Council. Your Committee only deal here with the material clauses in this extraordinary proposal.

First of all notice that the Bill would create an entirely new offence; it makes the parents guilty of a criminal offence if they move from place to place, taking their children with them. No attempt is made to distinguish between parents and parents, children and children, showmen and itinerant traders. Circus, variety, and theatrical children, and their parents, would all come under the stigma and power of this law, and would be classed with criminal parents and tramps as being vagrants, and subject to the pains and penalties of the Act. In the second clause it gives any constable power, on suspicion, without any warrant, to apprehend the parent and to take the child to the nearest workhouse. Now, we ask you to imagine how this would affect some of the most interesting of our travelling shows. For instance, the small circus or variety show, in which every member of the family takes part. The show enters a town; the constable, with the responsibility of this act upon his shoulders, notices that one or two of the children appear to him to be under the age of fourteen. He is empowered, without any warrant from a magistrate, to lodge the parents in prison, and to take the children suspected to be under fourteen to the nearest workhouse. The parents are in prison, the children are pauperised, and the show is sold up to pay the expenses of the prosecution. There is nothing in the Bill to prevent the picture we have drawn you from being realised in fact. You must not forget that in all legislation it is not the pious intention of the legislators that becomes law, but the actual wording of the Bill when it passes Parliament and has become part and parcel of the statute law of the land.

Your Committee met this Bill with the most determined opposition, so that when it was introduced it was blocked, and prevented passing into law. The travelling showman has many friends in the House of Commons, and there were no difficulties in finding Members to block, and, if necessary, oppose, the measure.

The important point to be remembered is, that it is only by the constant vigilance of your officials and the maintenance of your Parliamentary defence work in the fullest efficiency that your trade rights and domestic and civil liberties can be preserved.

Your Committee have petitioned the Home Secretary against the proposed abolition of fairs at Shipdham (Norfolk), Mitcham (Surrey), Writtle (Essex), and also against inimical by-laws proposed by the Chester County Council.

Great interest was evoked over the showmen tenants' fight for their vested interests at Mitcham. Despite the fact the Home Secretary refused to abolish the fair, the Conservators of Mitcham Common lands, acting with the owners of the tolls, issued a notice prohibiting the showmen drawing on the fair green. The old tenants decided to draw on and hold the fair as usual. This resulted in three representative showmen being cited before the High Court, and all showmen will watch with interest the result of the action.

Another very important instance of corporation interference with the fair rights and franchise of the people has engaged your Executive in strenuous public work. In response to the invitation of an influential local committee, important action was taken to defend your fair rights at Burslem Wakes, and at the same time to arouse the people to defend their old-time pleasure fair.

We so effectively stirred up the people of Burslem that the local authorities are face to face with the plain truth that, on the wakes question, they do not represent public opinion. We trust that better and wiser counsels will prevail, and that the people of Burslem will retain their wakes

On all sides there are evidences of a growing sense of fellowship and unity amongst travelling show-people. The magnificent example and the stirring words of our revered leader and president, George Sanger, his continued devotion to the interests of his people, and his munificent annual donation to your funds, have provoked a larger response to our appeal for the necessary money to do your work.

Your Commitee earnestly hope that an effort will be made in 1907 to place the Parliamentary Defence Fund in such a sound financial position that all necessary action to safeguard your interests may be taken as occasion shall arise.

At the many interesting meetings on the fair grounds in the past year a constant feature was the unanimous conviction that found the most gratifying expression that the "Vandwellers' Society" (the mother of all showmen trade organisations) was doing a grand and most necessary work for all who earn their daily bread travelling from fair to fair.

Signed on behalf of the Executive,
LORD GEORGE SANGER, President.

THE UNITED KINGDOM SHOWMEN AND VAN DWELLERS' PROTECTION ASSOCIATION.

Report of Parliamentary Agent on Opposition to Private Bills, Session 1906.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY COUNCIL (GENERAL POWERS) BILL.

By Clause 31 of this Bill it was proposed to inflict a penalty of £5 on any "tent-dweller, squatter, gipsy, or other person" who used as a dwelling-place any tent or van or other similar structure within one hundred yards of any street or dwelling-house, so as to cause annoyance, injury, or disturbance to residents, and also on any landowner who should cause or suffer any land to be so occupied. Although, of course, it was well understood that this clause was primarily directed against gipsies and other objectionable persons, it was clear that the words of the clause were so wide as to include every travelling showman, and there was the danger that some bigoted magistrate might construe the words "annoyance, injury, or disturbance" as applying to the mere presence of the vandwellers without any specific objectionable acts on their part. The promoters of the Bill were invited to enter into negotiations, but they made no response until the Bill was in Committee and the Association had actually appeared by counsel. The Association's representatives were assured that there was no intention of interfering with bond-fide showmen, and on an undertaking being given to insert words approved by counsel to effect this object, the opposition was withdrawn, and the clause finally passed in a satisfactory form.

PONTEFRACT CORPORATION BILL.

By Clause 76 of this Bill it was proposed to confer upon the Corporation wholly new powers in connection with the Statute Hiring Fair held in November. These new powers provided for the fixing of the hours during which the fair might be open, and regulating the erection of booths, tents, &c. By Clause 80 it was further proposed to prevent the holding of any market or fair without the licence of the Corporation. These were powers which, at the instigation of the Association, had been frequently refused to other Corporations, and the interference with the holding of markets and fairs had been very fully gone into in the case of the Halifax Corporation Bill of 1902, and the clause struck out after a very clear expression of opinion on the part of the Committee. This was done, notwithstanding that the Halifax Corporation was in a far stronger position through having obtained a prohibitory clause some years ago, which, however, by an oversight, did not provide a penalty. These facts being represented to the Corporation, they agreed to amend the Bill in accordance with the Association's wishes, but as the Committee struck out the clause on other grounds, the question of amendment did not arise.

WALLASEY TRAMWAYS AND IMPROVEMENTS BILL.

This Bill provided by Clause 21 for the making of by-laws in regard to the foreshore and seashore, and the placing of stalls and stands thereon, and by Clause 122 it was proposed to enact a penalty of £5 for the playing of steam organs. A petition was duly deposited, but as the promoters subsequently agreed to withdraw Clause 122, and the local showmen did not appear to attach much importance to Clause 21, the petition was withdrawn, and the Bill passed with Clause 122 omitted.

FREDERICK MILLAR.

Mr. GIBSON, from the Chair, moved the adoption of the report, and the proposition was seconded by Mr. E. P. HOLLAND.

The Rev. H. NORBURN supported the adoption of the report. To him, he said, two things were self-evident: first, the tremendous zeal and unceasing labour of their organiser and senior Hon. Chaplain, the Rev. T. Horne. (Cheers.) Mr. Horne's work was written large all over the history of their movement, and they had reason to thank God that such a man espoused their cause and stood for them in every emergency. The second thing that struck him in hearing the annual report was the marked difference, in the treatment of show-people, between the Church and the world. The Church, by her principles and, he confidently asserted, in most instances by her known action, recognised that show people were on an equality with all other classes in the community. It was the duty of the vicar of a parish to treat alike the parishioner of a few days and the parishioner who dwelt in the parish for years. (Applause.) Now, what were the conditions that the world meted out to showmen? In many cases to view them with suspicion and to hamper them with unjust and injurious restrictions. Corporations and public bodies, but for the protective work of their Guild, would have driven them off the road, and would have compelled them to turn their ability and capital to other kinds of enterprise. (Applause.) That to him would have been a lamentable loss to the people, more especially to the working classes, who needed the amusement they so well provided, and the holidays that fairs gave them. The busybodies who trusted to hard and fixed laws, who would legislate away all the individual liberty of the people, the poeple who believed in making rules and regulations for everything and everybody, were the enemies of the commonwealth, and not, as they fondly imagined, its chief guardians and promoters. (Applause.) He, for his part, would rather see the people (as it occurred yearly in his parish) enjoy themselves rationally and whole-heartedly at the wakes-time than that their liberty and joy of life should be taken from them. (Cheers.) Every year he gladly welcomed the showpeople to his parish. They came to his church, they brought their children to be baptized, and their young people attended his Sunday school. They were only his people for a week once a year, but he confessed that he loved to have them, and he would do his best for them. (Applause.) Referring to the Vagrant Children Education Bill mentioned in the annual report, he protested most earnestly against such mistaken proposals—proposals to cast an unjust stigma upon show parents, whom he had ever found ready to give their children the best education obtainable. He remembered with pleasure the bright, intelligent children he had taught in his own schools—children sent from the show vans at the fair—and he resented the imputation cast upon the parents that such bonny and bright children needed an yspecial legislation. He concluded by expressing a fervent wish for the continued prosperity and usefulness of the Guild, and that his long-time friend and brother Chaplain, the Rev. T. Horne, might be long spared to them to continue his important work amongst show-people. (Cheers.)

Mr. CHARLES HOWARD, in supporting the resolution, congratulated the executive officers on the excellent tale of work in 1906. For many years he had come to that meeting, and they all knew the burden of his message. It was, "Rally round and support the Guild." He rejoiced that during the past year there had been a larger contribution to the funds of the society, and he trusted that in the present year a yet greater increase would reward the labours of the committee. (Applause.)

Mr. T. WATSON WRIGHT, Guild Parliamentary Solicitor, in a vigorous speech, supported the adoption of the report. What the Guild executive had worked for, he said, with such signal success and perseverance, was in sight at the present moment. From 1900 to 1907 they had defeated over sixty corporations and public bodies in their endeavour to pass restrictions on the show and fair grounds. But that was not all. Every Session of Parliament some hundred or more private Bills were sent to the Imperial Parliament. All these private Bills sought powers over and above the common law. These powers meant the curtailment of somebody's private liberty, somebody's vested interests. Corporations, unless deterred, would ask for all sorts of powers, and it was their work to examine all these proposals and to take such action as shall preserve the trade and business rights, the social and domestic liberties of their people. (Applause.) He was glad to assure them that, after their last year's work, there were only two corporations, Rawtenstall and Penrith, with Bills entered for the next Session containing proposals touching their trade interests, and these, he added, were matters easily capable of amicable adjustment. (Cheers.) What a different tale to the busy record of the early years of Parliamentary defence! It was now recognised in both Houses of Parliament that laws entirely meant for gipsy life were not applicable to show life, and he referred with great satisfaction to the part he had taken in the compromise with the Middlesex County Council. He was proud to be the author of the exemption clause in the Middlesex Act, that set out the true position of fair-ground traders as contrasted with gipsies and itinerant hawkers. He read the words of the clause, as embodied in the annual report, and detailed the stages of the severe fight they had with the Middlesex county authorities before they would listen to reason. All this arduous work meant costly outlay, but it was money well spent, for it raised the position of all those who travel the fairs. (Cheers.) The probability was that in the Session before them they would have no need to take action, but if they had, his hearers might rest assured that he and the other officials of the Guild would continue to safeguard their vested interests, and do all that they could to promote the best interests of showland. (Cheers.)

The report was then submitted to the vote of the meeting, and it was carried unanimously.

The Hon Secretary, Mr. T. HURST, read the financial statement for 1906:—

The HON. SECRETARY read the balance-sheet of the Bolton Ball Committee for 1907, and the announcement of the substantial surplus of £21 19s. 4d. provoked great applause. Messrs. R. and W. Pike, of Bolton, to whose labours the result is greatly due, were enthusiastically thanked. In their replies both gentlemen declared their readiness at all times to help in the good work of the Guild.

The HON. CHAPLAIN (the Rev. T. Horne), at the request of the chairman, gave a short address, touching on several interesting points of Guild work not dealt with in the annual report. He had attended meetings at London, Manchester, Porth (Wales), Wanstead Flats, Mitcham, Gloucester, Longsight (Manchester), Gorton, Hull, Rotherham, and Burslem. At Porth, Longsight, Gloucester, and at Rotherham (with the hearty assistance of hon. local Chaplains), he had conducted services in show booths, and had also preached in the parish churches of the fair-grounds. The thing that had most impressed him was the intelligent and sympathetic interest in show people and show life that these meetings, services, and sermons had quickened and increased in the public mind. He had (with the Bishop of London's consent and licence) determined to give more of his time to this important side of the work of the Guild. He looked forward this year to taking twenty or thirty such services and meetings on the fair-grounds of the Kingdom. (Cheers.) To do this work he had longed for many years past. Now he had begun with 1907, taking services for show-people at the World's Fair, Islington, and at Olympia, Kensington. He hoped to give all necessary time, not only to their secular concerns, but also to their educational and spiritual welfare. (Cheers.) God had called him to this great enterprise, and he knew that it would be welcomed and valued by show-people all over the country. (Great applause.)

An extremely pleasant duty was next imposed upon the Chaplain, the presentation of gold medals to the victorious Lancashire team of showmen footballers, and of silver medals to the vanquished Yorkshire team. There was a scene of great enthusiasm, and with the announcements of committees, the two London social reunions, the supper and ball at the World's Fair and the similar function at Olympia, with complimentary votes to the chairman, speakers, and retiring officers, the meeting terminated.

OUR readers may be reminded of the annual meeting of the United Kingdom Van Dwellers' Protection Association, which will take place at the World's Fair, Royal Agricultural Hall, Islington, on Wednesday, when a presidential address will be given by Lord George Sanger. On the evening of the same day the 14th annual supper and ball will take place. A strong and influential committee has the matter in hand, and is using every endeavour to make the coming event even more successful than its predecessors. An excellent menu has been arranged for the supper, after which the guests will adjourn to the large and commodious ballroom, handsomely decorated for the occasion, where they can enjoy themselves to their hearts' content until the early morning hours.

WADEBROOK'S Electrograph is still attracting large crowds at Pontypridd; Haggar's modern show is at Aberdare; Crecraft, with pictures and varieties, at Porth; Chipperfield at Bridgend with bioscope and varieties; and Baker's circus at Blackwood.

MESSRS. BARKER AND THURSTON successfully continue their carnival at the Agricultural Hall, Norwich, and their motor-cars and cinematograph show are well patronised. Among the side shows are W. Abbott's, George Hearn's, H. Parkin's, H. Westropp's shooting galleries, W. Westropp's, Joshua Holmes's, I. Norman's, Mrs. Abbott's and Charles Abbott's doll shows; R. Holmes's fish saloon, George Summers's penalty football, Avory's weighing-chair; T. Bond's bottle-breaking saloon, Bray's automatic machine, Candy King and Mackintosh's toffee, with Mason's rolled gold do good business.

THE International Fairs Company of Directors are using their best endeavours to make the first annual banquet and ball by showmen at Olympia a huge success. The application for tickets has surpassed all anticipations, and the event promises to be among the greatest in the annals of showmen gatherings. The king of showmen, Lord George Sanger, will take the chair a portion of the evening.

IT must be highly satisfactory to Messrs. L. Gaumont and Co. to note the brilliant success of the three chronophone shows which are at present being run by the President at the Market-place, Bolton, by Mr. Sidney H. Carter (of the New Century Picture Co.), at the Temperance Hall, Bolton, and by Capt. Payne at the Fairground, Oldham. A simultaneous hit has thus been scored by an ingenious form of "mechanical entertainment," which puts before us not only "speaking likenesses," but "pictures which live in voice and motion." The smoothness with which this clever contrivance runs elicits warm appreciation whenever it is presented, and the enterprising gentlemen who are the lucky possessors of the novelty are to be complimented on their keen business foresight.

LONDON & SUBURBAN THEATRES.

"CINDERELLA" AT THE CAMDEN.

Mr. Robert Arthur is well aware of the high pantomimic traditions of this house, and in his production of another Christmas version of Cinderella—the most popular of children's stories, which has been adapted by Mr. Frank Dix—he has worthily sustained them. Fun, frolic, and fancy are a triumvirate of good qualities that may be found in each scene, and great care has been taken to give every opportunity to the clever actors engaged to force the fun. There are wittily-turned jests, amusing lines, and plentiful gags, and what may be most deservedly praised is that the dramatic situations of the story receive clever musical illustration. Two instances of this are the scene in the forest where the Prince's retainers treat with contumely the fairy godmother, who is succoured by the cinderwench heroine, and the incident of her sudden departure from the ball. Though the harlequinade is missing, there is fooling in plenty. Camden audiences begin their laughing soon after the rise of the curtain, and once the note of humour is sounded there is a merry chorus of mirth resounding through the house that does not cease until the tableau curtains fall on the complete good fortune of Prince and kitchen-maid.

The cast of Cinderella at the Camden is one of level excellence. A special favourite with the house is Little Cliff, a youth possessing remarkable powers as a dancer and comedian. He plays the part of Shrimp, and without ever being obtrusive he scores most unmistakably in every scene in which he appears. He has his great chance, however, in the Palace scene, in which he sings "Good-night, Mr. Brown, I'm out" with rare spirit and entrain, and adds to his triumph by one of the most eccentric dances possible. He is cheered and cheered again. It is to be hoped that the lad will not be spoiled by success, for he has the stuff of which good entertainers are made, but his future is largely in the hands of those who are responsible for his artistic education. Mr. George Hughes and Mr. Josiah Alexandre are happily associated in the parts of Baron Balderdash and Pickles, the lovelorn page, and contribute clever musical interludes with concertinas and mandoline and autoharp. Their diction, too, is excellent, and Mr. Alexandre's constant inquiry, "Has anyone been asking for me?" is invariably received with a burst of laughter. Mr. Hughes has a capital song in the Palace scene, in which a well-written and scathing verse concerning the recent naval riots at Portsmouth goes down particularly well. To Mr. Alexandre is entrusted the tuneful number, "It's a different girl again," which is chorussed in every part of the house. The elderly sisters are represented by Mr. Harry Herbert and Miss May Lillian Levey, who play admirably into each other's hands. Mr. Herbert makes the shrewishness of Anona one of the most comic things in the pantomime, and his command of comic expression proclaims him a true droll. He patters and sings with conspicuous success, and the duet, "Our 'ands 'ave met, but not our 'earts," the success of which he shares with Miss Levey, is a genuinely whimsical interlude. Miss Levey (one of the famous sisters) acts the acidulated spinster with much resourceful "business." In the Palace scene she scores one of the hits of the evening in a "Suffragette" song, wherein she wears a cap and gown, and—contrary to the usual practice—does not make up ugly, but gives her pretty face a chance. She looks very queenly in a black velvet robe, which she wears in the concluding scene, and completely justifies her selection for a part which is generally allotted to a male comedian. Miss Nancy Langtyre looks a handsome Prince Peerless, and makes a gallant and debonair suitor for the hand of the maid of the hearth. Miss Langtyre's most successful selection is "Au revoir, my little hyacinth," in which she is assisted by a gentleman possessing a nice tenor voice, placed in the dress circle. Miss Lilian Hubbard, a pretty and dainty Cinderella, plays with considerable dramatic force in the Forest scene, where the heroine protects the fairy godmother, and also gives sympathetic treatment to the Kitchen scene, wherein she sings "Whispers of love," Mr. Harry Fragson's waltz song, which he introduced in the last Drury Lane pantomime. Miss Meg Hamylton is a smart and dapper Dandini, and scores in a song with a patriotic tendency; Miss Enid Errol dances with considerable grace in her solos; Miss Ethel Dunbar is an effective Fairy Flora; and Miss Coralie Wingate is well placed in the part of Quillino. Mr. Frederic Jacques gives a humorous touch of burlesque to the part of the writ-server—a broken-down actor, named Mr. Beerfoam Wood; and Mr. T. H. Wood as Aconite sings particularly well J. W. Cherry's famous song, "Will o' the Wisp." A pleasant feature of the pantomime is Bert Coote's Original Yankee Doodle Girls, who appear in the ballroom scena in a John Bull and Brother Jonathan episode, which might well be called "Hands across the sea." The youngsters are headed by Miss Ivy Aberdare, a clever little girl, and the dances and evolutions of the youthful crowd add much to the attractiveness of the pantomime. The augmented orchestra and powerful chorus are most capably directed by Mr. George F. Ford, and the ballets have been cleverly invented and arranged by Mlle. Elise Clerc, the favourite prima ballerina of the Empire. The music, which we have already praised, is composed by Jullien H. Wilson and J. O. Shepherd.

"THE FORTY THIEVES" AT THE CORONET.

(SECOND NOTICE.)

The Forty Thieves at the Coronet have made Notting Hill Gate and the environs ring with their fame, and nightly march to success with the "open sésame" to their patrons' purse-strings. All the artists are in fine fettle, and their "business" is much matured and expanded, and this despite the fell fiend influenza, which has deprived some of their voices, whilst others have been temporarily laid low. All last week Miss Crissie Leonard, the charming and immensely popular principal boy, was too unwell to play. Luckily Mr. Robert Arthur and his able lieutenant, Mr. Edward Lytton, have gathered together a clever and versatile band, so that all went well, and no one would have guessed that so much shuffling of the cards had been necessary in the cast. Miss José Hammersley was promoted to the part of Ganem, and very excellently she fulfilled the rôle of deputy, and was on all hands voted a comely, graceful, and accomplished principal boy. Miss Mabel Seymour cleverly stepped into the breach also, and as Abdallah, captain of the forty thieves, she gained golden opinions by her ability, readiness, and resource. Happily, Miss Crissie Leonard was so far recovered as to be able to reappear on Monday and to repeat her triumph as Ganem, a performance instinct with brightness, grace, and vitality, to which her pretty presence gives added charm. Her song, "A different girl again," was capitally rendered with dash and sparkle, and in the duet with Morgiana, "Whispers of love," she helped to captivate the audience. Mr. Johnny Schofield is one of those resourceful and indefatigable comedians who approach as near as anyone can to the impossible task of making bricks without straw, for he can conjure up merriment from nowhere, and make fun out of nothing. As Cogia, alias Weed o' the Desert, his wit is never weedy, nor does his latent humour ever desert him for an instant. A very quaint old bird is this irrepressible old woman, whose experiences even embrace the fifth row of the ballet. His ditty "Let me sing" is funnier than ever, and the fireman who assists him in the fun-making also deserves most favourable mention. "In the pale moonlight" and in the duet with Ali Baba, "Up went the price of soap," and, indeed, all the time he holds the boards, he keeps the audience in shrieks of laughter. Miss Beatrice Willey is a delightful Morgiana, and her song "Hyacinth," with its pretty floral choral effect, is always encored. Miss José Hammersley has resumed her rôle of Abdallah, and warbles very sweetly the pretty ballad "Love's last word," Miss Bijou Dreno is a fascinating Kogan; and Miss Dorothy Firmin a most captivating Zabarah. Their duet, "You've got another little girl in your eye," takes tremendously, while their other sweetly pretty "Umbrella" duet and dance is one of the gems of the show. Miss Firmin also dances most gracefully in the scene of voluptuous allurement ending in the death of Cassim, a part splendidly played by Mr. George W. Cockburn. Mr. Harry Cole, despite a dreadful cold, was very funny in song and dance and dialogue, and both Mr. Harry Zietz as Abbas and those droll comedians Messrs. Dale have much improved their "business." Altogether success is writ large on this, Mr. Robert Arthur's third Coronet pantomime.

"THE BABES" AT THE GRAND, WOOLWICH.

(SECOND NOTICE.)

While there was certainly little enough to find fault with in the first performance of this pantomime, there is now observable that general improvement and brightening-up that are the natural results of repetition and careful revision. New numbers have been introduced, a few judicious cuts have been made, the performers are now fully at home with their parts, and the whole pantomime goes with a swing from start to finish.

As Robin Hood Miss Mary Ambrose has thoroughly made good her hold upon her audience, her fine voice and the assured ease of her acting having made her a firm favourite. Miss Ambrose's songs are all well received. Miss Lily Maxwell continues to charm all hearts in the character of Maid Marian, for she both sings and dances well, and throws herself into her work with a spontaneous gaiety and abandon truly delightful. She has been provided with a new song, entitled "What's become of the songs?" which she delivers with much spirit. Miss Nellie D'Alvo is a charming Marjory Daw, and proves herself a sprightly dancer and vocalist; her lullaby song continues to find favour, and her rendering of a new number, "The Zuyder Zee," which she sings in an appropriate and fascinating Dutch costume, and accompanies with a clever clog dance, is enthusiastically redemanded. Miss Violet Worth is an attractive and lively Will Scarlet, and puts in a deal of good work. A strong point has been made of the comedy element in this pantomime. The Brothers Harrison have worked up the parts of Raitz and Taxis until it may be said that every line, and, indeed, practically every movement, has been made to tell with laughter-provoking force. A great success is a song, "On the links," with local topical allusions. It should be mentioned that one of the brothers being unfortunately ill, his part is for the present being undertaken by Mr. Castle, who comes through the ordeal very creditably. In the rôle of Mary Ann Spankhurst Mr. Fred Lincoln proves that it is possible for a practised comedian to play a Dame without the least vulgarity, but still in such a manner as to get many hearty laughs, and give the most genuine enjoyment. His song and dance, "Good-bye, my lady love," is received with roars of laughter, and loudly redemanded. Mr. Charles W. Anson, who plays Baron Verdigris, has also firmly established himself in the good graces of his audience. Mr. Frank Lawton has slightly elaborated the character of Winston, and now sings a duet with the Baron, "Oh! Angeline," which goes down well. Mr. Lawton's pièce de résistance is, however, of course, his whistling. Mr. Jack Hughes does good work as Friar Tuck, and makes a hit with the "Bandolero" song; Miss Daisy Webb plays the Fairy gracefully, and now has a song, "The shadow of the pyramid," which she sings with good effect; and Mr. J. Sandbrook makes the most of the Demon. The Babes are prettily portrayed by Miss Maisie Richardson and Miss Zeta Russell, and the latter young lady continues to win much praise for her clever toe-dancing. The performance is followed by an old-fashioned harlequinade, well calculated to please the children, the various characters being played on standard lines by Mr. Dick McKay (clown), Mr. Castle (pantaloon), Mr. Fred Valla (harlequin), Miss Nellie D'Alvo (columbine), Mr. Coppem (policeman), and Miss Henson (nurse).

"CINDERELLA" AT THE BROADWAY THEATRE.

(SECOND NOTICE.)

This highly-successful production has now reached its fourth week, and is going with a briskness that is perfectly delightful. The scenery is very beautiful, the dresses handsome and costly. Miss Lucy Caine, in title-rôle, is very dainty and charming, and her singing of the numbers allotted to her, especially of "Hyacinth," evokes warm applause. Miss Beatrice Edwardes is a handsome and dignified Prince Perfect, singing her numbers with exquisite taste; especially popular is her "Soldier" song. Miss Lily Sprightly is a dashing and vivacious Dandini, always alert and brisk; there is no doubt of her popularity, and she is on excellent terms with her audience, who join heartily in the chorus of her catchy song "Ballooning." Miss Maud Sprightly is a charming and graceful Princess Belle, but we regret that she has not more opportunities of showing her ability.

Clever Miss Florrie Sprightly presents one of her excellent comedy impersonations as the Baroness, and she is seen at her best—which is very good indeed. Miss Lilian Cecil is an attractive Fairy Godmother, and sings "Far away" in capital style. Her attendants are charmingly impersonated by Miss Elvira Stuart and Miss Dolly Hunt. The Tally-ho Trio are the life and soul of the pantomime; their quaint comedy is most amusing, and is never vulgar. Mr. Eric Parr is the Baron, Mr. Ernie Chester and Mr. W. Doust are Puffer and Duffer, the broker's men, and their singing is very good. The Brothers Pollard (Edward as Flossie and Fred as Gertie) are amusing; their excellent acting and quaint make-up add greatly to the success of the performance.

Mr. Fred Cary is funny as Peter, and his rendering of "Let me sing" is one of the many hits of the pantomime. Mr. George Grogie plays the Boy from the corner shop in amusing style; the Eight Sunrays brighten all the scenes in which they appear by their charming personalities and clever dancing. The chorus is well-trained. Mr. Louis Calvert, the popular lessee, and his no less popular representatives, Messrs. William Giffard (manager) and T. N. Walter, acting-manager), must be congratulated on a complete success; while all due honour must be accorded to Mr. F. Stanhope, who is responsible for the production.

"BLUE BEARD" AT KINGSTON.

(SECOND NOTICE.)

Considerably improved by the addition of new songs and fresh jokes, the pantomime, Blue Beard, at Kingston is now going stronger than ever, and the company having settled down to their work, it runs smoothly from beginning to end. Mr. Peter Davey's eleventh venture is admitted on all hands to be the best of the series. Miss Nell Richardson, who plays the principal boy with a fine dash, has become a great favourite with all parts of the house; and Miss Nellie Groves as the principal girl has enhanced the good impression created by her at the earlier performances. Another favourite is Miss Edna Seaton, a clever little Australian artist, who plays a Dutch girl, and is nightly applauded for her sabot dancing. Miss Dorothy James, who appears as Miss Silvery Thames, and Miss Nellie James, who impersonates a dashing naval lieutenant, must also be included amongst the favourites of the show. Mr. Edwin Brett, who plays Blue Beard with remarkable humour, works exceedingly hard, and contributes largely to the success, his efforts in this direction being ably seconded by Mr. Harold Carson as Mustapha, and by Mr. Sydney Young as Sister Anne.

"MOTHER GOOSE" AT THE CROWN.

(SECOND NOTICE.)

The coffers of the Crown have been heavily laden by the Peckham pantomime, Mother Goose, which, in the fourth week of its career, gives every promise of achieving the longest run among suburban annuals. The excellence of the company, the splendour of the mounting, and the general brightness of the production combine to induce visitors again and again to renew acquaintance with Mr. Cecil Paget's latest effort. Favourites of former years are again conspicuous in the success gained, and no artist is higher in popularity than Miss Alice Lloyd, who bewitches all with the radiance and grace of her impersonation of Jill. The audience in its entirety becomes a victim to her charm and vivacity, and the fascinations of the part are increased by the elegant and tasteful costumes which she wears. Miss Lloyd's songs and dances are of surpassing tunefulness and neatness, and in her latest addition, "Sin," the comedienne gives a dissertation on the ethics of morality, which is rendered with perfect expression; whilst "The tourist and the maid" is sung with piquancy. Foremost in favour is also the Mother Goose of Mr. Tom McNaughton, who outrivals himself in the rôle. He detaches himself in a wonderful way from his music-hall mannerisms, and it is difficult to recognise in the weirdly quaint old lady the "patter" comedian of the variety theatre. Mr. McNaughton revels in his numberless opportunities, and Mother Goose receiving a declaration of love, inviting frank criticisms on her features, or breaking a photographic camera with her face are only a few of the humorous effects of a remarkably droll impersonation. A gallant appearance is made by Miss Violet Loraine, a handsome and débonair Prince Lothario, singing blithely and giving distinction to the pantomime by her animation and vivacity. Her handsome costumes become her well-proportioned figure excellently, and her songs, "Trust a man" and "Rosie is waiting," are tunefully delivered. The success of Miss Edie King as Phyllis is assured from first to last, but the reception gained by her song "Let me show you," in which the various styles of dancing are represented, is one to be proud of. A buoyant Rustic Robin is supplied by Miss Dora Poole, who gives every effect to the popular "Different girl again."

A large share in the fun is taken by Mr. Ernest Rees, who invests the part of Septimus Snatchall with unobtrusive drollery that cannot be resisted, and his songs, "Potted meat from Chicago" and "All girls are lovely to me," are the cause of general mirth. The merriment is largely added to by Mr. Fred McNaughton, whose conception of Jack as a boy in short frocks and pinafore is of the most fantastic kind. A dainty maid is presented in the pretty person of Miss Lena Verdi, who plays the part of a Dutch girl, in which she sings "Zuyder Zee," assisted by an octet of ladies, and adds a clog dance, which is enthusiastically encored. Miss Verdi's noted imitations are also the theme for hearty praise, her realistic presentiments of such widely divergent personalities as Miss Vesta Tilley and Miss Vesta Victoria gaining great acclamation. Mr. John M. Campbell's King Geezer is one of the quaintest monarchs that ever wore a crown, and his lugubrious expression is well suited to the song "How dare you?" with which he makes a hit. The Demon of Folly has an impressively fierce exponent in Mr. Leonard Russell, whose cultivated baritone is effectively exercised; and as the Fairy of Wisdom Miss Edna Knollys looks well, and sings agreeably. The Golden Goose, as represented by Mr. Leon Dubois, is a sagacious bird, with an eye for humour, and Wm. Phillips and Chris Zietz endow the Family Cow with droll propensities. Miss Irene Ross, a talented child, gives an affecting rendering of the Waif of the Opening, and wins a round of applause for her clever assumption. Mr. Fred Groves, jun., reveals hereditary gifts of comedy in his assumption of a Major Domo; Mr. A. B. Henderson is to all appearances a real policeman; and Mr. H. A. Watman as Nimrod should also have a word of praise. Mr. Alfred Terraine has surpassed himself in the elegance of the scenery, and the dances and processions arranged by Miss Ina Alston are among the most effective features, the episode in which the Crown Girls represent a dance of All Nations, each lady being typically attired, being beautifully dressed and smartly performed. The harlequinade, in which the talents of Messrs. Syd Raymonde, Will Phillips, Chris Zietz, and the Misses Marie Mitford and Bessie Royce are divertingly employed, is designed for the benefit of the children at matinées, and concludes the pantomime in the merriest fashion.

THE PAVILION.

On Monday, Jan. 14, the Play, in Four Acts, by Jacob Gordin, entitled

"THE JEWISH KING LEAR."

A hearty welcome was given to the members of the Jewish Operatic and Dramatic Company on Monday, when they again essayed Jacob Gordin's play, The Jewish King Lear. This piece is frequently presented to the Yiddish patrons of the Pavilion in consequence of the conciseness of the story, and the many chances therein for the display of talent. That the members of this capable company avail themselves of the opportunities given is well evidenced by the enthusiastic reception they receive during the course of the evening. As David Mesheles (the Jewish King Lear), Mr. S. Feinman has a part which affords ample scope for strong emotional power, his acting throughout of a difficult character being impressive and most artistic; while his servant, Shamai, as portrayed by Mr. J. Scherman was a study which was admirable in every detail. Mr. J. Fineberg contributed much to the success by his admirable impersonation of Chorife, and Miss Bloom was commendable as Gitele. Mr. M. Gusofsky was highly esteemed for his rendering of Yaffe, and Mr. N. Hamburger gave a capital delineation of Moshe Chosid. As Tiebele, Mme. J. Kayzer was full of womanly grace and sympathy, her delineation being marked with well-deserved applause. Miss R. Bryh was clever and piquant as Ethele; and Mme. Goldstein made a satisfactory Hanna Leah. Excellent performances have been given during the week of The Jewish Hamlet, Mendel the Martyr, Holy Sabbath, Queen Esther, and Anna Karenina.

THEATRE ROYAL, STRATFORD.

On Monday, Jan. 14, the Drama, in Five Acts, by Nita Rae, entitled

"THE SINS OF A CITY."

Miss Winifred Maude's company is paying a welcome return visit to the Stratford Theatre Royal this week in The Sins of a City, and excellent audiences are being attracted nightly. The charming personality of Miss Winifred Maude adds much to the interesting character of Seaweed, afterwards known as Norah, and she acts in graceful and animated style. Mr. Wm. Vane plays Sandy McDonald with buoyancy and spirit; and Mr. Leonard Harrison is responsible for a well-defined and earnest sketch of Donald McIvor. Mr. Wm. Bradford handles the part of the blackguardly Ralph Blackwater with much skill and restraint; and Mr. Royce Carleton contributes a resourceful performance in the dual rôles of Joe Woodleigh and the miser, Jasper Woodleigh. Mr. Victor Du Cane's delineation of Blackwater's Hebraic friend is a sound performance, Levi's sly humour being capitally hit off. Miss Ethel Tinsley plays with feeling and judgment as Lesbia; and a very popular performance as the free-and easy drudge Midge is contributed by Miss Jenny Hackett. Mr. Harry Johnson smartly enacts P.-C. Johnson; Mr. W. E. Simpson is a good P.-C. Blyme; and as the defending Counsel in the Court scene, Mr. Manton speaks his lines convincingly. Miss Marion Holly does well as a Scotch fisherwoman; and Miss Janet Holly plays Mrs. Miggs appropriately.

As an additional attraction at the Stratford Theatre Royal, weekly competitions are taking place under the direction of the acting-manager, Mr. Sam Fredericks. Commencing Jan. 7, a Beauty Competition was held and high money prizes given. This week a photographer perambulates the district, and those lucky enough to find their portraits on the screen shown at the theatre nightly receive money awards. For next week a Baby Show is announced, with appropriate prizes.

ROYAL ARTILLERY, WOOLWICH.

On Monday, Jan. 14, the Pantomime, entitled

"JACK AND THE BEANSTALK."

After an exceedingly successful fortnight with the Moody-Manners Opera Company the management of this theatre has, in booking Mr. Jack Haddon's pantomime Jack and the Beanstalk, secured an attraction that bids fair to score an equal success. An excellent selection has been made in casting Miss Kitty Upton for the part of Jack; and Miss Upton, who is an old favourite in this town, is daily adding to her popularity. She plays with a cheeriness and "bonhomie" all her own, her unaffected good humour making a very favourable impression, while her voice is heard to effect in several welcome numbers. Miss Nellie Burdette is well suited as Dora, her acting being characterised by a mixture of naïveté and aplomb well in keeping with the part. Miss Burdette is the fortunate possessor of a full, rich voice, which reaches easily all parts of the house, and her rendering of several favourite songs is very acceptable. In the hands of Messrs. Barrett and Knowles, who play the Squire's flunkeys, Dip and Dap, the comic element of the pantomime is well looked after, this talented pair seeing to it that there is not a dull moment while they are on the stage. Mr. Jack Haddon scores heavily as the Squire, and makes a rather unusual point by playing the villain with an underlying sense of humour which greatly adds to the value of his work. Mr. Hal Forde proves himself well worthy of his place as the Dame, his make-up being particularly artistic, and his delivery of his lines being pointed and racy. A pleasant surprise is sprung upon the audience when Mr. Forde, with the able assistance of Mme. Theresa Stirling, suddenly jumps into a snatch of grand opera and proves himself as good a singer as he is a comedian. Mr. Alfred Maynall works hard as Silly Billy, his extravagant mannerisms and fatuous style going down well, while his song "Poor old man" is a decided success. Mr. H. A. Langlois is responsible for a clever portrayal of the Giant, and Mr. Forde Roberts as the Cow proves himself a clever animal actor. Miss Marie Rayner and Miss Jeannie Langlois make the most of the two Fairies. The chorus is well dressed and tuneful, and an acceptable item is the dancing of the Alhambra trio.

"FORTY THIEVES" AT PRINCE'S, POPLAR.

Mr. Clarence Sounes's delightful pantomime The Forty Thieves indicated its success by the inauguration of a "second edition" on Monday. Several new vocal items have been introduced, and alterations made here and there, and Mr. Fred Bowyer's "book" seems to get more attractive with lengthened acquaintance. At any rate, the production has caught on in the most emphatic fashion, and the house has been practically crowded every night of the run, this being, by the way, the fourth week. This afternoon it is to afford delight to several thousand poor children, who are to be entertained at the Prince's by the Playgoers' Club. An attractive and vivacious Ganem is to be found in Miss Lily Iris, and her songs, "Zuyder Zee," "Hello! hello! hello!" and "John Bull, beware!" are sung with much spirit, tunefulness, and expression. With the last-named song she is supported on the stage by a contingent of Naval Reserve men in full uniform, and officered by Mr. Fred Penley—a son of Mr. W. S. Penley, of Charley's Aunt fame—who officiates in an able manner as stage-manager. Miss Florence Beech, as Morgiana, proves a great favourite with the audience. She has for the time being discarded her song "Over a cup of tea," and is now delighting her hearers with her exquisite rendering of "Au Revoir" and "My little Hyacinth." Miss Margaret Radcliffe cuts a smart figure as the Captain of the Forty Thieves, and she is to be complimented upon her pleasing interpretation of the song "My charming Western girl." Boris is a dashing, debonair young gentleman in the person of Miss Rosa Sullivan, from whom we get a most enchanting bit of vocalisation in "Moon, dear"; and a most engaging maiden is Lola as represented by Miss Lillie Chappell. Mr. Edwin Adeler as the henpecked Ali Baba and Mr. Frank Gee as Cogia contrive to be exceedingly funny. As Cassim Mr. George Villiers-Arnold gives evidence of sterling qualities as an actor, and he treats us to quite a dramatic touch in a kind of miser scene in the cave, in which his fine voice is heard to good effect in a drinking song. Miss Clara Edwards as Gertie and Miss Lucia Edwardes as Moonshine are very agreeable personages, and their duet "Starlight Queen," from Florodora, and their castanet dance and drum scene are greatly appreciated. Miss Rosie Bartlett charms everyone with her acting, vocal and terpsichorean arts as Zoe, and her delivery of "I ain't a-goin' to leave my home in Barbadoes" is one of the features of the pantomime. Little Dando is extremely comical as Cassarac, and he is assisted in his absurdities by Mr. Arthur Ricketts as Hassarac. Mr. Charles H. Ross is entertaining as Mustapha the cobbler, and Mr. Frank Francis is an amusing Donkey. The Three Delaries are to be congratulated for their interesting and skilfully-arranged gymnastic display; and Miss Maud May Murray executes in attractive style a serpentine dance, which, illuminated as it is in the Persian Garden scene, furnishes a pretty picture. The London Comedy Quartette are heard to advantage in a kind of musical potpourri, and the Sheppards are also to be commended for their special performance. As to the scenery, the Interior of the Cave and the Persian Garden provide spectacles of gorgeousness and colour; in fact, all the scenes are admirable. Mr. Stephen E. Blythe, the resident musical-director, has arranged the music with great care and intelligence; and a compliment should be passed to Mr. Lloyd Townrow, the producer. The Harlequinade, arranged and invented by Mr. Frank Francis, is a lively and merry affair, those who take part in it being Messrs. Francus, C. H. Ross, and the Sheppards. Mr. Harry Lyons, Mr. Clarence Sounes's general manager, gives every attention to the comfort and convenience of the audience as well as to the interests of the theatre, in which duties he is assisted by Mr. E. H. Grime, the assistant acting-manager.

DALSTON THEATRE.

On Monday, Jan. 14, the Play, by Hall Caine, entitled

"THE CHRISTIAN."

The members of Mr. Wentworth Croke's company, appearing this week at the above house in Hall Caine's play, The Christian, are meeting with a most hearty reception. The piece is well staged, and the acting all round is well up to the requisite standard of such a production. The Hon. John Storm, who joins the Church and experiences such a chequered career as a clergyman, has an effective representative in Mr. Frank Tennant, who possesses just the figure and style for the part. Miss Grace Chalmers gives what may be described as a breezy sketch of the buoyant creature, Glory Quayle, who so completely fascinates the young and earnest parson. Mr. Charles Hill is an effective Quayle; Mr. Edwin Ling does well as Father Lamplugh; and Mr. Charles E. Dering is an irreproachable Archdeacon Wealthy. Mr. Frederick Scarth is quite at his ease as Lord Robert Ure; and Mr. W. B. Owen acquits himself efficiently as Horatio Drake. Others in the cast include Mr. Bert Conway as the Faro King, Mr. Fern Pounds, Mr. Kingston, and Mr. Wilfred Noy (the latter appearing as Brother Paul), and the Misses May Weir, Kate Lee, Nellie Hastings, Violet White, May Dudley, and Vashti Wellborne.

"ROBINSON CRUSOE" AT STRATFORD.

(SECOND NOTICE.)

Mr. Fred Fredericks's latest Christmas production bids fair to rival for popularity any of its predecessors at the Borough Theatre, judging by the splendid houses which Robinson Crusoe continues to attract. Such popularity is well deserved, for the pantomime contains more "plot" than is usual with such productions, and the story is embellished with a plethora of beautiful scenery which at once lends local colour and atmosphere to the piece. The humorous side is well catered for too, the interpolated numbers by the comedians arousing hilarious mirth.

The interpretation of the pantomime is in the hands of an exceedingly well-balanced cast, foremost amongst whom is Miss Stella Gastelle, who in the title-rôle is in every way admirable. She plays with buoyancy and animation, and is quite indefatigable. As a merry Dutch boy she charms everyone in "The Zuyder Zee" and as a smart young cadet she renders the patriotic air, "Who's your tailor?" in fine style. Will Atkins—the villain of the piece, as he himself says—is worthily represented by Mr. Ben Albert, who scores heavily in the part. His songs, "Leave her alone with them" and "That's the end of the chapter," remain among the tit-bits of the pantomime, his strong voice and clear enunciation ensuring his being heard in all parts of the large theatre. The exuberances of Mrs. Crusoe are always provocative of mirth, and in the hands of Mr. W. E. Richardson, the grotesquely attired female is probably chief factor in the fun-making. His incisive style enables full justice to be done to his songs and patter, of which "My husband left me again" is very popular. Mr. Dan Paulton makes the utmost of his opportunities as the jolly old innkeeper Peter Perkins, his make-up, voice, and gesture being capital. His songs go wonderfully well, and he lends invaluable aid in the concerted numbers. Miss Rosie Sylvester, dainty and charming as Polly Perkins, has become a prime favourite from stalls to gallery. The invitation so coquettishly expressed in her song, "I want a little man like you,' would fain be taken advantage of by the lucky individuals signalled out among the audience, and there is also plenty of applause for "Sailing in my balloon," and for her graceful dancing. Friday—so dear to the hearts of the children—has an exceedingly good exponent in Mr. Frank Hemming, who does not overlook the dramatic possibilities of the part, and proves himself a very nimble and alert dancer and tumbler. Messrs. Woodhouse and Wells, as Starboard and Larboard, are eminently successful, and their broadly burlesque style always compels laughter. Their speciality numbers are in huge favour, and the catch-phrase of one of the twain, "I don't think he likes me," is brought in most appropriately. Miss Mamie Stuart's excellent appearance well befits the part of Captain Cutter, and the introduction of "It's a different girl again" for her former song is a capital choice, which the audience are not slow to show their appreciation of. The solo dances contributed by Miss Ethel Ashton as principal dancer are warmly received, as is the "hornpipe" danced in conjunction with Messrs. Woodhouse and Wells, and her performance as Mary Mayflower is very appropriate. Mr. J. A. MacLaren is decidedly good as King Hallabaloo, and sings some topical verses with fine effect. Miss Marjory Lytton wins favour as Bob Ratting; Miss Ethel Verdi makes a pleasing Anthony Gill; and Miss Adeline Balfe is a prepossessing Nicee Picee. For the excellence and smoothness of the ensemble Mr. Ben Barrow, the musical director, is responsible; and Mr. Francis Maxwell Stewart's stage management deserves every commendation.

AMUSEMENTS IN AUSTRALIA.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

MELBOURNE, DEC. 11, 1906.—PRINCESS THEATRE.—Lessees, The Brough Flemming Comedy Company.—The charming comedy What Would a Gentleman do? has attracted large audiences during the past week. Notwithstanding its popularity, however, it will only be played for one more night, as the Brough Flemming season terminates next Saturday evening, when a special performance of The Walls of Jericho is promised.

HER MAJESTY'S THEATRE.—Lessee, Mr. J. C. Williamson; Business-Manager, Mr. George Tallis.—The Girl from Kay's is now in its last four nights. A special programme is being arranged for next Saturday evening.

THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee, Mr. William Anderson; Business-Manager, Mr. Julius Grant.—Mr. William Anderson's dramatic attraction, The Face at the Window, has been drawing large audiences nightly. The drama will run for nine more nights, and on Saturday, Dec. 22, Mr. Anderson will stage, for the first time in Australia, the picturesque play of domestic life The Village Blacksmith.

OPERA HOUSE.—Proprietor, Mr. Harry Rickards; Business-Manager, Mr. Fred Aydon.—One of the most remarkable turns that has been seen at the Opera House for many years was staged for the first time on Saturday by George Chanti, a remarkably clever quick-change performer, who kept the large audience on the tip-toe of excited interest for nearly half an hour. Chanti is also an accomplished dancer. Another strong favourite at the Opera House just now is Selbo, the club swinger and plate thrower; Duncan and Godfrey will only appear for three more nights; the banjo turn given by Caselli and James is greatly appreciated; while other artists meeting with approval include Fred Bluett, Olive Lenton, Freda Nieman, Charles Howard, Frank Lawton, Harry Bedford, and Maud Faning

GAIETY THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. Joe Solomons.—A complete change of programme was presented on Saturday evening. Dave Warne made his reappearance, and met with a good reception; Pat Nugent, the midget comedian, gave some new songs; the Raffertys appeared in a new sketch; and Nancy Simmonds, Doris Baker, Arthur Morley, Winnie Bond, Frank Melvin, and many others gave pleasing turns.

MR. EDITOR,—Sir,—Your York correspondent, in his notice of The Two Little Vagabonds, credits Miss Edith Martin with the character of Wally and Miss Josie Beltram with that of Dick. The parts were played in the reverse order.—Yours faithfully, EDIS MARTIN, Theatre Royal, Radcliffe, Jan. 14.

MESSRS. ERNEST MARTIN and Fewlass Llewellyn's drama, The Coal King, has found its way to New Zealand, where it was produced with great success by Mr. Charles Holloway, at Southlands, on Nov. 23.

"THE ERA" can be obtained at the principal bookstalls throughout the provinces.

"THE MAGICIAN'S HEART."

Fairy Play, in Three Scenes, by E. Nesbit, Produced at the St. George's Hall, Langham-place, on Monday, Jan. 14.

Princess Carina ..... MISS CASSIE BRUCE
Nurse ..... MRS. HENRY BEDFORD
The King ..... MR. J. B. HANSARD
The Prince of the Diamond Mountain ..... MR. EDWARD MORETEN
The Diminished Magician ..... MR. F. TERRY
Gnome ..... MR. A. BOOTH
Jester ..... MR. E. ARNOLD-MUSSETT
James ..... MR. CHARLES GLENROSE
Professor Taykin ..... MR. DAVID DEVANT

Pantomime and prestidigitation are effectively allied in the latest example of Maskelyne and Devant's mysteries, presented on a more than usually elaborate scale at the famous emporium of magic, now established in Langham-place. The play is written round an ingenious theme, which admits of much scenic splendour, and gives opportunity to Mr. David Devant to exercise his remarkable conjuring skill in many fresh directions. The popular illusionist has the character of a magician named Professor Taykin, who is so prone to evil that he finds his heart an encumbrance, and accordingly removes it whenever necessary. He has been consigned to the Tower by the King for having maliciously turned his beautiful daughter into a repulsive woman, and for twenty years has dwelt in his lonely prison without ever receiving a visitor. His old nurse at length manages to gain admittance, and brings a basketful of provisions. As she has lost some of its contents, the opportunity thus afforded the magician to practise his art is eagerly seized, and Taykin soon produces a basket of fruit from a table, and disgorges a dozen of eggs or so from his throat. The Professor agrees to take an idiotic youth named James as apprentice, but no sooner is his master's back turned than the lad discovers a phial of "essence of dream," and pours its contents into a cauldron, from which a young lady emerges. She is soon, however, dismissed by the Professor, who, with a wave of his arm, causes her to vanish into thin air. Presently there enters a lady wearing a heavy veil, upon lifting which she reveals a hideous countenance; but the magician again exercises his art, and in a flash the "ugliest woman on earth" is changed into the fairest of Princesses. The magician is moved to admiration, and offers his heart and hand, which the young lady scorns. Taykin accordingly bars her way out, but with a kiss the lady changes the apprentice's stupidity into cleverness, and he is able to open the door and enable her to escape. As she has announced her intention of applying for a situation at the Palace, the magician determines to follow her, and, entering a wooden cage, is whisked away before one's very eyes, his place being taken by a gnome. The apprentice and the nurse are transported in a similar fashion, and all appear in the next scene, that of the Palace Kitchen, where the magician has taken up the position of cook. The Princess, who has assumed her rightful station, comes to order dinner, and is recognised by the Professor, who threatens to make her ugly again if she will not marry him. She runs away dismayed, and the magician proceeds to make the necessary potion, which is distilled from a compound of rats, birds, and other ingredients. The animals are nowhere to be seen, but the Professor quickly produces, apparently from nothing, rats, guinea pigs, turtle doves, and chickens, to the number of thirty-one, and consigns them to a cauldron hung over the fire. When the Princess returns to inquire after the dinner, there seems to be nothing ready; but the cook is equal to the occasion, and soon produces a meal of several courses from the saucepans which had previously been shown to be empty. The magician renews his offer of marriage, and, being again refused, seizes the Princess, in order to make her drink the contents of the cauldron, which has been reduced to a liquid. The apprentice, however, has taken possession of the magician's heart, and threatens to stab it with a knife, whereupon the Professor surrenders, and is taken prisoner. He is put upon trial in the Throne Room, a tastefully-mounted scene, wherein the King and his daughter are seated on a gorgeous throne. The magician is found guilty, but tries to obtain leniency by telling the King that his daughter has been making love to his apprentice. The latter promptly declares he has possession of his master's note-book, by which means he can do anything performed by the latter, and guarantees to eradicate all the evil out of the magician, and leave only the good. The Professor is put into a cage, and, after some mystic words, the curtains are drawn, and reveal a little child in short frocks. The happiness of the Princess is not long delayed, for, on the arrival of another suitor for her hand, he also enters the box, while the apprentice lover takes up a position in a similar cage on the other side. In obedience to the parental command, the Princess bids the apprentice farewell, and going to the other cage, accepts its occupant as her husband. The curtains are then drawn aside, and the individuals are seen to have been transposed, the Princess being thus left with her own choice, who turns out to be a Prince in his own right.

The efficient stock company of the hall are entrusted with the rendering of the piece, and no more able exponents could be found. The burden of the work falls upon Mr. Devant, who performs his feats with his usual extraordinary facility, which earned a chorus of adulation. In the character of the skilled magician he is himself in every particular, and the humour of the part is made more effective by the clever comedian's unconscious drollery. Miss Cassie Bruce, who has graced so many of the Maskelyne productions, depicts the Princess with all her customary refinement and with increased artistic finish, and looks a veritable princess of pantomime. Mr. Charles Glenrose makes a gallant and buoyant youth of the apprentice; and a buxom and hearty nurse is presented in the person of Mrs. Henry Bedford. The ripe humour of Mr. J. B. Hansard finds an agreeable outlet in the part of the jovial King; and Mr. E. Arnold-Mussett makes a right merry jester. Mr. A. Booth is again a sprightly and eerie gnome; Mr. Edward Morehen is a spirited Prince of the Diamond Mountain; and Mr. F. Terry appears creditably in the part of the diminished magician. The scenery is the work of Signor Tondi, and the piece went without a hitch under the stage-management of Mr. Nevil Maskelyne. Laughter and cheers were frequent during the performance from a very full house, and at the close there were persistent calls for "Author," when a lady came on the staged and bowed in acknowledgment.

Varied devices for the entertainment of patrons are also included in the programme, the latest of which are Mr. J. N. Maskelyne's illusion, A Side Issue, in the performance of which he wins a challenge for £1,000, laid down by an "Archdeacon," and the amusing trick, The New Page, also presented by Mr. Maskelyne. Mr. Devant again bewilders the audience with his clever "Mental Magnetism" seance, performed with his sister, Miss Dora Devant, which is admittedly in advance of similar manifestations to which public attention has recently been forced. Mr. Barclay Gammon has infused new items into his musical interlude, "Snippets" at the piano; and Mr. Charles Pond, in "A Glimpse of London Life," and M. Gintaro, the Japanese juggler, complete the diversified programme.

MR. C. HAMILTON BAINES, proprietor of the Grand Theatre and Opera House, Eccles, Lancashire, has appointed Mr. Albert Orton (late of the Grand Theatre and Opera House, Derby) manager of this theatre in succession to Mr. Ernest Hales.

Mr. R. Flanagan's twelfth annual Shakespearean production, Othello, was presented on Saturday evening before one of the biggest audiences that have ever attended the first night of these opulent revivals at the Queen's Theatre, Manchester. In keeping with this gratifying augury—a sign of popular interest in the tragedy (which was chosen by public ballot last year)—success marked the production from beginning to end, a success indicated by the audience with such enthusiasm at the close that it seems quite safe to predict that Othello will prove one of Mr. Flanagan's most distinguished achievements.

These revivals are invariably on a grand scale. The splendour of the staging has the effect of lightening the gloom which in the bare text surrounds the theme of Othello's jealousy and its pitiable issue. Scene after scene of brilliant art and beautiful dresses produce a compensating pleasure to the eye. The story itself has been made compact and of sharp, cumulative interest, and it was so well rendered on Saturday night that not a single hitch was noticeable, either in the general movement or in the individual intentions of the cast. Excellent judgment has been shown in the placing of the parts, especially the important ones of Othello and Desdemona. The title-rôle is in the hands of Mr. Matheson Lang, an actor of fine presence, intelligent apprehension, and a strong reserve of emotional power. If Mr. Lang's make-up is unlike the conventional picture of the Moor this makes for a new impression, and indicates a degree of originality in the actor. Individuality was, in fact, a distinct feature of Mr. Matheson Lang's rendering; he was a man of strength throughout—not strong enough to expel from his mind the insidious poison administered so cunningly by Iago, but sufficiently master of himself to resist the temptation to over-exuberance of emotion in the last great scene, and to convey incidentally, without any sort of stagey violence, the profound depth of the mistrust and grim resolve that led him to his deed. Against his dark personality the pure and light impression of femininity in Desdemona was beautifully embodied by Miss Margaret Halstan, a charming actress who has before now achieved distinction in these excellent revivals. It would be hard to imagine a more pleasing realisation of the tender and faithful wife. Miss Halstan truly brought home to Saturday's audience "the pity of it!" and one need not try to express any greater testimony to her perfect artistic self-absorption in the part. These two shared a tremendous and distinct ovation after the curtain fell, though applause was also freely extended to other notable members of the cast. Mr. A. Clifton Alderson as Iago must be singled out as markedly successful, though his delivery was not always sufficiently deliberate and distinct, and at times he merely declaimed when he might have dwelt upon his lines with subtlety. Mr. Alderson, however, gave the impression of being thoroughly acquainted with the text, and moved through the scenes with complete ease and a fine sardonic humour. Another clever impersonation was the Cassio of Mr. Norman Partriege, who was particularly good in the drunken scene. Mr. W. F. Stirling gave a vigorous idea of Brabantio; Mr. John Wainwright—an old favourite here—was quite dignified and effective as the Duke of Venice; and as the Clown Mr. J. H. Atkinson had opportunities to demonstrate his gift of humour. Miss Violet Lewis must be commended for a strong and sympathetic rendering of Emilia; and a pleasing impersonation of Bianca was given by Miss Eileen Kerin, whose movement and delivery suggest greater possibilities. All the remaining parts were ably filled, and the Queen's Theatre Choir were, as usual, requisitioned to embellish the action with sundry vocal numbers.

The scenery includes only one set by Mr. Hugh Freemantle; the remainder have been done by Mr. William Palmer and Mr. A. Nind. All are excellently picturesque and suggestive. Mr. Yorke Sheffield has once more composed the incidental music; and great credit for the stage-management of the production must be assigned to Mr. William Calvert.

STAGE CHILDREN'S WAGES.

In dealing with applications for three certificates for stage children, at the Thames Police-court, on Monday, Mr. Mead said he certainly thought the police ought to be able to inform magistrates what provision was made for the children with regard to money. That, he added significantly, ought always to be a consideration in granting these certificates.

On behalf of the manager of the Queen's, Poplar, certificates had been asked for enabling three children to perform in The Fatal Wedding.

Mrs. Chrisp, the wife of a book publisher's assistant, said that her child was twelve-and-a-half years of age, and had toured the country, but always attended a school or received instruction from a master. In addition to performing at Poplar, she also appeared in Humpty Dumpty at the Kennington Theatre, but that was before nine o'clock in the evening. During the week the girl would earn £2, and last week she received 25s. Part of the money was put aside for the benefit of the child.

"How much?" asked Mr. Mead.

"Five shillings," replied Mrs. Chrisp.

"You are really living on the child," said the magistrate.

"I have to buy all her dresses," remarked the mother.

Mrs. Isabella Lawport said her child, who was eleven years of age, earned 16s. a week, and of that 10s. was saved for her.

The third child was Thomas Grice, aged ten, belonging to Stockport, who performed as a clog-dancer, and earned £1 a week.

All three certificates were granted.

PRESENTATION.—At the conclusion of Saturday's matinée at the Derby Grand Theatre, an interesting presentation was made to Mr. Albert Orton on his relinquishing the assistant-managership to take over the management of the Grand Theatre and Opera House, Eccles. Mr. Chas. Denley, the manager, on behalf of the theatre staff and other friends, asked Mr. Orton's acceptance of a handsome cigarette case and matchbox and a case of briar pipes as a token of the high esteem in which he was held. The cigarette case bore the inscription: "Presented to Albert Orton, by staff and friends, Grand Theatre, Derby, 12th January, 1907." Mr. Orton expressed his deep appreciation of the kindness and the honour paid to him. Another handsome gift was presented to Mr. Orton by Mr. Ernest C. H. Gittins, the manager of the Royal Carl Rosa Opera Company.

CHAT WITH MR. RICHARD GREEN.

(BY OUR OWN COMMISSIONER.)

In commencing an engagement on Tuesday with the D'Oyly Carte company at the Savoy Mr. Richard Green, the well-known baritone, will scarcely feel on foreign ground. Mr. Green made his first appearance under the management of the late D'Oyly Carte, the part he then took being Prince John in Ivanhoe, and he remained with the company for some considerable time.

Seen by the writer the other day, Mr. Green expressed his delight at being under what is practically the old management. "Mrs. Carte," he said, "sent for me and gave me a six months' contract to play the principal baritone parts in the present Gilbert and Sullivan revival, and I am to open on Tuesday with Guiseppe in The Gondoliers. It is far and away the best part I have ever had in light opera, and I am highly gratified in being given the opportunity of speaking Mr. Gilbert's dialogue. At the interview with Mrs. Carte I suggested to her that she should hear me sing before giving me a contract, and she very charmingly paid a compliment in her reply by saying, 'There is no need for you to sing beyond the pleasure of hearing you.' You see, when there is the likelihood of an engagement forthcoming I am only too pleased to sing to managers. I would also like to say that Mr. Gilbert has been extremely kind to me at rehearsals, and Mr. Pacie Riffle, the tenor at the Savoy, has likewise given me a helping hand.

MR. RICHARD GREEN.

And I may also tell you that I am looking forward to playing Guiseppe to the Tessa of Miss Jessie Rose, who is a most accomplished artist."

Small wonder that Mr. Green is supremely contented with his present circumstances! Never in his life, he declares, had he managers more considerate or comrades more congenial. A spirit of good-fellowship pervades the place, and to such an influence, Mr. Green confides to us, he is extremely susceptible. The fact is, he dislikes solitude.

"Be cells for saints, my own love!
The wine of life's a social glass,
Nor may be quaffed alone, love!"

is a sentiment to which he would probably be most willing to subscribe.

As to Mr. Green's professional career, it will not be news to many of our readers to be told that for three seasons he was at Covent Garden playing baritone parts, and appeared as Silvio to Mme. Melba's Nedda on the production of that opera. He filled up his time in the intervals with ballad concerts and oratoria, and was subsequently engaged for the London production of The French Maid, which ran for 470 performances. He also appeared in My Lady Molly, the story of which was suggested by him to Mr. Jessop, the author.

Mr. Green is a Londoner, apropos of which he propounds the theory that it is more helpful to a youngster to own a provincial birthplace. "I have noticed on tour," he states, "that provincial people are amazingly loyal. If a townsman happens to be a member of a company they flock to hear him and to encourage him. It must be very delightful and inspiring—at any rate, it is an experience that a Londoner never has. His audiences are cosmopolitan, and know him not till he makes himself known." Mr. Green became a vocalist almost by accident. As a youngster he succeeded to a position in a commercial business, never at that time imagining that his voice would become the source of his income. But circumstances induced him to retire from the business in question, and while he was wavering in his choice of a profession his friend, Courtice Pounds, said to him, "Why not study music?" Acting on this suggestion Mr. Green became a student at the Royal Academy, where he enjoyed the tuition of Mr. Holland, and later proceeded to Italy, where for eighteen months he studied under Signor Moretti.

Mr. Green can tell some strange stories of operatic amenities. He recalls an occasion when a distinguished foreign artist declared that he was too ill to continue the performance of Valentine in Faust. Someone, he said, must go on and announce his indisposition, and the representation must be continued, however it might be. Mr. Green, who was at hand, was suddenly impressed into the service, made up as Valentine, hastily coached and kept in readiness. When the sick Valentine saw that he could be so easily replaced he had a perfectly miraculous recovery and continued his performance.

He tells another story of Otello. The gentleman who was playing the small part of the Herald did not attend—it proved upon enquiry that a message stating he was ill had miscarried. Again Mr. Green, may be because his willingness and enthusiasm indicated him in such emergencies, was called up. He did not know if he had ever heard the Herald's recitative. He was accordingly dispatched to a quiet room with an accompanist to learn it. The dress was a simple matter. It could easily be worn over the costume in which he was already attired. As the moment of his appearance grew near Mr. Green grew more and more nervous lest he should forget the words thus hastily acquired. Then the happy thought occurred—a herald! Why not a scroll? The words were accordingly inscribed on a scroll from which Mr. Green declaimed most bravely. Doubtless, if he had remained at Covent Garden the promising young vocalist would have been fully accredited with a répertory, but all has changed since then.

Mr. Green had the honour to be selected by Mme. Patti to play Germont in her performance at Craig-y-Nos Castle, and to sing at her recent concert at the Albert Hall. He sent the diva a few flowers, and received a telegram expressing the gratitude of the recipient.

ACTORS' DAY.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE ERA.

DEAR SIR,—Many of those who regularly attend meetings of our profession are familiar with the extreme mystery with which it is always endeavoured to shroud the inner workings and inner thoughts of the committee who happen to have the particular matters in hand, and the extraordinary reluctance, not only in giving gratuitous information, but also in answering most simple and natural questions, and though more than half the time—as on Thursday last—may be occupied in speeches from the stage, yet the information contained in those speeches might be well given in five minutes instead of the hour and a quarter taken; for though the question, its history, and its grandeur may be elaborated by the one and by the other, the meeting is not allowed one single peep at the inner workings of the mind of the committee. Surely when the great Frenchman said "Speech was given us to conceal our thoughts," he must have been prophetically inspired as to the methods of our meetings.

I do not complain of those of our profession who come to make those speeches at the request of the committees, and without whose presence our meetings would be neither representative, successful, nor complete. They come at the invitation of the committees; and they say very much what the committees ask them to say. They give just as little information as the committees think well, or feel that the meeting may possibly be satisfied with. No; it is the committees themselves whom I call in question; and, reluctant as they always are, surely never before in the history of meetings did they by their secretiveness so handicap, so retard, so nearly ruin a scheme, of which nothing but good, and nothing good enough can be said, as on Wednesday at St. James's Theatre.

Many hard things were said about backsliders and those who had not come into this glorious scheme; but it is so easy to be heroic in this manner, so easy to get a cheer at the expense of the absent. Yet when I, in the name of those backsliders and those absent ones, suggested that they may have reasons for their backsliding, and asked one or two questions which may have suggested themselves to these dreadful defaulters—a satisfactory answer to which might remove their stumbling-block and bring them in—I was begged not to hamper the efforts of a toddling child, and could not by any means get a reply, though I find by the numbers of people who spoke to me at the conclusion, and others who have since written me, many, if not all, wished to have answers to these humble enquiries.

One of the backsliders, or abstainers, or partial abstainers, was present—Mr. Tree. He put the case for himself and for many hundreds of others in one sentence:—"Those who subscribe the money have a right to know what is going to be (not has been) done with it; therefore, until I hear more, I give only an instalment."

Surely before launching such a scheme as this, a definite financial and working basis and plan should have been drawn up, to which we either assented or from which we dissented, subscribed, or abstained. If the committee found themselves, as they confessed, incapable of doing this, why do they think they will be any more capable of doing it now?

The scheme certainly started out as Mr. Terry said, as a fund to which we subscribed our total night's earnings, and by virtue of that subscription we could claim, "as a right, not as a charity"—(page 4 of the pamphlet)—help in time of need; and it was under that impression the company who were with me at the time it was issued (1905) signed the circular. Yet now we hear nothing of this fund, but only of A.B.F. and A.O.F. Not one word was mentioned of this "right" on Thursday, and the word "charity" was used by every speaker.

Someone, I forget who, said something about forming a sort of catechism. May I suggest a few questions, repeating those I asked at the meeting.

I. Actors and actresses are "asked" to give their services (i.e., their total salary) for one night.

Managers are "invited" to give total receipts (page 2 pamphlet).

Why, then, should it be left to the discretion of the manager to send what proportion of his receipts he wishes and yet remain on the register, while an artist is not allowed to remain on that register unless his subscription be his total salary? I do not think the manager should be asked, I mean "invited," to give his total receipts. There are many reasons against this; but I do say that the proportion he should give should be fixed as it is for the actor, and that any manager failing to give that full proportion should not be continued on the register.

I make the difference between "asked" and "invite"; because, some time ago, I proposed this very question to one of the committee (Mr. Drinkwater), and he said the reason was the actors were "asked" and the managers were "invited." This struck me at the time as being so conclusive a reason that I did not press for another.

II. Should a non-subscriber to the Fund apply to the A.B.F. for assistance, will he in the future be refused because he has no "right" (which will stultify the very raison d'être of the A.B.F.); or will he, a backslider, be assisted out of the accumulation of wealth of those who have not "backslidden," nor even ever so slightly "skidded"?

No, sir, the damage and the hindrance to this scheme comes not from these defaulters, but from the ill-hatched, half-fledged state in which this scheme was launched.

May I take this opportunity to say what courtesy, nay more, kindness, I have invariably received at these meetings by all who occupy position on the stage, only—I have not been answered.

I do beg, "ask," and "invite" the committee not to delay any longer the full consideration this scheme requires, and having done so take those who have the right to be fully in their confiednce.

Yours faithfully,
LAWRENCE GRANT.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE ERA.

SIR,—With regard to Actors' Day, some months ago I was buttonholed by a zealous member of the committee when I was hurrying off to business, and asked if I would support the idea. I agreed to do so, and put my name down. I thought then, as I think now, that the idea is excellent. I heard nothing more till I was asked to give my night's salary, and to ask the company to give theirs. I put up a notice, and got a certain amount, which I sent to the Fund. There was much dissatisfaction expressed, as no one seemed to know in what way the money was to be allotted; and I was quite unable to explain, as, when I asked a member of the committee the question, the reply was, "It is really quite impossible to tell till we know how much we have got." Therefore we were to give blindly. As far as I was myself concerned, I gave one night's salary based on my previous year's income, putting it down as a donation. This seems to me the only fair way; it is absolutely impossible for me to spare one night's salary out of a short engagement, but I am most willing to give what is actually one night's salary in proportion to my earnings. In like manner, it seems to me too ridiculous to ask a manager to give up one night's receipts. He has to pay rent, rates, taxes, salaries to staff and artists, just the same; and surely it would be fairer for him to subscribe one night in proportion to his income. I know the difficulties are enormous; but it seems to me quite out of all reason to expect a man to subscribe one night because he happens to be in a short, but good, engagement at that particular date, and nothing if he happens to be out of an engagement at that time. There are many, unfortunately, whose income for the year may be only £100, all earned possibly in one short engagement; say, for instance, in ten weeks, just at the time Actors' Day comes. Are they to give £1 8s. 6d.; or are they to give about 8s. 9d., the latter being "one night" in proportion to their income for the year. As to the idea of a universal matinée, the assumption of averaging it out at £25 is so utterly ridiculous that it does not bear discussion. I don't suppose it would average half that if all the theatres in the kingdom were reckoned in. In conclusion, I can only repeat that the idea has my most hearty sympathy; but there seems to be a chance of its falling to pieces by the promoters of the scheme making too heavy a call on the willing horse.

Yours faithfully, A. GIFFORD STACEY,
Theatre Royal, Newcastle, Jan. 15, 1907.

"A CLEVER IMPOSTOR."

A Drama, in Four Acts, by Miss Emma Litchfield, produced at Muncaster Theatre, Bootle, on Jan. 14.

Manuel Teixeira ..... MR. STUART CLEVELAND
Captain Desmond ..... MR. HERBERT EVELYN
Jim Brightside ..... MR. EDWARD SWINTON
Harris ..... MR. ERIC DANE
Bob Darnforth ..... MR. ROBT. W. LYNN
Matakin ..... MR. WILLIAM WARING
Sir George Ashwell, Bart. ..... MR. GEO. CHILD
Sergeant Dixon ..... MR. THOMAS FIELDING
Mexican Sergeant ..... MR. A. C. BRITTON
Stephen Grosvenor ..... MR. JOHN WORTH
Margaret Grosvenor ..... MISS MAUD STEEPLE
Maisie Grosvenor ..... MISS ISABEL SINGLETON
Annie Pleasant ..... MISS FLORENCE GOMER
Nora Grosvenor, Sarah Ellen, Old Rebecca, Molly O'Flynn ..... MISS EMMA LITCHFIELD

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

The play opens in Mexico, and in the first act we are introduced to George Ashwell, who is drinking heavily. His wife appeals to him to give up drink, but to no effect. In one of his drunken fits he tells Manuel Teixeira that he is heir to a large fortune in England, and is really Sir George Ashwell. Teixeira conceives the idea of obtaining the papers relating to this claim, and in England passing himself off as Ashwell. He supplies Ashwell with drink, and from the conversation which ensues Nora learns that she is really not Ashwell's wife, and decides to go away, although he promises to reform and to marry her. After Nora leaves, Teixeira returns and kills Ashwell, which crime is witnessed by Bob Darnforth, who is afraid to speak, he being in Teixeira's power. The papers are obtained with the exception of one, which is a will leaving everything to Nora and the key to where a large fortune is concealed in the hall in England. This is given in a wallet to a faithful Indian, Matakon, who before his death hands it over to Jim Brightside. Teixeira charges Nora with the crime of murdering her husband, has her arrested, and she is sent to gaol for three years.

Five years are supposed to elapse between Acts 1 and 2. Nora returns home, but finds her father and stepmother are both embittered against her for refusing to give any account of her life since going away. She also finds that Manuel is impersonating Sir George Ashwell, and has married her sister Maisie. In order to have Nora removed he tells of her past life in Mexico, and she is turned away from home. Manuel attempts to shoot Nora, but blinds his wife instead, accusing Nora of the deed. Nora finds herself alone in the world and penniless, on account of the money she possessed being lost through the failure of the bank. Captain Desmond, who is in love with Nora, asks her to marry him, but she will not consent until her name is cleared. She pays a visit to her sister disguised as a Lancashire mill girl, and reads her a letter presumably from Nora with the purpose of hearing for herself that Maisie believes her innocent of blinding her. Captain Desmond searches high and low for her, but without success. At last Nora is found in the street, starving, and taken to Jim Brightside's home. He hands over the papers entrusted to him relating to the fortune. Margaret Grosvenor, Nora's stepmother, enters and overhears Nora reading one of the papers. She then puts the police on the track; but, disguised as a Jewess selling clothes, Nora manages to escape from the house.

In Act 4 a fancy-dress ball is held at the Hall, where Margaret Grosvenor makse an attempt to find the secret panel where the money is hidden. Nora then appears, in the character of Molly O'Flynn; also Jim Brightside as a Colonel of Hussars. After Margaret has gone Nora opens the panel in accordance with the instructions given in the paper which Jim has given her, and secures the gold, sending her companion off with it for safety. Manuel arrives on the scene dressed in the character of Charles I., and, finding the money gone, he rushes at Nora with his sword; but she secures the weapon and wounds him in the wrist, making good her escape. Margaret binds up the wound, but puts poison in the lotion, telling him of it afterwards. Manuel kills her and conceals the body where the gold had been. He confesses his crimes, and, after begging for forgiveness, dies.

The company is a strong one, and Captain Desmond finds a capable exponent in Mr. Herbert Evelyn. Mr. Robert Lynn is well to the fore as Bob Darnforth, and Mr. John Worth is a good Stephen Grosvenor. In the title-rôle Mr. Stuart Cleveland gives a powerful rendering of Manuel Teixeira; and Miss Isabel Singleton makes a pleasing Maisie Grosvenor. Miss Maud Steeple is seen to advantage as Margaret Grosvenor; and Mr. Edward Swinton and Miss Florence Gomer are well placed in the characters of Jim Brightside and Annie Pleasant. The impersonations of Nora Grosvenor, Sarah Ellen, Old Rebecca, and Molly O'Flynn are exceptionally well presented by Miss Emma Litchfield, who portrays each character to the letter. The staging and effects are excellent, and there is no reason to doubt the success of Miss Litchfield's latest production. In Mr. Clifford Clifford she has a capable and energetic acting-manager.

WHILE on a visit to the Grand Theatre, Mansfield, one of Miss Ella's troupe of lions gave birth to four cubs. As a compliment to Mrs. Clayton, the wife of the proprietor of the theatre, Miss Ella has christened one of the cubs "Gertrude," which is Mrs. Clayton's Christian name. The ceremony of christening took place on the 11th inst at the Regent Theatre, Salford, Captain and Mrs. Clayton being among the guests.

MISS BLANCHE VINCENT, the superb singing Jack in the Grand pantomime, has established herself a prime favourite among Islingtonians. Her rendition of the popular songs, "Hello, hello, hello!" and "London Town," and her original rendering of the character have contributed greatly to the success of Mr. Newman Maurice's exhilirating pantomime.

THE second skating gymkhana of the season will take place on the great asphalte skating rink of the Crystal Palace this evening. The events will comprise a one mile handicap, half-mile ladies' race, sack race, obstacle race, and a tug-of-war on skates. The prizes are numerous and very handsome. The first league rink hockey match, Kensington v. Thornsett, will also take place this evening.

THEATRICAL GOSSIP.

THE list, which we print elsewhere, of the subscriptions to the Irving Memorial Fund, shows the deep reverence and affection which exists for Sir Henry Irving's memory. The total of £1814 8s. is composed of contributions from all the best-known people connected with the theatrical profession, headed by Sir Squire and Lady Bancroft, and ranging from fifty guineas to one shilling.

MR. BEERBOHM TREE has received from the German Emperor a mark of distinction that will reflect honourably on the profession of which he is so eminent a member. At the warmly-expressed desire of the Kaiser, Mr. Tree will pay a flying visit to Berlin, where he will appear at the Royal Opera House from April 12 to 18 in Antony and Cleopatra, at which His Majesty will be present. Three other Shakespearean plays will also be performed, and will probably consist of Hamlet, The Merry Wives of Windsor, and Twelfth Night, the scenery for the whole of which will be transferred from His Majesty's.

THE initiative for the happily-inspired project was taken by Mr. J. T. Grein, who not long since, on his appointment to an international office, expressed his intention to do all he could to further the cordial relations existing between this country and Germany. He has lost no time in carrying out his determination, and remembering an utterance of the Emperor referring to the drama as a mediator between nations, took advantage of a short stay in Berlin to broach the subject of a possible visit of Mr. Beerbohm Tree, as a leading British actor, and his company, to His Excellency Von Huelsen, the Intendent-General of His Majesty's theatres in Prussia.

THE result was that Mr. Grein, having obtained the acquiescence of Mr. Tree, received the following note from His Excellency:—"I have now submitted in audience the question of a visit of Mr. Beerbohm Tree to Berlin, and I am commanded by His Majesty the Emperor and King to express his great pleasure at this intention of the great artist. His Majesty has already followed the revival of Antony and Cleopatra in London with interest, and intends to be present at the highly interesting production of Mr. Beerbohm Tree in His Majesty's New Royal Opera House. This part of the matter may be considered to be settled entirely in accordance with your wishes, and I conclude with a wish that the visit of the great tragedian may prove highly stimulating to dramatic art and our public alike.—(Signed) VON HUELSEN."

REPRESENTATIVE members of the dramatic profession contributed to the multifarious list of presents received by the Hon. John Coke and Miss Lawson on the occasion of their wedding on Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. George Alexander sent a set of strawberry forks in case; from Mr. and Mrs. John Hare came a pair of silver-gilt Georgian bon-bon boxes; Mrs. Tree gave a red and gold leather blotter, an old Flemish bust being chosen by Miss Viola Tree; and Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Brough selected a suitable household gift in a tea-caddy. Among the presents that were "doubled" was the book "Peter Pan in Kensington Gardens," two copies of that interesting work being forwarded.

LADY BANCROFT will make one of her few appearances in public on Friday afternoon, Feb. 8, on which occasion she has consented to say a few words at an "At Home" to be given at the St. James's Theatre in aid of the Maternity Home at Windsor. Madame Clara Butt has promised to sing on the occasion, and Miss Vivien Chartres will play a violin solo. The price of admission is fixed at a guinea, but seats will be available in the upper circle and gallery at half-a-crown and a shilling respectively.

MR. GEORGE ALEXANDER, up to recently, has numbered amongst his social activities that of president of the London Coffee and Eating House Keepers' Benevolent Association, and occupied the chair at the annual meeting held at Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street, on Tuesday. Mr. Alexander now retires from the office, in which he is succeeded by Mr. James Fuller. Retirement, however, does not mean rest, as the popular actor-manager of the St. James's is now confronted by a far more strenuous business—that of a candidate for the County Council election.

THE coffin containing the body of Mr. Charles Coghlan, the English actor, which was washed out of the cemetery in the great storm that devastated Galveston in September, 1900, has been found, half buried in an out of the way marsh on the mainland, ten miles from the cemetery. Mr. Coghlan died in America of acute gastritis in the January of 1899.

MR. E. S. WILLARD will bring his present American tour to an end at Cleveland, Ohio, on April 6, and will return to England for an indefinite period. The eminent actor is in the fortunate position of being able to take the world lightly, for his invariably prosperous American seasons have secured him an independent estate, and he has decided upon a rest from the strenuous demands of the present theatrical touring system in America, in which country he will not play again for some years. Mr. Willard's future plans are not yet matured, but it is very probable that he will early renew his acquaintance with the London public, to whom he has too long made himself a stranger.

MR. CYRIL MAUDE has compiled a unique programme for the opening of the Playhouse on the 28th inst. The evening will be begun by the singing of the National Anthem by Mme. Clara Butt, followed by the one-act play, The Drums of Oude, and the rise of the curtain on Toddles will be preceded by a prologue written by Mr. Bernard Shaw and spoken by Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Maude. Sixes and Sevens, a duologue produced at the Criterion in 1894, will be represented by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bourchier, a duet will be sung by Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Hicks, and the inaugural programme will be completed by Mr. Beerbohm Tree, who will appear in a one-act play.

Two new Napoleons are likely to take the field this year. Mr. John Hare is deeply engrossed in the study of Mrs. M. L. Ryley's adaptation of M. Pierre Berton's La Belle Marseillaise, which Mr. Charles Frohman will produce this season at one of his theatres. The other Buonaparte will be Mr. Lewis Waller, who has a play by Miss Constance Fletcher, entitled 1801. In both instances playgoers will experience a rare dramatic treat, and the comparison afforded by the impersonations of the same character by two such accomplished actors will be profoundly interesting.

MISS ELLEN TERRY had a hearty send-off on Saturday morning, when she left Waterloo for Southampton, en route to America. The special train was timed to start at ten o'clock, but long before that hour hosts of well-wishers crowded the platform, among those who came to bid "God-speed" to the famous actress being Miss Olive Terry, Miss Minnie Terry, Miss Eva Moore, and Mr. Henry Ainley. Miss Terry is accompanied by her daughter, Miss Edith Craig, who, by special permission of Mr. Charles Frohman, will act in the capacity of stage-manageress during the tour, which opens at the Empire Theatre, New York.

MR. FRED GROVE is now the Governor in The Bondman at the Adelphi, in place of Mr. Stevens, originally billed for the part.

MR. MARTIN HARVEY'S tour, which opens on Monday at the Devonshire Park Theatre, Eastbourne, with The Only Way, will, by urgent request, include three-night visits to Leamington and Coventry. The Corsican Brothers is to be done at Oxford on the 24th inst., the revival of Hamlet under special scenic conditions, is to be at Hull on Feb. 4, and The Breed of the Treshams and A Cigarette-Maker's Romance will again have places in the répertoire. The company includes Mr. Fred Wright, sen., Mr. Charles Glenney, Mr. Vincent Sternroyd, Mr. Charles Cameron, Mr. A. E. Rayner, Mr. L. Craske, Mr. Patrick Alexander, Miss Amy Coleridge, and Miss Bessie Elder, and Miss N. de Silva, it scarcely needs to be said, will again play all the parts with which her name is associated.

THE annual general meeting of the Actors' Benevolent Fund will be held on the stage of His Majesty's Theatre on Tuesday, Feb. 5, at 12 noon. In the absence of the President (Sir Charles Wyndham), Mr. H. Beerbohm Tree will occupy the chair.

MR. MARTIN HARVEY has sent five pounds to the Actors' Benevolent Fund, that amount having been received by him in exchange for his autographs.

"ACTORS' SATURDAY," the day on which collections at the theatres and in companies on the road are made on behalf of the Actors' Benevolent Fund, falls this year on the 26th instant. The lists, with all necessary papers and bills, are now being sent out from the offices, and the secretary will be glad if managers who have not received them will kindly notify Mr. Coltson. It is to be hoped that the profession will not allow the generosity recently displayed in connection with Actors' Day to interfere with contributions to Actors' Saturday. A small subscription to this object carries with it, not only a first claim upon the fund for pecuniary assistance, but also gives the power to recommend deserving applicants.

MRS. D'OYLY CARTE has made the agreeable revelation that the Gilbert and Sullivan opera has grown in popularity with patrons of the cheaper parts of the house, the returns for the pit and gallery showing a marked increase over those of the former period. It will be readily admitted that the Savoy opera must often have led the way to a higher appreciation by the general public of the lyric art, and the number of enthusiasts who got their first taste for music from a visit to the Savoy must be large indeed.

MR. CHARLES LERIGO, who died on Monday, the 7th inst., at the age of seventy-one, had had a long theatrical career, and in his time played countless characters in scores of plays. He was a capable and essentially useful actor, and his many friends in the profession will regret his removal. He leaves a widow and children to mourn his loss. He was engaged in the active pursuit of his profession nearly up to the end, having played up to the Saturday preceding his death. The deceased had been for some considerable time assisted from the Actors' Benevolent Fund, and he was interred at the expense of the fund.

"THE CASSILIS ENGAGEMENT," a new comedy, in four acts, by Mr. St. John Hankin, will form the first of the forthcoming series of performances by the Stage Society, and will be produced on Feb. 10. The beautiful Imperial Theatre is this year to be the scene of the Society's operations.

MR. F. R. BENSON will entertain a goodly company at the Shakespeare Festival at Stratford-on-Avon, in April, which will again be under his direction. Among the distinguished performers who will grace the proceedings will be Mr. Forbes Robertson and Miss Gertrude Elliott in Hamlet, Mr. Arthur Bourchier and Miss Violet Vanbrugh in The Merchant of Venice, Mr. Lewis Waller, Mr. H. B. Irving, and Miss Evelyn Millard in Othello, Mr. George Alexander in Much Ado About Nothing, and Miss Genevieve Ward in Coriolanus. Sir Charles Wyndham and Miss Mary Moore have also promised to appear in David Garrick should their arrangements permit.

THE Festival will extend over three weeks, beginning on April 22, and included in the répertoire will be Wycherley's Country Girl, in which Mrs. F R. Benson will appear, and Don Quixote, a new play by G. E. Morrison, assisted by R. P. Stewart. Mr. Benson and his company will render assistance in the various productions, and Mr. Benson will in turn receive support from the "stars" when he appears in leading parts. There will also be an historical pageant, with pilgrims carrying floral offerings to the tomb of Shakespeare, and a Shakespearean anthem, set to music by an eminent composer, is to be sung.

THE George Mence Smith Scholarship (female vocalists) at the Royal Academy of Music has been awarded to Frances E. Yeardley (a native of Leeds), Bertie Addis Stewart Ringer being highly commended, and Gertrude Dorothy Piper commended. The examiners were Messrs. Richard Cummings, Edgardo Levi, and Arthur L. Oswald.

THE Goring Thomas Scholarship will be competed for on or about Tuesday, April 23, and will be awarded to the candidate who shows the greatest promise of ability as composer of operatic or dramatic works for the stage. Candidates will undergo examination in the rudiments of general education (including either French or German) the day previous to the musical competition, but are exempt from the literary examination if he or she can produce a certificate of either of the University Local Examinations, or otherwise give satisfactory proof of having reached the necessary standard of education. The successful candidate will be entitled to three years' musical education at the Royal Academy of Music.

MR. WILLIAM HAVILAND brings his highly-successful South African tour to a close to-day, and expects to arrive in London on Feb. 9. During his twelve weeks' season at His Majesty's Theatre, Johannesburg, Mr. Haviland has produced Macbeth and other Shakespearean plays, as well as Oliver Twist, The Man Who Was, The Bells, David Garrick, The Tempest, Under the Red Robe, and Lucky Durham. Miss Edyth Latimer has played all the leading parts in this répertoire with the greatest success.

COMMISSARIAT arrangements have an important influence in Mr. Seymour Hicks' new musical play, My Darling, which is to be produced at the Hicks Theatre early in March, the two acts being devoted respectively to a lunch at the Café Imperial and a dinner at the Hotel D'Ontelle. The full cast will consist of Messrs. J. F. McArdle, H. J. Lytton, Armand Kalisz, Cecil Kennard, Conway Dixon, Tom Terriss, Kenneth Maclane, and Tom Graves, and Misses Marie Studholme, Barbara Deane, Alice Barth, Alice Holländer, Helen Kinnaird, Eileen Douglas, and Gladys Marsden.

HER MAJESTY'S THEATRE AND OPERA HOUSE, Aberdeen, is offered for sale, by private treaty. The property is situated in a central part of the town, with frontages of 75ft. and 76ft. 7in. respectively. The site contains 763 square yards or thereabouts, and the assessed rental is at present £880, the feu-duty being £187 10s. Particulars may be obtained of Messrs. Adam, Thomson, and Ross, advocates, 2, Union-terrace, Aberdeen, who will exhibit the title deeds.

MR. TREE'S lecture on the drama, which was announced to be delivered at the City Temple on Thursday afternoon this week, has been postponed until the last week in March.

MR. EDWARD COMPTON'S birthday, on Monday last, was marked by a demonstrative audience at the Grand Theatre, Wolverhampton. After the second act of Garrick, a handsome wreath composed of violets and lilies, was handed up to him; and Mr. Compton, in acknowledging the gift, said: "Once again I offer you my heartfelt and sincere thanks for an enthusiastic and affectionate welcome, and for another brilliant reception of David Garrick and his humble representative. Nor do I forget your gracious remembrance, in various ways, of my birthday, and this handsome wreath, which, I see, is from the ladies and gentlemen of my company, is a very sweet reminder of the good feeling and good fellowship existing between us all behind the curtain. Most people, after thirty-five is passed, are inclined to wish that their natal day did not come quite so often; but, as far as I am concerned, it cannot come too often to me as long as it brings with it, as it has done to-day, another of my happy returns to Wolverhampton."

THE THESPIDS C.C. held their annual general meeting at the Actors' Association on Thursday, the 10th inst. The secretary announced that a very satisfactory season had been enjoyed, the Club having won the greater proportion of its matches, and the treasurer's report showing a substantial balance in hand. The beautiful ground at Malden had proved very popular for the Sunday matches, the wickets having been very good throughout the season. Altogether the Club was in a very flourishing condition, and there was every prospect of its continuing so.

MR. C. AUBREY SMITH was unanimously re-elected captain, together with Mr. Ernest Cameron as hon. secretary and Mr. H. Nye Chart as match secretary. The members learnt with great regret that Mr. Charles Fulton was obliged to resign the post of hon. treasurer, which he had held since the Club started, and elected Mr. Sydenham Dixon to fill the vacancy. The match secretary announced that the card was already complete for the ensuing season, fixtures having been arranged for practically every Sunday and Tuesday or Thursday with leading clubs. The Club, it should be added, is available to all members of the theatrical or musical professions, and the hon. secretary, Mr. Ernest Cameron, will be very pleased to hear from anyone anxious to join. His address is 4, Panton-street, Haymarket, S.W.

MR. OTHO STUART'S double bill will be staged at the Apollo on Tuesday next, when the one-act comedy, The Peacemaker, will be acted by Misses Lilian Braithwaite, Ina Polly, and Ella Tarrant, and Mr. Alfred Brydone and Mr. Athol Stewart. The cast of The Stronger Sex will comprise Messrs. Leonard Boyne, Reginald Eyre, Paul Arthur, Phillip Knox, Gilbert Yorke, Goodyear, and Heath J. Haviland, and Misses Lilian Braithwaite, Nina Boucicault, Marie Illington, Gertrude Scott, Ada Potter, Katherine Maude, and Meta Pelham.

MESSRS. VEDRENNE AND BARKER have fixed upon Tuesday, Feb. 5, for the production at the Court of Mr. Bernard Shaw's The Philanderer, described as "a topical comedy of the early eighteen nineties." Mr. Ben Webster, Miss Wynne Matthison, Miss Lillah McCarthy, Mr. Eric Lewis, Mr. Luigi Lablache, Miss Dorothy Minto, Mr. Hubert Harben, and Mr. Cyril Bruce will compose the cast.

MR. WILLIAM MOLLISON has been notified that the Lord Provost of Aberdeen, Sir Alexander Lyon, and the magistrates, will pay an official visit to Mr. Robert Arthur's beautiful new theatre on Monday, Feb. 4, when Mr. Mollison will appear as Macbeth. The occasion is regarded as unique in the dramatic annals of Aberdeen. Its inception is due to Mr. Arthur H. Yolland, the advance manager.

MR. NEWMAN MAURICE, the acting-manager of the Grand, Islington, has written and arranged no less than nine pantomimes this season, among which is the highly successful Jack and the Beanstalk, now running at this northern theatre, and Little Red Riding Hood at Terry's. Mr. Maurice takes his complimentary benefit on Thursday, and at the close of the run of the pantomime at the Grand opens at the Terriss Theatre, Rotherhithe, on Feb. 4 with Little Red Riding Hood, from Terry's, in which he will appear as the Widow Twankey.

ON January 28th, Mr. Robert Arthur transfers his successful pantomime, The Babes in the Wood, in its entirety from the Grand Theatre, Fulham, to the Theatre Royal, Brighton, for two special weeks. Mr. Thomas J. Phillips, who, it will be remembered, was connected for many years with the Theatre Royal, Brighton, as acting-manager and treasurer to the late Mrs. H. Nye Chart, has been appointed by Mr. Robert Arthur as business-manager for this visit

MR. LINGFORD CARSON'S latest novelty, the romantic military drama, A Fight for a Throne, by Geo. A. De Gray, was produced at Prince's Theatre, Accrington, on Dec. 31, and met with unqualified success. Already most of the best dramatic houses have secured this fresh attraction, and the autumn is being rapidly booked up.

MR. E. F. MEADS, who recently concluded his third tour with Messrs. Dauncey and Leveaux, has been engaged by Mr. Percy Hutchison to play Peter in Peter's Mother on tour.

AT a special meeting of the Licensing Committee on Monday last, Captain Clayton was granted a full and unrestricted licence for his recently-constructed theatre, the Grand, Mansfield, which, we understand, has just been floated as a limited company, embracing the King's Theatre, Sutton-in-Ashfield. The directors and principal shareholders are all well-known townsmen.

THE last week of the run of Dick Whittington at the Lyceum, Newport, shows no falling off in attendance, and Mr. Cooper is to be congratulated on a great success. To-day Mr. Cooper, with his usual generosity, has set apart the gallery for the newsboys of the town, whom he has invited to a matinée. The Mayor, Mr. Fred Phillips, has signified his intention of being present, and the performance will be under the patronage and presence of Viscount Tredegar.

MR. JOHN HASTINGS BATSON will give a recital of Everyman on Saturday afternoon next at the St. Michael's Parish Institute, Croydon. The veteran actor has received a letter from Archdeacon Sinclair wishing him every success, and advising the public to hear this great sermon.

MISS JOSY HAMMERSLEY was highly complimented by the management on her assumption at short notice of the part of Ganem at the Coronet during the indisposition of Miss Cressie Leonard, the principal boy. Miss Hammersley, who perfected herself in all the songs, dances, and concerted music without a rehearsal with the principals, continued in the rôle till the end of the week, and is still playing it at some of the matinées. The young artist, it should be added, is a sister of the well-known actress Mrs. Bennett, which goes far to account for her remarkable talent.

THE name of Mr. Henry Taylor is to be added to the members of the theatrical profession to whom we referred last week as having reflected honour on their calling by ascending the magistrates' bench. Mr. Taylor is well known as the lessee and manager of the Lyceum Theatre, Crewe, a position he has occupied with credit and distinction for upwards of a quarter of a century.

THE memorial to the late Mr. John A. Atkin is being responded to by managers, artists, and private friends of the late esteemed manager in a way that shows how widely respected he was. It has been decided that individual contributions shall be limited to half a guinea, but with the object of making the movement as representative as possible, smaller amounts will be equally appreciated. The list of subscriptions will be published shortly. Contributions should be sent to Mr. F. H. Pedgrift, hon. treasurer, at The Era offices.

MR. CAREY'S musical comedy The Pick of the Bunch will be produced for the first time in the suburbs at the Royal County Theatre, Kingston-on-Thames, on April 8. An exceptionally long tour has been booked for this successful piece, and a most interesting engagement is pending for the leading rôle. By arrangement with Mr. Stephen Townesend Mr. Carey will revive Little Lord Fauntleroy shortly at Eastbourne, Brighton, and possibly one or two other towns on the South Coast, and will, of course, play the Earl of Dorincourt himself. At the Tunbridge Wells Opera House the pantomime comes to an end to-night, and will immediately be followed by Bluebell in Fairyland, Peter's Mother, D'Oyly Carte's Opera Company, and other excellent bookings.

THE Christmas pantomimes have this year been added to by a production of Dick Whittington, at the Regent Theatre, Hackney-road, formerly known as the Sebright, where the two-houses-a-night system of varieties was for so many years in vogue. The pantomime is produced under the direction of Mr. St. John Beecher, and has been so liberally patronised that the run was extended.

"WHEN KNIGHTS WERE BOLD," the farce by "Charles Marlowe," will be produced at Wyndham's on Tuesday, the 29th inst. The cast will be composed of Messrs. James Welch, George F. Tully, Gordon Tomkins, Henry J. Ford, Charles Weir, Arthur Grenville, and Guy Lane, and Misses Emma Gwynne, Audrey Ford, Estelle Winwood, Enid Sass, Vivienne West, Daisy Cordell, and Annie Chippendale.

IT has been rumoured that the Grand Theatre, Woolwich, and the Prince's, Poplar, both the property of Mr. Clarence Sounes, had been disposed of by that gentleman to a music-hall syndicate, and that the houses in question were to be turned into variety palaces on the two-houses-a-night principle. Mr. Harry Lyons, the general manager for Mr. Sounes' theatres, desires us to say that there is not a particle of truth in the statements which have been circulated to this effect.

"THE SCARLET PIMPERNEL" is blooming at the New Theatre with all the vigour of a hardy annual, and the hearty welcome it received on its reproduction at the New Theatre must have been very gratifying to Miss Julia Neilson and Mr. Fred Terry, who have seldom been fitted with parts more to their liking than those of Lady and Sir Percy Blakeney. The advance booking for this play has been so great that it is hoped that the management may arrange to put off the production of their new play to a much later period than originally intended.

MR. MAUNDY-GREGORY, the gentleman who is running Lights Out, is a firm believer in the hustling principle, and thinks nothing of dictating in the train 40 or 50 letters to his American manager, who types them all on the journey. He frequently travels the length of England for half an hour's interview with someone, and then gets straight on the train again for another journey, which may possibly last through the night.

MISS CRESSIE LEONARD, the principal boy in The Forty Thieves pantomime at the Coronet, who was recently indisposed, resumed her part on Monday evening. So pronounced has been this lady's success that Mr. Robert Arthur has engaged her for the next three years.

MR. CHARLES A. EAST, we are glad to learn, has now recovered from his severe illness, which has lasted just upon a twelvemonth. His production of the pantomime at the Elephant and Castle has happily proved a great success, many matinées being required in order to accommodate its numerous patrons.

MR. LEONARD THIEL is scoring a gratifying success as Mr. No-Luck Jones at the Grand, Fulham. It is the clever comedian's second year at the popular Fulham house, and with a style entirely his own, Mr. Thiel manages easily to repeat his former triumphs.

MR. ALFRED LESTER, as the Lost "Bobby" in The New Aladdin, introduced a new song in Act II. at the Gaiety, on Wednesday, entitled "The Gentle Constable," which was very well received.

MR. FRED WRIGHT, JUN., was received into what he describes as "the Ancient, Royal, and Antediluvian Order of Referee-Masonry," and registered as such at the Association football offices on Wednesday. Now that he has given up playing football for "ref"-ing the popular comedian is anxious to know whether he is not the first actor who has been officially registered a referee—qualified to take English Cup ties as, bearing in mind the many fine athletes in the profession, he would be proud to hold such a record. Mr. Wright officiated in his new capacity at Millwall on Saturday, when the home team defeated Plymouth in the Cup tie by two goals to nil.

WE tender our hearty congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Mark Blow (Miss Ida Molesworth) on the birth of a son, which happy event occurred on Monday last.

LINCOLN is to have an elegant and up-to-date theatre, of which the inception is due to Mr. W. Rasdall, the freeholder of the Saracen's Head Hotel in the town. This gentleman has entrusted the design of the new house to Mr. William Hancock, the architect of the Bow Palace, the Empire, Southend-on-Sea, the Theatre Royal, Leicester, and other well-known houses. This gentleman has submitted his plans to the local council, and they were passed on Wednesday. The façade of the new house, which will be in Saltersgate, will be designed in Italian renaissance, and the auditorium will be constructed on the cantilever system. It will be a two-tier house, and will probably be opened in the autumn.

THE examination of the candidates for the George Edwardes Scholarship, awarded at the commencement of each term, was held at the School of Musical and Dramatic Art, 77, New Oxford-street, W.C., on he 10th inst. Miss Evie Greene and Mr. George Grossmith, jun., the examiners, selected five candidates for ultimate examination. This was held at Daly's Theatre on behalf of Mr. George Edwardes by Mr. J. A. E. Malone, and the scholarship was awarded to Miss Ida Pawley. Miss Phyllis Le Grand, the holder of the scholarship awarded in September last, has just secured a three years' engagement with Mr. George Edwardes at Daly's Theare.

MISS QUEENIE LEIGHTON, the popular Drury Lane principal boy, will have the sympathy of all in the loss of her Yorkshire terrier Boy Boy, an old friend, who had travelled many years with her, won many prizes, and enjoyed the unique distinction of being the author of a Christmas story last year in the "Pelican Annual." Miss Leighton reveres him as a true and faithful friend, who will never be forgotten.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN BURTON wish to tender their sincerest thanks to numerous friends for the sympathy shown in the recent loss of their elder daughter, Miss Edith Burton, who died suddenly at Motherwell only three weeks after making her début in Messrs. R. C. Buchanan and Ernest Stevens' pantomime, Cinderella. This sad event not only deprives them of a loving and dutiful daughter, but also cuts short a very promising career, as Miss Burton, in addition to being an expert shorthand writer, was a clever artist, having gained numerous prizes for drawing and painting at South Kensington.

MISS CONNIE EDISS sails this afternoon from Southampton for South Africa, where she is due to tour the principal halls. Her place at the Gaiety will be difficult to fill, and will temporarily be taken by the popular actress's understudy. Miss Ediss made her first mark at the Strand house in The Circus Girl in 1898, and has since played in The Runaway Girl, The Messenger Boy, The Toreador, The Orchid, and The New Aladdin. The return of Miss Ediss, who is embarking upon her journey for the purpose of a change of air, will be eagerly awaited.

MISS MURIEL GODFREY-TURNER, who has now completely recovered from her recent indisposition, will by arrangement with Mr. Russell Rosse, play the lead in Mr. Peter Davey's touring company of Brigadier Gerard. This engagement will not affect the repertory tour that Mr. Rosse contemplates doing in the spring, excepting that it will commence later on in the season, when Miss Godfrey-Turner has terminated her engagement with Mr. Davey in the early part of April.

"BLUE BEARD," the first pantomime for many years at the Devonshire Park Theatre, Eastbourne, will be staged on an elaborate scale by Murray King and Clark, by arrangement with Mr. Charles Constant. These managers together will run a nine nights season, starting on Thursday next, directly after the visit of Mr. Martin Harvey.

MR. WENTWORTH CROKE will send out on tour, starting on August Bank Holiday, Mr. Hall Caine's dramas, The Prodigal Son and The Bondman. The plays will have the advantage of entirely new scenery, and all the original effects, and will be acted by strong companies. Mr. Caine's other popular success, The Christian, which is now in its eighth year of tour, is also among Mr. Croke's enterprises.

MESSRS. GARSIDE AND KNOWLES, who are in town at present making final arrangements for their next production—Her Marriage Vow—have toured The London Fireman for close upon four years, and have found it come up to their expectations in every way. Their spring tour embraces return and third visit to some of the best drama theatres, and they are contemplating an extension of the tour through the summer.

"TOMMY," the new play by Jerome K. Jerome, with which Miss Annie Hughes began her tour on Monday, met with very great success this week at Eastbourne. The names of both actress and author should serve as a powerful attraction, and ensure good houses throughout the tour.

MR. ROBERT ARTHUR has arranged to give, at the Kennington Theatre early in February, a special matinée for the benefit of the Crippled Children's Dinner Fund. The Lord Mayor of London and his Sheriffs will attend the performance in state. Humpty Dumpty is attracting so well that Mr. Arthur is continuing the four matinées next week at the Kennington.

MR. STEPHEN R. PHILPOT, the brilliant young rising composer, is having his grand opera Nigel produced on Wednesday next at the Grand Theatre, Birmingham, by the Turner Opera Company. Mr. Philpot is the composer of the opera In Gay Algiers, which will see the light of the West End in September.

A FANCY dress pantomime ball is to be held at the Limehouse Town Hall on Friday next. It is being arranged and organised by the principals in The Forty Thieves pantomime company at the Prince's Theatre, Poplar, and the function is to celebrate the conclusion of a successful pantomime, the run of which, by the way, comes to an end on the following day, the 26th inst.

THE pantomime Goody Two Shoes was brought to a conclusion at the Alexandra Palace on Saturday last. The comic monologues of Dame Trot (Mr. Walter Champney) were replenished with apposite gags; and the duological interludes with the Demon of Discontent, Mr. George Lake Grange, were greatly relished. A very pretty rendering of "The Coon Boy" by Blue Bell, Miss Doris Nelson, must not pass unmentioned. The principal girl, Goody Two Shoes, Miss Winnie Rayner, retained her popularity to the last; as Robin Hood Miss Elaine Gryce, the principal boy, was similarly high in favour; the clown and pantaloon, by the Two Ottos, deservedly scored. Most of the principals were the recipients of pretty little presents from the band, tendered by the leader, Mr. E. J. Baker.

MR. NORMAN BOWYER writes from the Kennington Theatre as follows concerning the pantomime, Humpty Dumpty:—"While acknowledging my respected father's versatility (with his pen), I feel sure that acting is not one of his accomplishments, and the kind remarks contained in a paragraph in last week's Era re the part of Twinklestar were intended for your obedient servant, Norman Bowyer."

THE Prince of Wales's pantomime of Alice in Wonderland was presented on Thursday morning by the children of Mr. Seymour Hicks's company, and a very delightful performance it was. Little Miss Eileen Moore, who blushingly told us that her age was fifteen, charmed everybody with her representation of Alice, the part taken in the pantomime by Miss Marie Studholme. Miss Irene Bradbrooke, who is Miss Moore's senior by a year, cleverly enacted the rôle of the Mad Hatter, and both of these young ladies were presented with gold brooches by members of the audience; while Miss Studholme gave to each a particularly handsome box of chocolates. Miss Elsie Sawyer, another member of the chorus, distinguished herself in the rôle of Alice's double, the Sailor and the Cornflower; as the latter she showed herself to be a talented little dancer. Others who assisted were Masters Phillips, Jeffries, Thornton, Hobbs, Hersee, and the Misses Lily Phydora, Annie Moore, Doris Walker, Florrie Bond, Kathleen Crook, Ivy Knight, Phyllis Carlisle, Connie Walters, and Laura Brown.

AT the Lambeth Police-court, on Thursday, Henry Barrett Brandreth, manager of the Kennington Theatre, was summoned by the London County Council for contravening the provisions of the Education Acts by allowing a schoolgirl named Georgina Elizabeth Kingsman to take part in the matinée performances of the pantomime on the afternoons of the 7th and 9th inst., at the time she ought to have been in school. The defendant said he took every precaution to prevent the children taking part in the matinées, and instructed the stage-manager not to allow them to appear. Mr. R. H. Douglass, stage-manager at the theatre, said he told the children not to come to the matinées. Much to his surprise, this girl and another one did come, and when he asked them why they explained that their school teachers had given them permission. Mr. Baggally ordered the defendant to pay fines and costs amounting to 26s.

ITEMS OF INTEREST.

MR. JOHN HARE'S forthcoming assumption of the character of Napoleon at the Duke of York's Theatre will be awaited with great interest. Amongst those who have played the Emperor in England are Sir Henry Irving, Mr. Martin Harvey, Mr. Murray Carson, Mr. J. H. Clynds, Mr. Fred Victor, Mr. Frank Lister, and Mr. Harry Jackson. Mr. Harry Pleon is famed as the Napoleon of the music halls. An almost forgotten Napoleon was Gomersal, whose embodiment of the Emperor at Astley's Amphitheatre in The Battle of Waterloo, made such an impression on Colonel Newcome.

NAPOLEON himself had a taste for acting, and seems to have been by nature a "quick-change artist." Barras thus described one of Bonaparte's private entertainments:—"Every time after dining with me, when he thought he could let himself go in the presence of my guests, he would ask my leave to close the door in order to be free to play comedy. This comedy was always a genuine improvisation, the idea of which was sometimes supplied to him, and he would instantly dialogise, himself playing several parts simultaneously; he would ask my leave to take off his coat, and, taking table-cloths and table-napkins, would suddenly emerge in the most grotesque disguises; although the delivery of his improvisations was not very fluent, he nevertheless adopted every inflection of voice at his command to give variety to the scenes, and he managed to do so fairly well."

How Irving managed to get over the difference between his stature and that of Napoleon is explained by Mr. Bram Stoker in his "Reminiscences." He had made for him "fleshings" of great proportions. When these were on he looked like a Daniel Lambert, for the white had no relief in variety; but this was but the doll which he had to dress. When the breeches—which were made to proportion by the best tailor in London—were drawn on, the thighs stood out as in De La Roche's picture. When the green coat was on and buttoned high up, the shoulders, especially at the back, were so wide and tight as to make him look podgy. That dress was certainly supremely artful. It was so arranged that all the lines, either actual or suggested, were horizontal. The sloping of the front of the buttoned coat was from very high on the chest and the slope very generous. The waistcoat was short and the lower line of it wide and broadly marked. The concealment of real height was further effected by the red sash and many orders which were so artfully placed as to lead the eye in the wished-for direction. All that Irving required to satisfy the audience was the coup d'œil.

IN Mr. Bernard Shaw's four-act comedy, The Philanderer, which will be produced at the Court Theatre on Feb. 5, there is an amusing idea in connection with one of the characters, an Army officer, whom his doctor, on the strength of certain experiments, has given only a few months to live Relying on this estimate, the patient assumes an angelic attitude towards the world in general, "makes it up" with people he detests, and does other things which prove to be absolutely unnecessary when the physician discovers that he has been entirely mistaken, and that the doomed man is likely to live to a good old age. The gallant officer's indignation at the amiability which he has "thrown away" is very diverting.

MME. REJANE, who is arranging a series of plays for girls, to be given at matinées in her new theatre, has some respect for Ibsen; more, in fact, than has been shown by folks who should have known better. "If necessary," she has told a Standard correspondent, "I shall change certain situations in the plays I intend to put on, though I think it was a mistake to take away the point of A Doll's House, as was done in Germany, when Nora was made to stay with her husband, for the sake of the children, after she had realised so painfully that she was quite unfitted to undertake their education. In so doing, Ibsen's idea is completely altered, and the moral lesson is not improved." Ibsen himself, as Mr. William Archer reminds us in one of the prefaces in the admirable edition of his translations of Ibsen just published, wrote an "alternative ending" for A Doll's House, preferring "to commit the outrage himself rather than leave the work to the tender mercies of adapters."

WITH the modern taste for well-managed "crowds" on the stage, the position of supermaster has become a very important one. Those of the old school were often very rough diamonds. A strange mixture of shrewdness and good-nature was "Jack" Griffin, super-master, agent-in-advance, &c., to the late Wilson Barrett. Having been engaged by Mr. Henry Herman to go in advance of one of the Princess's dramas and drill the supers for the coming week, Griffin was promised a week's salary to sit in front of the theatre for six nights, in order that he might, by watching the piece, gain a thorough knowledge of the working of it. After two nights of this watching it became monotonous, and John was oftener out of the theatre than in it. This fact came to Herman's ears, and, when Griffin applied for his week's salary on Saturday he was met with "Zalary! Vat for?" "Watching the performance, guv'nor." "Ah!" said Herman, with a cunning look; "but you vere not dere every night, see, see, and I sjarnt bay you, see, see?" "That's hard, guv'nor; I know all the entrances, exits, and business." "Do you, inteed," said Herman, taking the MS. from his office-table drawer, opening it, and speaking quickly—"See see, Act. III., zeen vour?" "Villagers enter and stand R. and L." was the reply. But Herman returned to the charge—"Act vive, zeen two?" "Officers enter centre and arrest hero." This jerky fire of examination went on for five minutes; but "Jack" stood to his guns, and bore the attack unflinchingly, and at last had his salary handed over, and was highly complimented. "He little thought," said Griffin, as he told the story, "as 'ow as I'd got it all written out and planted in my 'at!"

ON another occasion, while on tour, he had been impertinent to the leading man, and an apology was demanded. This Griffin positively refused to make; and, the matter having been reported at headquarters, the fiat went forth from Wilson Barrett that Griffin must go to the leading gentleman and say "I beg your pardon, Mr. B——." To this John reluctantly consented, and during the rush prior to the commencement of the piece, he, with some pairs of tights over his left arm, opening the door of Mr. B——'s room, said—as if he had made the mistake of entering the wrong dressing-room—"Oh, I beg your pardon, Mr. B——." He then shut the door, and went on his way rejoicing.

AT one period he was super-master for Charles Calvert's production of Henry the Fifth at Manchester and elsewhere. In addition to this, he played a "thinking" part—the Duke of Gloster, the King's brother—and was at his side throughout the piece, having to make up in by-play that which he lacked in language; but his side-speeches never synchronized with the spirit of the time. "Nice 'ouse to-night, Mr. Calvert, ain't it?" he said. "Don't talk about the events of to-day, Griffin," said Calvert; "speak of something relative to the play." "Orl rite, my Royle brother 'Enry. Dost thou think the treasure chest hath arrived from England?" "Ah, marry, my Royal of Gloster; but why dost ask?" said the King. "Because," replied Griffin, "my Royle brother promised me a rise of salary; and I have not had it yet!" He got it.

"LADY HUNTWORTH'S EXPERIMENT."

The Comedy, in Three Acts, by R. C. Carton. Revived, at the Haymarket Theatre, on Saturday, Jan. 12.

Captain Dorvaston .....MR. CHARLES HAWTREY
Rev. Audley Pillenger .....MR. FRED LEWIS
Rev. Henry Thorsby ..MR. CHARLES CRAWFORD

Caroline Rayward .....MISS COMPTON

Mr. R. C Carton's clever comedy, Lady Huntworth's Experiment, was first performed at the Criterion Theatre on April 26, 1900, with Mr. Arthur Bourchier as Captain Dorvaston, Mr. Eric Lewis as the Rev. Audley Pillenger, Mr. Dion Boucicault as Crayll, and Mr. Ernest Hendrie as Gandy. The piece combines the naïveté of construction of some of the old comedies, with the placid irony of which Mr. Carton is such an accomplished exponent. As many of our readers remember, the "experiment" made by her ladyship—who has allowed her drunken little wretch of a husband to divorce her on a trumped-up charge, for the sake of getting free from him—is that of taking a place as cook in a country clergyman's family. Here she has her own way entirely, partly by her superior culinary knowledge, and partly because the Vicar and his friend, Captain Dorvaston, who is formally engaged to Lucy, the Vicar's niece, are both in love with the new domestic. Lucy is aware that Dorvaston does not care for her, and she arranges to elope with the curate, the Rev. Henry Thorsby. Lord Huntworth turns up in a state of semi-intoxication, and eventually the Captain and the Vicar visit the cook in the kitchen in the evening, and are concealed in separate hiding-places, the tipsy husband being put into the scullery. The last act is made up of attempts at exculpation and explanation, the proper people pair off together, and all ends merrily.

Most London playgoers have long acquired a taste for Miss Compton's serenely drawling style and imperturbable amiability, and as Lady Huntworth, the part which she created, she has full scope for all the qualities which we know and like so well. Mr. Charles Hawtrey is irreproachable as Captain Dorvaston, and though the character does not elicit his very best powers, he plays it with all the ease and drollery for which he is so famous. Mr. Fred Lewis gives an amusingly conventional and irresistibly unctuous impersonation of the Rev. Audrey Pillenger, his mimicry of clerical intonation being quite realistic. Mr. Charles Crawford enacts the Rev. Henry Thorsby smoothly, and with a soupçon of quiet quaintness; and Mr. E. Holman Clark makes the bluntest and most offensive of independent menials as the surly butler, Gandy. Mr. Weedon Grossmith emphasises the base vulgarity of Crayll in truly graphic style, the repulsive meanness of the man's nature being conclusively depicted; and Mrs. Charles Calvert is as funny as ever as the weak but pompous Miss Pillenger. Miss Dagmar Wiehe is bright, animated, and simple as Lucy; and Miss Pollie Emery repeats the eccentric performance as Keziah which caused so much laughter at the Criterion. Mr. Bruce Smith has painted a very pretty garden scene and two appropriate interiors.

Mr. R. C. Carton's piece was preceded by a new comedy, in one act, by Mrs. Henry de la Pasture, played for the first time, and called

"HER GRACE, THE REFORMER."

Duchess of Burlescombe ..MISS ETHEL MATTHEWS
Kenyon .....MR. E. W. TARVER
Miss Aggett .....MISS ELSIE ROSS
Bumpus .....MISS MONA HARRISON
Nix .....MR. H. LAURENT
Measy .....MR. WELTON DALE

Reformers of all sorts, especially Socialists, appear to be "getting it hot" from playwrights of late; and Mrs. de la Pasture is certain of having a theatrical audience with her when she exposes the sham philanthropy of which there is so much nowadays in society. Her Grace, the Reformer, is a bright, light, and pleasantly brief sketch, the centre figure of which is the Duchess of Burlescombe, who plays at Socialism while she treats her own household abominably. Lounging on a luxurious couch—Mr. Walter Hann has supplied a sumptuously elegant "set"—we find her dictating to her wearied typewriter the peroration of a public address. Miss Aggett, having worked late the evening before, has been promised that today she shall be allowed to leave early; her mother is dangerously ill, and Miss Aggett wants to get back to her parent's bedside. The Duchess, however, is remorseless, and resents Miss Aggett's tears on learning that she will be detained. In order to judge of the effect of her speech, her Grace summons her overworked maid, Bumpus, and her pompous groom of the chambers, Nix, to form, with her secretary, Mr. Kenyon, an audience for her reading. It does not last long. Bumpus, who has been up late the night before, falls asleep and snores; Miss Aggett, driven to desperation, insists on going home; and Mr. Kenyon, who has come into a fortune, and is leaving her Grace's service to go into Parliament, takes the young lady away in a cab. Baffled and disgusted, the Duchess takes a morphine tablet, and composes herself on the couch with a cigarette and a French novel; when, from underneath the toilette table emerges a burglar, one Measy, who, after gagging and binding the Duchess, proceeds to pack her jewellery and silver ornaments into a hand-bag. While he is at work, Kenyon returns and seizes the thief. The Duchess gets rid of her bonds, and Kenyon, taking as his text a statement of Measy's that he was one of her Grace's Socialistic disciples, lectures the Duchess severely, dragging the burglar about the stage in the excitement of oratory. Kenyon gives her Grace "a bit of his mind" in most uncompromising terms, reproaching her with her neglect and ignorance of the people of her household, and her general selfishness and shallowness. So heated is the secretary that he lets the burglar escape, greatly to the Duchess's indignation, and the curtain descends on an animated and angry altercation.

Miss Ethel Matthews, besides looking daintily pretty as the Duchess, acted the part with spirit and appreciation, and gave a very vivid notion of aristocratic luxury and ill-temper. Mr. E. W. Tarver was made up well as Kenyon, and delivered the denunciation at the end of the play with amusing intensity and energy. Miss Elsie Ross was pleasing and expressive as Miss Aggett; and Miss Mona Harrison as the maid was easy, neat, and natural. Mr. H. Laurent contributed a comically pretentious performance as the groom of the chambers; and Mr. Welton Dale was thoroughly effective in the little rôle of the burglar, Measy. Her Grace, the Reformer, is a most diverting trifle, and serves remarkably well the purpose of prelude to the piece of the evening. It was heartily received and warmly applauded.

YEAR'S WORK OF THE A. A.

CHAT WITH MR. AUBREY SMITH.

A fortnight ago we dealt in a long article with the progression and new developments of the Actors' Association, and we recommended to the notice of the profession at large the many substantial benefits that members of the Association enjoy. Since that article appeared, the writer, during an interview with Mr. C. Aubrey Smith, the chairman of the council of the Actors' Association, has been put in possession of facts concerning the operations of the governing body throughout 1906, and to these, as well as to other matters, we take great pleasure in referring.

"The work of the Association during the past twelve months," says Mr. Smith, "has far exceeded that of any previous year. Among the subjects dealt with are Actors' Day scheme, the Irving Memorial Fund, Insurance (personal and luggage), payment for rehearsals, schemes in connection with qualification, registration, and photography, and the question of sanitation at the back of the stage. The first four may be said to be accomplished, and the others are satisfactorily progressing towards that condition.

"Actors' Day found a totally unexpected amount of opposition in the profession, and although the sum (£1,469) so far collected was not by any means discouraging for the first year, it would have been much larger but for the doubts raised as to the utility of the scheme by prominent members of the profession who had not thoroughly considered the question in all its bearings. I heard only yesterday of a leading actor-manager who absolutely forbade his company to subscribe, on the ground that he did not wish the details of his salary list disclosed. In reply to such an objection as this, I would say that the only individual donation that has been divulged was that furnished by Mr. Tree himself as to the amount of his own subscription, mentioned in his speech at the Actors' Day meeting last Thursday. I can assure you that the trustees themselves would find it an impossible task to obtain precise information as to the individual subscriptions, with the exception of those that have been sent in separately."

The Personal Accident Insurance policy of the Actors' Association should be pretty well known to the profession by this time. The Council have now secured a further insurance policy, covering the risks of loss of private luggage while on tour, and it also allows for compensation for inconvenience caused by the miscarriage of luggage, no matter whether the loss arises from carelessness on the part of the railway servants, or from fire. This, like the Personal Accident policy, has been affected without any increase of the annual subscription, and it should appeal to every travelling member of the profession.

As to the question of payment for rehearsals, Mr. Aubrey Smith informs us that the Council applied in the name of the profession to the Theatrical Managers' Association and the Touring Managers' Association, in the hope of securing for actors some solatium for that unremunerative period when a play is being prepared in a closed theatre. The agreement arrived at between the different bodies was that, for London productions, three weeks' rehearsals should be given free, and for further rehearsals one-third salary shall be paid; for provincial tours, a fortnight's rehearsal to be given free, and one week's rehearasl only when the rehearsals take place in the country. Beyond these limits of time the same arrangements as to payment of one-third salary are to be carried out, such monies to be returned at the same rate after the play has run four weeks. It must, however, be pointed out as an important factor in the fulfilment of this agreement, that the Touring Managers' Association, for their own protection, have insisted on limiting the payment for rehearsals to members of the Actors' Association, and Mr. Smith believes that by the time this article is in the hands of our readers, the Theatrical Managers' Association will have passed a resolution to the same effect.

The Qualification and Registration scheme is held in abeyance for the time being, pending the result of Mr. Tree's experiment with his dramatic academy. The proposal was to form a register of all the qualified actors and actresses, and to be placed upon this register a newcomer into the profession would be called upon to pass an examination for one or other, or several branches, of stage work. The idea was to exclude wastrels and unsuitable people, and permit of the advancement of talented and bonâ fide artists.

The principal object in the photography scheme was to obtain the copyright in a photograph for the actor, the life of the picture, so far as the management of a company or theatre was concerned, to be limited to the run of the play. This is now under consideration.

With the object of bettering the sanitary—in many cases distinctly unsanitary—conditions of the dressing-rooms and "behind the scenes," the Council of the A.A. last year approached all the licensing authorities throughout the United Kingdom, and in all instances the authorities afforded the Council every facility of coming into contact by letter or otherwise with the officials who have the control of local sanitation. No doubt much good will be done in this direction.

"A very narrow-minded objection has been raised," says Mr. Smith, "to the admission of acting-managers to the Association. Now, at every turn I see the absolute necessity for their admission. For instance, with such an organisation as Actors' Day, if the acting-managers as a body had been eligible to the A.A., the work of organisation in connection with this scheme would have been far simpler. Many cases have come to my notice where an acting-manager, feeling that he had no interest in the Association, declined to seriously concern himself with Actors' Day."

"MACBETH" MATINEES.

Mr. Arthur Bourchier started a series of matinée performances of Macbeth at the Garrick Theatre on Wednesday, and Shakespeare's tragedy attracted a large audience. It is only a little over a month ago that Mr. Bourchier staged Macbeth at the Garrick, and Wednesday's performance permitted a further opportunity of passing judgment on the latest London revival of the Shakespearean tragedy and also of noting whether any material alteration had been made in the treatment of certain imporant passages in the play. That the performance as a whole has gained in smoothness and artistic finish now that the actors are better acquainted with their parts, may be taken for granted. A well-known Shakespearean critic has pointed out that "the entire atmosphere of Macbeth, as of no other tragedy, is oppressive with the sense of something subtly malignant as well as inexorably revengeful in the forces that rule the world; of a tragic irony in the ultimate scheme of things." The present revival of the play is quite in accord with the idea expressed by the critic, special prominence being given to the haunting fears and the abject physical terrors that dog the steps of the man and woman whose hands have been stained with the blood of their Royal guest. An admirable effect is obtained at the end of the third act, where Macbeth and Lady Macbeth after the ghostly visitation take their departure from the banqueting-hall, but are seized with a sudden fit of terror, the lady sinking to the ground overpowered by a sense of horror and dismay. Mr. Bourchier's Macbeth has gained in power and impressiveness since the first performance. The effect of the alternative scornful and pleading utterances of Lady Macbeth is subtly indicated; the terror begotten of the sight of Banquo's ghost is forcibly and naturally expressed; and there is no lack of spirit in the later scenes, in which Macbeth holds himself bravely in spite of the approaching foe and the blow inflicted by the news of the death of his partner in crime.

Miss Violet Vanbrugh's Lady Macbeth is an embodiment on which she can be highly complimented, taking into account the many difficulties which stand in the way of a perfect realisation of this all-important character. It is not Miss Vanbrugh's fault that her natural expression is anything but that which one expects to find in a woman of the stamp of Lady Macbeth. One pictures her as a woman with dark gleaming eyes and a mouth that plainly shows cruelty and firmness of purpose. Except that she is tall, Miss Vanbrugh is not in appearance the Lady Macbeth of one's visions; but, nevertheless, her portrayal of the part presents many points of excellence. Perhaps she is at her best in the murder scene, in which she makes the very most of the opportunities which it presents for effective acting. Again, in the famous sleeping-walking scene Miss Vanbrugh deeply impressed Wednesday afternoon's audience, and evoked much appreciative applause. At the final fall of the curtain there was a special call for Mr. and Mrs. Bourchier, the latter appearing in her ordinary dress.

There are two changes in the original cast. Mr. Cyril Keightley succeeds Mr. Matheson Lang as Macduff, and Miss Dorothy Thomas appears as the gentlewoman in the place of Miss Nora Greenlaw. Mr. Keightley, who has acquired a high reputation in the provinces, gives a sufficiently vigorous rendering of the part, and enters with the requisite energy into the fierce encounter with Macbeth in the last act. Miss Dorothy Thomas makes a decidedly favourably impression as the Gentlewoman; Mr. Sydney Valentine's admirable embodiment of Banquo is one of the most notable features of the present revival; Mr. Leveson Lane's dignified representation of Duncan is also deserving of special mention; and commendable work is done by Mr. Walter Pearce and Mr. Douglas Imbert as Malcolm and Donalbain. Miss Pamela Gaythorne does well as Fleance; and the parts of Lennox, Ross, and Angus are safe in the hands of Messrs. William Burchill, Acton Bond, and Alfred Bristowe. Mr. Reed is suitably placed as Siward, and Mr. Douglas renders able service as Seyton. Mr. Charles V. France is quite successful in his careful treatment of the part of the Doctor, and Mr. Charles Goodhart is quaint and effective as the Porter. The two murderers have capital exponents in Mr. Lawson Butt and Mr. Frank Lacy, and the three Witches are capitally portrayed by Mr. and Mrs H. Nye Chart and Mr. Arthur Whitby. Miss Olive Terry and Miss Evelyn Bateman as the apparitions complete a thoroughly efficient cast.

FIFTY YEARS OF THE DRAMA. 1850—1900.

(COPYRIGHT.)

In these columns it is proposed to give a strictly alphabetical arrangement of the titles of plays produced during the last fifty years. It will be the most complete list ever published, and should prove invaluable to authors desiring to discover whether a certain title has ever been used, and when. To members of the dramatic profession it will be useful in determining the dates of plays in which they have achieved successes. Our readers are politely requested to advise us of any omission or inaccuracy which they may notice.

This list as soon as complete will be published in cheap book form.

RICHMOND THEATRE.

Opening with the overture "American Cavalry," by the excellent orchestra, Mr. Charles Craston followed as an amiable curate, and caused quite a lot of fun. Mr. Craston's second contribution proved equally amusing; his plaint as an elderly spinster, "Annie," was grotesquely funny. A youthful illusionist, Marco, managed to amaze the audience, and displayed considerable dexterity; his tricks were neatly done, and he merited the applause showered on his efforts. Whatever may be the relative merits of the modern coon production, it goes without saying that when well done there is just now no better trump card for the artist to play. This fact is duly recognised by dainty, vivacious Miss Maggie Rimmer, who confides to the audience the love she bears to one "Lulu o' Waterloo"; the vocalist dances neatly, to the utmost satisfaction of the audience. Miss Rimmer's other contribution to the programme took the form of a motor song. There is a haunting refrain to "I drive a motor" that should make it popular. Mr. Max Guy's excellent orchestra is heard to distinct advantage in "Three Old Dances" (A. Wood). Clarence C. Corri's company in Heart Strings holds the house in silence. A burglar enters a room intent on his craft, when he recognises the photographs of his mother and sister on the mantelpiece. He is interrupted by the entrance of the latter, who reveals the fact that their mother is now affected with blindness. Perhaps to cheer up things a bit in this doleful household the sister next entertains her brother to a violin solo, which, admirably interpreted as it was, is out of place. The charming violinist, Miss Gladys Hooley, plays "Home, Sweet Home" as the curtain falls on the reconciliation of mother and son. Fred Cullane's quartet in Pipple from Poppleton is a wildly diverting sketch dealing with an amorous angler, a jealous sweetheart, and a couple of winsome damsels. The sketch is prettily mounted, and as a laughter-maker it may be highly commended. "Trouble" formed the topic of Mr. Charles Kay's ditty, in which allusion is made to the prominent figures in a recent breach of promise case. As an itinerant vendor of street songs Mr. Kay was equally successful. It was quite a happy idea of Miss Carrie Laurie to revive memories of the Vokes' triumphs in The Belles of the Kitchen, and just as the older generation laughed itself to exhaustion over the nimble-legged Fred and his delightful colleagues, so Richmond took kindly to the antics of Miss Laurie's little ones. A splendid Biograph show concludes a capital evening's entertainment.

"THE PEACEMAKER."

TO THE EDITOR OF THE ERA.

SIR,—I understand that a one-act piece, The Peacemaker, is advertised for production on Jan. 22 at the Apollo.

As I am playing my one-act comedy sketch next week at the Putney Hippodrome, and also intend playing same as a curtain-raiser later, I should be obliged if you would make known through your columns that The Peacemaker was produced on Oct. 5, 1906, at Brixton, and the title fully protected on Oct. 8, by yours faithfully,

W. T. ELLWANGER.

Hippodrome, Oldham, Jan. 14.

"ALADDIN," at the Crystal Palace, drew enormous houses last Saturday, hundreds waiting for admission long before the finish of the afternoon performance. It was impossible, however, to find accommodation for all those who wanted to see the pantomime. The news of the victory of the Crystal Palace football team at Newcastle was announced, and filled the great audience with enthusiasm, every reference to the team being received with deafening cheers. It has been arranged to have a picture of the Palace team shown at each performance.

THE members of the Canonbury Club held another smoking concert on Saturday evening, under the presidency of Mr. Councillor T. H. Dey. Mr. R. T. Baines occupied the vice-chair, and there was quite a record attendance of members and their friends. An excellent and well-varied programme was submitted, the contributors including Mr. Charles Gillett, who recited "The Revenge," by Tennyson; and a number of first-class comedians. The company included about a dozen members of the Islington Borough Council, and the usual complimentary toasts were given and acknowledged.

STAGE STAFF GOSSIP.

A MEETING of considerable importance to all engaged in any capacity in the metropolitan music halls will take place on Sunday evening in the Surrey Theatre, which has been kindly lent by Mr. Frank Macnaghten, through his manager, Mr. Fred Baugh. The meeting will be held under the auspices of the Alliance, representing the variety artists, musicians, and employees. Mr. Will Crooks, M.P., L.C.C., will preside, and he will be supported by the officers and committees of the three Societies, and other Members of Parliament, Members of the London County Council, the Borough Councils, and representatives of the trade councils of London, and various other labour organisations. Mr. Ald. I. Mitchell, L.C.C., the secretary of the National Federation of Trade Unions, will also be present, and representatives of upwards of one and a half millions of Trade Unionists will attend. The main purpose of the meeting is to receive a statement from the Alliance with reference to certain agreements already entered into with proprietors, and to deal with the rumoured refusal of one proprietor to fulfil his agreement. The meeting may result in consequences of the most vital importance, and stage employees in particular are urged to be present. The meeting is open to all variety artists, musicians, and workers.

THE members of the London Day-men's Branch, N.A.T.E., are informed that their meeting on Sunday will be postponed, in consequence of the mass meeting at the Surrey Theatre. The Islington meeting will also be postponed for the same reason.

THE No. 1 Branch of the N.A.T.E. and V.A.F. have endorsed the candidature of Mr. C. Jesson, secretary of the London Branch of the Musicians' Union, for election to the London County Council. The Labour group of the L.C.C. have also promised support to the candidature of Mr. W. Johnson, secretary of the N.A.T.E.

CHARLES GARTHORNE'S WIDOW.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE ERA.

SIR,—May we make an appeal for help through the columns of your paper on behalf of a very sad and urgent case for immediate assistance, feeling sure that many of your readers cannot but sympathise with the actress on whose behalf we make this appeal? We refer to Mrs. Charles Garthorne, widow of the late Charles Garthorne Grimston, who died some seven years ago. On his death Mr. Garthorne left his widow with very limited means, which, with strictest economy exercised on her part, was exhausted in two years. Owing to a long and continued illness Mrs. Garthorne has been prevented from following her profession, but, when sufficiently well and able, she has tried hard to secure engagements, unfortunately without success. A near relative of Mr. Garthorne allowed her £1 per week for some time. This £1 per week, however, ceased some time ago, and an appeal was then made to the Masonic charities, who advanced her £40, £1 of which has been sent to her weekly since the allowance aforementioned stopped. Now this sum is exhausted, and to-day this unfortunate lady finds herself without funds and without a home, absolutely without anything to look forward to—in fact, to use her own words, nothing but the workhouse before her. A few friends of her late husband are anxious to do what they can to relieve her from this sad position, and are therefore raising a subscription with the hope of getting together sufficient funds to redeem her furniture—the whole of which she had to store away some four years ago—and enabling her to take a small house, with the hope that she may be able to let part of it and thereby gain a small livelihood.

In appealing to the theatrical profession we feel sure that all those who remember what a good fellow Charles Garthorne was will sympathise with the movement and come forward at this time to assist with their help, no matter how small it may be, this very sad case of his widow. We therefore venture to hope that our appeal may not be in vain.

Thanking you in anticipation of finding room for this letter,—Yours faithfully,

(Rev.) OWEN R. SLACKE,
(Major) J. BRUNT

COVENT GARDEN FANCY DRESS BALL.

The popularity of these dances was again demonstrated on the evening of the 11th inst., when a numerous company availed themselves of the varied and extensive programme of dances. There were many original and handsome dresses. The first prize, an upright grand piano, by Ascherberg, was awarded for the costume by Mme. Jeanne, "A Study in Old Mosaic." This was of white satin made à la Directoire. The design was painted to imitate inlaid mosaic work, the different groups being taken from ancient mosaics. The hand property consisted of a large painted vase from which hung trails of white lilac, and dark blue electric lights completed the effect. The second prize was awarded to "Treasure Island," and the third to "Port of London." Amongst the other nine prize-winners were the following dresses:—"Twinkle, Twinkle, Little Star," "Rain and Sunshine," "Love Amongst the Roses," "Dawn of Light," and "Ambition." Mr. W. Clarkson was successful in gaining 1st prize (Gents.') for "A Moor," special prize for Lady's Domino, and 6th prize for "Ambition," &c.

MR. RICHARD NORTHCOTT, the well-known dramatic and musical critic of the Daily Chronicle, has accepted the post of hon. secretary of the Knights' Club, a Bohemian coterie dating its foundation back to 1866. There is a famous round table belong to the club, at which, in the small hours, members were wont to relate legends that were scarcely Arthurian. We should hear a great deal more of the Knights now that Mr. Northcott is associated with them. By the way, he treasures a presentation gold cigarette case, a souvenir from Emily Soldene of his whole-hearted services as hon. secretary of her farewell matinée at the Palace Theatre prior to her departure for Australia.

MISS DENISE ORME, the charming Illyrine of The Merveilleuses at Daly's, is to be congratulated on her engagement to Baron Ernsthausen. Both have tastes in common, the Baron being an enthusiastic musician; but though her fiancé would like her to give up her theatrical career, it is agreeable to learn that the stage is not to be thus deprived of one of its most fascinating adornments.

THE Burg of Saltcoats Town Council are inviting offers for two stands for minstrel entertainments.

A DECISION REVERSED.

In the Court of Appeal on Tuesday, before the Master of the Rolls, Lords Justices Cozens-Hardy and Moulton, Mr. Frederick, Mouillot appealed from a verdict and judgment of Mr. Justice Phillimore and a special jury, awarding £192 damages against him in an action for alleged breach of contract brought by Mr. Lawrence Grant. The appeal was brought on the ground that there was no contract, and that the damages were excessive. The appellant asked for judgment or a new trial.

The case for the plaintiff was that in January, 1905, Mr. Grant met Mr. Mouillot, who informed him of a play called What the Butler Saw, written by himself and Judge Parry, of Manchester, in collaboration, and asked him to read it with a view to seeing whether he would play the part of Jack Barrington at Dublin in the following March. He consented to act the part, and did so so successfully that Mr. Mouillot, it was alleged, promised him that if he produced the play in London he (plaintiff) should have the part. Subsequently the plaintiff agreed to play the part at a performance which was to take place at Southampton with a view to giving a number of people who proposed to form a syndicate an opportunity of seeing it. But before agreeing to this performance the plaintiff wrote, on May 23, to the defendant saying that he did not wish to go to Southampton unless he was told that he was going to play the part of Barrington if the play went to London or Manchester. To that the defendant replied on May 25: "Of course you are going to play the part any time it is played in London, unless some star should offer for the piece. Then, of course, I would let it go; but, of course, if I produce it myself nobody would be better than you are, and you have worked very hard, and there is no reason why you should not play it." At the Southampton performance, which took place on May 12, 1905, Mr. Frank Curzon, Judge Parry, and Mr. Prowse Jones (representing Messrs. Keith, Prowse, and Co.) were present, as well as the defendant. After the performance a syndicate was suggested to run the play, and was eventually formed, Judge Parry taking 894 £1 shares, Mr. Mouillot 500 shares, and Mr. Curzon and others 500 amongst them. The casting of the play was discussed by Judge Parry, Mr. Curzon, and the defendant, and while defendant personally was desirous that plaintiff should play the part in London, the others thought he should not, their view being that, although a good actor, he was not suited to this particular character, which required an Irishman. On May 19 the defendant wrote a letter to the plaintiff, in which he expressed regret at being unable to offer him the part of Barrington in London, adding that his syndicate insisted on having a London name and an Irishman. The plaintiff replied that he played at Southampton on certain conditions contained in his letter, and should expect his contract to be fulfilled. Mr. Mouillot answered that he was not producing the piece himself, but was merely a shareholder, like the rest, and they absolutely refused to go on with the matter unless he had another Jack. Mr. Grant replied to the effect that he was still willing to carry out his part of the contract. On Aug. 2 the piece was produced at Wyndham's Theatre, the defendant acting as managing director, and afterwards at the Savoy, where it ran until Nov. 11, with Mr. Graham Browne in the part of Barrington. On the programme a statement appeared to the effect that the play was "produced" by Mr. F. Mouillot. The plaintiff based his action on the contents of the letters, which he contended embodied a contract, in evidence of which was the fact that after the piece was produced at Dublin he abstained from looking for other engagements, in order to hold himself free to appear in this play in London. Counsel argued, first, that the letters contained no contract; second, that if there was a contract, the play was not produced in London by the defendant within the meaning of the word "produced" as used in the letters; and, third, that the damages were excessive. The letters, he submitted, were merely the expression of an intention by the defendant, and the word "produced" on the programme only meant that the defendant was responsible for the stage effects and matters of that kind, and not for the whole production in the sense of bringing the play before the public.

Mr. Grant's counsel submitted that this was not, as suggested by the other side, an agreement to enter into a contract, but an agreement absolutely.

The Master of the Rolls, giving judgment, said the case turned upon the effect of the letters of May 23 and 25, and the conduct of the parties after these letters were written. It had been argued that the absence of any mention of fixed remuneration in the letters negatived the idea of a contract, but his view was that the absence of any such stipulation was not in itself sufficient to prevent the contract being binding. The absence of such stipulation in this case was significant, however, from the point of view that what passed was not really intended to be a binding contract, and never got beyond an expression of an intention or a hope. Assuming that there was a contract, what was the meaning of the defendant's words, "if I produce it myself"? It surely was that if the play passed from his hands the plaintiff could not have the engagement, but that if he retained control, the plaintiff might take it that he would be engaged. Did the defendant, in point of fact, ever produce the play in that sense? Had he the control or distribution of the parts? The evidence was absolutely all one way upon that point. He had not. The interest in the play passed out of his hands. It seemed to him that the condition upon which alone by the terms of the contract the obligation was to fall upon the defendant to secure an engagement for the plaintiff never was fulfilled. And that was a complete answer to the claim for damages. Holding this view, he thought the judgment of the Court below must be set aside and judgment entered for the defendant.

The Lords Justices agreed, and accordingly the appeal was allowed, judgment was entered for the defendant, and the money paid into court by the defendant was ordered to be refunded to him.

MISS FLORRIE BRAY has been appearing for the last four weeks in pantomime at the Lyceum Theatre, Newport, Mon., with great success, her songs being encored nightly.

THE Whitley and Monkseaton Urban District Council are prepared to receive tenders for the exclusive privilege of using their bandstand on the Whitley Links for musical entertainments on week days during the coming summer season. The entertainments must be guaranteed to be of a refined and first-class order. For full particulars see advertisement in another column.

AN Association football match took place on Tuesday at Torquay between the Red Riding Hood pantomime company and the Torquay United. In the first portion of the game the homesters had the best of matters, and penetrated the "Panto." defence three times; in the second moiety, however, the Company more than held their own, but were unfortunate in not being able to score. The game resulted in a win for the United by three goals to nil. For the Red Riding Hood team, Mr. Frank Medhurst (general-manager) played a good game at forward, and Mr. Fred Boulton was also prominent; whilst in goal Mr. Fred Anderson was conspicuous. Mr. Arthur Pearse, the theatre secretary, kicked off. Mr. John A. Thomson, proprietor of the company, was amongst the spectators, and whilst the game was in progress the young ladies of the company made a collection on behalf of the local hospital funds, a substantial sum being realised.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

J. T. W.—A drama, entitled The Wife's Sacrifice, a version by Messrs. Sydney Grundy of MM. D'Ennery and Tarbe's Martyre, was produced at the Haymarket Theatre on May 25, 1886.

T. J. F.—Rule Britannia was first sung in Thomson and Mallet's masque, Alfred, in August, 1740.

K. R.—John Sleeper Clarke, the American comedian and manager, died Sept. 24, 1899, aged sixty-five.

SERPOLETTE.—The English version of Les Cloches de Corneville was first produced at the Folly (afterwards Toole's Theatre), on Feb. 23, 1878.

P. A. T.—Chandos; or, The Jester who Turned Traitor, a drama in five acts, adapted from Ouida's novel by Hartbury Brooklyn, was produced at the Adelphi Theatre on Sept. 30, 1882.

F. H.—(1) It is usual to do so, though it would seem in your case hardly necessary. (2) A notification that the artist intends to carry out his contract, with the name of the sketch to be performed. A letter giving the information is sufficient.

HARRY G. POWELL.—Strictly speaking, such a sketch is a "stage-play" within the meaning of the Theatres Act, 1843. But, as a matter of fact, the law is seldom strictly enforced. There was no decision in the Courts to the effect mentioned by you; rather the decisions were to the effect we have just stated. But an agreement has been arrived at between the two bodies in the direction indicated by you.

CAPTAIN.—We regret that we are unable to inform you.

KARNO.—We should advise you to apply to Willing, general advertising contractor, Strand.

A. MITCHELL.—All we can tell you is that Mrs. Bennett made her professional début in 1883 at the Gaiety Theatre, as Violante in The Honeymoon and Juliet in the balcony scene from Romeo and Juliet.

F. H. P.—If you mean Tyrone Power, who made his début at the English Opera House, London, in 1822, as Charles Austencourt in Man and Wife, he was lost at sea in the wreck of the steamship President, which sailed from New York for Liverpool on March 21, 1841. We cannot say when he and the lady mentioned last played in London. He made his first appearance on the American stage in August, 1833.

E. M. PATTEN.—Write to Captain Robert Marshall, 62, Green-street, Park-lane, W., or Garrick Club.

A. FURST.—It is against our rule to recommend anyone by name, but you might make an application to one or two of the agents whose advertisements appear in The Era.

MR. JOE CONWAY, brother to "Walk Round Martin," is making his first appearance in London on Feb. 11. His business is in the hands of that clever agent Leo Fritz.

WHIMSICAL WALKER, the celebrated clown, has now reached the convalescent stage, and will sail for America on Saturday.

MR. WALTER STANTON for six years has been touring America, where his bird impersonations have proved extremely successful. He is free for a few weeks, and pantomime producers will remember his clever gigantic rooster, and take note of the fact that he is disengaged next Christmas.

MR. CHARLES COLLETTE, who has just returned from a most successful tour, reappears on Monday at the London Pavilion for a month in his clever farce, Tea for Two, supported by Miss Joan Derry.

MR. TONY IVESON, who is now well booked with his Ragman act, is putting on a special show in February entitled the Pedlar and the Piano, in which he will have the assistance of several others.

MISS MILLIE PAYNE has this week appeared with wonderful success at the Empress and South London in new songs that are funnier than ever. She is to be seen at London halls for some time yet before commencing a short starring tour.

MR. FRANCIS O'FLYNN, the celebrated banjoist, is creating a sensation on the Macnaghten circuit with his phenomenal performance. Mr. O'Flynn presents some striking features in his répertoire, and his appearance in London will be eagerly looked for.

THE latest quotations for music hall shares are as follows:—Alhambra, 12½; Canterbury, 3; Empire (15s. paid), 18; Empire (10s. paid), 1; London Pavilion Ord., 4½; London Pavilion Pref., 5; London Coliseum, ½; Metropolitan, 3; Moss Empire, 5; Moss Empire 5 per cent. Pref., 3½; Oxford, 6½; Palace, 11s.; Tivoli, 6½; Varieties Consolidated Theatres, 13s.

THE London, Shoreditch, will celebrate its twelfth anniversary on Wednesday, Jan. 30, when there will be one house only, the entertainment lasting from 6.30 to midnight. All the available stars are expected to appear, and a crowded house may be anticipated.

THE Markies will shortly produce in London a new sketch, entitled In Search of Talent, from the clever pen of Mr. Percy Ford, who has also written a new song for Miss Mollie Malone, entitled "Erin."

THE Queen's Theatre of Varieties, Castleford, opened on Monday night as a variety house, under the management of Messrs. Beanland and Emerson. The building has been entirely redecorated and renovated, and a special electric light plant has been installed. The decorations are in cream and gold. With the addition of tip-up chairs and other modern improvements the hall is now one of the most comfortable in Yorkshire. The company is a specially strong one, and includes Clyo and Rochelle, Charles Danton, Fontain's Marionettes, Barfoot and Carson, Fred Horsfall, the Lauriers, J. C. Heffron, and the Loyal Dominion Animated Pictures.

JERSEY.—Mr. Mouillot's company is playing here this week in Jack and the Beanstalk, excellent houses being secured nightly. Miss Lucy Kipling is excellent as Jack, and Miss Katie Yates makes a charming Stella. Miss Roberta Pulleyne and Miss Daisy Kersey ably fill the parts of Colin and Margery respectively. Mr. Edward Kipling is first-class as Dame Trot, other comedy rôles being ably impersonated by Mr. W. G. Sutton and Mr. Alick Macmillan. Les Belles Americaines troupe and the Miltons supply excellent turns, the former singing and dancing in good style, and the latter giving a comic skating exhibition.

THE LAW OF COPYRIGHT FOR ACTOR AND COMPOSER,
BY
ALBERT A. STRONG, LL.B. (Lond.).
Chapter I.
COPYRIGHT AS OPPOSED TO PERFORMING RIGHT.
Chapter II.
PERFORMING RIGHT.
Chapter III.
INFRINGEMENT AND REMEDIES.
Chapter IV.
MUSICAL COPYRIGHT.
Chapter V.
INTERNATIONAL AND COLONIAL COPYRIGHT.

Mr. A. A. Strong has published a book on "The Law of Copyright for Actor and Composer," which should be in the hands of everyone who is obliged to know about this perplexing subject. Dramatic copyright in England is in a particularly unsatisfactory state, and it is much to be hoped that ere long some more rational method of securing protection for a play may be devised than the slovenly and sometimes costly "production for copyright purposes," which is at present required.—St. James's Gazette.

Copyright confusion is, like the poor, always with us, and as it seems likely to remain so until at least the crack of doom, it were well for all concerned, or likely to be concerned, to take immediate steps to secure a copy of Mr. Albert A. Strong's new work, entitled "The Law of Copyright." Mr. Strong is already favourably known to the profession for his text-book on "Dramatic and Musical Law," which, like his latest production, is published at "The Era" Office. "The Law of Copyright for Actor and Composer" essays to make clear to the non-legal mind what is—or, in some cases, what probably is—the law as to musical and dramatic copyright. The chapters on the Berne Convention and on the Chase Act, passed by the United States Congress last March, are full of interest.—Referee.

THE ERA

SATURDAY, JANUARY 19, 1907.

ACTORS' DAY.

The very important meeting which was held at the St. James's Theatre last week to hear the report of the organising committee of the Actors' Day scheme, marked a new epoch of theatrical life—an epoch of self-help. There is, indeed, plausible excuse for the amount of charity which the profession is content to take from the outside public. The artistic callings are always underpaid; and there is an instinct, and a very true and natural instinct, in the non-artistic world to admit this, and to endeavour to make up for it with gifts. And the benefits in the case of the stage are reciprocal. If the theatrical charities are greatly assisted by the after-dinner contributions of friends of the drama, the non-theatrical charities are constantly receiving large sums as the proceeds of matinées given at the theatres. The arrangement, however, is capable of improvement; and there is a general feeling that the time has now come for the theatrical profession to provide for its own poor. The idea of Actors' Day is connected with the project of consolidating the theatrical charities, and it was at first suggested that an annual matinée for charitable purposes should be given on a day to be called Actors' Day. Eventually there was a meeting between Mr. TREE, Mr. ALEXANDER, Mr. CYRIL MAUDE, and Mr. ARTHUR BOURCHIER, and the council of the Actors' Association, with the result of the experiment of Actors' Day being tried last October.

It takes some time for a new proposal to sink into the minds of people; and it is an encouraging fact that the Organising Committee of the Actors' Day Fund had 2,214 promises of support, of which about 40 per cent. were fulfilling engagements out of England on the date fixed for the Day. This reduced the effective number of supporters to about 1,300. Of these, 33 per cent. have yet to make good their undertakings, leaving nearly 70 per cent. of promises carried out, the total amount received being £1,469.

At first sight, the proportion of defaulters may seem discouraging; but we must take into account the natural inertia of humanity, and the doubts and difficulties which trouble even the heads of the profession. Many persons prefer, when a new idea is presented to them, to wait and see how it will turn out before committing themselves to its support. The great thing is that a beginning has been made, and that the principle of Actors' Day has been accepted and established. That principle is that the profession is capable, with small sacrifice, to provide entirely for its own poor.

The difficulties which occur are chiefly in connection with the distribution of the fund, and do not touch its general principle in the least. They were clearly stated by Mr. TREE, who in his speech at the St. James's advocated the abolition of all public appeals, including the dinners, and the fusion of all the funds. Mr. TREE had already sent £25 to the committee, and intended to give a special matinée for the theatrical funds. He wanted to know, however, in what proportion the various theatrical charities were to share the proceeds of the day.

It is, indeed, imperatively necessary that a conclusion should be come to on this point. It takes very little to diminish the enthusiasm with which a new scheme is received; and many may find a plausible excuse for not supporting the movement in dissensions respecting the application of the amount when collected. The Actors' Benevolent Fund is the only association having for its special function the relief of distress in the profession, its object being to "help by allowances, gifts, and loans old or distressed actors and actresses, managers, stage-managers, acting-managers, and choristers, and their children, their wives and orphans, whose efforts are devoted entirely to theatrical work." The Royal General Theatrical Fund was established to "grant permanent annuities to actors, actresses, chorus-singers, dancers, pantomimists, and prompters; also to acting-managers, stage-managers, treasurers, and scenic artists." Members of this association contribute quarterly, after the manner of the payment of life assurance premiums, the rate being according to age on entrance; and are entitled, in the event of becoming incapacitated after payments have been made for seven years, to receive annuities for life. It may not be an easy task to decide on the division of the receipts of Actors' Day; but it will not, surely, exceed the resources of a competent committee well acquainted with the circumstances. The Royal General Theatrical Fund is partly supported by charity, the subscribers receiving more than they would obtain by any ordinary method of insurance, the excess being made up by subscriptions.

The ideal arrangement would doubtless be one fund, located in a suitable building, with different "branches" fulfilling the functions now performed by these societies. This great fund would, of course, be supported entirely by the proceeds of Actors' Day, all after-dinner subscriptions and contributions from the outside public being done away with. We are inclined, however, to deprecate any too sudden or violent action in connection with the existing associations. The receipts from them are tolerably secure and regular; and a large amount of personal interest which is at present taken in them might cease if a more systematic arrangement were attempted. It will be well to wait until Actors' Day has been permanently established as a steady and reliable resource before proceeding to consolidation. The amount of genuine distress in the profession is about the same each year, and can, as has been proved, be dealt with at a certain cost. If the anticipations of the supporters of Actors' Day be realised, the amount raised annually would be sufficient to meet all demands; and the present methods might then be modified or abolished. As Mr. CECIL RALEIGH put it in his hopeful speech at the St. James's Theatre, on the computation that there are 250 places of amusement in England, and supposing that each collected £50 once a year, the result would be £12,500. In 1905 the grants, allowances, loans, and expenses of the Actors' Benevolent Fund came to about £4,200. It will be easily seen that, if the principle of Actors' Day be accepted and supported by the whole of the profession, there would be no necessity for outside assistance, and the stage would be in the position of entirely maintaining its own charities.

THE ACTORS' ASSOCIATION.

THE seventh bi-monthly meeting of the members of the Actors' Association was held in the Saloon, in King-street, on the afternoon of the 11th inst., when there were present Mesdames Gwendolen Bishop, Helen Mosley, Katharine Parry, Lucy Sibley, and Minnie Thurgate, Messrs. Cecil Barth, John R. Collins, Frank Melrose, Adnam Sprange, and Chas. Cruikshanks (sec.). Mr. Cecil Barth, who was voted to the chair, referred to the meeting of members of the profession at St. James's Theatre at three o'clock on that day, and also referred to the holding of the first and second "social meetings" of the members of the A.A. A vote of thanks to the chairman concluded the proceedings.

THE usual weekly meeting of the Council of the Actors' Association was held on Tuesday last, when there were present Mr. C. Aubrey Smith (chairman), Mr. A. E. Drinkwater (deputy-chairman), Mr. Henry W. Mote (hon. solicitor), Mesdames Beatrice Lamb, Saba Raleigh, Messrs. Blake Adams, Cecil Barth, J. Cooke Beresford, Acton Bond, Burton Cooke, C. Hayden Coffin, F. Cremlin, Fewlass Llewellyn, Quinton McPherson, Brandon Thomas, Frank Vernon, and Charles Cruikshanks (secretary). The hon. solicitors reported they had advised several members. Violet A. Gould, Richard A. Greene, Margaret Nybloc, Agnes Miller, Ninon Dudley, Henry C. Hewitt, and Fred Knight were nominated for election; three former members were proposed for reinstatement, and three were reinstated. Mr. Herbert Shelley was elected to fill the vacancy on the Council under Article 15. Two cases of alleged insanitation in provincial theatres were under consideration, and the secretary received instructions.

THE Council received from Mr. H. T. H. Sadler the gift of two interesting playbills of ancient date, and the secretary was instructed to thank the donor on behalf of the Association. Mary Relph, Ralph Roberts, and Geo. F. Reynolds were appointed commissioners. A letter from the Touring Managers' Association, in connection with payment for rehearsals, was under consideration, and with a suggestion of two slight alterations it was agreed the scheme proposed was in every way acceptable. The report of the Finance and General Purposes Committee was given, and it was agreed that the Ramsgate centre (Spes Bona, Grange-road) kindly placed at the disposal of the Association by Miss Gracie Murielle, should be experimentally opened on Feb. 1 next, and afterwards on every weekday, for two months between the hours of twelve and four.

THE Finance and General Purposes Committee held a meeting on Tuesday last, when the Chairman, Mr. Acton Bond, was supported by Messrs. J. Cooke Beresford, A. E. Drinkwater, C. Aubrey Smith, and Chas. Cruikshanks (secretary). Various matters in connection with the holding of the sixteenth annual general meeting at The Playhouse on Tuesday, the 19th prox., were discussed, and ultimately the secretary received instructions to summon a meeting of this body to be held next Monday at three o'clock.

ROYAL OPERA, COVENT GARDEN.

The four weeks' season of German opera, under the management of Mr. Ernest Van Dyck in conjunction with Mr. Frank Rendle, had a brilliant opening night on Monday, when in the presence of a large audience Wagner's comic masterpiece Die Meistersinger was performed; and as the season will, with one or two exceptions, consist mainly of Wagner's works, the choice of this delightful opera was a happy one for the first performance. The syndicate who are responsible for the present season may be congratulated on having so experienced an operatic manager as Mr. Van Dyck, who, it may be remembered, appeared for the first time in England at Covent Garden in 1891, on which occasion he sang the part of Des Grieux in Massenet's Manon as well as successfully undertaking the title-rôles in Tannhäuser and Faust. His Majesty the King and their Royal Highnesses the Prince and Princess of Wales, Princess Christian, and Princess Louise have also graciously given their patronage to the present season. The syndicate have secured the valuable aid of the London Symphony Orchestra, and by kind permission of Mr. Henry Wood the services of Mr. Alfred Kastner as harpist, while the chorus are from the principal German opera houses and the Berlin High School, increased by thirty members of the London Liederkranz, the conductors being Mr. Arthur Nikisch and Mr. Leopold Reichwein. The performance on Monday evening was an excellent one, proving that in the matter of rehearsals every care had been taken, and the young conductor, Mr. Leopold Reichwein, from the Mannheim Opera, secured admirable results from the London Symphony Orchestra. An excellent Hans Sachs, the cobbler poet, was found in Herr Feinhals, who some eight years ago appeared in London; and Herr Kraus, in the character of Walther von Stolzing, proved himself an experienced artist, and sang with great ability, although with a certain hardness of voice customary in most German tenors. Frau Bosetti made an attractive Eva, and sang the music with considerable charm; while the part of Magdalene was successfully filled by Frau Von Kraus Osborne. The exacting part of Beckmesser was cleverly sustained by Herr Franz Adam, who carefully avoided exaggeration in his acting; and the Druid of Herr Hans Bussard was a happy reading of the part that Covent Garden has seldom seen surpassed. Herr Hinckley's fine voice told well in the character of Kiet Pogner. All the smaller parts were adequately filled, and the choruses were sung with praiseworthy spirit. At the close of each act all the principal artists were called on and loudly applauded.

After the success of the opening night, when so excellent a performance of Die Meistersinger was given, there is little cause for surprise that the house should be filled in every part on Tuesday evening, when Wagner's love drama, Tristan und Isolde, was performed. Much of the interest aroused by Tuesday night's representation of Tristan was due to the really fine playing of the London Symphony orchestra, so ably conducted by Herr Arthur Nikisch, who on more than one occasion was called before the curtain after the acts, in company with the principal artists, to share in the hearty applause. The tone of the orchestra was full and rich, never throughout the evening in the least degree overpowering the vocalists. Herr Van Dyck, whose name is familiar to opera-goers, appeared as Tristan, and sang the music in a fervent and dramatic manner, greatly adding to its effect by his ability as an actor. Frau Felia Litvinne, the Isolde, sang with purity of intonation and at times with considerable power, but her acting, particularly in the second act, fell far short of that displayed by Herr Van Dyck. It was in the earlier portions of the opera that Frau Litvinne was at her best. As the attendant Brangäne Frau Marie Brema gave a fine reading of the part, and much praise must be awarded to Herr Dr. Felix von Krauss for his fine performance of König Marke and the skilful and artistic use he made of his rich bass voice. It was mainly to Dr. Krauss that the third act owed its impressive effect. The characters of Kurwenal, Melot, Ein Hirt, and Ein Stenermann were ably undertaken by Herr August Keiss, Herr Robert Cunningham, Herr Willy Birkenfeld, and Herr Albert Leonhardt.

The most important event of the German opera season this week was the revival on Wednesday night of Der Freischutz, after many years' neglect. Weber, the composer, was the son of an actor, which may account to some extent for his love of stage effects in his operas. His first great success, Der Freischutz, was produced at Berlin, June 18, 1821, and created a great sensation, as the composers strove energetically to undermine the Italian influences which had previously proved so powerful. Der Freischutz speedily became the most popular German opera, and an English version was produced at the Lyceum (then known as the English Opera House) on July 22, 1823, with such success that the work was immediately brought out at Drury Lane, Covent Garden, and eventually at several other theatres. The weird, romantic story, and lovely music, exercised a potent charm. Everywhere was heard snatches of the attractive music, and whenever it has been revived, whether in German, Italian, or English, it has always aroused great interest. The unhappy composer died at the residence of Sir George Smart, after producing Euryanthe and Oberon, in London. In 1844 his body was removed from Moorfields to Dresden, but while music remains popular Carl Maria von Weber cannot be forgotten. The performance on Wednesday last was worthy of the occasion. Frau Bosetti sang the music of Annchen with no little charm; and Fräulein Marcella Craft invested the part of Agathe with considerable interest; while Herr Kraus made an excellent Max, and Herr Hinckley a dramatic and forcible Caspar. The chief feature, however, of the revival was the admirable playing of the London Symphony Orchestra, and the fine conducting of Herr Arthur Nikisch.

Lohengrin was given on Wednesday afternoon, with a newcomer, Frau Aïno Ackté, a Finnish prima donna, in the part of Elsa. Frau Ackté speedily found favour with the audience, for, besides possessing a voice of great purity and considerable power, she was an actress of grace and ability. In fine contrast to Frau Ackté's Elsa was the forcible and dramatic Ortrud of Frau Marie Brema, and the great duet in the second act gained additional interest by their clever and artistic rendering. Frau Brema was also admirably supported by the Telramund of Herr Fritz Feinhals, who gave a manly and picturesque reading of the part. Herr Herold appeared with success as Lohengrin; and Dr. Felix von Krauss sang the music of the King with dignity and expression. A good Herald was found in Herr August Kiess; and the chorus sang with spirit and intelligence, while the orchestra, under the care of Herr Leopold Reichwein, again proved their excellence.

THE Kennington pantomime company furnished a not inconsiderable quota of artists at the New Year's "smoker" of the London Press Club on Saturday night. Although he had gone through the heavy ordeal of playing and stage-managing two performances of Humpty Dumpty that day, Mr. R. H. Douglass took the boards again at the Press Club shortly after midnight, and kept the gathering in roars with an exceedingly clever character-sketch of the difficulties of stage management. Mr. Arthur Rigby followed with a comic song and Mr. F. A. Dix, the author of Humpty Dumpty, contributed three very smart vocal improvisations on subjects suggested by the audience. The Kennington pantomime, it might be mentioned, is drawing audiences composed of people from North as well as South London, which in itself is a tribute to its attractiveness.

THE DRAMA IN PARIS.

"LE BLUFF."

Play, in Three Acts, by M. Georges Thurner, Produced at Antoine's, on Jan. 10.

Mme. Hardouin ..... MME. EVEN
Françoise ..... MLLE. VENIAT
Marie ..... MLLE. ACREAT
Thérèse ..... MLLE. IDA BRASSY
Hardouin ..... M. JANVIER
Maurice ..... M. VALENTIN
Suard ..... M. BOUTHORS
Rousselet ..... M. GEORGES CAHUZAC

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

PARIS, THURSDAY, Jan. 17.—Le Bluff, a satirical work, would have scored more success had it been written with a lighter hand. It is a strong play, but painfully heavy. Dr. Hardouin, a medicial practitioner in a small provincial town, does not get on in the world. Too honest to "bluff" his fellow creatures, he is constantly in financial straits. Even his servants' wages have not been paid. Nor has he the consolation of finding moral support at home. His wife reproaches him for his lack of shrewdness; Thérèse, his eldest daughter, is suffering from religious mania; and his son Maurice is a young scamp, a gambler. Fortunately there is Françoise, his younger daughter, a charming girl on whom he has centred all his affections. Georges Laisné, Maurice's friend, wants to marry Françoise. The girl likes George, but the young man's family insist on a dowry of 50,000 francs. "I don't possess a cent!" says the unhappy doctor to his son." "What does that matter?" replies Maurice. "All you have to do is to promise the money. You will become director of the new sanatorium, and will soon be in a splendid position." Hardouin hesitates, and a few days later he is informed that a Dr. Rousselet has been appointed head of the sanatorium. This is a crushing blow for Hardouin. Yet, at his wife's and son's instigation, he promises to give his daughter the before-mentioned sum. He still has has a chance of becoming famous and rich. He has a serum for the cure of tuberculosis, but the experiments he made are not conclusive; and he discovers to his sorrow that his serum only gives temporary relief. He is quite disheartened, but his wife and son implore him to announce that he has discovered a sure remedy for the cure of phthisis. He at first rebels against this bluff. When, however, his servant Marie, who is suffering from consumption, consents to be inoculated by him, he consents to try the effects of his invention on her. All at once he finds himself celebrated and rich. The new remedy is adopted everywhere. Unfortunately, his happiness does not last long. Marie grows daily worse, and Hardouin, unable to carry on this deceit, confesses to the world that his serum is useless. He has a fearful scene with his wife and son, but he prefers to become poor once more than to impose upon the public and scatter death around him. His sole consolation is to see his dear Françoise happily married to Dr. Rousselet, the director of the new sanatorium. M. Janvier supplied a splendid sketch of the luckless Hardouin, but the other rôles were not well interpreted.

THE second piece, La Petite Dame du Second, is a humorous sketch by MM. André Mycho and Vincent Hyspa, both well known in the Montmartre artistic cabarets. Lucienne's husband receives an anonymous letter informing him that his wife deceives him with a certain Gaston. The husband resorts to the old trick. He pretends to leave town, and in the morning comes to the house with the police commissary and a locksmith to catch his erring wife and her accomplice flagrante delicto. When Gaston hears the knock at the bedroom door he promptly manufactures a rope with three long sheets and makes his escape through the window. As he alights on the pavement he stands face to face with his friend Lagrinche, who has just been discharged from prison. "What are you doing?" asks Lagrinche, "You have been committing a burglary?" "Of course I have," says Gaston; "my pals are still busy upstairs. And, as we want someone to help us, you had better hang on to the rope. My pals will pull you up." The guileless Lagrinche does as he is told. He is hoisted up into the room, and Lucienne swears that this man is not her lover, but a common housebreaker, whereupon poor Lagrinche is of course arrested.

WE have had several new plays at the Théâtre du Grand Guignol, but M. Max Maurey wisely refrained from giving us those blood-curdling scenes for which his house is so famous. The first is called Diplôme. Alice has studied medicine and obtained her degree. But, as she has no patients, she lives under the protection of an elderly gentleman, M. Rabouin. The latter happens to call on Alice at a moment she does not expect him, and is on the point of bestowing her favours on a young, fascinating poet, who has only just time to hide himself in the adjoining room. But how will she get rid of M. Rabouin? She tells him he does not look well, sounds him, says he is suffering from the heart, and finally sends him to consult a specialist. But the poet, who has overheard this pseudo-consultation, is very frightened. He says he experiences the same symptoms described by Alice, and, pale and trembling, he takes his hat to see also a specialist. And Alice, left alone, throws her doctor's certificate on the floor and tramples upon it.

THE second piece, La Revenante, by M. Jean d'Aguzan, is rather melancholy. In a well-lighted room Bernard, a grey-haired man, awaits the arrival of his wife. Supper is ready on the table, and several of Bernard's cronies are keeping him company. The door opens, and in walks, not the anxiously-expected wife, but a youth, the son of a gentleman in the neighbourhood. He cannot reach home that night, and asks Bernard to let him stay there until the following morning. Bernard is delighted. The youth will be one more guest to drink the health of the lady of the house; and when Bernard has left the room to meet his wife on the road the cronies inform the young man that Bernard has become mad twenty years ago, when his wife, returning from a journey, was assassinated. But, on the anniversary of the crime, he expects her and she comes. He alone sees her. Again the door opens, and Bernard enters, talking to an invisible being in the most loving manner. Suddenly he turns pale, staggers, and, throwing out his arms as if to embrace the invisible figure, he drops down dead.

THE evening's entertainment wound up with Une Lecture, by M. Adrien Vély. We see an unfortunate author reading a play to a manager, who does not listen to him because he is thinking of bills he has to meet and of his mistress in whom he has but little faith. And the author is obliged to swallow the most extraordinary remarks and suggestions; and, finally, he reads the end of his work to the office boy because the manager has disappeared.

I AM sorry to have to chronicle the death of M. Pierre Laugier, one of the sociétaires of the Comédie-Française. He was only forty years old, and was struck down whilst nursing his little daughter, who had caught scarlatina. A few days before his death I had seen him in Le Voyage de M. Perrichon, one of his best rôles. A year and a half ago he took M. de Féraudy's place when that gentleman resigned his post as professor at the Conservatoire, and he was greatly beloved by all his pupils. His répertoire was most extensive, and he was always ready to undertake any rôle at the eleventh hour. An honour to his profession, a gentleman in the highest sense of the word, Pierre Laugier will be regretted by all who had the pleasure of knowing him.

VARIETY GOSSIP.

THE seventh anniversary of the London Hippodrome was celebrated on Tuesday at that fine house, where Sir Edward Moss has established a record in having run a variety entertainment twice daily for that period, embracing 4,382 consecutive performances.

A MASS meeting of the artists, the musicians, and stage hands is to be held on Sunday at the Surrey Theatre, by permission of Mr. Frank Macnaghten. The meeting will emphasise the triple alliance between the V.A.F., the Musicians' Union, and the National Association of Theatrical Employees, and will be addressed by the officials and representatives of each society. Mr. Will Crooks, M.P., the Labour Member, will preside.

ALBERT RETSIL, the collier, and his fifteen-year-old daughter, who worked in a brass-finisher's shop in Sheffield, will attempt to duplicate the Zancigs' performance at the Stratford Empire on Monday next and during the week. The girl gave exhibitions of "thought-reading" while at school, and she and her father declare it is very simple to imitate the Zancigs.

THE late Shah, Muzaffir-el-Din, came to this country in 1903, and spent a pleasant evening both at the Empire and the Hippodrome. In recognition of the courtesy and kindness shown to him by Mr. Harry Hitchins, and Mr. (now Sir) Edward Moss, he conferred on those gentlemen the Order of the Lion and Sun.

MR. AUBREY FITZGERALD, the well-known comedian, is the latest acquisition of Mr. Joseph Wilson, and he made his début on Monday at the Tivoli in a couple of capital songs. Mr. Fitzgerald has thought out his own business, which is exceedingly novel, and his "Sixty-five minutes from Bond-street" made an immediate hit. He eschews the bald head, the red nose, and the loose trousers, and is funny without any such aid.

MESSRS. CHAPPELL AND CO., LTD., in answer to inquiries from the musical profession and the music trade as to the actual costs incurred by them in their successful prosecution of Willetts for criminal conspiracy in connection with music piracies, and also about their costs in connection with securing the passing of the recent Musical Copyright Act, state that the cost of the Willetts prosecution amounted to 3000 guineas, and the cost of the Leeds prosecution to 1000 guineas. Parliamentary expenses beyond this amounted to £2500—a total of £6700. Towards this amount they have received some £2000.

MR. AUBREY HYMAN, who departs to-day for the Rand, was the guest of a number of professional and other chums at a pleasant little dinner on Sunday evening at the Boulogne Restaurant. Mr. R. A. Roberts, the well-known protean from the Palace Theatre, occupied the chair, and seated around were Messrs. Sydney and Harry Hyman, E. A. Pickering (acting-manager of the Palace), Tom Claxton, Tom Rice, Bert Howell, Ernest Aplin, J. Laurie Graydon, C. Henderson, Ernest Edelsten, and Ben Nathan, who was in the vice-chair. A telegram of birthday congratulations was sent during the dinner to Mr. Richard Warner, and in the small hours the company, at the invitation of Mr. Ben Nathan, adjourned to the Eccentric Club.

MISS VESTA VICTORIA, who voyaged across the Atlantic per the Carmania, arrived at New York on Sunday. The fine vessel carried 1000 passengers, and was delayed a day in consequence of "head seas," which in the Atlantic at this time of the year are particularly troublesome. Despite the weather, the passengers found opportunity for considerable festivity, and at a concert aboard when Miss Victoria sang three of her favourite songs £100 was raised for the benefit of the Liverpool and New York Seamen's charities. Mr. George Armstrong (son of Madame Melba) and his bride also travelled by the Carmania, and on landing were met by the famous prima donna, who is singing at the Manhattan Opera House.

IN order to afford still greater facilities to the expert operators of the Urban Company, the management of the Alhambra has had constructed a new and spacious cinematograph chamber, with an electrical equipment which is without its equal in the world. It is (as, indeed, is the entire theatre, and every inch of scenery and drapery within it) absolutely fireproof, and is out of the view of the public, being merged in the scheme of rich Moorish decoration. The apartment will be used for the first time on Monday, when some very beautiful and realistic scenes of the Atlantic Ocean will be added to the programme.

D'ARC'S Marionettes, billed at the Hackney Empire next week, are one of the greatest novelties before the public. These comedians and comediennes in miniature are life-like and electrifying. George Robey, Fanny Fields, R. G. Knowles, Harry Lauder, May Henderson, Eugénie Fougere, and other well-known stars find waxwork impersonators. The only thing that is colossal about this turn is the brain of the originator. The act may be compared to seeing a grand benefit performance through the wrong end of the opera-glasses.

MR. HERBERT DARNLEY, whose production, Freaks, will be seen at Hackney Empire next week, belongs to an old theatrical family. Talking of his relatives, he says: "Our family, indeed, must have been a perfect godsend to those theatrical proprietors who wished to run a large pantomime on economical lines, for, starting with my father, who would produce the pantomime and play the Baron, or the Wicked Uncle, or some such dramatic character; my eldest brother would fill the principal comedy rôle; the next brother and myself would play, say, the Ugly Sisters; one of my aunts the second boy; another the second girl; and yet another some female comedy part. In addition to this, we usually performed the entire harlequinade. For all this work we would receive a joint salary hardly so large as an ordinary comedian would get nowadays."

MR. AND MRS. FRED H. GRAHAM (Miss Nellie Dent) have concluded a long and highly successful engagement with Mr. Harry Rickards, playing their original musical comedy sketches in Sydney and Melbourne. Mr. Williamson made them a flattering offer to appear in The Spring Chicken, with pantomime to follow, but they were unable to accept, having just signed their third contract to tour New Zealand, where they have become firm favourites.

LATE on Saturday night at Hengler's Circus, upwards of 200 Chinese residents of London attended, and when Prince Fee Lung, the Chinese magician, entered the ring he received an extraordinary ovation. His fellow-countrymen stood up and yelled "How-How," the Chinese equivalent of "Hurrah," and danced with enthusiasm when a Celestial waved a Chinese flag.

THE Bioscope at the Palace Theatre showed the football match between Fulham and Stockport to a record audience on Saturday night, and on Monday a picture, the first of a long series of illustrations of Japanese industries, depicting fan-making was shown at length. On the screen is seen the extraordinary rapidity with which paper fans are "turned out" by hand manufacture, and the quaint designs which are now so familiar to Englishmen are shown in their preparation and on their completion.

MR. WALTER DE FRECE has bought out the shares of Messrs. Longden and Dottridge in the Leeds Queen's Theatre (Limited), and will wind up the dramatic season at that house with a week of the Moody-Manners' Opera Company, and between then and the opening of the place as a music hall during the first week in March the theatre will be in the hands of the painters, decorators, and upholsterers.

IT will be run on the popular system of two houses a night as a comfortable, family music hall, with a good, clean, all-round, entertaining programme. Mr. de Frece's father, Mr. Harry de Frece, was the first to introduce the system of two shows a night twenty-six years ago at the Old Gaiety Theatre, Liverpool. The present Queen's Theatre, Leeds, it will be remembered, was opened by the Hon. F. S. Jackson on Dec. 22, 1898, the Rev. A. Robins, then vicar of St. Barnabas, acting as chairman on that occasion.

IN reference to the new Alexandra Theatre, Belfast, the plans have been rejected by the City Council, and our correspondent informs us that Mr. Leicester Jackson has instructed his architect to prepare new plans for a more substantial theatre, which will be a permanent structure, and that the building will be completed as quickly as possible. The new Hippodrome is fast approaching completion, and should be ready for opening on April 1.

DURING the past week Mrs. John Lawson has been appearing at the Bordesley Palace in The Devil's Sunday. This strong episode met with an extraordinary success on the Monday night, and "house full" boards have been in requisition all the week. Without a doubt this gifted lady is at her best in the part of Fay. Next week Mrs. Lawson and company go to Belfast.

ARTISTS engaged at the Liverpool Hippodrome and Olympia, rival houses, met on the evening of the 11th inst. in the "Little Wooden Hut" in Farnworth-street, and indulged in a most delightful dance until the early hours of next morning. This pleasing little annual was founded some three years ago by Mr. Harry Wright, of the Cyprus Hotel, Farnworth-street, to whom thanks are due for the excellent arrangements he made, and the providing of pretty decorations. So popular has the annual become that the increased attendances will make the provision of larger premises necessary.

DR. WALFORD BODIE has been giving the patrons of Terriss' Theatre a change from the drama this week with his own company, and has been playing to packed houses nightly. Mr. Melville has booked him for all his theatres, and has also made him a handsome offer to make him the hero of a drama written round him to give his own act. Dr. Bodie returns on Monday to the Empire, Portsmouth, at the biggest salary ever paid to any artist in this country.

THE first sod was cut for the new Palace Theatre of Varieties at Reading on Thursday, the 10th, by Miss Queenie Seymour. The situation is admirable, being in the centre of the town close to the spot where three lines of tramways cross. The plot is 80ft. wide by 159ft. deep, and has frontages to two streets. The building, which is planned by Mr. R. W. G. Sprague, is 70ft. by 120ft., and will hold nearly 2000 people. The contract has been secured by Messrs. T. H. Kingerlee and Sons, of Oxford, who recently erected the new music hall at Putney. It is hoped to open in August.

IN succession to Mr. Davies, Mr. Page has been appointed assistant-manager at the Newport Empire. Mr. Page has been in the service of the Company at Newport in another position for three years and old friends who know him for his genial nature and capacity for work doubt not that he will prove successful in his new position.

MR. EVAN THOMAS, secretary of the Newbridge Public Hall Company, was summoned at the Abercarn Petty Sessions on Thursday, the 10th, for permitting the Newbridge Hall to be used for stage plays without a theatrical licence from the 13th to the 16th Dec. last. Inspector Groves, who gave evidence, stated that a licence was taken out years ago. The Clerk told defendant he was liable to a penalty of £80, and the Bench imposed a fine of £5 and £3 10s. costs.

THE second annual supper and ball in connection with the Belfast pantomime (Mother Goose) took place on Wednesday in Ye Olde Castle, Belfast, under the most successful auspices. The attendance numbered nearly one hundred, amongst those present being Miss Carlotta Levey, Miss May Moore Duprez, Miss Molly Macintyre, Miss Elsie Robey, Miss May Rawlinson, Miss Clara Bernard, Miss Etta McCann, &c. Messrs. Fred W. Warden (managing-director, Theatre Royal and Palace, Belfast), Geo. Harris (acting-manager of Palace), Jas. M. McCann (acting-manager, Theatre Royal), Martin Adeson, Wm. Cromwell, J. P. Marsden, Harrigan and Holt, &c. The varied and beautiful costumes of the ladies added much to the attractiveness of the scene—a most brilliant one.

AFTER a recherché supper, dancing was indulged in, Mr. James M. McCann being an efficient M.C. The music was efficiently supplied by Messrs. Wheatley, Quilliam, Doherty, and Duddy, of the Belfast Palace Orchestra. The arrangements reflected the utmost credit on Messrs. James M. McCann and Geo. Harris.

MR. J. C. OLIVER, the well-known illusionist, writes to inform us of the death of his father, Mr. William Ball Oliver, late superintending engineer of the East Indian Government, and proprietor of the Sutton Foundry and Engine Works, Plymouth, many years ago. The deceased gentleman, who passed away suddenly on Sunday at his residence, Howicknowle, Plymouth, at the age of 71, was well known to many members of the profession, with whom he was extremely popular. He was a cultured linguist and a great traveller. The cause of death was apoplexy, and to his deep regret the son, owing to a mistake on the part of the postal authorities, did not reach his father's bedside in time to see him alive. The deceased gentleman, who was a Mason, was buried in St. Budeaux Church, the coffin being covered with lovely wreaths sent by relatives, Masonic brethren, and friends.

A HAPPIER sight than that at the Birkenhead Workhouse on Wednesday afternoon, the 9th inst., could not be witnessed, for the large hall was crowded with smiling and expectant inmates waiting eagerly for the commencement of an entertainment generously given by Mr. D. J. Clarke, the popular proprietor of the Argyle Theatre, with the assistance of the artists from that house. There were about 400 men, 350 women, and 30 children at the entertainment.

THE turns included the Lovelaces, the New York Nippers, Nelly Farrell, Irish songstress; Henry Hallam and Josephine Stanton, in a bright little sketch entitled A Broken Journey; the Sisters Marion, two juvenile singers; Hill and Whittaker, in a charming speciality turn; W. J. Ashcroft, the original "solid man," an old friend of the people of Birkenhead; Fred Spry and B. S. Monti, in a laughable novelty act; and the Bioscope. Mr. Rothwell moved a hearty vote of thanks and called for three hearty cheers for Mr. Clarke and the performers. After Mr. Clarke had replied, the National Anthem was sung by all present.

MR. JOHN LAWSON has been appearing with his customary success at the Bedford and Middlesex during the past week. At the latter hall he is playing his latest "sensation," The Devil's Sunday. We noticed Mrs. Lawson was absent from the cast, but her very trying part was well sustained by an understudy.

MISS MARIE LOFTUS is a favourite from Thames to Tweed, and in the Lowlands and Highlands beyond. Now the Southrons have had a taste of her quality at Southampton at the De Frece house, where she has been creating a furore nightly. Of course, the popular Glesca lassie has often been to Liverpool under every conceivable management, and her recent triumphs, therefore, at the New Tivoli, of which she is naturally very proud, were a foregone conclusion.

MISS VESTA TILLEY, whose title "London's Idol" the provincial playgoers strongly dispute, will present at the Palace Theatre a scena simple in "done" and "human" in sentiment, entitled King Baby, in which a strong difference between husband and wife is settled by the unconscious aid of the little one. In this number Miss Tilley will for the nonce discard the male impersonator, and will wear feminine attire.

PRINCESS TRIXIE, the educated horse, has at last caught the public fancy, and the heavy correspondence that has fallen to Mr. Alfred Butt's lot during the past week or so has led that gentleman to issue a public challenge that the horse really and truly possesses a mind separate and distinct from any suggestions of her teacher, Mr. W. H. Barnes. This challenge comprises a request for a committee of independent experts, and is substantiated by an offer of £100 to hospitals should the claim be disproved. The committee will be allowed to make their own conditions, and, should it be desired, provide colours and figure and alphabetical blocks.

THE date of the M.H.A.R.A. dinner and dance, viz., Feb. 10, is fast approaching. The tickets, price 7s. 6d. each, will be on sale at the London offices on Monday next, and members and their friends intending to be present should make early application, as the accommodation is limited. At the last dinner and dance, held at the Horns, Kennington, over a hundred applicants had to be refused tickets through applying at the last moment. Special reserved tables will be arranged for parties of thirty-two and over if early notice is given, and smaller parties of members will also be particularly attended to in this direction. Other particulars will be duly announced.

MANY of our readers will hear with sincere regret of the death of Mr. W. H. Combes, who passed away on Sunday at his residence, Crediton-road, West Hampstead. For many years the deceased gentleman conducted very ably the Entr'acte, only giving up the management and part proprietorship of that paper some two years since through failing sight. He introduced the famous caricaturist, Mr. Alfred Bryan, to the public, and until the day of that gentleman's lamented death drawings from his pencil appeared in Mr. Combes's paper. The deceased gentleman was a genial comrade, and was extremely popular with the older generation of journalists. He was a kindly critic, and wielded a graceful pen. The closing years of his life were clouded by the affliction of his devoted and accomplished wife. Mrs. Combes has received many letters of condolence in her deep sorrow.

MR. ROBERT W. DUCE, who is relinquishing the management of the Granville, Walham Green, was endowed with a number of gifts on Saturday. Mr. Jesse Sparrow, a former general manager, handed to Mr. Duce, on behalf of friends and patrons, a diamond and ruby pin and dress stud. "From the Granville staff to Dear Old Bob" came a solid silver cigar case, thus inscribed, and a silver matchbox bearing the legend "Good luck, Bob." These were presented by Mr. James White, the stage-manager; and a silver-mounted ebony walking stick, engraved with initials, was presented by Mr. W. Machin, of the staff.

IT will be remembered that Miss Annette Kellermann, the Australian lady swimmer, last winter celebrated her hundredth performance at the London Hippodrome long before her season was concluded, the New Zealand ("All Blacks") Rugby football team joining in the festivities of that night. The "Australian mermaid's" turn of last season consisted of a most instructive exposition of the most complicated of dives, gracefully and easily executed; but in the beautiful production of Mr. Frank Parker nearly all the mermaid's best work consists of fleet glidings o'er the surface of the pellucid waters of the "Fairy Seas." These evolutions are interspersed by imitations of the graceful pirouettes of the porpoise and the pretty movements of the nautilus. Undoubtedly, Miss Kellermann and her attendant nymphs create one of the most charming effects in an enchanting water spectacle.

THE London Pavilion, Ltd., report that the gross receipts for the year just ended have amounted to £52,083 10s., and the outgoings for the same period £38,074 18s. 9d., leaving a net profit of £14,008 11s. 3d., making, with the last year's balance, £14,307 14s. 10d. available for distribution. An interim dividend of £2 per cent. for the six months ended June 30, 1906, less income tax, has been paid, and after payment of a dividend of 6 per cent. on the preference shares, the directors now recommend the payment of a further dividend of 5 per cent. on the ordinary shares, less income tax, for the half-year ended Dec. 31, 1906, writing off £774 9s. 6d. from the furniture and fittings account, £1000 from the premises, &c., account, and carrying forward the balance to the current year's accounts. Mr. Hugh Astley is the retiring director, and, being eligible, offers himself for re-election.

MR. PAUL KAYE'S clever comedy sketch, The Night of the Garter, has certainly caught on at the Palace, Hammersmith, this week, and will no doubt soon find its way to a West End hall. The little piece has been very favourably received; and the three parts are in excellent hands. Mr. Harry Taylor, from the Gaiety Theatre—who, by the way, seems none the worse for his motor spill—is quite an ideal stage dude. Miss Doris Vivien is very fascinating as Vavor, the "Gibson Girl," and Mr. Charles Byrne, as the man about town, looks and plays the part admirably.

MR. ALBERT WYNDHAM'S sketch, Clarence's Dream, recently at the Middlesex, sets forth the historical facts concerning King Edward IV., Gloster; and Clarence, and the treachery of Gloster towards Clarence, accusing him of conspiracy, and conniving at his murder. The dramatic strength of Shakespeare's lines imposed responsibilities upon Mr. Wyndham and his capable company, of which they acquitted themselves most artistically, and their success was undoubted.

IT is with regret that we announce the death of the wife of Mr. Joe Haynes, manager for some time under the Maltby régime of the Bedford and of the Queen's, Poplar, and now proprietor of the George, Newington Butts. Mrs. Haynes was extremely popular with members of the profession, and her death will be sincerely mourned by a wide circle of friends. The deceased lady died on Wednesday, and was buried yesterday (Friday) at Nunhead, the funeral arrangements being entrusted to Mr. Theophilus Dunkley.

THE refusal of the Liverpool theatrical licensing bench to grant Mr. William B. Broadhead, of Manchester, a provisional licence for the proposed new variety place in Lodge-lane, has been severely criticised by the general public, who consider that an injustice has been committed. The application was on all fours with those which have been made in regard to the several music halls erected in the city during recent years, and why Mr. Broadhead, who had acceded to everything suggested by the Corporation building surveyor, should be refused a fair and reasonable request passes the understanding of all right-minded people. Even proprietors of the other places of amusement, to whom, of course, Mr. Broadhead would be in opposition, admit that he was badly treated, and that the Bench should have shown more commonsense than be influenced by the opposition of a handful of religious fanatics.

MR. BROADHEAD, in a letter to the local press, points out that the plans had been approved by the Corporation surveyor, but that it was thought advisable to show them to the Bench. He had followed the wish of the authorities that he should purchase additional property in order to make the theatre front on to four streets, provided waiting-rooms, and put the building back 20ft., so as to allow of the widening of Lodge-lane. That the neighbourhood needed a place of amusement—a "temperance theatre," as he described it—was indisputably proved by the fact that the surrounding population of 100,000 were miles away from the existing theatres. Yet on the statement of a church sidesman that "the theatre would be an inducement to young people to go wrong, and, as a form of evil, would lead youths to smoke, and steal from their employers," this intelligent Bench declined to grant a public need!

A NUMBER of the magistrates are notorious for their tectotal and "moral" views, while a fair indication of the prejudice which existed was shown by the remark of one of them, "Whether there was a guarantee that the work of erecting the building would not come from Manchester." Yet no such question was put in regard to the Tivoli, in Lime-street, which, built by a Manchester firm a few months ago, was readily granted a licence.

MR. BROADHEAD points out that the extension of amusements in Liverpool has not increased in the same ratio as the population, and asserts a well-known fact that since the erection of the Hippodrome and Olympia, two "temperance" places, in West Derby-road, that thoroughfare had become more prosperous, brighter, and more respectable. Then as regards the moral question, there has been a decrease of 1777 convictions in 1906 over the previous year, and drunkenness has also decreased, the result, it is admitted on all hands, of the influence of healthy means of amusements for the people. We hope that Mr. Broadhead will persist in his efforts to provide this much-needed theatre, and will take steps to have public opinion clearly and firmly expressed when next he makes application.

MR. SID COTTERELL, who has been specially engaged to star as Hassarac in The Forty Thieves by Mr. Fred Granville, took a benefit at the Grand Theatre, Derby, on Friday evening, the 11th, when there was an immense audience. He was endowed with several handsome presents, including a beautiful umbrella from the boys of Derby. This is Mr. Cotterell's first year away from Old Drury for the last four years.

MR. FRED CLEMENTS, on behalf of Mr. Dan Thomas and himself, presented Mr. Fred Leighton on Saturday evening at the Hippodrome, Sheerness, with a handsome diamond ring, as a slight recognition of his great help in the production of the pantomime of Dick Whittington, which was such an enormous success last week. The popular manager suitably returned thanks, and the orchestra then played "For he's a jolly good fellow."

DURING the two performances at the Regent, Salford, of Miss Ella's lions on Friday, the 11th inst., Mr. H. Raymond (manager of the Regent Theatre) and Mr. Wm. Moreton (proprietor of the Ship Hotel) entered the cage and played a billiard match (two games of 15 up), which was won by Mr. Raymond.

MR. BERT SINDEN, we are glad to say, is much better, and is reported to be going on splendidly.

MR. WM. MORGAN, the veteran managing-director of the People's Palace and Aquarium, Scarborough, has been during the past few weeks confined to his house through indisposition. He is now improving, and hopes to be about again in a very short time.

MISS MABEL LAURI, at her vocal and instrumental concert (to be followed by the pantomime of Cinderella) on the 30th inst., at the Drill Hall, Chenies-street, Tottenham Court-road, will have the support of Miss Ethel Bringloe, Mr. Charles Knowles, the eminent Yorkshire baritone, and Mr. William Shorter, trumpeter to H.M. the King.

MISS LOIS DU CANE and her clever company in the realistic sketch A Prodigal Wife, by Fredk. Maxwell, proved such an immense attraction at Sadler's Wells that Mr. Baugh instantly secured it for all his London halls. Miss Du Cane and company go to the Empire, Leicester, on Monday for two weeks.

BANJOISTS such as Emil and Ediss are rare. It is not so much their dexterity—though that is wonderful enough—that astonishes the listeners, as their fine tone and their power of sostenuto—a most difficult accomplishment on the instrument. Tone colour is another virtue in their playing, and in their excerpts from English operas this is pleasingly conspicuous. They have recently created a furore in Dublin, and should be heard shortly in London.

THE amended plans of the alterations proposed to be made at the People's Palace and Aquarium, Scarborough, were approved at a meeting of the Corporate Property Committee on Monday evening. The difficulty which was in the way of the original plans was the proposed raising of the roof. In the amended plans the height of the roof will be unaltered. The alterations to be made consist of the conversion of the present refreshment-room and billiard saloon into a theatre, to afford accommodation for 450 seats more than is available in the present structure, giving a total seating accommodation of one thousand.

THE 497th meeting of the Executive Committee of the Music Hall Artists' Railway Association was held on Wednesday afternoon, when the following were present:—Messrs. Charles Coborn (vice-president), Fred Neiman, Douglas White (hon. treasurer), Harry Blake, Ryder Slone, Fred W. Millis (vice-president), W. H. Clemart (president), Jeff. Vendome, Frank Gerald, Walter Munroe, and C. Douglas-Stuart (secretary). The minutes having been confirmed, the following financial statement up to the end of December was submitted, and was passed as read:—Reserve account, £367 13s. 6d.; deposit account, £150; current account, £338 17s. 3d.; current cash £20; total, £876 10s. 9d. Mr. George Hilton, of the Commercial Hotel, Stalybridge, was appointed agent in that town. At a special meeting of the committee next Wednesday the proposed Music Hall Exchange will be considered.

THERE is probably no more dramatic motive for a popular piece than the idea of self-sacrifice. "Greater love hath no man than this, to lay down his life for a friend." This germ has developed in many ways in the history of novels and plays, and probably never to such an effect as in the semi-historic "Tale of Two Cities," by our national novelist, Dickens. Of course, the situation itself makes for success.

THERE have been many versions of the book presented on the stage, notably The Only Way, to speak of immediate affairs. But to set forth in a tabloid form—to proffer in a nutshell—the infinite pathos and the entire dramatic significance of the world-renowned book must in the present instance be allowed to Mr. Soane Roby, whose sketch, Sydney Carton's Sacrifice, is to be played at the Camberwell Palace on Monday, the 12th.

WE can only wish Carton's Sacrifice as good luck as awaited The Little Marchioness, Bill Sikes, and other reminiscences from the Master, Charles Dickens, whose masterpieces have already been so skilfully adapted to the modern taste by Mr. Roby, the author of this latest sketch. For purposes of copyright Sydney Carton's Sacrifice was played and protected accordingly at the New Cross Empire some days ago. The mere construction of the novel renders it impossible as a transcript, and it therefore became necessary to write dialogue and situations, relying only on the book for its integral idea.

MR. GEORGE ROBEY is again utilising his limited leisure during a busy pantomime engagement in making arrangements for a football match at Birmingham in aid of the local charities, and there is every possibility of a big charity match at Villa Park on Ash Wednesday, Feb. 13, between the popular comedian's International eleven and the Aston Villa League team. Mr. Robey is hopeful of securing some famous players to assist him. The match will be under the patronage of the Lord Mayor and Lady Mayoress and Mr. Joseph Chamberlain.

MR. ROBEY, who will defray the whole of the expenses, has hit upon an ingenious plan for increasing the receipts. Autograph postcards, signed by the comedian himself, may be obtained at the Theatre Royal, &c., the whole of the money thus obtained going to the funds. A sum of nearly £30 was collected in this way at Liverpool last year. It is hoped that the Liverpool record (£450) will be beaten.

AT the general meeting of the members of the Music Hall Benevolent Fund held yesterday at the offices, Durham House, Strand, Mr. Geo. Adney Payne in the chair, the following resolution moved by Mr. H. Mountford, seconded by Mr. Chas. Coborn, was carried unanimously:—"That this meeting should hand over to the Variety Artists' Federation the name, goodwill, and administration of the M.H.B.F., and that for the ensuing year it shall be governed and controlled by a joint committee, composed of eight members of the executive of the V.A.F. and eight members of the present committee of the M.H.B.F., with power to add to their number, but not to exceed twenty-four. Mr. Payne promised to act as president for the ensuing year.

QUITE remarkable for his talents is Mr. Harry Russon, a comedian who makes a speciality of character study. Mr. Russon is naturally very proud of the fact that he was a pupil of Mr. Albert Chevalier. He came into prominence in the London Coliseum revue as a member of the Dandies. His success as a precocious schoolboy somewhat startled the managerial world with the result that he has been secured by every entertainment-provider in the kingdom, his bookings extending over a period of six years. He appears during the ensuing week at the Empire, Nottingham.

MR. CHARLES OSBORNE, the celebrated song writer, surrounded by City police, appeared at the Guildhall a few days since before the Lord Mayor. He had been charged by that well-known entertainer, Mr. Minor (of Minor's Living Midgets) to accompany on the pianoforte that gentleman's living mannikin show, given on the occasion of the children's treat, at Sir William Treloar's express wish. The "evidence" of general enjoyment of their entertainment was made manifest in the usual way, the applause was unchecked by the Chief Magistrate, and the pair were bound over to come up again on a future occasion.

"BARRINGTON" designates himself an "unscrupulous pianist." Of course, the adjective is not used in any derogatory sense, for we have no reason to doubt that he treats the instrument with tenderness, only he has original ideas of his own as to the position or positions in which the performer should exhibit his prowess in octaves, arpeggios, or chords. He will demonstrate his remarkable powers at the Palace on Monday.

"THE GIRL FROM BIARRITZ," a new farcical sketch by Leonard Robson, will make her first London appearance at the Chelsea Palace on Monday. The sketch has been played for the last two months in the country, where it has met with great success. The company will include Leonard Robson, Ella Kitson, and Ivan Berlyn.

ARRANGEMENTS for the production of the living pictures at the Empire are so far advanced that the directors have fixed Monday, Jan. 28, for their presentation. Mr. Wilhelm, who is responsible for the selection of the various subjects, has endeavoured as far as possible to make the first series thoroughly representative of popular masterpieces by eminent British artists. These will include "The Bath of Psyche" and "Wedded," by Leighton; "A Silent Greeting," by Alma-Tadema; "Romeo and Juliet" and "Harmony," by Frank Dicksee; "The Huguenot," by Millais; "Ellen Terry as Lady Macbeth," by Sargent; "Hope," by Watts; "A Prior Attachment," by Marcus Stone; "V.R.," by H. Wells; "The Death of Amy Robsart," by Yeames; "La Marquise de Pompadour," a gem of Boucher, from the Wallace collection; and "Gentlemen, the King!" a patriotic toast, suggested by a picture of Chevalier Taylor. There will also be several representations of statuary and bronzes, and a revival of "The Lost Chord," a picture that was such a success when last shown at the Empire. In all, the first series will include some twenty subjects, with a reserve to fall back upon when a change is required.

THE subscription list of the Maidstone Empire Theatre Company (Ltd.) was opened on Monday, and will close to-day. The capital of £15,000 will be divided into 10,000 shares of £1 each, and 5,000 Preference shares of £1 each. The Preference shares are to carry a fixed preferential dividend of six per cent. per annum on the amount paid up.

THE directors are Mr. G. Foster, of 4, Garrick-street, London, W.C.; Mr. Alfred Parker, of Primrose Club, Park-place, St. James's, S.W.; Mr. W. G. Clemetson, of Kirkdale, Maidstone; and Mr. T. M. Sylvester, of 217, Piccadilly, general-manager of the Hippodrome, Coventry. The object of the company is to acquire the extensive leasehold property situate at Gabriel's-hill, Maidstone, and having a frontage of 72ft., with an area of some 10,000 superficial square feet, and on which a handsome theatre of varieties is to be erected. The architect is Mr. Bertie Crewe, who remodelled the Lyceum, and planned the Bedford.

SONGS, WRITERS, AND SINGERS.

THE Monte Carlo Publishing Co. have accepted for early publication two new songs, by Barnes and Weston, entitled, "Won't you drop me just one line?" and "The coon's conscience"; also two by Pelham, Rule, and McGhee, "Why do I ask you to love me?" and "Georgie," and Herbert Rule's funny "Whistle song," which is so pronouncedly successful in the Elephant and Castle pantomime.

Two new songs, specially written for Mr. Donald Hall, by Messrs. Harrington and Tate, entitled "Tiddy fol lol and tiddy fol lay," and "Ride in my aeroplane," will be tentatively produced by this artist at Halifax next week. Both songs have been accepted for early inclusion in the Monte Carlo Publishing Co.'s "Sixpenny Successes."

THE Monte Carlo Publishing Co. are issuing next week four important additions to their "Sixpenny Successes," in the shape of Miss Marie Lloyd's popular "Customs of the Country," Happy Fanny Fields' "Den he blow, blow, blow," and Miss Vesta Victoria's two new comedy numbers, "I've told his missis all about him" (a sequel to "Waiting at the church") and "I'm looking for a Don Juan." All four songs are from the prolific pens of Messrs. Harrington and Tate.

THE Monte Carlo Publishing Co. are rejoicing in the success of their two songs, "Rosie is waiting" and "Old Calabar," which are now being sung nightly at the Stoll Empires with the greatest possible success, and Messrs. Harrington and Tate, the author and composer of both numbers, are to be congratulated.

MESSRS. HARRINGTON AND TATE have been exceptionally busy, sketch-writing, during the past week, they having supplied no less than three new sketches to a like number of prominent artistes, viz.: Mr. Alec Hurley (Cockneys in Japan), Mr. George Leyton (The Last Muster), and Mr. Alfred Lester (Married and Settled).

MISS CONNIE EDISS tried two out of the six numbers specially written for her, by Messrs. John P. Harrington and Jas. W. Tate, viz.: "I never felt so awkward in my life," and "When I marry a millionaire," at Brighton last week, and scored tremendously with both. The Gaiety favourite is sanguine of doing big things in South Africa, with her Harrington-Tate répertoire of new songs.

MISS FLORRIE GALLIMORE, who has been instrumental in popularising many chorus songs, has produced with quite exceptional success Castling and Murphy's charming number, "On the Isle of Anglesey." At the Tivoli, Liverpool, she has had to respond to repeated encores for her rendering of this pretty lyric, which is already in great demand. The song is issued by the Star Music Company.

MESSRS. A. J. MILLS AND BENNETT SCOTT have received innumerable requests for permission to parody their phenomenal song-hit "By the side of the Zuyder Zee." Amongst others, the tempting offer of twenty guineas from a popular comedian for the right to exploit a parody and use the music surely establishes a record. They have, however, decided not to accept the offer for the present. Meantime, the "Zuyder Zee" is invading and capturing every town and village in the kingdom.

BY the way, the manager of the above Company writes to correct a wrong impression which seems to have got about to the effect that they publish only the compositions of Messrs. A. J. Mills and Bennett Scott. This is far from being the case; the Star Company have already issued and have in the press many numbers by other well-known authors and composers.

PANTOMIME producers and artists are busy preparing additional attractions for second editions; and those who have not been able to take up Mills and Scott's "Sailing in my balloon" for the opening weeks of their pantomimes, are rapidly finding positions for the same, a fact which is proved by the great number of applications for permissions received during the past few days.

MESSRS. MORLEY, of Great Portland-street, are placing on the market Edward St. Quentin's beautiful ballad, "Spring eternal," which the foremost tenors of the day are taking up with avidity. The words are altogether worthy of the genius of Clifton Bingham, better than whom no man knows how to write a song.

MR. F. V. ST. CLAIR has struck a huge success in his song "When we all begin to fly." No less than three firms have approached him with a view to its publication. After singing it three nights at Chatham one of the military bands had the chorus, playing it as the soldiers were marching out. Mr. St. Clair has also written the songs for Mr. Arthur Roseberry's new play.

THE first large edition of Kenneth Lyle's march song, "The beat of the drum," was out of print on the evening of the day it was issued in "Sixpenny Pop" form by Messrs. Francis and Day. West London was most clamorous for copies, Mr. Dennis Drew having produced the song at the Empire, Shepherd's Bush, on Monday last. A simplified pianoforte accompaniment has been supplied for this "Sixpenny Pop" by Mr. Lyle. By special permission, the song is dedicated to Mr. Oswald Stoll.

AT the New York Casino on the 6th inst. one of the greatest hits in The Princess Beggar was Messrs. Francis and Day's number, "Wouldn't you like to learn to love me?" which, in the hands of Miss Paula Edwardes, obtained no fewer than nine encores, and which has since been employed to play the people out with. "Echo," another publication of the Anglo-British house, was also re-demanded over and over again.

CONGRATULATIONS to Miss Vesta Victoria and to F. W. Leigh and H. E. Pether. A cable from New York announces the fact that the popular lady on opening on this her return visit to America (under Mr. Percy Williams's management), produced a song, entitled "Poor John!" by the author and composer of "Waiting at the church," which proved an instantaneous triumph. This later song and the prior stupendous winner are the only ditties supplied to Miss Victoria from the joint pens of Leigh and Pether. Messrs. Francis and Day are the publishers of "Poor John!"

MR. GEORGE COLLINS has made a huge hit with his new song "Something to warm your feet on," or "The fellows call me Jam." The words and music are by Mr. Chas. Collins, and publishing rights have been secured by the Shapiro Von Tilzer Music Co., Ltd.

MISS KATE CARNEY has been extensively featuring with enormous success "On the Brighton Promenade." This song is by Mr. Chas. Collins, and the Shapiro Von Tilzer Music Co., Ltd., who have secured the publishing rights, will shortly issue it in their sixpenny edition.

THE Shapiro Von Tilzer Music Co., Ltd., have just acquired Mr. George Lashwood's new song, "Here we come gathering flats and jays," which he intends to feature immediately. The words and music are by Mr. E. W. Rogers.

MATINEES AT GLASGOW.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE ERA.

DEAR SIR,—In view of what has appeared in the last two issues of one of your contemporaries, perhaps a little explanation is necessary.

I received a wire at 6.30 p.m. on January 1st (the busiest day of the year with us) which read as follows: "Hear you are playing twenty shows this week. Federation desires to know what matinées you are paying for. Urgent. Frank Gerald, Palace, Bow, E."

This being the first communication of any kind I had ever received on the subject, I certainly considered it a great liberty for either Frank Gerald or the Federation, which he is said to represent. However, I had no time, on such a busy occasion, to study the nature of my reply, so I wired as follows:—"Matinées paid for according to contracts.—Bostock." This reply was not only polite, but gave all the information which, in my opinion, the nature of the request demanded.

It must be thoroughly understood, however, that the artists appearing here had been informed (before they had even the opportunity of asking) at the rehearsals on Monday forenoon, that they would be paid for all matinées over and above the two usual ones—those whose contract allowed only for one being dealt with accordingly.

I was very much surprised and annoyed at the remarks made in the paper in question under the heading, "More Trust Methods." Like most other people, I like a "fair" thing; and the statements to which I refer are neither fair nor true.

I have been a proprietor for a good many years now, having had ten New Years in Glasgow alone. On this occasion we had twenty performances, all told, during the week, whereas my record number for New Year's week is no less than thirty-two perfórmances, for all of which the artists have always been faithfully and promptly paid.

Moreover, insult was added to injury by a statement in large type, that it was doubtful "WHETHER ANY OF THESE MATINEES WOULD HAVE BEEN PAID FOR HAD NOT THE FEDERATION TAKEN STEPS IN THE MATTER."

This statement does not coincide with the remarks made on me personally in the same paper to the effect that I "paid salaries in full at the Norwich Hippodrome on Christmas week"; to which might have been added that I did the same at the Ipswich Hippodrome, and that, nothwithstanding the fact that the very heavy snow-storm so paralysed our business that I actually lost £19 on the week's working on what has always been our best week in the year. In point of fact, the extra matinées at these houses had been paid for before the paper referred to could have left the printers' hands, and what I did at these houses on Christmas week I was fully determined to do at Glasgow and Paisley on New Year's week.

It is always good to inquire a little into a man's past character before rushing into print with rash statements about him. I have all through life tried to do my duty to every person in my employ, whether he be only night watchman or the most expensive artist appearing on our stage. In the case of the latter I do my best to make the engagement at my establishments a pleasant one. My brother-in-law and partner at Norwich looks after the welfare of the artists at that city, and my managers at Ipswich and Paisley have strict instructions to do everything in their power to promote the welfare and comfort of the artists appearing at their respective houses, whilst I myself do what I can to render them as comfortable as possible at Glasgow, and very many are the compliments I have received from time to time from artists for comfortable engagements, their only regret being that the Bostock tour was not longer than it is.

Hence it is that I feel so acutely this unjustifiable attack. Granted that I do not do the bookings for the Zoo Hippodrome, Glasgow, I am at least landlord and managing partner, and so long as I hold that position I will always act with discretion and fairness to the artists, irrespective of the artists' contract.

Let me conclude by remarking that newspaper paragraphs, such as I complain of, untrue and misleading as they are, while pleasing a few, are not conducive to any good, and seem to be intended only to promote ill-feeling between artist and manager, which is not a very desirable end. They are, I am certain, such as no right-minded artist will approve of, for after all, the money we each make is not the only thing in life. There is—or there ought to be—a little good fellowship between us, and I should be sorry if such were not the case; but if we are to be subjected to unfair criticism such as I complain of, then the question of fellow-feeling is at least buried for the time, and managers and proprietors must look to themselves.

Apologising for trespassing at such length on your space,

I am, Dear Sir,
Yours faithfully,
E. H. BOSTOCK.

Managing Partner, Zoo Hippodrome, Glasgow; and Sole Proprietor, Norwich, Ipswich, and Paisley Hippodromes.

Zoo Hippodrome, Glasgow, Jan. 15,

[We have much pleasure in inserting Mr. Bostock's letter on a matter of considerable moment to the members of the variety profession, to whom our columns are always open for the discussion of matters of interest.—ED. THE ERA.]

GOLF LINKS AT DEVIL'S DYKE.

The latest of Mrs. Maud Barrasford's many fine improvements of the Devil's Dyke at Brighton is the formation of the Dyke Golf Club, the preliminary meeting of which took place at the Old Ship Assembly Rooms on Thursday, the 9th. A promising 9-hole course has been laid out on the Downs commencing near the Dyke Hotel at a commodious bungalow, which will constitute the club pavilion. As there is suitable ground for the extension of the course to 18 holes, the site is admirably chosen, and members will enjoy the privilege of the professional assistance of Mr. Harris, who is private professional to their Royal Highnesses the Princess Royal and the Duke of Fife, and an additional ground professional. Colonel Finlayson, C.M.G., of Hove, has consented to act as captain; Mr. A. B. Parker is acting as hon. secretary for the first year; and Mr. W. B. Gentle is hon. treasurer. A provisional committee consists of Mr. Mackintosh, J.P., Alderman Carden, Mr. W. Colbourne, Mr. W. Leeson, Mr. B. J. Saunders, and Mr. J. A. Parks. The Mayor of Hove (Alderman Bruce Morison) and Alderman Stafford, J.P., are among the fifty or sixty members who have already been enrolled. The membership is open to ladies and gentlemen. For the latter the annual subscription has been fixed at £2 2s. No entrance fee is to be required of those who have already joined, but subsequent members will be charged £1 1s on entrance. For the ladies the entrance fee is 10s. 6d., and the annual subscription £1 1s.

Mrs. Barrasford has also arranged that ladies who do not play, and who may like to accompany their husbands, may enjoy the advantages of the club pavilion for 10s. 6d. a year. This arrangement, and the establishment of the ladies' club generally, is made possible by the convenient fact that the accommodation of the pavilion is divided into two separate suites of rooms. At the rear of the pavilion is a professional's shop for the sale and repair of clubs and the sale of balls, &c. Arrangements have been entered into for satisfactory catering, and the members will further have the use of a specially-reserved room in the Dyke Park Hotel. The links will be formally opened on Saturday, the 26th inst. The members will be called together at an early date to consider rules and to generally confirm the steps taken yesterday evening.

DEATH OF REDDICK ANDERSON.

The death has occurred with dramatic suddenness at Greenock of Mr. Reddick Anderson, at the early age of thirty-six years. The deceased, who was popular among theatrical and variety artists alike, commenced his career as an entertainer in America when only sixteen years of age. His first portrayal was that of the character of Harry Winters in Incog, and it was then predicted by the local Press that there was a future before him. This prediction was verified, for when he appeared as Peter Amos Dunn in Niobe, it was said of him by an influential journal that his acting was "faultless and faithful." His next success was in the representation of Reginald Fairfax in The Geisha on tour, and his singing of the song, "Jack's the boy," won for him an enviable reputation. After a long and successful run with this comic opera, he was engaged to take the character of Cabman 9,540 in The Shadows on the Blind. This was under the management of Mr. Terry at his theatre in the Strand. Then followed his appearance as Jack Alleyn in The Transit of Venus, and later he appeared as Abanazar in Aladdin, and in each instance quite sustained his high reputation.

On leaving the theatrical stage, and following the profession of a variety artist, success in no manner deserted him. He possessed what can be described as the happy knack of hitting the public taste, and his ditties were always up to date. As an instance of this it has only to be recorded that, on the occasion of the South African War, he was engaged by the London Hippodrome to sing his well-known patriotic song, "Another little patch of red." At the time of the Coronation of King Edward VII. he arranged for presentation a topical scena, entitled The Seven Edwards. The management of the London Pavilion entered into a contract for the performance, and the London Press, without a single exception, published laudatory articles. The regrettable illness of the King necessitated a premature conclusion of this patriotic and most interesting scena, which, under general conditions, would have been, not only popular, but a financial reward to the deceased, who was the originator.

The deceased at the time of his death was playing the part of Sir Charles Foden in What the Butler Saw, and his interment in Greenock New Cemetery, although hundreds of miles from his friends, was attended by a large number of his confrères and sympathisers. Handsome wreaths were sent by Mr. Lionel Rignold, Miss Ada Blanche, and the members of the What the Butler Saw company.

EALING HIPPODROME ANNIVERSARY.

On Friday evening, Jan. 11, the Hippodrome celebrated its first birthday, and two crowded houses—overflowing almost beyond even seeing point—testified to its popularity. Gradually the hostility with which Mr. Walter Gibbons' venture was viewed in certain quarters—for the loss of the "regular" stage was at first resented—has vanished, and every night an increase in the class of patrons he wishes to attract is noted. In the second year of its existence, and with even further attractions to follow, there is every promise of the favour extended to this beautiful house being increased. The numbers of the week's programme, which included Galatea, La Statue Humaine, Frank Elliston and company in Aunt Matilda, Mr. Charles Whittle, and Clemart (one of the best of ventriloquists), was supplemented by Mendel, the blind musician; Cosgrove and Burns, and many others. At the conclusion of the programme an adjournment was made to the Hippodrome Restaurant, where, on the courteous invitation of Mrs. Ada Roe, the manageress, some 200 guests assembled. A well-supplied buffet was at hand, and ample justice was done to all the good cheer. Later in the evening, or rather morning, a move was made for the Montague Room, where a ball and concert kept things merry until 2.30 a.m.

During an interval a gratifying event occurred in the presentation of a gold watch and chain, together with an illuminated address, to Mr. E. W. James, the manager of the Hippodrome. Mr. Geo. Taylor, who voiced the sentiments of the donors, which included the staffs of the theatre and the restaurant and some few friends, was most happy in his references to the manager's good qualities, and seized the opportunity of saying how freely he and others, including Mr. Walter Butson, had used every effort to push the interests of the house. Mr. James, replying in a few smart and pithy sentences, expressed his thanks to "one and all" for their thoughtful kindness. At the ball which followed Mr. W. Neale's band contributed a fine selection of dance music, and the friends of the musical director, who had often seen artists dance to its strains, had the advantage of "footing" it to a measure that only a stage orchestra can supply.

HORACE WHEATLEY

AT ARGYLE THEATRE, BIRKENHEAD.

Horace Wheatley the favourite Irish comedian, who always proves such a big attraction with Birkenhead people, is again paying a return visit, and is as successful as ever. He has brought with him some new items, which are distinctly good, and that the audience fully realised the ability of this star artist was at once evident by the hearty applause that was accorded him.—"Birkenhead Guardian," Jan. 16, 1907.

Horace Wheatley, one of the cleverest, if not the cleverest Irish comedian on the music-hall stage, delights all with reminiscences of MacIntyre, who, to judge by his jokes, is a very acceptable companion indeed. The adventures of "Finnigan" are also related with much humour, whilst dancing is a strong feature, as anyone who has seen Horace Wheatley will be well aware. He steps as lightly as ever, and is an undoubted success.—Birkenhead News, Jan. 16, 1907.

LONDON VARIETY THEATRES.

THE ALHAMBRA.

"The Zancig Mystery" continues to puzzle the patrons of the well-known pleasure resort in Leicester-square. So-called thought-reading at the variety halls is not by any means a novelty, but it is extremely doubtful whether any artists have worked it so cleverly as Mr. and Mrs. Zancig. In most cases a code has been more or less plainly indicated by the varied forms in which the questions were put, but with regard to the Zancigs there is really no tangible evidence of the existence of an ordinary code. This is where the "mystery" comes in. In the meantime, the keen interest that has been taken in the remarkable performance of the Zancigs and the controversy that has taken place concerning the question, "How is it done?" have been a great advertisement for the Alhambra, and many who do not as a rule patronise the variety theatres have visited the Leicester-square establishment to see for themselves the performance of the latest professors of the art and science of thought-reading. Mr. and Mrs. Zancig have successfully passed through the ordeal of many severe tests; and we may add that on the evening of our visit the lady was frequently applauded for her quick and accurate description of the numerous articles handed to her husband. Londoners who wish to see this much-talked-about show, but have not yet done so, will have to hurry up, as the Zancigs shortly start on a tour in the provinces.

The visitor to the Alhambra should not fail to arrive in time to make the acquaintance of McGinty, and, incidentally, of Mr. J. W. Winton, the ventriloquial humorist, who introduces the young gentleman known to fame as McGinty. The latter's stage companions are an elderly gentleman and a small dog. The most pronounced and amusing characteristic of McGinty is his impudence, and he is no doubt encouraged by the laughter caused by his very personal remarks. When Mr. Winton begins to sing, the dog already mentioned sets up a dismal howl, and McGinty appeals to the vocalist to allow the poor animal to "die a natural death." Finally, McGinty is seen making his way up a pole with the ease and activity of a monkey. Mr. Winton's ventriloquial show is cleverly worked, and is meeting nightly with a big reception at the Alhambra.

De Witt, Burns, and Torrance, two male performers and a lady, are fulfilling their first engagement in England in an act entitled "The Awakening of Toys," which has met with a favourable reception. The toys, at first limp and inanimate, become live figures, representing a doll, a soldier, and a sailor with a comic make-up. The men are clever acrobatic performers, and the lady lends valuable assistance. Gobert Belling and his four-legged comedians furnish an excellent entertainment, a burlesque of the performance of the lady in short skirts who rides barebacked steeds at the circus causing much merriment. Miss Annie Mars is appearing in a new Japanese song-scena, entitled Home Again, My Cherry Blossom. She sings charmingly, and the chorus is well-rendered by twelve Alhambra girls. The revised edition of the grand ballet, Parisiana, invented and produced by Mr. Charles Wilson, with music by Mr. James M. Glover, is still one of the principal items in the programme, and the charming dances arranged by Signor Alfredo Curti afford unqualified delight. There is also the grand ballet L'Amour, in which Signorina Enrica Varasi as première danseuse meets with a most flattering reception. She appears as Niletta, and has the able support of Signor Amedeo Santini as Prince Nashar el Din, M. Henri Frielli as Darius (Ruler of Assyria), Signor Giovani Rosi as the high priest Nanour, Mr. T. Coventry as Nanarus, and Miss Ida Bailey as Sélika. The excellent "Urbanora" pictures include "Puck's Pranks on a Suburbanite," combining much rollicking fun with pretty artistic effects; "A Trip Through British North Borneo," a highly-interesting journey; "Her Master's Tea Service," "Across the Atlantic," and the latest topical events. The films add considerably to the attractions of an exceptionally good programme. Mention should also be made of the selections played by the excellent orchestra under the direction of Mr. George W. Byng. Mr. George Scott, the able and energetic manager, is to be heartily congratulated on the present flourishing state of affairs at "the national variety theatre."

THE BEDFORD.

The display of symmetrical womanhood in representations of the art statuary of ancient and modern masters, from Phidias to Hamo Thorneycroft, continues apace, and the latest introduction of the kind to the London public was at the Bedford on Monday evening, when a new poseuse, aptly styled Venus, represented some classical and modern productions that have become world-famous. The new candidate is stated to have been the model for the late Lord Leighton, and is considered to possess a figure that almost attains absolute perfection. Before a packed house at a second performance, Venus realised on a pedestal such well-known classical statues as Canova's "Venus" and "Venus de Medici," adopting a partial draping of the figure. Fanciful pictures were "The Message of Love and Its Acceptance," "Diving," "Will o' the Wisp," and perhaps the most daring of the series was the Velasquez "Venus," recently purchased by the nation, about which so much controversy raged. The final posing was for the late Lord Leighton's "Psyche at the Bath," a most successful picture. The attractiveness of the pictures will be much enhanced when the lighting arrangements are more complete than they were on the opening night. Such little details as were wanting are quite easy of adjustment, and Mr. B. Pearce Lucas and Mr. Harry Day may be congratulated on an artistic exhibition.

Another novelty in the bill is the comedy sketch, entitled The Man Who Never Saw a Woman, played by the Donohoes. This trio presented the incidents in the broadest spirit of extravagance—the only method—and every speech was punctuated with shouts of laughter. Jeremiah Byles, the son of a gouty and irritable elderly gentleman, has been immured—from his babyhood, apparently—in a retreat from which woman is banished. Soon after the opening of the sketch he arrives on the scene, and astonishes a maid-of-all-work—a Freearesque coquette of the area—by his artless confessions concerning the gentler sex. Finally he makes desperate love, and on a scene of energetic osculation the curtains fall. The little piece was played with much spirit, especially by the lady representing the domestic, who knows how to be funny.

One of the cleverest of the younger divisions of conjurors is Sydney Lee, who is decidedly smart and alert, and possesses a neat and most effective style. His palming of cards is exceedingly puzzling to the uninitiated. He is prodigal, too, of surprises in the way of manufacturing liquors on the instant, and secures a generous measure of applause. Boy Glen, a Lancashire lad apparently, recounts anecdotes concerning "father" that are instances of amusing exaggeration, and his comedy loses nothing of its strength by slovenly enunciation. He is admirably distinct all the time, and funny. Claire Chadwick's mysterious lady quartette may also be termed the bon-bon girls, being dressed, and prettily dressed, too, as Christmas crackers. They sing spiritedly, and score a success.

A big attraction of the bill is Mr. John Lawson and his company in The King's Minister, probably one of the most effective of his later pieces. The chief of the Government who saves the British Empire and keeps his honour untarnished by shooting himself is played with rare earnestness and intensity by Mr. Lawson; and Mrs. Lawson represents the young débutante at Court very prettily. The drawing-room set for the final scene is superb. In strong contrast to Mr. Lawson's dramatic thriller is Mr. George Power's laughable absurdity. Other turns in the programme are given by Mr. Will Morso, juggler; Mr. Walter Wallis, comedian; Mr. Charles Lilburn, comedian; and Miss Nellie Cotter.

THE METROPOLITAN.

Boxing Night business was almost attained on the night of our recent visit to the popular hall in the Edgware-road, and Mr. Jack Edgar's happy face beamed with satisfaction as we remarked on the fact. The news of such large crowds attending the hall should do much to aid the progress to convalescence of its popular managing-director, Mr. Henri Gros, who has had anything but a festive season. Early in the programme, Mr. Charles Bignell asks, with emphasis, of the Met. patrons, the palpitating question, "Are we downhearted?" How could they be with such a programme to mark, learn, and inwardly digest? Marie Lloyd, looking her very brightest and best in costumes fashioned with rare taste and delicacy, takes every heart captive with her bewitching style in "The custom of the country," and with the naïve frankness of the confessions of Lady Jane in a piquant monologue concerning the love protestations of a chevalier galant—oh, so gallant!—in a railway carriage. The caballeros of sunny Spain are just as ardent, according to Miss Lloyd, and the señoritas—well, their methods are not so reticent as those adopted by the maids of London; but, then, climatic influences must be taken into consideration.

Artists who are new to the Metropolitan, we think, are Eadie and Ramsden, who introduce what is called a musical pot-pourri, known as Charlie's Visit. Charlie happens to be in love with a girl with a very nice voice, whom he accompanies on the piano when she sings, "Mary of Argyle." But Charlie does other things. He is a wonder as an acrobatic dancer, has the gift of comedy, and, possessing an excellent voice, every word he says reaches the ears of the audience seated in the farthest recesses of the gallery.

Mr. James Fawn is an old favourite in the Edgware-road, and his song, "The Hen-pecked Jossers' Club," is as amusing as anything he has had for years. Mr. Whit Cunliffe, one of the new school of light comedians, is scoring nightly with "A different girl again"; and Mr. Burt Shepard, at the piano, parodies "In the shade of the old apple-tree." Mr. Reginald Leyland—also at the piano—ridicules grand opera in his burlesque of the recitatives and solos of soprano, tenor, and basso, and evokes laughter; and the Jees, in their celebrated sketch, The Musical Smithy, also add to the fun and harmony of the evening.

Mr. Joe Elvin and company appear in the sketch, The Jockey, which means that the audience enjoy twenty minutes of hearty laughter. How a bicyclist is forced to ride a hurdle race is shown in the hilarious concoction, and the droll Elvin, blackened and breathless, repeating his experiences with the jumping Wanderer on a dining-room table is a sight that the gods and pit do not fail to enjoy to the full. Mr. Herbert La Martine has a tuneful refrain concerning going for a soldier, and is loudly applauded for his wonderful bâton manipulating. Little Madge McCalla, promoted to single-turn business, has a pretty song as a little girl with a doll, and dances with both spirit and grace. Miss Nellie Christie scores as an eccentric character comedienne, displaying unmistakable humour; and Miss Sylvia Du Barry is heard to considerable advantage when she sings the well-known and pretty Irish melody, "Eileen Alannah."

Mlle. Irma Lorraine presents in very artistic fashion a number of creations in statuary, such as "Salambo," "Literature," "Venus," "Bacchante," "Farmer Maid," "Electra," "Mazeppa," and "The Rock of Ages," all of them copied from the works of famous sculptors. The name of Miss Ethel Dunford is also announced on the programme. Mr. Leon Zeitlin is a courteous assistant-manager, and Mr. D. M. Trytel an assiduous musical director.

THE EMPRESS, BRIXTON.

There is certainly not as yet any signs of falling off in the business that has been done at this popular house during the holidays, and on the evening of our visit it was difficult to find even standing room to enjoy the first-class programme that is being presented. Undoubtedly the tit-bit of the evening is provided by that clever duo, Clark and Hamilton, who, in their popular turn, are as entertaining as ever. Bert Clark, by his droll manner, fairly makes the house roar. Two other items which also stand out most prominently on the programme are those of two lady comediennes, both almost new to the variety stage, who can be heartily congratulated on their success. The first is Miss Elsie Enri, a very young and dainty artist of the Victoria Monks type, with whom nerves seem quite an unknown quantity. She gives a couple of most interesting numbers, entitled "Don't tell the world your troubles" and "Mr. Washington, here's your fare," both of which are most heartily received. The second is Miss Florence, who is taking the place of Miss Dolly Harmer, unfortunately indisposed, and a most capable deputy she proves herself to be. Magnificently gowned, and with a fine stage presence, she completely succeeds in holding the house from the moment of her entry until her departure. Her two numbers, "Danger, danger, danger," and "A bit later," are admirable vehicles for the display of her ability. Plenty of applause awaits her on concluding. An acceptable turn is provided by the Crown Trio—a lady and two gentlemen, all possessing well-trained voices. Their part singing is quite a treat. Charles Faning fairly convulses the house with his amusing patter and quaint antics, and his tales are well liked by the Brixtonians. Carl Rex, a comedian, has a couple of capital songs. In the one that may be entitled "Never felt so awkward in my life" he is heard to exceptional advantage. Harry Marte, who proves himself to be a past-master in the art of dancing, is deservedly applauded on concluding.

Mendel, the blind pianist, is enormously popular here, and he evokes admiration by his clever imitation of a barrel organ playing "Down at the old Bull and Bush." Another popular item in his répertoire of surprises is his presentation of three songs simultaneously. He plays "The Blue Bells of Scotland" with one hand and "Stop your tickling, Jock," with the other, at the same time singing "Annie Laurie." Miss Millie Payne, a clever comedienne, has a capital number in "The birds were singing in the morning," and her comical get-up certainly adds to the amusement she creates by her original style of humour. Douglas and Gordon introduce one or two Scotch songs and some neat and clever dancing. Robert Dohn is responsible for some clever juggling feats; and Miss Maude Nelson is heard to advantage in "When the lights are burning low."

Paul Martinetti and his clever company are here with the sensational play, A Night Attack, written by himself. Paul is responsible for a remarkable impersonation of Joss, a shrewd Yankee pedlar. In the second scene there is a laughable knife fight between him and a Red Indian. Alfred Martinetti gives excellent support; and Miss Clara Martinetti as Flora plays her part capitally. Mr. John Heard makes a most amusing nigger wench; and the part of Barker, a half-bred trapper, is in the capable hands of Mr. Emile Josset.

Gooseberry Junction is the title chosen for another sketch on the programme here this week. It is a musical mimetic mixture, in which several capital imitations are given, and concludes with some clever dancing. Interesting pictures on the Bioscope complete an enjoyable programme. Mr. Nelson Francis remains the popular manager, and is most capably backed up by his able and courteous lieutenant, Mr. Francis Winchcombe.

THE GRANVILLE.

At the pretty Walham Green Palace of Varieties this week the excellent all-round programme contains many items of special interest. Marie Santoi and her merry party appear in a charming little sketch, The Japanese Tea Garden by Night, in which Miss Santoi, supported by a capital company of singers and dancers, warbles sweetly, among other things, "Egypt," "My Japanese Josie," "The angel of my dreams," and "I'll be your girl of Japan," the Lieutenant Fairfax of the company rendering specially efficient aid vocally. The scena is prettily embellished with all the necessary accessories from the flowery land. An item of a more serious and ambitious nature is the new American dramatic sketch, Number 99, which, both in the telling and the acting, is well worthy of a place as a theatrical curtain-raiser. A wrongly-convicted man has returned from ten years' penal servitude, and saves a little girl from a carriage accident. She proves to be the only child of one Jack Campbell, a legal luminary, whose chambers No. 99, in his extremity, has forcibly entered for the purposes of burglary. Campbell telephones for the police, and keeps his man at the pistol point till they arrive; but his little daughter, who had been sick of the fever since her narrow escape, recognises her preserver, and all ends happily. Mr. Frank Lister acts with much rugged force and emotional sincerity as No. 99; Mr. Fred Kitchen gives a polished performance of the stern but kind-hearted Jack Campbell, and the part of the little girl is naturally and prettily played.

Mr. Arthur Reece is highly appreciated in his ditty, "When there isn't a girl about," and in his screamingly funny nursery rhymes brought up to date, which would be encored all night if the audience had their way. Bert Williams, the ventriloquist, gives a particularly bright, exhilarating, and original ventriloquial entertainment. Mr. Woolmer Young is a comedian, or, rather, one might say a character-actor, who can be very dramatic and impressive. He starts with a rollicking ditty, "Come, come, come along, boys," and then he gives the highly-effective song, "Life is a game of cards," which stamps him as something out of the common in this line of "business." Les Bollingers, the original Parisian rag painters, contribute an interesting and original turn, depicting on a dark canvas, by means of rags, a vase of flowers, a ship sailing, a snow-clad scene, and General Buller. Florence, the lady mimic, does best in her imitations of Happy Fanny Fields (a very happy effort) and Harry Champion. Percy Hannon, the American vocalist, is much applauded for his rendition of "The Admiral's Broom" and "Songs on the Veldt"; Cherry Lass sings and dances nicely in "Shy Anne" and "All I got was sympathy"; the Rohda Bros. do some new gymnastic acts on the rings and trapeze; and Goggin and Davis are vastly amusing in their comic sword-play and dancing. Joe Archer, with "Hi, Johnny, who's yer tailor?" and Bromley and Fontein, in their vocal entertainment, "The singing lesson," are quaintly amusing; and Derenda and Green, comic jugglers; Amy Sullivan, comedienne; the Scottish Meisters, who are prime favourites, with song and dance and comic quip; and the Vernon Bioscope, with "The bobby and the bob" and "The tomboys," complete the programme.

Two new appointments have been made at the Granville, namely, Mr. William H. Lennon, who has assumed the duties of acting-manager, and Mr. R. E. Wilding, who has taken up the conductor's bâton.

BARNARD'S PALACE, GREENWICH.

The usual large and delighted crowd had assembled to do full justice to the liberal catering of Mr. Dan Barnard and Mr. Frank Dent—quantity and quality are both provided for the delectation of the frequenters of this comfortable and popular hall. After the overture had been rendered with dash and spirit by the capable band, under the able direction of Mr. William Skerry, the first turn on the programme was that of Mr. George Bee, aptly described as a quaint comedian, whose songs and dance were greeted with flattering applause. Miss Amy Marsden also made an excellent impression by her clever comedy impersonation. The Treshams, juvenile comedians, were well received, and their singing, dancing, boxing, and drill were all enjoyed to the full. Their entertainment is entitled Roads Up. Mr. George Clifford sang "Beware" in excellent style, and thoroughly deserved the applause bestowed on him. Miss Rose Everett has a fine voice, which she uses most effectively, and her rendering of "The waves love the seashore" and "Think of your mother" were warmly applauded. Mr. Charles Rutland sang in capital style a song entitled "Doing it all the morning." A brilliantly-rendered selection from The Gondoliers was given by the orchestra, and this was followed by Ruffell's Imperial Bioscope, which exhibited some new and interesting pictures. Miss Rose Torrington sang "Oh, Amelia" and "On a penny trip" in a manner that evoked loud applause. Mr. Frank Sylvo's entertainment was very enjoyable, consisting of some clever comic juggling with cigar boxes and other articles, which he handled with great skill. Little Don's efforts to amuse were decidedly successful, and he was rewarded with a full share of laughter and applause. Mr. George Edney sang powerfully and well the excellent songs entitled respectively "Boys of the King's Royal Navy" and "Heroes of everyday life." The Campions were well received in Polly, followed by an admirably-executed dance. The last turn on this long and excellent bill was that of H. C. Lovell and company in their latest comedy-sketch entitled Mlle. Pom-Pom, in which one lady and two gentlemen appear, and each contributes a full share of amusement. The "Toreador" song was well sung, and duly appreciated by the audience.

GRAND, CLAPHAM.

An exceptionally interesting programme was presented at this hall last week, and as a result houses of liberal proportions are turning up to witness the fare provided. At the top of the bill was Joe Elvin, supported by a strong company, in Trespassers Beware! and its only drawback is that there is not enough of it. As the programme does not give the names of the several artists, detailed reference to them is not possible, but the little piece provides Joe, the one and only, with further opportunity of displaying his laughter-making abilities, of which it is needless to say he makes the very most. He has a part well suited to his own particular style, and the amount of humour that he succeeds in extracting from it may well be likened to a small stream, which gathers force as it proceeds, until a climax is reached, when a perfect torrent of applause bursts forth. As the temporary caretaker of the riverside house he is in his element, and at the finish he has many times to bow his acknowledgments. Jack Lane is a comedian with an amusing manner. Dressed as a Yorkshire yokel, he sings a capital song, entitled "By Gum," which is followed by some funny patter. One of the best turns on the programme was that furnished by the Ellimans. This is a musical item, and consists of the playing of several selections on different instruments. Special mention must be made of their concertina duet, which comprises several well-known and popular airs, and is enthusiastically received, an encore being conceded in the form of "Boxing Bells," a novelty which proves quite unique in its way.

Another interesting turn was that of Miss Evelyn Taylor, who is described as London's coming comedienne. She sings a couple of capital numbers, entitled "I thought I backed a winner when I married you" and "Don't know the reason why," and the applause she receives is well earned. Howard and Collinson presented their ever acceptable Porter and the Parcel, which is going as well as ever. On the evening of our visit, Nell Collinson appeared to exceptional advantage, her dancing being a treat to watch. Carl Lynn, described as a king of animal mimics, gives a very acceptable show, his best imitations being those of a gramophone and a "Jerusalem cuckoo," better known as a donkey. The turn presented by Dandy George and his clever little dog Rosie is a marvellous one. The pretty little animal soon shows that it is the possessor of wonderful sagacity, and her many clever tricks are the means of earning for her master most hearty applause.

Miss Rosa Loader provides plenty of fun whilst she is on the stage, and her efforts to amuse are most successful. Dressed as a slavey, she gives imitations of the singing of various people who had been at a party recently held at her mistress's house. Mueller and Coyne are a couple of amusing artists, the male member especially doing some clever tumbling and acrobatic business, which certainly deserves the applause it receives. A capital two hours' enjoyment was brought to a conclusion with some very amusing pictures on the bioscope, entitled "Following in Father's Footsteps." This is a most interesting series, and was followed most attentively. The capital orchestra, under Mr. David Dealer, were heard to advantage in their overture, "Zampa," and the artists have much to thank them for for the careful manner in which they acquit themselves in the other part of the programme. Mr. Harry Ketteman still remains in charge of the front of the house, in which he does all that is required, and receives adequate assistance from Mr. Charles Lurring.

THE LATE MR. GEO. LOCKHART.

A little over three years ago the sad news of the death of Mr. George Lockhart while attempting to prevent the escape of one of his favourite elephants came as a shock both to the variety and circus worlds. The name of Lockhart, indeed, was a household word in both hemispheres. The deceased gentleman, who had been engaged by Mr. George Adney Payne to appear at the Walthamstow Palace on Jan. 25, 1904, arrived at the Hoe-street goods yard on Sunday from Norwich with his four performing elephants. The van containing the animals was shunted into a yard for the purpose of being unloaded, and subsequently they were released from their confinement. The keepers were about to guide them towards the gate leading to Hoe-street, when suddenly the biggest of them, named "Saucy," trumpeted twice, and, following their leader, the rest of the pachyderms dashed for the gate. The keepers went in hot pursuit, and as "Saucy" was about to charge through the gate Mr. Lockhart made for the chain attached to the animal. He was driven against a goods van which was standing close to the pavement outside the gate, and was crushed to death between the van and the elephant. At the inquest which was held a verdict of "Accidental death" was returned.

The remains of the deceased gentleman were interred in Brighton Borough Cemetery, the site chosen by the relatives being within a few yards of the well-known tomb of the late Mr. J. F. Ginnett, of circus fame. The above illustration gives a view of the grave and very handsome monument which has been erected to the memory of Mr. Lockhart.

"QUEEN OF OLD SAMARA."

TO THE EDITOR OF THE ERA.

DEAR SIR,—Our attention having been drawn to an advertisement, emanating from Mr. J. F. Lambe, in your last issue, wherein the announcement, "Queen of Old Samara," published by Francis and Day in America, appears, also to a paragraph in your "Songs, Writers, and Singers" column, in the same issue, to the same effect, may we, as the publishers of the song in question, be permitted to slightly amend what is on the face of it a somewhat misleading advertisement and paragraph?

We are the sole publishers and proprietors of the copyright of the song, "Queen of Old Samara," Messrs. Francis, Day and Hunter representing us as our agents in America, and by an arrangement entered into some months ago, the latter firm have the right to publish a number of our songs in the U.S.A. We were not aware, however, that "Queen of Old Samara" figured among these, so the authors of both advertisement and paragraph are evidently better informed on the subject of our own property than we (the owners) are!

The style in which both advertisement and paragraph are couched would lead the average reader to imagine that Messrs. Francis, Day and Hunter had considerably more to do with the song than we—its publishers—have. In common courtesy, the author of both the advertisement and paragraph (we know not if they be one), should have also mentioned the name of our firm (as the publishers) when referring to the song.

Successful songs are hard enough to get, in all conscience, and when by our unaided efforts we transform crude material into big hits like "Queen of Old Samara," we like, at any rate, a little of the "kudos" accruing therefrom.

We remain, dear Sir,
Yours faithfully,

LONDON HIPPODROME.

The mystification of audiences has become the fashion of the day at the variety places of amusement, and the latest development is to be seen at the Hippodrome. The performance given by the lady and gentleman who call themselves Trilby and Svengali is well calculated to promote further controversy in regard to the much-discussed question of thought and will transmission. The gentleman does not in the least resemble the well-known character whose name he has borrowed, though he speaks in the broken English of a foreigner who has only an imperfect knowledge of the language. He briefly introduces the lady, who takes her seat at the grand piano on the stage. The gentleman then makes his way to the stalls, and proceeds to collect from members of the audience slips of paper, provided for the purpose, on which has been written the name of a song, waltz, march, or other musical composition, or, if preferred, the selection may be communicated by a whisper to Mr. Svengali, who has no sooner ascertained the particular piece of music desired than Miss Trilby plays and sings it. Svengali does not speak, there is no apparent communication by means of signs, and he does not turn his face towards the pianist; and it is quite immaterial whether it is a song or a selection from grand or comic opera. On Monday night the lady was in quick succession called upon to sing items from Carmen, Faust, Don Giovanni, Traviata, Cavalleria Rusticana, La Tosca, Mignon, Parsifal, Die Meistersinger, Lohengrin, Tannhäuser, La Fille du Régiment, Maritana, Amasis, the familiar melody, "The Old Folks at Home," and, finally, "God Save the King." Trilby never made a mistake, and it is claimed that she is able to play and sing any of some 8,000 musical numbers, embracing the compositions of all nations. That the audience on Monday night were completely mystified there could be no doubt, and at the conclusion of this novel turn a gentleman rose in the stalls and said he was prepared to give £100 to any London hospital if the Zancigs succeeded in duplicating it. Svengali thanked the gentleman for his offer, and added, "I am no afraid you lose your money."

The Treasure Ship in Fairy Seas, with its striking spectacular effects and excellent company of artists, remains the leading attraction of the programme, the dance of sea nymphs by Tiller's Eight Snowdrops, and Herr Heidenreich's flying ballet, being amongst the most notable items in the production. Miss Simeta Marsden retains her part of the gallant young diver, and has the able support of Mr. Lavater Lee, Mr. J. Oma, and Fräulein Sophie. Mention should also be made of the exhibition of graceful swimming and diving given by the Misses Annette Kellermann and Gladys and Maud Finney. Other attractions include a clever and amusing performance by Hale and Francis, one of these being a particularly smart youth, who shares the honours with his elder partner. They open with some interesting feats performed with wooden hoops, and evidently only accomplished after long and patient practice. Then the adult artist causes considerable merriment by his eccentric manœuvres on a large globe, the younger performer giving valuable assistance in a novel and diverting act. Another turn that deserves special notice is Tschernoff's performing dogs and horses. One of the last-mentioned is a remarkably intelligent animal, and has been taught to play a melody to an orchestral accompaniment, by means of hanging bells, never once ringing the wrong bell. As the clever trainer is careful to hold his hands behind his back, there can be no manual instruction given to the animal, which also takes part in a little comedy scene. Having been apparently securely fastened to a post, the equine actor contrives to slip his head out of the bridle, trot to a table, devour a dainty meal, and, after placing a dog near the empty dish, resume his former position. In conclusion, Mr. Tschernoff drives a horse and trap around the stage, with dogs perched on the boxes of the wheels, and twisting in and out between the horse's legs. Selma Braatz is a young lady juggler who may fairly be said to rival the performances of many male experts in the same line of business. The Maningoes excel as head and hand balancers; and the acrobatic show given by the Kremos is beyond question one of the best of its kind. Chung Ling Soo, Chinese magician, quite maintains his well-earned reputation, his disappearing lady trick being a complete puzzle. Cruikshank, the musical clown, has won great favour here; and so, too, have Morris and Vincent, with their laughable eccentricities. Other items in the programme are contributed by the Althoffs, in their neat pedestrian act; and two Chinese girls, in a contortionist act. The Chrono-Megaphone, the latest invention in animated photography, combining sound and action, is an interesting show. Valuable services are rendered by Mr. Frank Parker as equestrian and stage-manager, by Mr. Otho Twigg as ring-master, and by Mr. Fred Trussel as acting-manager.

THE MUSIC HALL HOME.

NEW YEAR'S APPEAL.

Once more we take pleasure in opening our columns to The Era New Year's Shilling Fund on behalf of the Music Hall Home, and in doing so we take still further pleasure in being able to associate with that appeal the names of the president of the fund, Mr. Thomas Barrasford, and Miss Vesta Victoria. Mr. Barrasford's kindly offices in connection with the Music Hall Home are well known, and the fact that he has again given permission for the use of his name in calling attention to the requirements of the home is a guarantee—if, indeed, guarantee were needed—that he is satisfied as to the way in which the institution is being conducted, and that he considers it worthy of support. It is also gratifying to be able to associate with the New Year's appeal such a prominent variety artist as Miss Victoria. When seen at her delightful home in Stockwell Park one day this week by our interviewer, Miss Victoria, who, by the way, is now commencing her preparations for her forthcoming visit to America, stated that she would be delighted to give what assistance she could in such a worthy cause. Surely, with such sponsors, the money should come rushing along with the swiftness and volume of an avalanche.

There can be no question as to the usefulness of the Music Hall Home. Its address is 31, Wilson-road, Camberwell, S.E., and Mr. and Mrs. Fruin, the secretary and matron respectively, put forward every effort for the comfort of the inmates. At present there are eight of these, and the desire is to increase the number, which can only be done when sufficient funds for the purpose are collected. During the past year two or three of the temporary inmates have recovered their health and strength sufficiently to enable them to look for engagements. These secured, they left the Home, and the vacancies thereby created were immediately filled up. Now, this home requires keeping up, and it cannot be kept up on air. There is no need for us to refer to all the good work which has been performed by the institution in the past, as this must be within the recollection of our readers. The ages of the inmates range from fifty to seventy-six. In all probability these men will be maintained in the home until the day of their death, and their funeral expenses will be paid for out of the funds of the home. The vice-presidents and the committee are sincerely desirous of increasing its scope of usefulness. They would like to be in a position to afford shelter to many more deserving members of the variety profession, who have been stricken with poverty and illness in their declining years.

MISS VESTA VICTORIA,
Who will help the Music Hall Home Fund.

We feel we need say little more. Mr. Barrasford and Miss Victoria join in a strenuous appeal for the generosity of the profession in support of The Era Shilling Fund. When, twelve months ago, we brought before our readers the claims of this deserving charity, a very considerable sum of money was collected in separate shillings. That last year's appeal, however, and most of the money obtained by it, are, as Miss Marie Lloyd would say, "a thing of the past, old dear." We are entering upon a new year. What is the prospect? It is that of help badly needed by many of your brother and sister artists who are, in common parlance, "down on their luck," and some of whom, by reason of their age, are likely to remain in that unhappy condition.

Mr. F. H. Pedgrift is the hon. treasurer, and he will be pleased to receive postal orders and cheques addressed to him at The Era, 5, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.

WALTHAMSTOW PALACE.

The handsome hall over which Mr. Arthur J. Barclay has ruled with wisdom and success for the three years of its existence continues to receive liberal patronage. On the occasion of our visit early in the week we were glad to notice the presence of an audience as crowded as it was enthusiastic. This state of affairs speaks volumes for the absolute necessity of the Palace in this town, as the programme, while bright and merry, taken as a whole does not contain any feature of conspicuous novelty.

Lovers of music who are satisfied with the lighter form of the art with little or no secret craving for subtleties are played into good humour at the outset by the overture to Flotow's Stradella, admirably rendered by the orchestra under the musicianly direction of Mr. H. Petersen. The Brothers Ralston, character duettists, secure a fair amount of favour for their "coster" singing. One of the most "palpable hits" made here for some time is the appearance of Hayman and Franklin, described as American Hebrew impersonators. They appear in a little scene or sketch, entitled A Matrimonial Agency. It is very smart. The gentleman and the lady (tall, handsome, and beautifully costumed) keep the ball of fun rolling, and wind up with an exceptionally clever medley of well-known songs admirably sung. The applause that greeted the fall of the curtain was a fitting supplement to the continual laughter with which their sayings and doings had been greeted. Mr. Tom Parker is an eccentric comedian who sustains his claim to that description most effectively. He is full of "go" and irrepressible spirit. His first song, which might be, if it is not, entitled "Contradictions," is only a trifle outdistanced by his second, "Stop as you are!" while his dancing made the audience crave for more. Rastus and Banks, coloured American entertainers, do well as "The Major and the Maid," the gentleman especially distinguishing himself by his nimble dancing and wonderful somersaults. That well-tried and ever-popular favourite, Mr. Harry Champion, is in great form this week, and "obliges" with no fewer than three songs at each performance. Mr. Champion's extraordinary volubility is still the marked feature of his style, but, no matter with what breathless speed he rushes through his songs, he manages to make every word distinctly audible. Of his contributions to the hilarity of his admirers that unfailingly popular ditty, "You've still got your old brown hat on," may be said to hold its place as first favourite, but a new-comer, his latest success, "What a mouth!" makes the race for favour almost a dead-heat. This amusing song goes with a roar. Miss Amy Russell, possessing a soprano voice of considerable power and range, sings high-class songs artistically. Ruffell's Imperial Bioscope, discarding for once the exploits of mischievous boys and mad chases, shows an exquisite panoramic series of views in the far-away North of Scotland county of Ross.

The longer items of the varied programme are two in number. Firstly, we have Fred Ginnett and Co. in the time-honoured Rejected Remounts. The ludicrous exploits of Mr. Ginnett and his clever associates and the admirable training of the "remounts" themselves (four in number), are as full of mirth-provoking qualities as ever they were, and the audiences simply laugh themselves tired over the poor old gentleman's attempts to ride the knowing animals. Mr. Ginnett is assisted in his work by a small company, all of whom act loyally up to their leader. Much was expected from the announcement of the Boisset Troupe in the pantomime, The Dock Strike, and, to judge from the loud and prolonged laughter, together with the unstinted applause, they appear to have conquered Walthamstow without difficulty. Certainly the members of the entire company work with a will and an unflagging amount of energy. Mr. Joseph Grant, since he took over the stage-management here in December, has proved himself to be both capable and painstaking.

"FORESTERS" AT THE CANTERBURY.

The fourth week of Mr. Joe Elvin's stay at the Canterbury is being devoted to the revival of a sketch in which the irrepressible comedian is seen in one of his most whimsical impersonations. Foresters' Day, which is written by Wal Pink and Chas. Barnard, with music by the late Geo. Le Brunn, was produced at the Paragon some few years ago. It is brimful of funny episodes, and its reproduction at the Canterbury is fully justified by the laughter and cheers which come from the crowded auditorium. The hero of the story it may be recalled is Bobby Bunnion, a member of the Ancient Order of Foresters, whose attentions to Emma, a blacksmith's daughter, are rigorously opposed by the father. It is the day of the Society's annual excursion to the Crystal Palace, and the procession, headed by a brass band, storm the smithy in search of Bobby, who is habited in the picturesque regalia of the Order. Bobby insists on taking Emma with him to the Palace, but at the sight of the burly blacksmith he takes refuge in the water-tank which is used for cooling iron. In this retreat Bobby undergoes indescribable tortures every time the smith, who is engaged in forging a horseshoe, plunges the metal, hot from the anvil, into the tank. As soon as possible, Bobby makes for the flue over the forge, and the smith, in order to dislodge the obstruction, applies a quantity of gunpowder, with the result that Bobby is blown high into the air, and returns by way of the chimney to the shop below.

The part of the much-harassed Bobby is one in which Mr. Elvin revels exuberantly. It is quite on the lines of those characters with which for more than a quarter of a century he has convulsed variety lovers all over the kingdom, and brought, as it is, up to date, it possesses in an added degree the power to divert. Whether undergoing the agonies of fire in the water-tank or groping about in the grimy chimney the tireless comedian keeps the fun alive, and the audience lapses at every turn into shrieks of laughter. Mr. Elvin is supported by a number of excellent performers, who work assiduously to maintain the merriment of the piece, a brass band adding appreciably to the excitement. The sketch, which has enjoyed the personal supervision of Mr. Fred Miller, is mounted with every attention to detail, the blacksmith's forge, emitting real sparks of fire and the anvil responding in a similar way to the strokes of the hammer. The chimney, too, is adequately staged, the elevation of Bobby into the air and his subsequent return through the flue being conducted with neatness and despatch. The production, stage-managed by Mr. David Cowis, goes with a regular swing, and results in many recalls for Mr. Elvin.

"AN ACTOR'S ART."

TO THE EDITOR OF THE ERA.

SIR,—I see that Mr. J. L. Shine has produced a protean sketch, entitled An Actor's Art. I wish to mention that I produced a protean sketch at the Empire Theatre, Southend, eighteen months ago, entitled An Actor Chap, for copyright purposes. As I am producing this sketch in the music halls in a few weeks, I wish to notify the above, so that there can be no suggestion of plagiarism.—Yours truly,

W. F. MARLOW.
(Late Manager Empire, Southend.)
Brookside, Southend-on-Sea.—Jan. 14.

MR. EDITOR,—Sir,—In his notice of the Hippo., Stockton, last week, your correspondent omitted to mention my name.—Yours faithfully, GEORGE CASEY, King's Theatre, Longsight, Manchester.

THE SHOWMAN WORLD.

AT Shotton Fair were T. Simons' galloping horses, cinematograph theatre, juvenile horse set, and park swings; T. Hall's Aunt Sally frame, cocoanut sheets, and ring-joints.

AT Barry Dock, South Wales, Mr. John Johnson is performing to packed houses nightly in the Victoria Theatre. Among the attractions is also Dooner's popular bioscope and variety theatre, with a number of up-to-date films.

SUBSCRIPTIONS to Guild funds, 1906:—Mr. G. H. Cornwell, 10s.; Mrs. John Cornwell, 5s.; collected by Messrs. T. Mitchell and Norman Hurst at Bolton football match, £1 13s.

SOME excitement was caused in Islington on Sunday afternoon when some vans arrived with a consignment of new additions to the Mammoth Menagerie now located at the World's Fair, Royal Agricultural Hall. The consignment, which arrived per steamship Narrug, at the Victoria Docks, consisted of a cassowary—an exceptionally fine specimen—another red and blue-faced mandrill—the markings of which are exceptionally brilliant—two fine lions, and a magnificent specimen of a Bengal tiger. The above-named, and the albino wallaby kangaroo (with its young), a large ourang-outang, and the three litters of lion cubs, are great acquisitions to an already grand collection of living natural history subjects, and alone worthy a visit to the World's Fair, with its monster programme, including the great circus, aerial shows, and other attractions.

HIS MAJESTY'S THEATRE, Alexandra Meadow, Penzance (proprietors, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Burnette), has sprung into favour by leaps and bounds, and on the special night set apart for he benefit of the widows and orphans of Chirgwin (coxswain) and Davies, members of the crew of the local lifeboat who lost their lives in Mount's Bay on Dec. 27, this portable and comfortably fitted-up temple o' the drama was crowded in every part. The performance was under the patronage and presence of his worship the Mayor, Mr. A. K. Barnett, and alderman and councillors of the borough.

THE receipts at the doors were taken by a local committee, Mr. and Mrs. Burnette giving everything free for the night, with the result that with no advance on the ordinary prices (ranging from one shilling to threepence) the substantial sum of £13 was added to the Mayor's fund for the sufferers, the total amount now amounting to over £300. Mr., Mrs., and Miss Burnette received a most enthusiastic call from the audience, and were warmly thanked by the Mayor and other prominent townspeople for their spontaneous action in coming forward to the assistance of so worthy a cause.

SHOWMEN AT PLAY.

GRAND FOOTBALL MATCH.
LANCASHIRE v. YORKSHIRE, AT BOLTON.

As announced in our Showman World columns a fortnight ago, Yorkshire and Lancashire met in friendly rivalry on the football field, the good motive being to give a benefit to the Vandwellers' Society funds. The match was played on the Great Lever Football Ground, Bolton, on Tuesday, Jan. 8, and all through the day the utmost enthusiasm was manifested by the friends of the rival teams.

The Yorkshiremen made their headquarters at the Wheatsheaf Hotel, and the home team were located at the Flag Inn Hotel, both well-known houses of call for showmen. Both teams had a big crowd of admirers, and special excursions were run from Yorkshire, so great was the interest in the contest.

Both teams looked fit and smart in their red and white costumes. Ald. Dickinson, chairman of the Bolton Markets Committee, kicked off, and Mr. J. T. Howcroft refereed. Lancashire at once attacked, and their backs kicking well, Yorkshire were penned in, and five minutes from the start a centre from the left was rushed into the Yorkshire net. This was the signal for a great outburst of cheering, and the renewed discharge of firearms, and the visitors had a hairbreadth escape a few minutes later, two of the Lancashire forwards getting in each others' way, and the chance was lost. As one spectator remarked, "They had got clustered together." A clever left-winger repeatedly placed the Yorkshire goal in peril, but a burly janitor made several good saves, and he watched numerous shots sail over the bar with a coolness that would have done credit to an English international. Both sides were cheered by their supporters, and amusing incidents and exciting situations kept the crowd in continual roars of laughter. But Yorkshire were not content to spend all their energies in defending, and when they made their first respectable attack, the ball was forced against the upright. Back again came the home side, and, despite splendid work by the Yorkshire backs, a slow, well-placed shot from the opposing centre-forward found its way into the net, and a real Lancashire cheer went up. Yorkshire were staggered by this second reverse, and before they had recovered their goal was again captured, and visions of gold medals floated before the eyes of the Lancashire players, who led at half-time by 3—0.

Playing uphill and against the breeze did not bother the Lancastrians in the second half, and weak goal-keeping helped them to double their first-half score before Yorkshire obtained their first goal. Both teams scored again in the closing stages, and Lancashire won hands down, their goals being scored by Bell (3), Holden (3), and Horrocks, whilst Ashcroft registered the Yorkshire goals. "Never heed," remarked a disappointed lady showman as she left the field, "anybody can play on their own ground," and then the cornetist played the "Dead March."

FINAL.

Lancashire	7
Yorkshire	2

The winning team was captained by James Fearns, the vice-captain being John Green, jun. The other members were:—Messrs. T. Holden, J. W. Holden, Dudley Dyer, W. Horrocks, W. Howorth, J. Bell, B. Harrington, R. Harrington, and at the goal, H. Cadd.

The Yorkshire team were captained by Wm. Johnson, the vice-captain being T. Morley, with Messrs. H. Morley, H. Bains, H. Johnson, J. Ashcroft, H. Miller, J. Gallagher, J. W. Burgin, A. Johnson, and Dunwell Johnson at the goal.

Both teams were the guests of the Ball Committee at the evening festival. The match created a considerable amount of interest in local football circles, and it is felt that, after so excellent a start, the Showmen's Football Match ought to be an annual event.

Messrs. Thomas Mitchell and Norman Hurst distinguished themselves by a novel and most laughable adventure and interlude at the match. Driving to the field in a grotesquely decorated donkey chaise, displaying the Lancashire colours, they were met with the initial difficulty of finding an entrance to the field. This the indomitable Lancashire lads did by lifting donkey and cart over hedges and fences. Then, with a shout of triumph, on to the field they drove at half-time. This was their golden opportunity. The adventurous young men took up a collection for the Vandwellers' Society funds. The money thus gathered amounted to £1 13s.

BURSLEM WAKES.

THE STRUGGLE TO CONTINUE.

Showmen and all who care for the fair rights of the people will be sorry to know that a majority of the Burslem Town Council still refuses to accept the plainly-expressed will of the people that the wakes should be held in its old location—the Market-square of the town.

We believe that more than one supporter of a ballot being taken was prevented by illness attending the Council and recording his vote. The enemies of the fair took every advantage of the situation, and the friends of a ballot were in a minority of nine to eleven. In pleading for the popular vote being taken, Councillor Finney said that many of the questions raised during the previous discussions could not be submitted to the ratepayers at a ballot, such as the insanitation, intoxication, and immorality attendant upon the wakes. The wakes had existed many years, and there had always been authorities who had the right to deal with offences under those heads. The law existed just as much during the wakes as at any other time. He said that it was not consistent to argue against the continuation of the wakes on the ground of its insanitary conditions and then to advocate its removal to another spot. Besides, those allegations were not proved facts, they were simply founded upon hearsay. If they removed the fair to some other part of the town, the very same things which worked mischief in the centre of the town would continue elsewhere unless they adopted efficient means of seeing that law and order were properly preserved. He had given a promise at a ward meeting to act in favour of the holding of a ballot on this subject, and he was simply fulfilling his promise. Mr. Finney remarked that a good deal was being said at the present time about the position of the House of Lords, and he thought that the position of the Aldermen of the town was not altogether unlike that House; indeed, the aldermanic vote ought not to count as strongly as that of those members of the Council who were directly elected by the ratepayers. He knew he was in a minority on the question, but he did not think they would hear from him again on the subject unless he was provoked.

Mr. J. H. Edwards seconded the proposition. He said that when he was contesting the election he was asked at a number of meetings what his opinion was regarding the wakes. He had said that he should support any proposal that a ballot should be taken. It was not for twelve men of the Town Council to overrule the voices of the ratepayers on that question.

Mr. Brodie opposed the motion. He said that the expenditure of from £150 to £180 for a ballot upon the question would be illegal. Even if there was an overwhelming vote in favour of the wakes, he should not vote for the continuance of the fair in the centre of the town. The governing body of the town had no right to obstruct the public thoroughfares of the town in the way it had done for some years, and if any tradesman were to take the necessary steps to prevent the Corporation doing such a thing he would undoubtedly win. If the wakes was tolerated any longer certain tradesmen were prepared to take such steps, and he for his part should be prepared to support them. When tradesmen had to pay toll in order to keep their shop-fronts clear, as was the case in the Market-place, it became a disgrace. They paid their rates as anyone else, and they had a right to the free passage to their shops. The question was wholly one of administration. The members of the Council were sent there to exercise their best judgment for the government of the town.

Alderman T. Edwards also opposed the proposal. He stated that he had first been in favour of a ballot, but after the way in which the Mayor had been insulted upon his first appearance at a public meeting he had changed his opinions. The times had altered very greatly. He remembered the day when the only time when people could get out for enjoyment was a fourpenny ride to Trentham and a shilling ride to Leek in a canal boat. There had been a great change, and people had far greater opportunities for pleasure and amusement. The great agitators during the present controversy were Collins and Company, and they naturally regarded the proposal from the selfish standpoint. With regard to Mr. Finney's statement as to the value of the votes of the Alderman, Alderman Edwards said the aldermanic position was none of his seeking. He had fought as many contests as most people there, and if they removed him at the end of his term, he should be quite prepared to fight again for a seat on the Council, if he had health and strength. The attitude he now took was largely created because the Mayor had been so greatly insulted when he had appeared in public for the first time, and because he was anxious to protect the dignity of the town.

Mr. Averill observed that the electoral committee that had nominated him consisted of a hundred working men, and there was only one of them who had objected to his attitude on the subject.

Alderman Cartlidge declared that the men who were so noisy at the town's meeting had been bribed, not by money, but in other ways, and an arrangement had previously been arrived at that they were not to allow anyone to speak against the wakes. Such arrangement was most cowardly, and most insulting towards the Mayor, whom everyone respected. Mr. Finney had spoken about the power of the authorities to deal with cases of drunkenness, insanitation, or immorality, but would it not be better for them to prevent such things altogether than to attempt to remedy them? He was informed that if a ballot was taken the showmen would employ every motor-car and every vehicle available to take those voters who were in favour of the wakes to the poll, and they would not care if they spent two or three hundred pounds. He did not suppose those on the side of reform would spend that amount, but if there was a poll in favour of the wakes of 40 to 1 his own opinion would be the same.

Mr. Willett asked whether, in the event of the resolution being passed and a ballot being held, the expenditure would be legal or illegal?

The Town Clerk: Such expenditure would be illegal.

Aderman Bratt said that if the question had not been hurried it would have been settled without friction. He defended Messrs. Collins, Ltd., from the attacks which had been aimed at them, and reminded the Council that that firm had treated them most generously in giving performances in aid of the Hospital Saturday Fund. The town had open spaces of land for which they had paid £6000, and they were going to do nothing with it. If they removed the wakes from the centre of the town there would be far greater danger to health than there was when the fair was held in the town.

Mr. Johnson supported the proposal. He wished it to be understood that he was not in favour of the wakes, and that he would rather support a motion for abolition than removal. He did not think it right that he, as a member of the Council, should dictate to every ratepayer in the town, and he thought that the opponents of the proposal were cloaking their intention to abolish the wakes altogether.

Alderman Wilcox Edge repudiated the suggestion that those who were not in favour of the resolution were trying to secure the abolition of the wakes. The matter was simply one of administration, and the abolition of the wakes was not involved at all. Strongly as he disapproved of the wakes, it would be a wrong thing to attempt to abolish it without having a ballot upon such a proposal, which would be a fit subject for a ballot, but a matter of detail of administration was not a point upon which to have a ballot. They were only proposing to hold the wakes under conditions which would be more sanitary, and more in accordance with public convenience.

The vote was then taken. Those in favour of the proposal were nine, namely: Alderman Bratt, Councillors Broadhurst, Edwards, Finney, Green, Jackson, Johnson, Mitchell, and Sargeant. Against the proposition there were eleven: Aldermen Cartlidge, Edge, T. Edwards, and S. Malkin, Councillors Averill, Brodie, Ford, A. H. Gibson, Porter, Wade, and Willett.

The Mayor accordingly declared the motion lost.

The point of present interest to showmen is that the members of the narrow majority that rules the Borough Council on the wakes question have refused the opportunity a ballot would have given to get in line with public opinion. That only marks another step in the fight for popular control. If not before, most certainly at the next election the electors will want to know why men who gave their word for a ballot have gone back on that word.

We are amazed at the credulity of public men. For an Alderman to assert that it was an agitation entirely carried on by Mr. P. Collins, and that it was manifestly done for selfish ends and purposes is indeed amazing. That Mr. P. Collins either originated or carried out the public appeal of the showmen in defence of the wakes is utterly outside the governing facts of the case. That Mr. Collins is a vice-president of the Showmen's Guild is true; that it was that society that ventilated question and that society that defended the maligned showpeople and truly voiced popular feeling is indeed the fact. But why? First and only because he Guild is the Society and the representative organ of showmen in all parts of the country. What was done at Burslem has been done at a dozen or more other places. Narrow-minded fanatics throughout the country have got to deal with the Showmen's Guild. It only exists to defeat injustice, and to help the show-loving public to defend their fair rights and privileges.

The question still remains as vital as ever: Will the people be overruled by the representatives who on this question do not represent the people, but only represent their own fads and fancies? Will the people take the punishment of their would-be officers "on the knee," or will they assert their sovereign will and oust the autocrats of the Council Chamber?

Of the final issue of a struggle between the people and their overlords we have no doubt.

There is a ballot that the autocrats must take—the final arbitrament of the ballot-box at election time.

THE SHOWMEN'S ANNUAL FESTIVAL AT BOLTON FAIR.

The end of the New Year Fair, at Bolton, Lancashire, was again marked by a grand ball, preceded by a supper, for show people and their many friends. The interesting celebration took place in the handsome ballroom of the Empress Hall, Mealhouse-lane. There was a big company present—between 300 and 400—representing members of the United Kingdom Van Dwellers' Association, of which Lord George Sanger is president, and to which the profits derivable from the ball are devoted. They came from all parts of the country, including London, Scotland, Brighton, Liverpool, Manchester, Leeds, Sheffield, &c., and among the local visitors were Ald. S. Dickinson (chairman of the Markets Committee), Councillors J. Greenwood (vice-chairman), Webster, and Warburton, with Mr. R. Pike (markets superintendent), upon whom as secretary devolved the arrangement of the gathering, as on previous occasions, this being the fifth annual event of the kind.

The principal show people included Mr. and Mrs. Kemp and party, Mr. and Mrs. Whiting and party, Mr. and Mrs. John Green and party, Mr. and Mrs. Keyes and party, Mrs. Jewell and party, Mr. Hurst and party, Mr. and Mrs. B. Mitchell and party, Mr. and Mrs. Holmes and party, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Mitchell, jun., and party, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Williams and party, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hammersley and party, Mr. George Green, Mr. Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. Cornwell and party, Mrs. Bowser, Mr. E. Geoghegan, Mr. H. J. Wallis, Mr. J. H. Geoghegan, Mr. B. Harrington, Mr. H. Morley, Mr. James Fearns, Mr. D. Johnson, Mr. D. Dyer, and many others. Amongst the invited guests were Mr. Fred Bibby, representing J. Bibby and Co., and Mr. Denby, representing Messrs. Stagg and Robson.

Excellent music was supplied by Mr. S. Dickinson's band, and Mr. W. Pike was an efficient M.C., whilst the catering for dinner was by Mr. Talbot, Deansgate.

During the evening the Chairman of the Committee (Alderman Dickinson) took the opportunity to wish all the company a very happy and prosperous New Year, and trusted that that night's gathering would cement the various members of the Association more closely together in friendship, and be a help to their Association. He also distributed later in the evening the medals in connection with the football match, played that afternoon on the Pawnbrokers' Ground, between the Lancashire and the Yorkshire showmen, and won by the former by seven goals to two.

Mr. F. Bibby suitably responded, and heartily thanked Alderman Dickinson for his kindly remarks. He said that if there were more men of the same kindly heart and calibre as Mr. Dickinson the show people would be better known and better respected throughout the kingdom. (Hear, hear.) Showmen, he said, had the same heart beating beneath their waistcoats as had the highest in the land. (Applause.) If some of their critics could see the extent and the respectability of the gathering that night—at which were present some of England's greatest show people—they would not have spoken in the terms they sometimes did. (Applause.)

Mr. Pike was subsequently called upon to say a few words, and he referred with gratification to the increasing popularity of that annual function. On behalf of the working committee he (as secretary) tendered thanks to the members of the Association for supporting the gathering so loyally.

The festivities were kept up with great gusto until the morning.

MR. C. F. BOSTOCK, who was a scholar at King Edward VI. School, Norwich, during recent years, has just returned to Norwich after a lengthened tour in South Africa, New Zealand, and Australia. He left the school to take charge of his father's menagerie. He has been most successful, and brings back a rare collection of birds and animals, which will be added to the show now at Glasgow.

WORLD'S FAIR.

BIG PROGRAMME AT AGRICULTURAL HALL.

"Something for everybody" might not be an inappropriate motto for the monster display at the Agricultural Hall, for it can be said at once that the whole gamut of human tastes in the way of entertainments is catered for. In fact, the task of dealing with the huge aggregation of people, animals, and things seems to be of such magnitude that the writer is faced with the difficulty of scarcely knowing where to begin, much less where to end. However, he judges that the Circus claims, or should claim, most attention, and he will start off by saying a little about it.

THE CIRCUS.

Sixpence is the price of admission to the World's Fair, and it will cost you no more to witness the performances in the circus, although if you wish to sit down and smoke your pipe in comfort a few coppers will secure the accommodation of a chair. This grand circus, it should be mentioned, is presided over by Sir R. Fossett, a knight (not, we believe, a baronet) of the road. There is, it should be also mentioned, a change of programme every week. In a list of thirty-two items, we can scarcely be expected to give to each more than a commendatory reference, much as we should like to be able to afford the space to deal fully with this multitude of admirable entertainers. The Ernest Trio, two ladies and one gentleman, who hail from the Continent, and whose first appearance, we learn, it is in England, offer an attractive turn in the direction of double and triple reprise on one horse. Mr. and Miss Ernest present what is called a carrying act on two horses, and Miss Iona is seen in a daring and graceful equestrian act. Then there are Mlle. Montero, in her clever haute de cole performance; and Mlle. Convere, who treats the audience to a similar act, has a horse named Kentucky Beau, who engages in a cake walk. The Wulfrunas Troupe, seven lady and gentlemen acrobats, submit a capital comedy trifle, Fun in a Café, in which their marvellous body manipulating, twisting, pirouetting, and somersaulting create a feeling of wonder and surprise. Mr. Robert Fossett, jun., who is styled the champion jockey act rider of the world, gives an interesting performance on a beautiful piebald steed; and Mr. Robert Fossett introduces his magnificent trained horse, Pasha. Excitement is furnished by a coloured trainer putting several lions through some exercises; and others who assist in the entertainment are Mlle. Crockett, with her trained horse, Baby; Miss Dinnette, equestrienne, with her horse, Rajah, just returned from Bombay; Berts Trio, in their comedy horizontal bar acts; Mlle. Chloe, in her realistic revolving living statuary poses; the Leonard Trio, herculean acrobats and equilibrists; Queenie Lo Lo, gymnast and teeth suspension specialist, assisted by Little Ena; the Two Pillings, contortionists; Les Freres Baptiste, the two chefs, in their juggling act; Alfredo, in his original hoop rolling, tumbling, and bending acts; the Lloyds Trio, in their double cable funambulistic acts; Phinas and Ada, hand balancers and revolving pyramid equilibrists; Zampa and Clown, variety somersault specialists; the Itrams, in their acrobatic, gymnastic, juggling, and equilibristic acts; Funny Jacko, with his parody horse, Oxo; Mlle. Alice, in her graceful performance on the rolling globe; Mlle. Fontainbleau, with her handsome troupe of highly-trained dogs; Albeno and Alice, novelty gymnasts, in a sensational display on the revolving breakaway ladder; the Cleos, in their great swinging perch act; the Adias, as unique novelty Spanish ring gymnasts; Miss M. Fossett, the charming equestrienne; and the circus clowns and eccentric funmakers.

MID-AIR MARVELS.

In addition to the above, there are two performances worthy of special mention, namely, those of Caicedo and Siegrist and Silbon. Caicedo is known as the King of the Wire, a title, it appears, conferred on him by the King, who witnessed his remarkable doings at Ronacher's Theatre, Vienna. This is Caicedo's first engagement at the World's Fair, and he is to be seen twice daily, and will remain at the Agricultural Hall until Feb. 9. His evolutions on the high wire are exceedingly daring, and, at the same time, graceful, and one feels compelled to hold one's breath while he walks in the air in his intrepid manner. Siegrist and Silbon, the Imperial troupe of nine Viennese aerialists, also offer something of the sensational order. Their feats on the trapeze are characterised by great skill and wonderful precision, which make them less hazardous than they would otherwise be.

BOSTOCK AND WOMBWELL'S MENAGERIE.

It is quite an education in natural history to study this extremely interesting collection of birds and beasts. Mr. Harold Birkett is the manager of this department, and he was good enough to conduct us round Messrs. Bostock and Wombwell's miniature Zoo. There are no less than twenty-four lions and lionesses. One lioness, Countess, gave birth to five babies on Christmas Eve, and in an adjoining cage are four other cubs five weeks old, while alongside these are three baby lions just being weaned. Mr. Birkett is very proud in the possession of two blue-faced monkeys, who came from Central Africa, and a white wallaby, who, with her young, arrived by the ss. Narrung on Sunday last. These animals, especially the monkeys, of whom there is only one specimen in Regent's Park, are attracting considerable attention. A sacred bull from Burma is another object of great interest. Elephants, camels, a dromedary, Polar bears, llamas (or Peruvian giraffes), spotted hyænas, tigers, leopards, antelopes, orang-outang, jackals, porcupines, ostriches, a wild bear from Windsor Park, presented by the King, a variety of cockatoos, parrots, macaws, and other birds, zebras, jaguars, bears, and other animals are to be found in this instructive exhibition.

THE SIDE SHOWS.

At the side shows and stalls on the ground floor, gallery, and arcade, the visitor will have an opportunity of making himself acquainted with Miss Annetta Kirk and Professor Saraski's novel swimming performances; W. Taylor's and Chittock's cinematograph exhibitions; the Dahomey Troupe of Amazon Women Warriors; Professor Claude Low's unique scenic photography; Hastings' marvellous human wonder and lilliputian midgets; Bayley's circular switchback, Venetian gondoliers, and galloping horses; A. Twigden's American bioscope; Electric Target Co.'s rifle range; the haunted swing; the great revolving wheel, carrying passengers from floor to roof; the Channel Tunnel Miniature Railway from Dover to Calais; M. Bailey's handsome cosmorama; Taylor's electric coliseum; Slatter's circular motor-car track; autocosmoscopes, fishponds, weighing chairs; Le Neves, in feats of strength; distorting mirrors; electric fish pond; Father Christmas by balloon; Frank Turner's up-to-date exhibition of automatic novelties; also varieties of all kinds of games, amusements, &c. Then there are swings, Aunt Sallies, cock shies, and a host of similar attractions. Mr. T. E. Read has certainly organised this season's World's Fair with an eye to comprehensive details, and in the work he has been ably assisted by Mr. Fowler, the secretary.

OLYMPIA.

MAMMOTH FUN CITY.

It is very difficult to realise the gigantic scale upon which amusements are now provided for the London public, or, perhaps, rather for that large and annually growing body of country visitors who seek the Metropolis to spend a holiday. And nowadays the visitors to London are very largely composed of inhabitants of the great cities of the Midlands or the North, for whom the railway companies are constantly providing facilities in the way of cheap fares and special trains. One would expect that the dweller in one of the smoke-begrimed cities of the North would prefer to spend even a winter holiday in the country. Not a bit of it. Year by year he grows fonder of echoing the Powder Monkey's chorus, "Soon we'll be in London Town!" And, verily, in the huge covered arena at Olympia he will find such a plethora of various kinds of entertainments as will satisfy even his almost insatiable craving for the marvellous.

THE CIRCUS.

The proprietors are the International Fairs Company, the managing-director of which is Mr. Chas. B. Cochrane, while the acting-manager at Olympia is Mr. Wallace Jones. It is difficult to say which of the various shows, which the whole world seems to have been ransacked to furnish forth, proves the most attractive, but, to make a start with that perennial source of delight, alike to children and to their elders, the circus, we have the Cirque Metropole from Paris, under the directorship of M. Irlicht, whose wife, Mme. Irlicht, gives a graceful equestrian display. Of course, even in our childhood we were taught that the horse was an animal of high intelligence, but Mlle. Lafargue fairly astonishes us by the degree of education her two horses seem to have attained. The Chevalier Valli de Lacheski, who is also ring-master, treats us to several splendid exhibitions of horsemanship and also of the training of various animals alike of the equine and the canine species. A perfectly novel turn is the electrically-illuminated sulky, gracefully handled by Mme. Irlicht. Mlle. Gabrielle Ivanovitch causes the audience literally to hold their breath by her daring display, entitled "The Jump of Death," in which she introduces her trained horse, Pegar II. My Lord, my Lady, and the Groom is a novelty as far as circus-goers in this country are concerned, and in it the Prosperpi Family exhibit a wonderful amount of intrepidity coupled with that accuracy which can only be acquired by long practice. Signor Manno Aniceto gives us a jockey act which makes us think that he might well have steered some favourite past the winning-post at Epsom or at headquarters. In Mlle. Mimi St. Ange we have an accomplished exponent of the art of graceful horsewomanship; while Mlle. Durand shows us how the capabilities of scientific illumination can be utilised along with a highly-trained white horse in representing various classic statuary. Les Plattiers, musical eccentrics; Bimbo, a comical stilt-walker; and a perfect army of clowns fill up every minute of a long programme.

AERIAL ARTISTS.

We have seen a good many trapezists at various places of entertainment, but certainly Les Alex, a band of performers, five in number, far surpass anything hitherto submitted to the London public. Indeed, it is only in such an immense hall as that at Olympia that their performance could take place. It is perfectly marvellous to watch the precision with which they fly across the arena, and one cannot help being thankful for the presence of the protecting net beneath, when one remembers that the miscalculation of a fraction of an inch or of a second of time would mean inevitable disaster.

Mr. W. H. Hill has well earned his sobriquet of "Fear-Nothing," for surely the feats he performs on the high wire indicate an absolutely iron nerve and a total ignorance of that mental feeling which ordinary humanity knows as fear. One of his most popular acts is the making of his bed on the wire, after which he covers himself with the bed-clothes, and so apparently goes to rest without even the assistance of the usual balancing pole. He concludes an altogether marvellous performance by sliding from the roof to the floor suspended from the wire by his feet.

RICHARDSON'S SHOW.

Mr. Fred Karno has revived the glories of Richardson's Show, that Old Time entertainment which vanished with Bartholomew Fair, and to assist him in doing so has brought from his quiet retreat in the Charterhouse, Mr. J. A. Cave, who is probably the only survivor of the old show when it was under the management of Johnson and Lee, Richardson dying in 1836. Tradition connects the names of various famous actors with this venerable entertainment, the greatest among them being that of Kean, whose parents undoubtedly were in Richardson's employment. Mr. J. M. Jones acts as manager for Mr. Karno, and among the plays submitted are Faust, Robert Macaire, The Miller and His Men, Alonzo the Brave, Susan Hopley, Maria Martin, and The Forest of Bondy, while the performance concludes with an old-fashioned harlequinade, entitled Harlequin's Statue; or, The Bogie and The Fairy. The company Mr. Karno has gathered around him is a very capable one, including, as it does, Mesdames Dot Robins, Marian Holmes, Ange Waller, Maud Tribe, Maud Lloyd, and Messrs. Fred Newham, Watty Lewis, Charles Danville, D. Robins, G. Romalli, Harry Paulo, B. Burnett, F. Le Lanc, and Jonny Jonson. Mr. George Davis's band provides the musical portion of the show.

MENAGERIE.

In Mr. William Sedgwick's menagerie we have one of the most interesting and varied collections of animals to be met with, and it is apparently a source of great interest to the visitors. The show is particularly strong in its lion department. Captain Alphonso goes through an exciting performance with a seemingly particularly evil-tempered Nubian lioness, and Zarmah gives a clever entertainment in which four lions are assisted by two large boarhounds. Perhaps the most interesting exhibit of all is a sacred bull brought from Benares. As most people are aware, the bull is an object of veneration among the Hindus. Specially interesting are the four lion cubs born in the menagerie last August, and two baby elephants only a few months old.

SIDE SHOWS.

Of these the name is legion, and it is only possible to visit a few. The ostrich farm gives us an interesting lesson in the life history of the bird whose feathers are so prominent a feature on Hampstead Heath on Bank Holidays. The helter-skelter lighthouse, P. Collins's twin yachts, the whirling switch cars, miniature motors, and roundabouts provide that form of exciting amusement which depends on rapid motion of an unusual kind lasting for a few thrilling seconds. Cocoanut shies, Aunt Sallies, rifle ranges, cinematographs, mirror marvels, and other optical illusions and like entertainments are also included. A special word should be given to Miss Minni Letta, who, with her company of trained pedestrians, gives a novel performance on the rolling stage. Miss Letta's highly-trained whippet racing with his mistress on this movable platform is a sight well worth seeing. Others among the side shows are the extraordinary Moki Indians, snake eaters and snake dancers; Hale's Tours of the World, which are both attractive and instructive; Leon Gould's Hall of Mystery; the White Negress and family; Louis Lesot's Parisian salon from the Fête de Neuilly; Sidi Ben Mahomed's Turkish seraglio; Herr Bianco's Salon des Illusions; Oliver Holt's freaks and curiosities; T. Knighton's stereorama; S. Mayne's American high-flyers; Le Neve and Sullivan's athletic saloon; White's Indian menagerie, and New York's Windy Corner.

THE BAND.

No notice of this show would be complete without mentioning the excellent military band, organised and conducted by Lieut. Forrest, sometime bandmaster of the 85th King's Light Infantry. Most of the instrumentalists have been trained in the Army, and the performances given at frequent intervals throughout the day afford general pleasure to the large crowds now visiting the exhibition.

THE TERRISS.

By way of a complete change, this week we have a visit from the famous bloodless surgeon, Dr. Walford Bodie, and, needless to say, thousands are flocking to witness the doctor's marvellous treatment of the paralysed. On the occasion of our visit three Rotherhithe cases were successfully dealt with. They were a young girl, aged twenty-one, who had not been able to walk for twenty-one years, a lady whose left side and leg were paralysed, and a child with a crippled leg. Dr. Bodie's success was warmly cheered. The lighter side of the programme proved very diverting, the efforts of various persons to sit in the electric chair causing much laughter. Electric shocks were also administered to various members of the audience with amusing results, while the doctor himself also performed some marvellous feats with the aid of the current. Dr. Bodie is supported on this occasion by his own company, which includes little Dolly Robson, a very clever child singer and dancer (who, by the way, is one of the doctor's cures); the beautiful Magna, in her artistic poses plastiques; Robin, the Irish cyclist; Tom Norman Mills, the Australian actor-vocalist; Bella Skene; and Nellie Langtry, a tuneful ballad vocalist. Mr. Charles Freeman, Miss Florence Tench and company also appeared to advantage in the society sketch Moths.

THE MARIE WALFORD MEMORIAL,

Which has just been erected in the Macduff churchyard by Dr. Walford Bodie in memory of Miss Marie Walford (Mystic Marie), who was known as "the real Trilby" and the first in this country to introduce mental telepathy. The monument stands on a hill above the family vault, and faces the Moray Firth, standing out boldly against the town of Macduff. Dr. Bodie's country seat, the Manor House, is seen in the distance.

The inscription, which is deeply cut in gilded letters, reads as follows:—

Erected by
S. M. WALFORD BODIE,
M.D., C.M. (U.S.A.), F.R.M.S., F.R.S.A. (Lond.), in loving and affectionate memory of
MARY WALFORD HENRY
(Mystic Marie),
for six years his gifted Musical Directress and Assistant, who died at
The Manor House, Macduff,
19th July, 1906. Aged 21 years.

A ministering angel she has been—
Appeared with me in many a scene.
She was so humble 'midst it all,
And now has answered her last call.
Such talents as to you were sent
Filled all the world with wonderment
As, spellbound, they would speak your praise,
And marvel at your "mystic" ways.
And now your soul is called above
To mansions of eternal love
Why should we sorrow? You were good—
A type of perfect womanhood.

W. B.

A CANONBURY dressmaker, named Mrs. Phillips, on Tuesday, in the Divisional Court, sought leave to appeal from his Honour Judge Smyly (sitting at Bow County Court), who had nonsuited her in an action which she had brought against Mr. John Paterson, known to the public as "Professor Duncan," proprietor of a troupe of performing animals, in respect of a dog bite. Their lordships upheld the ruling of the County Court Judge, and declined to give leave to appeal.

MR. BOB HANLON'S health has been giving both him and his friends some anxiety, and, therefore, it is good news to hear that he is sufficiently convalescent to accompany his sons to Southampton to see them off to the Cape, under engagement to Messrs. Hyman.

THE COMIC SONG FAMINE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE ERA.

SIR,—In your last issue you say "good comic songs are as scarce as black pearls." And it would be interesting to inquire into the reason of this undoubted fact. Is it because comedians have good new numbers up their sleeves and are too indolent to learn them? Again and again is the remark heard in the halls: "What! that old song again?" when a star turn appears and renders the same effusion he has worked on that same stage at his two previous engagements. One wonders what would occur if the fiat went forth from headquarters: "All stale songs to be replaced by new numbers and changed frequently."

Or have the authors found a more lucrative line of writing? A perusal of the song-writer's advertisements in your columns reveals the fact that such is possibly the right explanation—"free" songs and pretty ballads which either sex can buy to play or sing at home appear to be the staple, though the same writers have in former years been identified with the finest comic songs of the time.

Maybe artists or writers would care to give their views in elucidation of this very noticeable scarcity through the medium of your columns.—I am, Sir, yours truly,

A LOVER OF VARIETY.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE ERA.

SIR,—The scarcity of comic songs is not to be wondered at when we consider the very scanty encouragement meted out to authors of lyrics, and composers. The labourer is worthy of his hire, and any author for the halls who is worth his salt should have something more to depend upon for his bread and butter than the mere chance value put upon his efforts by a comic singer.

Writers of comic songs should certainly bestir themselves to secure what we may call a performing right. We will say a new number is sent to a well-known star by an equally well-known writer. Would it not be a fair arrangement for everybody if the writer stipulated so much cash down, and a small royalty every time the song is sung. We have known numbers that have doubled the salaries and engagements of the lucky possessors, who have given a paltry two guineas for the singing rights.

The song-writer should be in the same position as the play-writer, and until he is he will not be able to give to his inspirations the polish and thought required. I was talking the other day to a prominent sketch producer, who told me he had paid away in one year six hundred pounds in fees to authors.

Should a song, when produced, not take with the public, then, a merely nominal fee might be accepted by the writer, providing that he is paid for his successes, by the method we have sketched out above. Trusting that you will consider these remarks worthy of insertion in your valuable paper.—Yours faithfully, A BRAINWORKER.

COPYRIGHT CONVICTION.

Clifford Jones, 29, a canvasser, of Ruby-road, Walthamstow, was charged at Stratford on Monday with having in his possession nineteen copies of pirated music for the purpose of selling.

As a consequence of complaints made by the Music Publishers' Association, on Saturday night Police-constable Goodchild kept observation on the prisoner, who had a stall in High-street, Walthamstow. A number of people were standing around the prisoner, who had a book in his hand, and was apparently taking orders. The following morning the constable went to Ruby-road, and saw the prisoner leave his house, carrying a parcel under his arm. The constable followed him to Hoe-street, Walthamstow, where he stopped prisoner and asked him what he had in the package. Jones said, "It's only paper," but when it was opened it was found to contain nineteen copies of pirated music. At the police-station a slip of paper was found in his possession, bearing several names and addresses.

Prisoner pleaded that the copies were not for sale, but for his own purpose.

There was a previous conviction against him for selling pirated music, and he was ordered to pay a fine of £5 and costs, or one month's imprisonment.

The copies were ordered to be destroyed.

THE wife of Mr. Johnny O'Rourke, of Poole's Myriorama, gave birth to a daughter on the 6th inst. at Sheffield. We are pleased to learn that both mother and daugher are doing well.

THEATRES WANTED.

HENRY E. LEIGH'S COMPANY, including
Mr. JAMES DANVERS
and
Miss JOSEPHINE ELLIS, in the Musical Farcical Comedy,
"THE 'VARSITY BELLE."

Produced and Rehearsed by
Mr. HERBERT DARNLEY.

Played on Saturday last at O. H., Burton-on-Trent, to a house packed in all parts.

"The 'Varsity Belle" is destined to have a long and successful run. It has on every occasion it has been presented during recent years had a cordial reception, and the opening performance at the Opera House last night was received with enthusiasm such as is rarely seen in that place of entertainment. The reason is not far to seek, for there are at the present time few better constructed, and probably no merrier pieces on the stage—not even excepting "Charley's Aunt." The absurdities of the farce were admirably brought out by Mr. Henry E. Leigh's talented company, and for some two and a half hours the theatre resigned itself to boisterous mirth.—Burton Mail, Jan. 8.
Splendid scenery, beautiful dresses, dainty music.

WANTED, Good Theatres, March 4, 11, and Easter Week.
Only Vacant Dates this Tour.

THE ERA ANNUAL, 1906.
"The Era" Annual, 1906, is welcome as containtag carefully compiled lists of the pieces produced during the past year in London, the suburbs, and the provinces, in Paris, and in Berlin. The rest of it is curious and entertaining reading. There is the almanack with its "memorabilia of theatrical events occurrences, &c." There are besides a score of stories and other articles contributed by theatricals a very good one being Miss Louie Freear's set of verses, "'Boy Bob' at Sea," which has humour, feeling, and swing. The book contains many theatrical portraits. As a book of reference the Annual is of great use and value, and while some of its contents doubtless appeal more keenly to the professional than to the outsider, any thoughtful person may derive from its study much amusement and no little insight into the conditions, the magnitude, and the complexity of the English theatre of to-day.—Morning Post, Jan. 22.

THE ERA ANNUAL, 1906.
"The Era" Almanack and Annual ("Era" Office, 1s.), a copy of which lies before me, is an invaluable publication for those who wish to have stage records by them. It contains a dramatic and musical calendar, lists of new plays and important revivals produced at the London and suburban theatres during 1905, and also of plays produced in the provinces. Further, we have lists of the new plays and revivals produced at the principal Paris and Berlin theatres. "The Era" Almanack has been regularly issued since 1868, when is was compiled by Edward Laman Blanchard, a comedian whose fascinating life was recorded by Clement Scott. The Almanack closes with an illustrated list of those members of the profession who died during the course of last year, headed, naturally, by Henry Irving. Amongst the other names are those of William Rignold, Frank Celli, Ada Neilson, and Minnie Mario. There is an added pathos in the deaths of those who were so long bodily before the public, and the ringing down of the last curtain seems to have added significance.—T. P.'s Weekly, Jan. 26.

THE ERA ANNUAL, 1906.
"The Era" Annual for 1906, published at a shilling from 5, Tavistock-street, Strand, combines utility and entertainment. Its former aspect is exemplified by the record of the plays produced last year in London, the provinces, Paris, and Berlin; it also includes an obituary for the year, and lists of the United Kingdom's theatres and music halls. The attractive side of the Annual comprises numerous stories by stage celebrities, whose portraits illustrate the text. It is a delightful budget of good things. Mr. T. P. O'Connor's appreciation of the late Sir Henry Irving is brief, but tender and impressive.—Financier, Jan. 23, '06.

RE APPLICATIONS FOR ENGAGEMENTS

All applications by either Artists or their Agents must be made to the Head Office.

Lowest terms must be stated, and distinction made between salaries required for larger and smaller towns.

Vacant dates should be stated. If a list of existing bookings be sent, it will render selection easier.

Artists employing Agents should accredit one only at one time, as the friction arising when several Agents are employed at the same time, all expecting the one booking to go through each of them, often renders it expedient to avoid that booking altogether rather than give undeserved offence to several Agents.

New Acts seeking Engagements, or turns not rebooked (possibly because they have played a series of dates without introducing new business), will facilitate matters by having their acts seen by our District Managers. Their Districts and Postal Addresses are as follows:—

MANCHESTER, LIVERPOOL, AND DISTRICT.
MR. ALAN W. YOUNG,
Empire Theatre, Liverpool.

EDINBURGH, GLASGOW, NEWCASTLE, AND DISTRICT.
MR. S. GETHING,
Empire Theatre, Glasgow

LEEDS, SHEFFIELD, HULL, BRADFORD, AND DISTRICT.
MR. T. GERALD MORTON,

MR. HATTON WHARTON,
Empire Theatre, Nottingham.

SOUTH WALES DISTRICT.
MR. W. LEA,
Empire Theatre, Cardiff.

LONDON DISTRICT,
MR. WILLIAM COLLINS,
The Empire, Shepherd's Bush, W.

N.B.—Mr. OSWALD STOLL or Mr. FRANK ALLEN can be seen by appointment on all matters arising out of the above, and for the discussion of entirely new Numbers.

All Artists or Agents who communicate with our District Representatives must have made definite applications, in accordance with above directions, to the Head Office, at the same time, or just previously

FALSE COINERS.

Code Word, BUTTE.

This is a grand film. Briefly: The gentlemen coiners—The reward offered by the police—The cool detective—The pursuit—The hidden chamber containing the plant—Final capture of principal coiner, who commits suicide. Moving action and perfect quality as usual.

478ft. The Subject £7 19s. 4d.

THE CHARMER.

Code Word, BURSAL.

The wonderful magician turns the silkworm into a cocoon, and from out its silky depths produces beautiful human butterflies. Lovely colouring.

297ft. The Subject £4 19s.

Colouring extra, £3 1s.

"SPOT" AT THE TELEPHONE.

Code Word, CABOCHE.

A unique film, illustrating the keen sagacity of "Spot," a terrier. His master loses him at a telephone office, so rings him up and tells him where he is. The dog understands and runs to the place.

165ft. The Subject £2 15s.

CONSTRUCTING A FISHING BOAT.

Code Word, CABOTIN.

This is an exquisite picture showing the building of a fishing boat from start to finish. Cutting the wood—Bending it—Putting in the vital parts—The launch, and, finally, sailing down the river to the sea.

428ft. The Subject £7 2s. 8d.

THE YAWNER.

Code Word, CABOSSER.

This is ridiculously funny. A poor man has a tendency to yawn on every occasion, and being very infectious, every one who meets him catches the complaint. Very droll.

280ft. The Subject £4 13s. 4d.

THE BOTTLE INDUSTRY.

Code Word, CABALLERO.

Yet another grand educational film. The whole process of making bottles clearly shown. Collecting the ingredients—The furnaces—The blow-pipe—Sorting the finished article—Packing and dispatchinging crates.

330ft. The Subject £5 10s.

THE FAN INDUSTRY IN JAPAN.

Code Word, CABANON.

One of the finest films that has come from the East. The whole process and art of fan making. Showing cutting the wood, crimping the paper, binding, and hand painting. Very interesting.

396ft. The Subject £6 12s.

CRIME ON THE RAILWAY.

Code Word, CIPAYE.

One of the most dramatic films ever shown. A guard is egged on to drink by two rogues. In this state he boards his train. The rogues sneak into his carriage while the train is in motion, attack him, steal the mail bags, and escape. The guard is reproved and dismissed the Company. In revenge he kills a signalman, gives a favourable signal to the on-coming express. An awful disaster ensues. Very exciting and dramatic.

528ft. The Subject £8 16s.

POLICEMEN'S RUN.

Code Word, CABANE.

This is quite a novelty in pictures. A powerful bull dog steals a leg of mutton. Pursued by one policeman, he number is increased to several in a very short time. Through streets, over roofs they go. Finally the tables are turned and the dog pursues the police to their station. Intensely funny.

379ft. The Subject £6 6s. 4d.

CUSTOMS AND SMUGGLERS.

Code Word, CARLIN.

The attempted landing of contraband. The fight on the rocks. The cut rope. The tragedy at the bottom of the cliff. These are just a few of the scenes in this dramatic film.

230ft. The Subject £3 16s. 8d.

BOBBY AND HIS BALLOON.

Code Word, CABARET.

A very amusing picture. Bobby is left at home to read. Soon tires, makes a balloon out of a pillow case, basket, and fishing net. Sails away, finally landing on a church steeple, pursued by his agonised mother on a motor car.

412ft. The Subject £6 17s. 4d.

Colouring, 10s. extra.

THE LITTLE BLIND GIRL.

Code Word, BUGGY.

Story of a little blind girl. She gets lost, and is found by a wicked old woman, who treats her very badly. In desperation she runs away, but unfortunately she falls into a well. A search party is sent out. She is finally rescued by a policeman. Very pathetic.

445ft. The Subject £7 8s. 4d.

Tinting extra, 5s. 6d.

EXCURSION TO NIAGARA.

Code Word, BUTER.

Magnificent views of a steamer on the Ontario Lake. The Rapids shown. The river before the fall and after the fall, and Goat Island. The most perfect film of Niagara Falls ever produced.

610ft. The Subject £10 3s. 4d.

Tinting extra, £1 1s.

THE BURGLARS AT THE BALL.

In an old country mansion, where a fancy dress ball is being held, two men burglariously enter. Gaining admission, they promptly start to change their clothes, but being disturbed by a policeman, who glances in at the window, they crouch up in a corner until he departs. Their efforts to find suitable disguise to masquerade in, is extremely comical, and it is some little time before they find suitable raiment. Finally one puts on female attire, the other makes up as his gushing spouse. Making their way round to the different rooms, they soon pile up a heap of spoil, which they make up into a bundle, and conceal in a place handy to get at when leaving.

The dancers receive the two new arrivals with acclamation, and they are both claimed by new partners. The dancers now go full steam ahead, waltzing and even cake-walking for all they are worth. They are, however, soon disturbed by a burly policeman, who glances around for well-known faces. The two confederates, looking very sheepish, are collared by the constable, who smiles sweetly upon them as he removes their wigs. Seizing hold of them both the officer marches them off, all the other dancers crowding round the door in amazement.

THE MASTER'S TEA SERVICE.

The laughable misadventures of a maid with a tea-set presented by her master to his wife. Curiosity causes the first mishap, and the service is broken. The maid ventures forth to replace the china, and, after many comical vicissitudes by the way, in a dishevelled state, she returns with a second service—also broken. Her master, exasperated, flings both maid and china out of the window, and the servant is discovered, weeping, but herself uninjured, among the débris in the back garden.

A MIRTH-PROVOKING SUBJECT OF EXCELLENT PHOTOGRAPHIC QUALITY.

No. 3158. Price £4 11s. 8d. Four Pence (4d.) per Foot nett. Length 265ft.

PUCK'S PRANKS ON A SUBURBANITE.

Rollicking fun and magic beauty from first to last. Puck's Pranks divert with uproarious laughter, as well as mystify by the marvellous appearances, disappearances, and transformations for which he is responsible. Wonderful and magical floral growths are introduced, by which means the dreary suburban garden takes tropic life, and becomes a bosky dell of dream beauty.

THE ERA ANNUAL, 1907.
"The Era" Annual deservedly ranks high as a record of the passing theatrical show. The new issue, in a comprehensive survey of the drama, mentions in proper order all the productions and revivals of the year, both at home and abroad and gives a list of the theatres and music halls of the United Kingdom, with the names of their respective managers. The lighter side of the publication, to which many well-known managers and performers contribute, is of exceptionally high literary merit.—Morning Leader, Jan. 21, '07.

THE ORIGINAL SIR FRETFUL.

William Parsons, the comedian, was born in 1736, and died at the age of fifty-nine. As a comic actor he became a great favourite with the playgoers of his day, but according to the author of the "Life of Sheridan," he never appeared to greater advantage than he did in The Critic. Parsons was the original Sir Fretful Plagiary when Sheridan's piece was produced at Drury Lane Theatre on Oct. 29, 1779, with King as Puff, Dodd as Dangle, Palmer as Sneer, Mrs. Hopkins as Mrs. Dangle, and—in the "tragedy"—Moody as Lord Burleigh, Wrighten as the Governor of Tilbury Fort, Farren as Earl of Leicester, Burton as Sir Walter Raleigh, Waldron as Sir Christopher Hatton, Kenny as Master of the Horse, Wright as the Beefeater, Bannister, jun., as Whiskerandos, Miss Pope as Tilburina, and Mrs. Bradshaw as the Confidant. In the delineation of the character of Sir Fretful, most of his successors in that part are said to have taken more than a hint from its original representative. There are certain features of The Critic which everybody remembers—for instance Sir Fretful's famous lines on the plagiarists, who "serve your best thoughts as gypsies do stolen children—disfigure them to make 'em pass for their own"; as well as his special addendum about the "dexterous" writer who "might take out some of the best things in my tragedy and put them into his own comedy."

A compliment paid to the memory of Parsons on the opening of the Haymarket Theatre in the summer following his death was caught at by the audience with loud expressions of their concurrence in the sentiment. A prelude was written by Colman, entitled "New Hay at the Old Market"; the audience was supposed to be made acquainted with the wants of the concern, and a dialogue between Prompter and Carpenter occurs, during which the following expressions were used:—

Carpenter: "We want a new scaffold for the Surrender of Calais."

Prompter: "Ah, where shall we get such another hangman? Poor fellow, poor Parsons! the old cause of our mirth is now the cause of our melancholy; he who so often made us forget our cares, may well claim a sigh to his memory."

Carpenter: "He was one of the comicalest fellows I ever see."

Prompter: "Ay, and one of the honestest, Master Carpenter. When an individual has combined private worth with public talent, he quits the bustling scene of life with twofold applause, and we doubly deplore his exit."

The allusion here was to the play of the Surrender of Calais, in which Parsons performed the chief workman at the gallows, erected for the patriots who were to be hung by the decree of King Edward. The scene was an imitation of the gravediggers in Hamlet. On an occasion when the King (George III.) had commanded the play, Parsons, instead of saying the words set down for him, "So the king is coming; an the king like not my scaffold; I am no true man," gave a new reading, which, as it was expressed with peculiar humour, and a saucy assumption of independence, excited great laughter, more especially from the monarch. Parsons exclaimed, "An the King were here, and did not admire my scaffold, I would say d——n, it, he has no taste!"

"His rivals, Edwin and Quick," wrote F. Reynolds, "undoubtedly possessed one great advantage over him—that of singing. Yet, in spite of this powerful aid to his competitors, Parsons, relying more on mental than on vocal talents, maintained his ground, and for year after year Sir Fretful Plagiary and Crabtree contrived to make successful play against the original Lingo and Peeping Tom, and, what is more to Parsons' credit, against the original Tony Lumpkin and Isaac. Charles Dibden, for some years proprietor and acting-manager of Sadler's Wells Theatre, and author of "A History of the London Theatres," also wrote in praise of the comedian. "The discrimination of Parsons in Parents and Guardians, was his own, and he went over this walk in a manner perfectly original, which was the more admirable, coming as he did after Yates; besides, he had treasured up a great fund of knowledge, and was capable of speaking with great taste and judgment to every question concerning the arts, and had a congenial feeling with those enlarged ideas which particularly belong to acting."

James Broaden, the dramatic writer and playwright, bears testimony to Parsons' singular power of telling a story, adding "One of his best has been versified by a very dear old friend and called 'Parsons, the Actor and the Lion,' and it is done as well as a very humorous pen can do it; but the face of the actor must be wanting; the manner of him whose toe had touched a lion at the bed's foot; the shaggy mane; the verification of the fact; the agony of suspense; the knocks that might wake the savage to their distraction; all this should be seen and heard."

William Parsons was, as already stated, the original Crabtree in The School for Scandal on the production of that famous comedy at Drury Lane Theatre in 1777. In connection with this memorable theatrical event, Walpole, who, however, afterwards slackened in his enthusiasm, wrote thus to a friend—"Miss Abington was equal to the first of her profession; Yates, Parsons, Miss Pope, and Palmer all shone. It seemed a marvellous resurrection of the stage. Indeed, the play has as much merit as the actors."

MR. W. S. GILBERT has defined his responsibilities in connection with the present revival of his works in London. "It is the practice of the Savoy management," says the genial satirist, "to announce that the operas with which my name is associated are produced 'under the personal direction of the author.' As this expression is usually held to comprehend a much wider range of duties than those which, under existing circumstances, fall to my share, I shall feel obliged if you will allow me to explain that in the present series of revivals my responsibility is confined exclusively to the ordinary duties of a stage-manager."

A NEW four-act play, by Cicely Wroughton, will be a feature of a matinée to be given at the Comedy Theatre on Feb. 5, in aid of Westminster Hospital. The Duke and Duchess of Buccleuch, the Duchess of Norfolk, and many members of the nobility are among those who have given their patronage, and several aristocratic amateurs will be included in the cast.

A FATALITY occurred on the stage of an Italian theatre on Monday night. During the performance of a play at the Maro Theatre at Brescia, an actor approached a mine in order to fire it, firearms at the same time being discharged behind the scenes in order to represent the noise accompanying the blowing up of the mine. Immediately after the firing of the arms on Monday night the audience were horrified to see the actor fall to the stage, he having been struck by the discharge from one of the weapons in the explosion scene.

AT the Crown Theatre, Peckham, on Thursday, Miss Ouida Macdermott (only daughter of the late G. H. Macdermott) played the part of Prince Lothario, owing to the indisposition of the principal boy. Although only seventeen years old, and this her first pantomime, she acquitted herself to the satisfaction of all concerned.

"THE ERA" can be obtained at the principal bookstalls throughout the provinces.

PROVINCIAL THEATRICALS.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENTS.)

ABERDARE.—NEW THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. Z. Andrews.—Mr. Charles Macdona's company in The Country Girl opened here on Monday night to a crowded house. Mr. Martin D. Pitts as Geoffrey Challoner is very successful, and sings several fine songs; Mr. Ernard Vaughan is entitled to great praise as the Rajah; Mr. W. O. Billington is most amusing as Sir Joseph Verity; Mr. Geo. Stone as Granfer Mummery is decidedly quaint; Mr. Arthur Staples is the life and soul of the piece as Barry, and keeps the house in roars of laughter. Miss Violet Leslie is a winsome and captivating Marjorie; Miss Irene Wood as the Princess sings exceedingly well; Miss May Florence is an interesting Madame Sophie, and sings and dances in an able manner; Miss Florence Brewster as Mrs. St. Quinton is worthy of special note; Miss Maynard is exceptionally bright and clever as Nan, and is quite a favourite. Other characters are in the capable hands of Messrs. W. Besley Beltran, C. H. Biddulph, and F. Womack, and Misses Nellie Read, Maud Read, and Kitty Sullivan. The powerful chorus deserves a special word of praise.

ABERDEEN.—HER MAJESTY'S THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Robert Arthur; Acting-Manager, Mr. H. Adair Nelson.—Mr. George Dance's principal company appear this week in The Catch of the Season. A large share of the work falls on Mr. Frank Lincoln as the Duke of St. Jermyns, and Miss Moya Mannering as Angela. Both parts are admirably played, Miss Mannering being specially captivating in the double character of Angela and the Irish Colleen. Other parts which receive full justice are those of Lord Yalton by Mr. Hugh Henson, the Duchess of St. Jermyns by Miss Maud Davis, and William Gibson by Mr. Franklyn Myles. Mr. E. H. Kelly is most successful as Lord Dundreary, Miss Belle Napier is an excellent Lady Caterham, Master Grata is highly amusing as the page; whilst the bevies of Gibson and Lucille Girls make a graceful and attractive spectacle.

PALACE THEATRE.—Managing-Directors, Messrs. Rosen and Bliss; Resident-Manager, Mr. Walter Gilbert.—Mr. Joe Peterman's elaborate production, The Belle of the Orient, is the principal attraction this week. Mr. Peterson himself cleverly plays the part of a money lender, and he is vivaciously supported as the Belle by Miss Florence Vie. Mr. Harry Taft is enthusiastically received and frequently encored; and among the other successful members of an admirable company are:—Mdlle. Victoria Dagmar, in a graceful gymnastic turn; Professor Milne, a clever ventriloquist; Miss Georgina Nicol, a charming "coon" comedienne; and Messrs. Cambo, McAskell, and Lindsay and Harte. A scena, Dick Whittington, introduces a number of remarkably well-trained performing cats; and the new series of Bioscope pictures is also greatly appreciated.

ABERTILLERY. — THEATRE METROPOLE. — Lessees, Messrs. Carlton and Duckworth; Manager, Mr. Geo. W. Ventom; Stage-Manager, Mr. Fred Thomas.—Packed houses are witnessing this week Messrs. Carlton and Duckworth's pantomime, Aladdin. Miss Edith Royal as Aladdin is a decided success, and fully merits the applause she receives; Mr. Mike Madden makes a whimsical and successful Widow Twankey; Mr. Percy Vere as Wishee Washee is very good, and provokes roars of laughter, especially in his conjuring scene; Mr. Walter T. Hybart is an effective Abanazar; Mr. Harry Vernon appears to great advantage as the Emperor; Miss Lily Stewart, a charming and vivacious Princess, dances and sings well; Messrs. Reg. Astley and Harold Cliff (knockabouts), as Sloppa and Koppa, are responsible for a good share of the mirth; Miss Kitty Cameron, a charming Pekoe, is popular in song and dance; Miss Lilly Palmer as the Fairy and Miss Doris Cameron as Nicee make the most of their parts; the Grand Silver Amazon March is gorgeous; and the children's flying ballet is both startling and pleasing.

ABERYSTWYTH. — COLISEUM. — On Monday and the two following nights Mr. John Gerant and company occupied the boards with the military drama, At Duty's Call, when there were good houses. Mr. John Gerant as Harold Alison, the Anglo-Egyptian, gave a capital portrayal; Mr. Harry Scott made a dashing Capt. Alison; and was ably supported by Mr. Ernest St. John as General Gordon. Miss Dora Drummond played the part of Mrs. Capt. Alison with feeling. Other characters were in capable hands.

ACCRINGTON.—PRINCE'S THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. J. B. Ormerod; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. E. Barnes.—On Monday night Mr. G. Testo Santé and company opened with The Life of a Showman. Mr. George T. Santé depicted Ben Leader to the life; Ned Chuckers was a good performance by Mr. Fred Vaughan; Mr. W. Lindsay was amusing as Ben Tic Tac; Marias was well played by Mr. Aurele Labat; Miss E. Lewis made the most of the part of Angelina Matton; Miss Amy Nevill must be highly complimented on her excellent reading of Agatha Winter; Master Harry Warder was at home in the part of Dickie; Mr. Charles Osborne gave an admirable portrayal of Stickers.

HIPPODROME. — Proprietors, Messrs Willmot, Vandy, Potter, and Weisker.—A first-class bill here includes Miss Florrie Gallimore, T. S. Hulme (a smart turn), the Carpos Bros. (hand-balancers), Collier and Roberts (in a vocal scena), and others.

ARBROATH.—PUBLIC HALL.—Manager, Mr. A. Joiner.—Mr. W. T. Rushbury placed before a large audience on Saturday and Monday evenings The Octoroon. Miss Mabel Durham as Zoe acted earnestly, and had the full sympathy of the house. Dora Sunnyside was represented by an actress of experience and genuine ability—Miss Lena Lewis; Mr. T. B. Brabazon played the part of Salem Scudder with marked ability, and as Jacob McClosky Mr. Henry Moxton acted with telling effect. Plantation songs, quartettes, dances, &c., were given by the negro members of the company, and were much appreciated.

ASHTON-UNDER-LYNE.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Sole Owner and Manager, Mr. Chas. Revill; Acting-Manager, Mr. Wm. Revill.—Revisiting here this week is Messrs. Dottridge, Longden, and Livesey's company, with The Village Blacksmith. Mr. Sam Livesey brings to bear on his delineation of the title-rôle an intensity of passion and a power of declamation which deeply impresses the spectators. He is admirably supported by Mr. Joseph Carter as Capt. Leo, Miss Louie Adair as Kate Strong and Miss Bertha Hanbury as the child are both able artists.

THE EMPIRE HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, Messrs. W. H. Broadhead and Sons; Manager, Mr. W. B. Broadhead; Acting-Manager, Mr. Percy B. Broadhead; Resident Acting-Manager, Mr. W. Leech.—This week's bill contains the names of Leon and Leoni, expert banjoists, who give selections on many novel instruments; the famous Bounding Pattersons are watched with great interest; Haley's Juveniles give a pleasing carnival scena; Dot and Spot sing duets; Walter Curtis entertains successfully as "the merriment merchant"; Arthur Slater, the whistling man in white, is popular; Chris Masters is successful as a character-vocalist; the Society Four contribute a popular pot-pourri; the Leotards are funny clowns; and "Mrs. Brown's Troubles" are depicted on the bioscope.

ATTERCLIFFE.—THEATRE ROYAL, LIMITED.—Managing-Director, Mr. F. Macnaughten; Resident-Manager, Mr. Chris Wordsworth.—Mr. Edwin C. Jazon's pantomime Aladdin is a successful attraction here this week. Miss Edna Latonne is a sprightly and vivacious Aladdin, and Miss Florrie White is winsome as the Princess Badroulbadour. Good service is rendered by Miss Beatrice Sinclair as Slave of the Lamp, Miss Pattie Holden as Geni of the Ring, Miss Lila Lingard as Pekoe, and Miss Blanche Vernon as Caramel. Other parts are well looked after by Mr. Cyril Carle as the Emperor, Mr. Harry Vernon as Abanazar, Mr. B. Best as the Grand Vizier, Mr. J. C. Morris as Widow Twankey, and Messrs. George and Edwards as Ping and Pong. Interesting specialities are introduced by Kavados, smart juggler and cannon-ball performer; the Sisters Reno, expert dancers; the Sisters Varley, vocalists; and Max Merlin, contortionist.

PALACE THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Proprietor, Mr. T. Allan Edwardes; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. Lacy Lyne; Assistant-Manager, Mr. T. Edward Owen.—A strong programme here this week is headed by the Three Schaffers, who, in their gladiatorial upastimes, display grace and skill of a high order; the Marvellous Days, in their thought-reading and second-sight displays, provide a turn of much merit; the Venola Bros, gymnasts, are both clever and funny; the Sisters Russell, in burlesque and low comedy, are highly appreciated; and other items of interest are provided by Mr. Charles H. Gould and company in a sketch, entitled A Matchless Match; the Izones, duettists and dancers; Mr. Clayton, with an admirable selection of pictures; and Mr. Eric Graham, comedian.

AYR.—NEW GAIETY THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. R. C. Buchanan; Resident-Manager, Mr. Harry W. Day.—Following on a successful fortnight's run of the pantomime Cinderella, comes Chas. Macdona's principal company in The White Chrysanthemum. Mr. Shirley Lea as the Admiral acts the character to the life, Messrs. H. Langdon Bruce and H. E. Green, in the characters of Lieuts. Armatage and Belmont, act with a true appreciation of their responsibilities; Mr. Richard Telford makes an admirable Sin Chong, with his choppy English and agile limbs; Private Perkins has a worthy representative in Mr. Jamie Dallas; Miss Wilmot Karkeek makes a typical American girl of Cornelia Vanderdecken; the part of Betty Kenyon is safely entrusted to Miss Dorothy Sephton; and Miss Muriel George, who plays the part of Sybil Cunningham—the White Chrysanthemum—sings divinely.

BARROW-IN-FURNESS.—ROYALTY THEATRE AND OPERA HOUSE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Hugh Robertson; Resident-Manager, Mr. George Stone.—Hardie and Von Leer's company in Two Little Vagabonds is here. Mr. Arthur E. Melborne is an excellent George Thornton; and Miss Grace Heywood a winning heroine, Marion Thornton; while Roslyn Vane is a capable Barbara Scarth. Dick and Wally are cleverly drawn by Miss Edie Martin and Miss Josie Belram respectively; Mr. Lionel Ellis is a characteristic Bill Mullins; Miss Evelyn Shaw an amusing Biddy Mullins; and Dido Prince and the Cough Drop are well done by Messrs. Frank Gordon and Dick Winslow.

HIS MAJESTY'S.—Lessees and Managers, Mr. and Mrs. Calvert Routledge.—Mr. Ernest Adrim's company is here in Our Irish Visitors. Mr. Adrim himself takes a large share in the piece, and shows great versatility; and Mr. Braithwaite is a humorous Brady, Mr. A. Adams a capital Gilly Softsolder, and Miss Marie Gerrad a vivacious Mrs. Softsolder. Miss Victoria Douglas is a capital Mrs. McMahon, singing finely; Miss Amy Knott a pleasing Mammy Diable; and Adrim and Oram and Lillie Leoville are also entertaining.

TIVOLI.—Lessee and Manager, Signor Pepi; Stage-Manager, Mr. Tom Whiting.—There is a very good bill here this week, with F. V. St. Clair in the premier position. His topical songs were soon all the go. The Mayvilles (Harry and Elsie), in a remarkably clever Lilliputian entertainment, received a well-deserved recall; Vetter Brothers give a clean, clever, and altogether an exceptionally pleasing gymnastic performance; Gillin, the ventriloquist, made a very favourable impression, his turn being humorous and clever; Tennis and Laune, duettists, have a pretty, taking style; Alexandra Royal has a nice selection of songs, which she sings well; and Will Sullivan causes much laughter with his songs and patter.

BARNSLEY.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Manager, Mr. A. C. Mitchell.—The Night of the Party, under the supervision of Mr. Weedon Grossmith, is the attraction here this week. Mr. Sebastian Smith as Crosbie keeps the house in uproarious laughter; Mr. Frank H. Denton submits a fine representation of Mr. Frayne; Miss Beatrice Mervyn is highly interesting as Lady Hampshire, and Mr. Aidan Lovett as Sir Charles Hampshire is satisfactory. Mr. Ernest Rivarz is well suited to the part of Alderman Hargen; Miss Florence French is a successful Gipsy Vandelier; Miss Lillian Williams as Paulina, Mr. Douglas Munro as Mrs. Flamber, Mr. Charles J. Bruce as Mr. Roundle, and Mr. Stanley Arthur as Mr. Bogle all do well in their respective parts.

BATH.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Egbert Lewis; Acting-Manager, Mr. Lewis A. Long.—The Beauty of Bath with its pronounced local colouring has been received here with the greatest cordiality. Mr. George Dance's company is particularly strong. Mr. Leslie Holland not only produces and stage-manages the piece, but sustains in his happiest style the chief character, Lieut. Alington. His reception nightly is most enthusiastic. A charming heroine is found in Miss Gladys Guy, her sweet singing, refined demeanour, and delightful personality exactly suiting the part. Great merriment is aroused by the fussy humour of Mr. Jack Crichton as Sir Timothy Bun, his agile dancing being especially popular; Master Sydney Grata creates immense hilarity as Lemon. Mrs. Alington is portrayed in true motherly fashion by Miss Edith Cruikshanks. A vocalist that wins great appreciation is Miss Maggie White (Dorothy Bun); another singer who deserves more than passing notice is Mr. F. Pedgrift (Mr. Gorst), who displays his rich baritone voice to advantage upon several occasions during the performance. Mr. Frederick C. Leister plays Viscount Bellingham upon the usual high-bred lines; Lord Quorn is hit off amusingly by Mr. Reggie Grey; Mr. Sherriff Clunes as Beverley sings with success; Miss Jessie Fraser is well suited as Miss St. Cyr; Mrs. Goodge is undertaken in a quaint way by Miss Ida Lawrie; Lady Bun finds an attractive representative in Miss Florence Hylton. Cordial praise is due to Mr. Gordon Stamford, the musical director.

PALACE THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. Chas. Schuberth.—Silbon's miniature circus constitutes a big attraction here, a great point in this entertainment being a trio of marvellously trained cats; Francis and Alfred, the clever juggler and cannon-ball manipulator, and his funny companion, are always worth seeing; a prepossessing comedienne and dancer is Ray Ford; Takio, Japanese vocal mimic, is admirable; Dave McNeil, comedian, is well received; two screaming absurdities are Bridget's Idea, presented by Dick Cruickshanks, and The Haunted House, by Clarke and Glenney. Raymond's Biotableaux, as usual, are interesting.

BATLEY.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietors, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Whitty; Manager, Mr. Alfred Taylor.—Mr. Peter Thompson's pantomime, The Babes in the Wood, is here. It is a well-dressed and well-staged show, and the company is energetic and untiring in his efforts to please. Miss Maude Beaumont is a conspicuous success as Robin Hood; she sings admirably. Miss Loie Langley is a dainty and charming Maid Marian; Misses Renee Grahame and Babs Lloyd are clever as the babes; and Miss Minnie Moran, in addition to a spirited rendering of Will Scarlett, is conspicuous for some uncommonly clever dancing. Mr. Wilton Marsh does well as the Baron; the Danbys are a droll couple of comedians; and Mr. Willie Barrett assists materially in keeping up the fun. The specialities are a prominent feature of this pantomime, and include Kioto, a clever and daring equilibrist; Miss Babs Lloyd, coon dancer and mimic; Miss Rosa Walmsley, speciality dancer; Miss Renee Grahame, male impersonator; Miss Minnie Moran, a spirited dancer; and the Yankee Quartette, whose dancing fairly rouses the enthusiasm of the house.

BELFAST.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Managing-Director, Mr. Fred W. Warden; Acting-Manager, Mr. James M. McCann.—Mr. Herbert Hollister's company opened here on Monday in The Lights of London. Mr. Horace E. Herbert furnished a capital impersonation of Harold Armytage; and Miss Jennie Burgoyne delighted all by her sympathetic interpretation of Bess. The villainies of Clifford Armytage were realistically portrayed by Mr. Herbert Humber; and a fine character-sketch of Seeth Preene was furnished by Mr. Herbert Hollister. Miss Constance Davey did well as Hetty Preene; and skilful impersonations of Jarvis, Mrs. Jarvis, and Shakespeare Jarvis were furnished by Mr. Chris. Mason, Miss Nellie Fern, and Miss Renee Douglas. Humorous impersonations of Philosopher Jack and Percy de Vere were submitted by Messrs. George Wallace and F. H. Waters; and Mr. Sydney N. Hallowes was Squire Armytage to the life.

PALACE THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Proprietors, Warden, Ltd.; Managing-Director, Mr. Fred W. Warden; General-Manager, Mr. J. De Freece; Resident-Manager, Mr. George Harris.—Miss Cissie Lawson and company head the bill here in the capital sketch, The Devil's Sunday. Miss Lawson's acting as Fay Faber is worthy of high praise; Mr. Charles Baldwin's comedians and pantomimists, in their absurdity, The Bank Clerks, create roars of laughter; Pyck, Tholl, and Taylor, the American comedy trio, furnish a capital performance, entitled The Dancing Master; Miss Rosie Lloyd is a delightful comedienne; Messrs. J. H. Darnley and company appear to great advantage in their amusing playlet, What a Night! and Mr. Jack Hylton, Miss Maud Esmond (comedienne), the Zelobas (acrobats), and the Palace pictures complete the programme.

EMPIRE THEATRE OF VARIETIES, LTD.—General-Manager, Mr. Frank Allen; Acting-Manager, Mr. John S. Walker.—The leading attraction here is provided by Casey's Circus, which affords the utmost enjoyment to large audiences, the laughter being loud and long. Mlle. De Dio, the famous danseuse, appears in several of her most attractive illuminated dances, executed with such grace and charm, including her weird dance, "The Indescribable." She has been accorded a splendid reception. Miss Ethel Ra-Leslie, daintily and charmingly costumed, renders several songs in fine style; and a sensation has been created by the Davis and Gledhill Trio, in their wonderful cycle and motor-racing exhibition. Miss Raie Walters, "the fishing girl," is a capital comedienne; and Prince Kokin executes some smart juggling feats with much dexterity. Mr. Harry Drew is a capital vocalist; and also appearing are the De Wynne Brothers, head and hand balancers.

NEW ALHAMBRA THEATRE.—General-Manager, Mr. Henry T. Downs.—The Alhambra Dramatic Company, under the personal direction of Mr. M. Montgomery, produce here this week the sterling drama, Is Law Justice? which has been accorded a fine reception. Miss Nina Blake-Adams, a clever and accomplished actress, appears to the utmost advantage as Nell Warriner, her acting being worthy of the highest possible commendation. Mr. Horace Denton furnished a skilful interpretation of the villainous Martin Clifford; and Mr. Cyril Grier is an admirable Jack Spratt. Mr. Balfour Denniston may be credited with a clever impersonation of Harry Westleigh; and Miss Nora Tremayne was quite equal to the part of Lilian Westleigh. The humour was in the hands of Mr. Tom H. Solly, a funny Joey Pagett, and Miss Mattie Crawford, a vivacious Nancy Grey. Mr. Elmore Frith made an admirable Dick Warriner; and Mr. Ed. Smythe was the clergyman, Mervyn Denham, to the life.

BILSTON.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Harry Battersby; Musical-Director, Mr. J. E. Machin.—Mr. Arthur Gibbons's pantomime of Little Red Riding Hood is here. Miss Nellie Banks is very smart in the title-part; as Prince Bountiful Miss Janet Lawton has a character that suits her well; Miss Nina Terri makes a fairly good Maid Marion; for Baron Badenough Mr. Geo. Westland comes out well; and so does Miss Helena Parsons as Dolly Mayflower. The comedians, Messrs. Ted Mac, J. T. Banks, Sam Johns, Geo. Marriott, jun., and Walter Edge work well together, and cause plenty of fun. Miss Ena Soutar as Diamond, the Fairy Queen, should be commended.

BIRKENHEAD.—NEW THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee, Mr. W. W. Kelly; Acting-Manager, Mr. Charles Pell.—Mr. Chas. Macdona's company, in Are You a Mason? constitutes a strong attraction. Mr. E. H. Paterson is well to the front with a capital rendering of Amos Bloodgood, receiving admirable support from Mr. Howard L. Tracy as Frank Perry. Mr. George R. J. Austin displays much humour as Hamilton Travers; Mr. Ernest Cossart scores heavily as George Fisher, and Mr. Buchanan Wake as John Halton is efficient. Mrs. Caroline Bloodgood is admirably played by Miss Adelaide Grace; Miss Margaret Fareleigh distinguishes herself as Eva; and Annie and Lulu are charmingly impersonated by Miss Babs Stuart and Miss Madge Merrique respectively. Mr. Victor Kerr is well suited as Ernest Morrison. The one-act play, A Bad Penny, forms an interesting curtain-raiser.

ARGYLE THEATRE OF VARIETIES. — Manager, Mr. D. J. Clarke.—Mr. E. Hoggan Armadale, the well-known theatrical artist, is appearing with pronounced success as Mathias in selections from The Bells. Athas and Collins, speciality comedy artists, are a leading attraction; and an excellent combination also includes Miss Helen Charles, society entertainer, and a great favourite; Mr. Harry Freeman, the popular comedian; Harry Tate's No. 2 Company in Motoring; Mr. Ambrose Thorne, comedian; Mr. Henry Taylor, Lancashire comedian; Jack Niel, Scotch comedian, and Brown's Royal Bioscope.

BIRMINGHAM.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Managing-Director, Mr. Tom B. Davis; Acting-Manager, Mr. Philip Rodway.—The Queen of Hearts continues to turn money away nightly, and is sure of a long and comfortable run. The artists have well caught on, including Mr. George Robey, Mr. Edward Lewis, Mr. T. A. Shale, Mr. Tom Hearn, Miss Millie Lindon, Miss Valli-Valli, Miss Ethel Haydon, and Miss Helen Cecile.

PRINCE OF WALES'S THEATRE.—Lessees, Messrs. Rodgers, Limited; Manager, Mr. J. F. Graham; Acting-Manager, Mr. Henry Johnston.—Crusoe's Adventures is attended by a full house at every performance, and Miss Georgina Delmar as the adventurous one is well supported in her clever and graceful efforts by Messrs. J. F. McArdle, Geo. Miller, Fred Wright, jun., Colin Coop, Fredk. Hobbs, the Misses Lulu Valli, Clara Stanton, Nell Emerald, Louie Collier, and the Haytors.

GRAND THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. J. W. Turner; Manager, Mr. Victor Turner.—Mr. J. W. Turner and his famous English opera company are now in the second week of their farewell visit, and on Monday Mr. Turner scored in his familiar and always welcome rôle of Myles-na-Coppaline in The Lily of Killarney. The popular tenor's reception was most perfervid, and the company shared in the enthusiasm, including Mr. F. J. Hargrave as Hardress Cregan, Mr. Tom Griffiths as Danny Mann, Mr. Sidney Clifford as Father Tom, Miss Jessie Dennis as Mrs. Cregan, and Miss Kitty Brownlees as Eily. Tuesday's performance of Il Trovatore was attended by an appreciative audience, which applauded Mme. Sarah Wilson for her splendid efforts as Leonora, Mr. F. J. Hargrave scoring as Manrico. On Wednesday Maritana revealed the veteran favourite, Mr. Turner, in capital voice as Don Cæsar; while on Thursday The Waterman was revived with much success. Nigel, the new opera by Stephen R. Philpot and Percy Pinkerton, was down for Friday, to be preceded by, and for the first time of performance, Old Knockles. The Bohemian Girl and Fra Diavola are also in this week's bill.

ALEXANDRA THEATRE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Lester Collingwood.—Cinderella is proving one of the biggest successes of the season, and is making big reputations for the Misses Bessie Butt, Minnie D'Aubyn, the Sisters Lunella, the Brothers Obo, Harry Talbot, and many others engaged.

METROPOLE THEATRE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Andrew Melville; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. Hindle Taylor.—The Girl Who Took the Wrong Turning concludes an eminently successful fortnight's engagement to-night, having proved one of the greatest draws ever known here, and its return will be looked for with interest.

CARLTON THEATRE, SALTLEY.—Licensee and Manager, Mr. James Alexander.—Mr. Allan Wilkie's Shakespearean and other impersonations have drawn warm approval from crowded houses. Opening on Monday as Pierre in The Two Orphans of Paris, Mr. Wilkie on Tuesday appeared as Colonel Damas in The Lady of Lyons, in which he showed sound ability. Mr. G. A. Marsh undertook the rôle of Claude Melnotte in an admirable manner, and Miss Ine Cameron displayed hauteur and sweetness just as the part of Pauline occasioned. Mr. John Paley acted well as Beauseant; Miss Carrie Baillie did well as Mme. Deschappelles; and Mr. Gordon Phillpot, Mr. Herbert Morgan, Mr. Ian Fleming, Mr. George Munro, and Miss D. Horrocks were good in their parts. On Wednesday The Merchant of Venice was performed, under the patronage of the Hon. J. Adderley, Vicar of Saltley, when Mr. Wilkie drew from a critical and fashionable audience much praise and applause for his clever study of the Jew. Othello, David Garrick, and The Bells have also been given, with Mr. Wilkie in the big parts.

THEATRE ROYAL, ASTON.—Lessee, Mr. Charles Barnard; General-Manager, Mr. E. Hewitson; Acting-Manager, Mr. Frank Whittles.—The Worst Woman in London is presented here, with all its usual success, by Mr. Tom H. Taylor's company, amongst which Miss Florence Dalton stands out prominently with her powerful portraiture of the title-rôle, Frances Vere. Miss Elizabeth Watkins shines in excellent contrast as Ruth Milford; Mr. George Garsford gives a manly impersonation of Jack Felton; Mr. Paul Barry Lewers portrays Vincent Lyle in strong, effective colours; Mr. F. Vernon Travers is a source of great strength as James Milford; Mr. Leonard Booker does extremely well with the rôle of Philip Armstrong; Mr. H. W. Monte acts excellently as the disreputable Drayton; and the humorous rôles of Bob Goldfinch and Matilda Parker are played with the utmost success by Mr. Harvey White and Miss Polly Marsh respectively.

EMPIRE PALACE. — Resident-Manager, Mr. A. W. Matcham.—The Ten Loonies head the bill with an amusing sketch, the title of which is Dotty. The artists are excellent musicians, in addition to being capital knockabout comedians. Syd May earns a full round of applause for his clever mimicry; the Seven Perezoffs are clever jugglers of the humorous kind, their sketch, An Evening in a Paris Café, being very good; Edward E. Forde, the Australian sundowner, is not only a witty comedian and an accomplished vocalist, but he is very good at facial contortion; Pat Rafferty is well received; the Schenk Brothers have a clever balancing turn; Jeannie Mackay is a pleasing vocalist; Young and De Voie, in Dancing by Book, and Rosie Archer, mimic, complete the programme.

HIPPODROME.—Managing-Director, Mr. Thomas Barrasford.—Heading the bill is Horace Wheatley, who makes a welcome reappearance, bringing with him several new songs; and the Richards Trio prove themselves clever comedy acrobats in their sketch, Giddy Golfers, in which the eccentricities of golfers are laughably exaggerated. Barrington Foote and company present The End of the Story, in which an exciting duel with rapiers forms the leading feature; Wyndham and Waters have a laughable act, entitled The Professor and His Pupil; Arthur Kenny is a sensational cyclist; Brilliant and Brilliant are expert xylophonists; Anthony is a comic juggler, who introduces many novel items in his turn; Ted Saunders, the popular mimic, and the Four Kurios, in a comic turn, are also well received.

BORDESLEY PALACE. — Resident-Manager, Mr. Edward Foster.—Billy McClain and company give an excruciatingly grotesque Southern scena, called The Hottest Coon from Dixie. It is an amusing number, introducing much good singing and dancing. Theo Hardeen gives a puzzling exhibition of handcuff manipulation; the St. Elmos are smart instrumentalists, vocalists, and dancers; the Lyons Trio of pantomimists are ludicrous to a degree; while Eijou Russell certainly knows how to dance. Boyd and Gilfain give an amusing turn, in which is included some good singing and also excellent dialect comedy; James Brady is a rare comedian.

CURZON HALL. — The Royal Italian Circus continues to draw large crowds. This week several new items are added to the programme. The calculating and musical pony, Theresa, is intelligent enough to play a game of cards with members of the audience, while the playing of "Home, Sweet Home" on the hand-bells was the signal for a round of applause. Another new item is that given by the Two Walonells, a pair of clever comedy gymnasts.

MASONIC HALL.—Catlin's Royal Pierrots are making their annual visit for a short season. As usual, they have a varied and attractive programme. The troupe consists of Messrs. George Houghton, tenor; Ernie Preston, light comedy; Will Ambro, in coon songs and sand-dance; K. Scott-Barrie, comedian and female impersonator; Tom Catlin, Will Catlin, and Sid Frere, comedians; and Prof. Lewis, who provides an excellent ventriloquial turn.

BISHOP AUCKLAND. — EDEN THEATRE. — Lessees, Messrs. R. Addison, Ltd.; Managing-Director, Mr. R. Addison; Acting-Manager and Secretary, Mr. J. Huntley.—Messrs. E. H. Hill-Mitchelson and Harris Fineberg's company is this week presenting The Traitor. Mr. Bensley Evans gives a capital rendering of Prince Rudolph; the title-rôle is cleverly handled by Mr. Stephen E. Scanlan; Mr. Arthur McCulloch makes an excellent General Hurtz; Mr. T. W. Hurst a successful Captain Ross; and as Zulu, Miss Effie Bartlett is sympathetic. Miss Gwynne Warren is a powerful Countess Zica; and Miss Katharine Vere a very good Elsie Dupres.

BLACKPOOL.—HER MAJESTY'S OPERA HOUSE.—General-Manager, Mr. J. R. Huddlestone.—Mr. and Mrs. Chalmers Mackey and company are paying another visit here this week, and meeting with their usual success. Mr. Mackey repeats his admirable impersonation of Barney O'Hea; Mrs. Mackey is still the charming Norah M'Grath; Mr. J. S. Chamberlain contributes a clever study of Michael Kenny; and Mr. Arthur Rose, who plays Shamus M'Dermott, is a very fine vocalist. The singing and dancing of Miss Nina Flensberg, who takes the part of Biddy M'Ginn, is one of the most pleasing features of the play.

GRAND THEATRE. — Owner and Manager, Mr. T. Sergenson.—Mr. Lester Collingwood's pantomime company is here this week with Blue Beard. The title-rôle is creditably played by Mr. S. Lockridge; Ibrahim has a humorous exponent in Mr. Fred Lyndo; and Sister Anne is accounted for by Mr. Harry Tilbury. The singing of Miss Millie Warde (Fatima) and Miss Marie Liston (Selim) is also much appreciated. The Three Rubys—one of whom is a particularly bright comedienne—give a clever acrobatic performance; the Sisters Wingrove find favour as duettists and dancers; and the Two Jays provide merriment as side-walk conversationalists.

BLYTH.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. A. C. Moody.—Messrs. Fred J. Little and Fred D'Arcy's company has presented the brilliant pantomime, entitled Robinson Crusoe, to large and delighted audiences during the week, and has scored a decided success. In the title-rôle, Miss Marion May made an ideal principal boy, and was rewarded with unstinted applause; the Polly Hopkins of Miss Nellie Moore was received with much enthusiasm; Mr. Fred Lloyd as Mrs. Crusoe scored well; and a capital Billie Taylor was presented by Miss Cissie Conyers. The Sidney Quartette were much in evidence as dancers; the Three Zaracs, Sandy and Curl, and the Ladderites are responsible for several good turns.

BOLTON. — THEATRE ROYAL (LIMITED).—Managing-Director, Mr. J. F. Elliston; Acting-Manager, Mr. Charles Melvin.—After a phenomenally successful four weeks' run, Mr. Elliston has been reluctantly compelled to withdraw his annual pantomime of Mother Goose, which ends its career in Bolton this (Saturday) evening. Wednesday afternoon and evening last were set apart for the twenty-seventh annual complimentary benefit of the managing-director, Mr. J. F. Elliston. In addition to the pantomime, extra turns were given by the Six Æolians, who appeared in a high-class vocal and dancing act; Harry Freeman, comedian; Jennie Johns, comedienne; Sammy Shields, comedian; the Columbia Trio; Harry Rogerson, with his sleepy dance, &c. During the evening the bénéficiaire recited Tom Hood's poem "The Bridge of Sighs," and, after repeated calls, he addressed a few words to his friends and patrons, referring to his long and unbroken connection with the Bolton Theatre (twenty-seven years), and gave a résumé of the various high-class companies and productions engaged for the coming season.

GRAND THEATRE (LIMITED).—Managing-Director, Mr. J. F. Elliston; Acting-Manager, Mr. Harry Kenyon.—A good company here is headed by Toch and Tard, who appear in a clever comedy acrobatic performance; Pat Carey, the popular Irish comedian, gains great favour; Elders and Genesta are novel eccentrics; Miss Mabel Mavis gives solos on the glassophone; Burg, Haud, and Wise appear in their humorous comedy act, Ye Browne Cow Inn; the Virginians, coloured artists, render negro melodies, plantation songs, and dances; Zarmo is a droll comedy juggler; and Victor Courtney, speciality artist, Richardson Taylor, whistling ventriloquist and mimic, Lily Tiso, comedian and dancer, Mackinnon's Scottish Meisters, in their vocal extravaganza Ancestral Spirits, and Vernon's Imperial Bioscope are also in the bill.

BOSCOMBE. — HIPPODROME.—Joint-Proprietors, Messrs. Fredk. Mouillot and Walter de Frece; General-Manager, Mr. J. de Frece; Resident-Manager, Mr. H. Ball.—This week John Lawson and company are appearing in the stirring Hebrew episode, Humanity. Mr. Lawson gives a fine portrayal of the Jew. He is ably assisted by Miss B. Bent and a good company. Gerhardi Mohr is a remarkable jumper, and performs some marvellous somersault feats; much amusement is caused by the eccentricities of the Sivronis, a funny couple; Dan Filmer is a smart comedian and dancer; Almon is more at home on his hands than feet; Fred Harrison is a droll comedian; Jenny Reeves scores with her songs, and the Hippodrome pictures conclude a good bill.

BOURNEMOUTH.—THEATRE ROYAL AND OPERA HOUSE.—Proprietors, Messrs. David Allen and Son; Sole Lessee, Mr. Mouillot; Manager, Mr. Rowland Stewart.—Mr. Milton Bode's principal company in The Belle of Mayfair opened on Monday. The most popular rôle in the play is Sir John Chaldicott, played with considerable humour by Mr. Harry Parker. Mr. Haddon Cave is a breezy Earl of Mount Highgate, and livens the piece up whenever he is on the stage; while as his son, Mr. Edward Hugonett scores well. Mr. Gwyn Alyn's fine voice is heard to advantage in the part of Hugh Meredith, and a success is scored by Mr. Lauri Lisle as Comte de Perrier; Julia Chaldicott could not be in better hands than those of Miss May Yates; Miss Paula Fernan gives a capital rendering of Pincott; while ample justice is done by Miss Daisie Irving, who has a nice voice, to the character of Princess Carl, and by Miss Aurelie de Loriere, who looks charming as the Gibson Girl, and receives an encore for her song, in the chorus of which she is joined by Mr. F. Brandon as Captain Theobald. The piece is beautifully staged and dressed, while the music is under the able direction of Mr. T. M. Tumbridge.

BRADFORD. — THEATRE ROYAL. — Lessee, Mr. John Hart; General-Manager, Mr. T. F. Doyle; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. Richardson.—Robinson Crusoe, Mr. Hart's brilliant pantomime, is enjoying immense popularity. Nothing finer has been seen here in the way of beautiful scenery and spectacular effects, and the company is one of all-round excellence. Mlle. Du Roche is a favourite as the venturesome hero, and her vocal successes are the "Umbrella song," "I love a lassie," and "Robinson Crusoe's Isle." Miss May Henderson, the merry Topsy, too, is a prime favourite, and her rendering of the song "Goodnight, Mr. Brown" is distinctly original. "Zuyder Zee" is amongst the vocal tit-tits with a well-arranged chorus. Mr. T. C. Maxwell as Davy Jones gives with fine effect "Rage thou angry storm," and "A different girl again," which falls to his lot, is in striking contrast. Miss Mabel Sealby, the charming Polly, is the recipient nightly of many favours. Miss Mab Paul is a winsome Fairy Queen; Miss Marjorie Langdon is a charming Princess, and very brightly Miss Ivey Roze disports herself as Harry Helm. Mr. Fred W. Graham is very funny as Captain Hokum, Mr. Frank Calvert is full of resource and immensely diverting as Booby Billy, and Billy Williams is the quaintest of quaint Cannibal Kings with his capital "Bungalow" song. The Burnells are a clever quartette who do a lot to keep the fun going, and they are a host in themselves.

THE EMPIRE.—Moss' Empires, Ltd.—Resident-Manager, Mr. Percival Craig.—Mr. J. F. Preston and company in an excellent dramatic sketch, Rogues of the Turf, are Four, who are here again, combine humour with harmony; there is novelty in Horace Monto's turn with mandoline and clubs; Effie Stuart is a smart Scotch comedienne and dancer; Bert Brantford is a humorous comedian; the Two Kays are charming in a vocal scena, The Nightingale; Wyndham and Waters are fulfilling a second week's engagement with their comic sketch, Professor and Pupil; and there are some fine pictures shown by Raymond's Bio-tableaux.

BRIDLINGTON.—PALACE AND WINTER GARDENS.—Manager, Mr. J. W. Delmar.—A first-class company here includes Mme. Natalia, contralto, who is rapturously encored; Alf. Berg is a clever exponent of muscular training; Mr. Preston Holmes gives a good musical turn; Mr. Harry Bentley amuses with his comic ditties; Mr. Frank Glenister, comedian and dancer; Miss Edie Sheldon, comedienne; and Mr. Bernard Brandsby, swell comedian, add successful items to the programme; Frank Banks and company give a capital little sketch, Honesty; and Cissie Preston and company are seen in an amusing sketch, Mrs. Minks' Mistake. The Bergograph pictures are well chosen.

BRIGHTON.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Licensee and Manager, Mr. H. Cecil Beryl; Assistant-Manager, Mr. Harcourt M. Beryl.—Miss Annie Hughes and company are here this week with Tommy. Miss Hughes gives an excellent portrayal of Jane, better known as "Tommy," displaying fine contrasts of light, winsome comedy and impassioned declamation. Mr. Evelyn Vernon is admirably suited as the simple-minded and conscientious old editor, Percy Hope; Mr. Willie Hartill submits a sterling representation of the shrewd business-manager, William Clodd; Mr. Rupert Lister achieves complete success as the impulsive Dick Danvers; Miss Winifred Pearson handles the part of Mr. Morrison with much skill; Miss Ida Richardson is a praiseworthy Honour; and Mr. R. Breach is entertaining as Flipp. The play is preceded by Good-for-Nothing Nan, in which Miss Annie Hughes is especially effective as Nan.

ALHAMBRA.—Managing-Director, Mr. J. L. Graydon; General-Manager, Mr. Ernest Lepard.—There is an excellent company here this week. The Jackley Trio win enthusiastic applause for their comedy speciality; Fred Holland, the Surrey County cricketer, achieves great success with his songs; Edie and Ramsden are entertaining in a pot-pourri act; Will Morso is an amusing comedy juggler; the Coney Island Glee Singers are effective in their American glees and comedy entertainment; Alice Blanford is a pleasing vocalist; Hughes and Elliott are capital comedy duettiste and dancers; Velasque's miniature circus of performing dogs, ponies, and monkeys is an excellent turn; Harry Cook is an eccentric comedian; Gracie Bard sings and dances herself into favour; Maude Wilton is a diverting comedienne and mimic; and the Alhambrascope pictures are interesting and amusing.

HIPPODROME THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Proprietors, Messrs. Barrasford and Smith; Managing-Director, Mr. Thomas Barrasford.—An attractive programme is sustained here this week. Albert Whelan, the Australian siffleur and mimic, is warmly received; Martin Conway is a quaint comic singer; Fred Cullane and company provide plenty of fun in Pipple from Poppleton; Vesta Tilley is as popular as ever, and is enthusiastically applauded for her finely-rendered songs; Keen and Waller are clever and eccentric comedians; Starr and Jerome are capital speciality vocalists and dancers; Cull-Pitt, assisted by Mlle. Adele, submits an entertaining pot-pourri of magic, comedy, and facial expressions; Charles Norton is a pleasing mimic; Sibb and Sibb (Gertrude and Willie) are skilful double trapeze artists; Ida Ross is a charming comedienne and Tyrolean vocalist; and the Barrascope pictures are interesting.

BRISTOL.—PRINCE'S THEATRE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. James Macready Chute.—The popularity of Humpty Dumpty is evinced by crowded houses at each performance, full appreciation being given to the efforts of the excellent company engaged by Mr. Chute, the magnificent scenery, the rich and tasteful costumes, and the elaborate staging of the pantomime generally. Messrs. Bert Gilbert, Horace Mills, Carlton, the Brothers Griffiths, and Arthur Conquest are all happy in their repective parts. Miss Sybil Arundale and Miss Maud Darling are clever exponents of their rôles as principal boy and girl; Mr. Cyril Thompson and Miss Hebe Bliss please with their artistic singing; the Tiller Superba quartette obtain much applause for their speciality dances, and the set dances by the corps de ballet are both pleasing and graceful.

THEATRE ROYAL.—Managing-Director, Mr. Ernest Carpenter; Resident-Manager, Mr. W. F. Crowe.—Cinderella at this theatre is popularly considered to be one of the best of Mr. Carpenter's productions; it is amusing in the comic sense, and at the same time quite unobjectionable; there are plenty of pretty songs and dances, the scenery is highly commendable, and the dresses are exceptionally good in quality, and tasteful in design. Miss Mimi Fisher and Miss Dolly Denton are decidedly successful as principal boy and girl; Miss Cherry Wardroper and Miss Blanche Bayley are clever exponents of the Ugly Sisters, and the comedians—Messrs. Karr, Kooney, Wye and Spry—all work very hard and successfully.

PALACE.—Resident-Manager, Mr. Horace Livermore; Secretary and Treasurer, Mr. F. J. V. Welchman.—Fred Storey and company are here with scenes from The Merchant of Venice. Mr. Storey presents a good exposition of Shylock, Miss Lilian Holmes is pleasing as Portia, the remaining parts being taken in good style by other members of the company. The selected portions of the play are presented in a very conscientious manner, the dresses are appropriate, and the scenery, designed and painted by Mr. Fred Storey, consists chiefly of heavy sets in every way commendable. Sidney James' Strolling Players amuse with a clever burlesque of Romeo and Juliet, introducing successfully singing, dancing, whistling, and ventriloquism. Other artists who are successful are Will Bell, Irish comedian and dancer; the Panamas, acrobats, tumblers, dancers, &c.; the Monte Myro troupe of eccentric pantomimists; Edie Madison, comedienne and dancer; Three Missouris, acrobats and burlesque wrestlers; and George Antill, eccentric comedian. The performance concludes with the interesting "Curfew must not ring to-night," excellently depicted by Vernon's Imperial Bioscope.

EMPIRE.—Proprietor, Mr. B. Pearce Lucas; Resident-Manager, Mr. Sid Macaire.—Fred Karno's sketch, Moses and Sons, tops the bill, and obtains hearty appreciation. Geoffreys and Benson amuse with a comedy sketch, Spoofed; Nellie Cotter, comedienne and dancer, is pleasing; Charles Denton, comedian, is applauded; Clare Chadwick's lady quartette of operatic vocalists have fine voices, singing with taste and expression; the original Toreadors amuse with their burlesque bull-fight; and Boy Glen is decidedly clever in song and story. The performance concludes with interesting animated pictures.

BROUGHTON.—VICTORIA THEATRE, LTD.—Manager and Licensee, Mr. J. Fred Watson.—Little Red Riding Hood had a hearty reception on Monday by a good house, when Mr. George Brydon Phillips's pantomime company commenced a twelve nights' stay here. Miss Rose Harvey is a dashing Prince Amorosa, and her work is much appreciated; little Miss Mamie Iris is a pleasing Little Red Riding Hood, singing, dancing, and speaking her lines very efficiently; Mr. Maitland Marler is very much in evidence as Granny, simply revelling in the fun he gets out of the character; Mr. Fred Maple is smart as the Squire; Mr. Billee Taylor as Simple Simon is a comical village idiot; Mr. Henry de Solla is droll as Lawyer Slyfox; Jack and Jill are well presented by Miss L. Palmer and Miss Amy Maple, getting much applause for their "Zuyder Zee" song and dance; little Vera Sanders is a clever Cupid, and Miss Marie Beaufort a charming Fairy Gossamer; Mr. Reuben Kitchen is an excellent dog Rover; and the Wolf is capably enacted by Mr. J. W. Brighten. A smart wire act is a speciality by Mlle. Onra, and the speciality by the Maples brings several encores.

BURTON-ON-TRENT.—NEW HIPPODROME.—Proprietor, Mr. H. Dudley Bennett; Acting-Manager, Mr. John Waller.—A fine array of talent here is headed by Herr Fritz, with marvellous illusions; Mr. Joe Hastings gives a clever jumping exhibition; the Sisters Grovini are clever and finished acrobats; a special favourite is Miss Clare Hastings; Mr. Tom Vine is well received in his topical songs; and Bernardo, juggler, causes much merriment. Some good views are also shown by Raymond's Bio-tableaux.

CAMBRIDGE. — NEW THEATRE. — Managing-Director, Mr. W. B. Redfern, J.P., D.L.—On Monday Mr. Walter Maxwell's company, in The Lion and the Mouse, opened here, and Miss Christine Silver as Shirley Rossmore achieved a notable success. Mr. Lester Carter as John Burket has a part that exactly suits his strong personality; Mr. Lewis Edgard is an admirable Jefferson Ryder; Mr. Herbert Chown a good Hon. Fitzroy Bagley; Mr. Douglas West an acceptable James Rossmore; and Miss Elspeth Dudgeon made the most of Mrs. J. B. Ryder, as did Miss Maude Townsend of Mrs. Rossmore and Miss M. Nybloc of Kate Roberts.

CARDIFF.—NEW THEATRE.—Sole Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Robert Redford.—The pantomime will finish to-night owing to other engagements entered into. The popular Ted and May Hopkins have been responsible for a great deal of the success of the production; while Mr. Ainsley Burton (the Squire), Mr. Jay Laurier (Johnny Stout), Mr. Harry Bickley (Dame Trot), and Messrs. Keith and Merson have all worked extremely well together. Miss Norah Guy and Miss Annie Purcell have proved the most charming principal girl and boy imaginable; Miss Agnes Tandy (Tom), Miss Sybil Viney (Mary), and Miss Nellie Duval (Etherea, Fairy Queen) have acquitted themselves with considerable credit; while Mr. Walter Walton (the Demon) and Mr. Stanley Fields (the Wolf) have also proved an acquisition to the cast.

THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Robert Redford.—A Royal Divorce is still as popular as ever, judging by the enthusiastic audiences which have filled the Royal this week. Mr. Frederic Victor is the Napoleon; and that accomplished actress, Miss Edith Cole, is Josephine, and it is difficult to imagine these trying parts being acted more powerfully. As Talleyrand, Mr. Claude Agnew does well; Stephanie is portrayed most bewitchingly by Miss Helen Richmond; Augereau has a capital representation from Mrs. Alfred Grenville; Mr. Graham Woods is at home in the part of the Marquis de Beaumont; and Miss Gertrude Entwistle as Blanche proves more than equal to the calls made upon her.

EMPIRE.—Managing Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; Acting-Manager, Mr. C. H. S. Dring.—The piquant comedian, Ernest Shand, is at the head of the bill this week, and is as amusing as ever; Victor Newman gives an excellent display of acting in his representations of Svengali and Matthias; the Vasilescu troupe of eccentric pantomimists, on the triple bars, are the cleverest acrobats seen in Cardiff for some considerable time; and a pleasing entertainment is given by Peggie Lennie and Walter Hast, in a poetic phantasy, The Sea Nymph. Sketches at this hall are always looked forward to, and the one entitled Christmas Eve, cleverly played by Irve Hayman and little Marie Montague, is by no means disappointing; the xylophone is a tuneful instrument, and the Three Tauberts are pleasing experts. Lilian Lowe, vocalist; Kathleen Cogan, juvenile comedienne; Kate Traill, in songs at the piano; and the ever-welcome Bioscope are also in the programme.

CARLISLE.—HER MAJESTY'S THEATRE.—Lessees, Mr. Thos. Courtice and Mrs. R. Stewart McKim; Manager, Mr. Thos. Courtice.—The 'Varsity Belle is being played here by Mr. Henry E. Leigh's excellent company. In the title-rôle Miss Josephine Ellis is seen to great advantage as the pert and lively Gaye Sparkleton, her graceful dancing and delightful singing gaining her hosts of admirers; that excellent comedian Mr. James Danvers has a part in Professor Stoney that fits him like the proverbial glove; Mr. Edward Chester proves himself a character-actor of ability; and Mr. Frank Lilliput is a comedian who knows his business thoroughly. Miss Emma Rainbow's ripe experience enables her to make Mrs. Barker quite a prominent character; and Mr. R. Harley West, Mr. Roy Barraclough, Miss Tessa Myers, and Miss Kathleen O'Brien make the most of their respective characters, and add much to the success of a bright entertainment.

THE PALACE.—Proprietors, the Palace Theatre, Carlisle, Limited; Managing-Director, Signor Rino Pepi; Acting-Manager, Mr. A. E. Nicholls.—In the capital programme submitted this week the chief interest centres in the first appearance here of that popular comedian Mr. T. E. Dunville; Mr. Will Walton, a comedian of quite a different type, contributes two excellent turns; Austin and Cowan are favourites here, and repeat their former success; a versatile and clever musical act is given by the McDonalds; Eric is a ventriloquist of ability; Mike Cray's comic juggling is clever and amusing; Theresa Silvia, described as a chorus vocalist, and the always-welcome Pepiscope complete an excellent entertainment.

CARMARTHEN.—ASSEMBLY ROOMS.—Proprietors, Public Rooms Co.; Secretary, Mr. Edward Baldwin.—Mr. Charles Macdona's company paid a welcome return visit with The Country Girl. Geoffrey Challoner is most capably represented by Mr. Martin D. Pitts, who possesses a fine voice, and who sings with great expression; Mr. Bernard Vaughan sustains the part of the Rajah of Bhong admirably, and gains numerous encores for his songs; Mr. Arthur Staples' funny acting in the rôle of Barry excites roars of laughter and applause; Mr. W. O. Billington as Sir Joseph Verity, Mr. W. Besley Beltran as Douglas Verity, and Mr. George Stone as Granfer Mummery are unqualified successes; while Mr. F. Womack as Lord Grasmere, Mr. C. Biddulph as Lord Anchester, and Mr. J. A. Fitzpatrick as Rube Fairway capably impersonate their respective parts. Miss Violet Leslie pleasingly and effectively represents the part of Marjorie Joy, and sings delightfully; Miss J. Wood is successful as Princess Mechelanah, her beautiful renderings of her songs delighting the crowded audience; Miss Florence is a bright and vivacious Mme. Sophie; Miss Edith Maynard is most captivating in her representation of Nan; Miss Maude is a success as Lady Anchester; and the same may be said of Miss Florence Brewster as Mrs. St. Quintin, Miss Kitty Stone as Nurse, Miss Nellie Read as Miss Carruthers, and Miss Sullivan as the Indian attendant. The choruses are excellently given under the direction of Mr. C. W. Nightingale.

CASTLEFORD.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Sole Proprietor and Licensee, Mr. Chas. Gadsby; Business-Manager, Councillor Hy. Masterman.—A bright and animated pantomime, Cinderella, is being played here by Mr. Edwin C. Jazon's company. Miss Louie Hurman sings sweetly and plays cleverly as Prince Brilliant; as Cinderella, Miss Flo Melville sings well, and is in manner charming; Miss Madge Bryde is a successful Dandini, and evokes much applause; Mr. Fred Ward is a capital Buttons, and keeps the audience in roars of laughter; as the Ugly Sisters, Arabella and Isabella, Messrs. Charles Preston and Alf. Brookes also cause much fun. Messrs. Ouda and Leon as the Court Bailiffs are good, besides giving a smart performance on the triple bars; Mr. Stan Aubrey gives a clever representation as the Baron; Miss Marie Harding is an attractive Marquis of Taxes; Miss Ada Pearce gives a pleasing performance as Dorothy; Miss Florrie Burnette creates a favourable impression as Queen Bountiful. Clever specialities by Pearce and Ward, burlesque knockabouts, and McCann's Irish terriers and leaping hounds prove strong attractions. An augmented orchestra is kept well in hand by Mr. Conway.

QUEEN'S THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Proprietors, Messrs. C. Beanland and W. Emerson; Manager, Mr. W. Emerson.—Some excellent turns are provided here. Los Granadas head the bill, and give a popular and pleasing comedy act, Sensational Happenings Outside an Hotel. Wisper receives much applause for his comedy juggling entertainment; the Prinellas (Joe and Liècee) in their corn-field scena, A Country Flirtation, give a most popular turn; the Percys (Harry and Lillie) are clever duettists and dancers; Beattie Bloom sings well; Goe Gill in entertaining as a refined and funny comedian; Harry Plowden has won popularity as a quaint comedian; and the Two Daniels are much-appreciated negro comedians and dancers. The animated pictures by the Loyal Dominion Company conclude an enjoyable evening's entertainment.

CHATHAM. — THEATRE ROYAL. — Proprietors, Messrs. C. and L. Barnard; Acting-Manager, Mr. Lionel Barnard; Secretary, Mr. Geo. G. Ridley.—Messrs. E. Lockwood, R. Crossman, and P. M. Foster's company is this week presenting Sergeant Brue, and on Monday evening a fine audience assembled to renew their acquaintance with this interesting member of the force, who was represented most successfully by Mr. E. Russell, Michael receiving careful treatment at the hands of Mr. Tom Shelford. Miss Ella Daincourt makes a very attractive Aurora; and Miss Constance Berkeley a lively Daisy; Mr. Henry Chichester stage-manages and amuses as the eccentric Mr. Crank; Miss Edith Housley is adding to the many admirers created during her recent visit in Florodora; while Mr. Charles McLagan scores from start to finish as Crookie Scrubbs. All the principal numbers are encored, and the general staging of the piece is admirable.

BARNARD'S PALACE OF VARIETIES.—Sole Proprietor, Mr. L. B. Barnard.—Joe Reichen tops the bill here, and his performing dogs give a clever show; Atlas and his two daughters perform some feats of strength in a dexterous manner; Vulcana was to have appeared with them, but is unable owing to illness; Cliff and Keane are nimble dancers; Jenny Venton is making a welcome reappearance; J. C. Manley's coster ditty is well received; Lillian Claire and company amuse with Married all of a Sudden; Lacey's Erascope has a laughter-provoking film depicting the doings of a village fire brigade; while mention must be made of Spry and Monti's latest scena, The Dandy Guardsman, which bids fair to become as popular as the one they have given here on several previous occasions.

GAIETY THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Proprietor, Captain H. E. Davis; Manager, Mr. Frank B. Donne.—Arthur Stacey opens the ball here with song and dance, and is followed by Miss Lillian Neville, who sings some well-chosen ballads; Allis and Cassatti's scena causes much amusement; Martine and Son are liberally applauded for songs, which are illustrated by some pretty views; Stidder and Dunbar's music and mimicry give great satisfaction; the same remark applies to Sydney Dolf's contribution to the entertainment. The Edisonograph has an interesting film, entitled "A Trip to Niagara," and special mention should be made of the Boisset Troupe in their well-known act The Bricklayers.

CHELTENHAM. — OPERA HOUSE. — General Manager, Mr. H. Oswald Redford.—This week the management have provided a variety entertainment. Mr. Arthur Lennard heads the bill, singing several taking songs in his extremely pleasing and polished style; Miss Flo D'Orville gives an excellent character-sketch, "My pal Sally," and an amusing theatrical skit; the Sisters Jonghmanns have an up-to-date répertoire; a clever turn is supplied by the Norman and Leonard Trio; the Sisters Cromwell give a sketch in which daintiness and dexterity are combined; Lieut. Albini introduces the original "Vanishing Lady"; Slack and Milton are remarkable bar performers; and Vernon's Bioscope completes a good programme.

CHESTER. — ROYALTY THEATRE.—Proprietors, Messrs. Milton Bode and Edward Compton; Resident-Manager, Mr. C. B. Fountaine.—The attraction here is Mr. Geo. Dance's principal company in the charming comic opera, Veronique. Agatha is ably represented by Miss Doris Greville; Miss Edith Devonshire is well placed as Ermerence; the Misses Maud Leonard and Isobel Vivian score as Aunt Benoit and Denise respectively; Miss Ethel Negretti, in the title-rôle, sings and acts artistically. Mr. Rowland Bottomley gives a painstaking performance of Florestan de Vallancourt; Mr. Scott-Cullen does well as Seraphin; a couple of talented comedians are found in Messrs. Percival Knight and Tom Seymour as Loustot and Coquenard respectively. A well-balanced chorus renders effective aid.

MUSIC HALL.—Agents, Messrs. Phillipson and Golder.—The St. Louis Picture Company, under the direction of Mr. Walter Hook, opened to a large audience on Monday night. Mr. Hook is exploiting Gaumonts' chronophone, and is making a huge success on his first visit here.

CHORLEY (Lancs).—GRAND THEATRE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. G. T. Santé; Acting-Manager, Mr. A. Hemingway. — Mr. F. Wybert Clive's company, in The Conscript, is here this week. Mr. Walter Steele capably impersonates the villain, Count Paul Hardiski; and Karl Truevitch, the conscript, and Nadia, his wife, are well portrayed by Mr. H. Creagh Hunt and Miss Lilian Ross respectively. The cast also includes Mr. Douglas Watson, Mr. William Head, Mr. Wybert Clive, and Miss Nellie Watson, all capable in their respective parts.

CLYDEBANK.—NEW GAIETY THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. R. C. Buchanan; Acting-Manager, Mr. Hebert J. Montague.—These boards are occupied this week by Mr. Wentworth Croke's company in My Sweetheart. Miss Minnie Palmer appears with great success as Tina; and Tony has a good representative in Mr. Robert H. Howard. Mr. Fred W. Leonard gives a clever characteristic sketch of Joe Shotwell; Mr. Alfred Ibberson causes much merriment as the dude, Dudley Harcourt; Miss Millie Silvestre does good work as Mrs. Fleeter; Mr. Alfred May is well placed as Farmer Hatzell; and Harold Bartlett is safe in the hands of Mr. Leslie Tyler, and Miss Elsie Forster scores as Peek-a-boo.

COLCHESTER.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Sole Proprietor, Mr. Charles Macdona; Resident-Manager Mr. F. C. Upton.—Mr. Alexander Loftus is this week presenting The New Barmaid, and opened on Monday to a fairly large house. Mr. Loftus is the principal comedian, and is deservedly applauded for his drolleries, whilst he receives material aid from Mr. James Grant as William. Miss Amy Preston does well as Ethel Joy, a like remark applying to Miss Violet Osmund as Dora Heather, and Miss Graft as Brenda; Mr. Stephen Hall makes a highly-excitable Mons. Bonsor; and Mr. James Hawkes and Mr. Harry Collier are nicely placed as Captain Lovebury and Colonel Claymore respectively.

HIPPODROME. — Joint-Proprietors, Messrs. Fredk. Mouillot and Walter de Frece; General-Manager, Mr. Jack de Frece; Resident Manager, Mr. Ben de Frece.—The principal turn this week is Luis Hardt, the original boy Sampson, who is paying a return visit. Lily Flexmore, a marvellous dancing contortionist, is a great success; the Sisters Stratton sing some topical songs; Spencer and Evans introduce smart patter; and Marie Stoll and Laurie Stewart also contribute to the bill, and the pictures are really good films.

CONSETT.—NEW THEATRE.—Lessee, Mr. Hugh Robertson; Resident-Manager, Mr. Lloyd Clarance.—Mr. Henry Swinherd's company, in Dare-Devil Dorothy, is here this week. Mr. H. C. Barry as Silas Crump is an excellent comedian; Miss Dorothy Desmonde essays the title-rôle with great success; and as Judith Miss Nellie Harcourt is capital. Miss Marie Vere is good as Ruth Montrose; Mr. Walter Ashley and Mr. Henry C. Ward appear with satisfactory results as Captain George Fielding and Captain Edward Dudley respectively. The specialities introduced in Act III. by Miss D. Desmonde, Miss Nellie Harcourt, the Misses Mabel and Lillie Blake are well received, encores being the rule in almost every case.

CORK.—OPERA HOUSE.—Manager, Mr. John Horgan.—The Moody-Manners opera company opened a fortnight's engagement here on Monday night in Faust and had a most enthusiastic reception. Madame De Vere as Marguerita was a complete success. As Siebel Miss Mildred Bryan was attractive and sang with taste. Mr. Joseph O'Mara as Faust was at his best. He was in excellent voice, and his performance was fully appreciated. As Mephistopheles Mr. Charles Manners gave a splendid interpretation of the part, and his singing of the various numbers was loudly applauded. Mr. William Dever took the part of Valentine and sang in his usual good style. Mr. Renshaw as Wagner was most satisfactory. The choruses were capitally rendered, and the orchestra was under the baton of Herr Richard Eckhold. The Merry Wives of Windsor, Romeo and Juliet, The Marriage of Figaro, Il Trovatore, and The Bohemian Girl are also in the repertoire.

PALACE THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. Henry Kemble.—The programme presented here is most attractive. Miss Ella's performing lions is a wonderful performance. J. H. Carney, comedian, pleases in his character song, his quick changes being capital. Jessie Thorne, comedienne, sings charmingly. Les Montaldos supply a novel turn with a number of parrots, pigeons, and cockatoos—well trained as equilibrists. Astarte, the aerial nymph, gives a startling turn. Millie Williams is a capital vocalist and dancer. Marriott Edgar is a comedian with a nicely-trained voice. Mdlle Ameda is a graceful acrobat who wins warm applause.

COVENTRY. — THE EMPIRE. — Proprietor, Mr. Geo. Dance; Manager, Mr. A. Rand.—A most enjoyable programme is submitted this week. The chief attraction is La Milo, who causes a great sensation in her various perfect poses; Hill and Whittaker give a good musical turn; Miss Esta Stella is a chic comedienne and dainty dancer; the Avrigny Troupe of jugglers and equilibrists are exceptionally clever; the Twin Sisters Melba give some acceptable songs and dances; Mark Merry is a successful comedian; the Corcoran Brothers, as the musical shipbuilders, also appear; Vernon's Bioscope in up-to-date pictures is appreciated.

CRADLEY HEATH.—EMPIRE THEATRE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. John H. Morton.—Messrs. Nelson Barrett and Gus Levaine's pantomime, Cinderella, is delighting large audiences here. Miss Eva Travis makes a dainty and pleasing Cinderella; Miss Dora Denmark is a great favourite as Prince Charming; Miss Fanny Collins scores a "hit" as Dandini; Miss Lizzie Levaine is a winsome little Dorothy; Mr. Tom Ashby and Mr. Dave Anderson, as Ping and Pong, keep the house in roars of laughter; and Lord Tom Doddy as Buttons cannot be too highly spoken of. Miss Florry Anderson is well placed as Fairy Crystal; Mr. Arthur Collins makes a capital Baron Pebblybeach, ably assisted by Mr. James Mackenzie as the Baroness. Cinderella's two sisters, Margarina and Butterina, are in the capable hands of Mr. Arthur Farren and Mr. D'Arcy Mould, who help on the fun. Mr. Fred Terry is quite at home as Boniface; and Master Eugene McCabe sings excellently.

CREWE.—LYCEUM THEATRE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Henry Taylor, J.P.—Mr. Louis Calvert's company appeared here for the first three nights this week in Sunday, and was cordially received. Miss Emélie Polini's acting in the title-rôle was a revelation, and she soon became a warm favourite. Mr. Leonard Pagden gave a manly rendering of Col. Brinthorpe; Mr. Ernest A. Douglas's portrayal of Tom Oxley was well done; the "boys," Towzer, Davy, Lively, and Jacky, were a jolly quartette, the characters being ably sustained by Messrs. William Lockhart, Sidney Rennef, Cecil Yapp, and Arthur Vezin; Mrs. Naresby was delightfully played by Miss Rosalind Ross.

CROYDON.—GRAND THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. Lawson Lambert.—The musical fairy play, Two Naughty Boys, is admirably played here this week by Mr. George Edwardes' company. Mr. Nelson Keys is capital as Max; Mr. William Spray is very droll in the rôle of Moritz; Mr. Reginald Crompton gives a quaint rendering of the Schoolmaster; Mr. George Franklin causes laughter in the part of Hans; Mr. Lewis Grande is suitable as a Farmer's Boy; Messrs. Almonte perform some amusing antics as Lulu, the donkey; Master Ernest Hoylom is active as Fritz, the widow's dog; Mr. Richard Kavanagh makes up well as the Widow Bolt; Mr. D. A. Meely is successful as Bogey; Master Roy Lorraine deserves praise as the Brownie King; and Master MacAdam is adequate as Old Brownie. Miss Kate Bishop is satisfactory in the rôle of Granny Bauer; Miss Hazel Saqui is humorous as Agnes; Misses Angela Hope and Marie Lohre are pretty as Fairy Cobweb and Daffydowndilly; Miss Daisy Stratton makes an interesting and charming Grizel; and Miss Lydia Flopp is refreshing and neat in the part of Gretchen.

THEATRE ROYAL. — Managing Director, Mr. Samuel James; Acting-Manager, Mr. Charles Herrick.—Mr. Bulmer's company, in When Woman Hates, is the attraction here this week. Mr. T. C. Glenville is very convincing as General Sir Henry Rokeby; Mr. Leslie Lingham gives a good impersonation of Lieut. Fredk. Rokeby; Mr. C. Lodge Percy forcibly plays the part of Godfrey Lawton; the comedy element is in the excellent hands of Mr. Evan Roland and Mr. Walter Clarke, who create much merriment in the rôles of Patrick O'Brien and Alphonse Picolot; Mr. H. B. Davis is well received as Colonel Hiram Vancuston; and Mr. W. H. Wells is very good as Bill Smasher. Miss Mary Dalby is commendable as Mrs. Sally Potts; Miss Sybil Haughton is well placed as Miss Sally Potts; Miss Henrietta Schrier as Marie is a success; and her child, Nelly, is prettily represented by Miss Zara Dare. Miss Gladys Hawthorn as Edith Rokeby is excellent; and Miss Chrissie Dunbar as Cora Daintree proves herself a capable actress.

DARLINGTON.—THEATRE ROYAL AND HIPPODROME.—Licensee and Manager, Mr. James Bell.—Mr. J. Rice Cassidy's company, in the thrilling drama, entitled In Holy Russia, are having a big reception here this week. The part of Colonel Richard Forrest is taken by Mr. Cassidy, who does it full justice; Mrs. Rice Cassidy as Renee Rubinoff plays the leading part in an accomplished style; Mr. Joe Cuthbertson in the comedy part of Micky Nolan is a droll of the first water; Mr. Frank Copeland does well as Sir Harry Beresford; as Count Gregori Petrolski Mr. Martin Sands gives a clever impersonation; Mr. Carl Rovinelli makes a capital Nihilist leader; Miss Florence Creagh as Catsha Lavotski does a powerful piece of acting; Miss Annie Dudley is clever as Mrs. Richard Forrest; and excellent assistance is forthcoming from Mr. F. Lloyd, Mr. Claude Haviland, and Miss Evie Norman.

DARWEN. — THEATRE ROYAL. — Lessee, Mr. A. M. Loader; Acting-Manager, Mr. F. J. Robinson.—We are favoured this week with a visit of Messrs. Griffin and Drake's pantomime, Beauty and the Beast. Miss Vesta Fay makes a fine, dashing Prince, singing with power and charm; Miss Emmie Hands is very graceful as Beauty, and also sings well; as Starlight, Miss Glady Wells is charming. Good fun and plenty is provided by the comedians, Mr. Mark Lane being clever and original as the Page, Mr. Owen Edwin and Mr. Will Atom two very comical Bailiffs, Mr. Charles Rowen very entertaining as the Baron; and as the two sisters, Mr. Walter Rollat and Mr. Mark Merritt both do well. Excellent specialities are introduced by the Stanley Urchins, singers and dancers; the Griffin troupe of juvenile dancers; Mlle. Collard, with her burlesque lions and tigers; Lambert and Hands, in a pleasing song-scena; the three Sisters Geronde, vocalists and dancers; and Miss Carrie Sylvester, coloured vocalist.

DERBY.—GRAND THEATRE AND OPERA HOUSE.—Sole Proprietor and General-Manager, Mr. T. Allan Edwardes; Acting-Manager, Mr. Charles Denley.—The Carl Rosa Opera Company opened on Monday night with Carmen. Miss Doris Woodall characterised the fickle gipsy girl in a highly finished manner; the Don José of Mr. Julius Walther was sympathetic and impassioned, and his singing was an outstanding feature of the performance; Mr. Charles Victor played Escamillo with boldness and decision, his powerful flexible voice being heard to great advantage in the popular song of the Toreador; Micaela was engagingly acted by Miss Elizabeth Burgess; Mr. F. Glendon and Mr. Arthur Hyde were equally pleasing in the rôles of Dancairo and Remendado respectively, and the part of Zuniga was acted with vigour by Mr. Alec Richards. All the minor parts were capably sustained, and special mention should be made of the performances of Miss Ina Hill (Frasquita), Miss Dorothy Mayfield (Mercedes), Mr. Arthur Thomas (Morales), and Mr. A. Felton (Lillas Pastia). The instrumental music was done full justice to by the orchestra, under the conductorship of Mr. Walter Van Noorden, and the leadership of Mr. Theodor Swerdloff, the chorus was spirited in all that it did. On Tuesday night Faust was presented, with Mr. Edward Davies in the name part, Mr. Arthur Winckworth as Mephistopheles, Miss Grace Nicoll as Marguerite, Miss Dorothy Mayfield as Siebel, and Mr. Dillon Shallard as Valentine. On Wednesday the attraction was Il Trovatore, with Miss Elizabeth Burgess as Leonora.

PALACE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. T. Allan Edwardes; Assistant-Manager, Mr. Herbert Taylor.—Aza-Zebra and Vora are paying a return visit here this week, their Indian Pastimes as the star turn being heartily appreciated. Marie Jones, assisted by Ernest Munro, presents a quick-change sketch, entitled The Way to Win a Bet, in which she assumes no fewer that eight distinct characters. Jimson's novelty sketch, The Burglar's Surprise, introducing some well-trained dogs, is most amusing; Arthur Goodman, tramp juggler, adds in no small measure to the general enjoyment, and the same may be said of Fred Erick, comedian. W. G. Webber, bass vocalist, renders a couple of songs in most accomplished manner; Minnie Fenton is a vivacious comedienne, and soon makes herself a favourite; and the Palace Bioscope, with some highly diverting films, concludes an acceptable programme.

DEVONPORT.—METROPOLE THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. Geo. S. King.—A second edition of the pantomime, Dick Whittington, commenced on Monday, and plenty of new songs and comic business have

"Why, how thoughtful of you, James."

"Oh, ma'am, I haven't forgotten what master says about Odol."

"What is that, James?"

"Why, ma'am, he said to Mr. Jackson, he says, there's nothing to touch Odol for making a woman smile. He says, ma'am—I heard him my own self—he says Odol not only makes a woman feel nice but it makes her look nice says he—and"—— been introduced. Special mention must be made of the really clever performance given by Messrs. Carr and Carr (comedians), the patter, songs, and grotesque facial contortions of these accomplished artists accounting in no small measure for the success the pantomime has attained; another hard-working and highly amusing pair are Messrs. Walter Dale and W. P. Sheen (Idle Jack and Caroline respectively). Miss Hettie Gale still retains the part of Alice, her song "Fishing for a Husband" nightly earning a rich reward of chocolates and bon-bons; Miss Cissie Cleveland infuses plenty of "go" into the songs entrusted to her care; Miss Emily Constance is very creditable as the principal boy; Mr. Harry Gilmore provides plenty of fun for the youngsters as the Cat. We noted on Monday last the decorators had commenced painting and embellishing the theatre, and, judging from the work already done, the completion should have the effect of making the "Met" one of the prettiest theatres in the provinces.

DONCASTER.—NEW GRAND THEATRE AND EMPIRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. J. W. Chapman.—Mr. Harry Foxwell's company opened here on Monday with An Abandoned Woman. Mr. Wolston Foster ably portrayed Captain Herbert Seaton; and Mr. Charles Grant scored in his embodiment of Sir Marmaduke Seaton. Mr. J. Morton Wright gave an impressive rendering of Robert Saunders; and valuable support was given by Mr. W. J. Leill as Phillipe Malvoisin. Mr. Harry Foxwell in the rôle of Paddy Boyle, and Miss Elsie Dean, who represented Sally Sloper, provided an abundance of humour. Miss Georgette Thierry's enactment of the titular rôle was most successful; Mr. Will Glaze was alert and effective as Sammy Sharp; and a like recognition is due to Little Frances Maddocks as Moira Dean. Miss Lily Addison gave a good account of La Celeste; and Mrs. Harry Foxwell embodied Eleanor Dean with successful results.

DUBLIN.—GAIETY THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mrs. Michael Gunn; General-Manager and Secretary, Mr. Charles Hyland.—A crowded house was present here on Monday night to witness the second edition of Sinbad the Sailor. The principal comedians have introduced new drolleries, which add to the general merriment. The leading ladies also contribute several new local numbers, which are highly appreciated, and the dances executed by the Cavallazzie Quartette are a much-admired feature of the pantomime.

THEATRE ROYAL.—Managing-Director, Mr. Mouillot; Resident-Manager, Mr. George Parrington.—On Monday evening Mr. Frederick Mouillott produced his annual Christmas pantomime, Mother Goose, which was enthusiastically received by a full house. An abundance of boisterous fun is provided, the gags are amusing, several new songs are rendered in admirable style, and the dances are well executed. Miss Carlotta as the principal boy scores a decided success, her songs being frequently redemanded, and she is apply supported by Miss Molly McIntyre in the rôle of Jill. As Gretchen Miss May Moore Duprez has established herself a favourite; her songs and dances are vociferously applauded; and Mr. John Donald is excellent as the Demon Ravages. Mr. Martin Adeson infuses great humour into the part of Mother Goose; and as her son Jack Mr. William Cromwell is responsible for much fun. Messrs. Harrigan and Holt as the O'Rourke and Paddy, his brother, lend able support to the comicalities; and Miss May Rawlinson is pleasing, and sings effectively, as the Fairy Queen. The Saker Harlows give some entertaining knockabout business; Miss Annie Kenwick as Lord Shamus and Miss Elsie Roby as Lady Biddy are both good in their respective parts; and the Mayor of Tapham is well impersonated by Mr. J. R. Marsden.

QUEEN'S THEATRE. — Lessee and Manager, Mr. J. W. Whitbread; Acting-Manager, Mr. John M. Dawson.—This week the boards are occupied by Mr. Robert Perris's No. 1 company in the American drama A Fight for Millions. Mr. J. L. Schofield submits a good representation of the railway magnate Hudson Rivers; and Miss Elma C. Turner displays ability and grace as Helen Dudley. Miss Norah Kingsley carefully delineates the rôle of Mrs. Hudson Rivers; and the part of Richard Dudley is well embodied by Mr. Alex. C. Grant. The comedy element is well looked after by Mr. Karl H. Edwards as Willie Neverwork, and he is well supported by Miss Rosie Kearne as Mag Brady and Mr. Nicholas Conway as Harold Hobbs. Mr. John C. Carlyle makes an admirable Tom Manley; and Miss Dorothy Wilkinson as Little Madge scores a distinct success. Mr. H. Ames is well placed as Solomon Moses; and Miss Alwynne Ermon makes a good impersonation as Pearl Rivers.

EMPIRE.—General-Manager, Mr. Frank Allen; Acting-Manager and Secretary, Mr. George H. Marsh.—Fred Karno's company of comedians are again topping the bill here this week, and causing no end of laughter in the sketch Mumming Birds. Conway and Leland, the merry monopedes, create great hilarity, and D. W. Watson, cornet and post-horn soloist, meets with appreciation; Miss Ethel Dunford, in a good selection of songs, obtains much applause, and Sam Shipley scores successfully as a vocal comedian; the Macarte Sisters are seen to advantage in a beautiful serpentine dance act; Mr. H. F. Wilson wins good opinions as a tenor vocalist; and Nono, comedian and dancer, is well received. The Empire Pictures are, as usual, interesting.

TIVOLI.—General-Manager, Mr. Charles M. Jones; Secretary, Mr. H. A. Murphy.—A capital programme here this week is headed by an amusing sketch, Willie Off the Yacht, presented in fine style by Miss Cora Williams and company. Cairns and Lynch in a buck dancing act prove a popular turn, and the Lovelaces, song illustrators, are accorded a hearty reception; Hilda and Leigh prove highly entertaining in their sketch, Another Man's Wife, and Dundas is quite successful as an actor-vocalist; the Ringing Trio present a laughable trifle, entitled The Manager's Lunch, and some excellent juggling is performed by Coma; Les Freres St. Clair create considerable amusement with their comedy cycle act, and Rozel is a clever gymnast. The Bioscope is also an attraction.

DUMFRIES. — THEATRE ROYAL. — Lessee, Mr. W. E. Potts; Manager, Mr. Payne-Seddon.—This week Mr. Charles Macdona's company appeared the first three nights in the musical play, Three Little Maids. The Misses Mabel Kerridge, Daisy Sylverton, and Eva Weigh well impersonated the Branscombe girls, Ada, Hilda, and Edna; Miss Kate Graham Beck was successful as Lady Mallory; Miss Laura Wright as Gretchen was most amusing; the Misses Hilda Sterricker, Bertha French, and Nellie Clapton, as Lady Rosemary Beaulieu, Venitia Grafton, and Lady Marjory Crichton were all charming; Mr. Frank Henderson as Lord Cheyne caused much merriment; Mr. Eric Barrington as M. de L'Orme was well received; Mr. W. Burgess Barret as the Rev. Mr. Branscombe was excellent; Mr. Frank Wilson as Bryan Molyneaux gave a good rendering of his part; and Mr. Bert Barton as Cupid, a caddy, was humorous.

DUNDEE. — PALACE THEATRE. — Managing-Directors, Messrs. Rosen and Bliss; Manager, Mr. E. J. Dexter.—A strong all-round company is appearing here this week, the place of honour being accorded to Amy Anderson and company's screamingly funny farce, The Banana Queen. The Cattaneos Troupe present an exceptionally clever acrobatic turn, the comedy business introduced being very enjoyable; Ernest Montefiore and company, in their pathetic sketch, The Little Colonel, score a well-earned success; Harry Cotton, comedian, is an amusing "cuss"; the Musical Keiths, novelty instrumentalists and operatic xylophonists, provide a capital turn; Fannie Humber, comedienne and skipping-rope dancer; Rosie Reval, characteristic comedienne; Fred Villiers, vocalist; and the Lashmars, in a smart comedy act, prove successful. The entertainment is completed by Vernon's Imperial Bioscope, with a fine selection of new films.

GAIETY THEATRE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. R. A. P. Williams.—Mr. Williams' pantomime, The Babes in the Wood, which was produced last month at the Opera House, Dunfermline, made its bow to a Dundee audience on Monday evening, when a packed and delighted house gave it a good send-off. There is an abundance of good comedians, principal amongst whom is undoubtedly Mr. George Melvin, who, as the Babes' Nurse, is the life and soul of the pantomime. Mr. Charles Howorth as the Baron has a lot to do, and does it well; Mr. Alec Allison is a huge success as Jeames, the Baron's man-of-all-work; while Mr. G. Allison proves a comical Friar Tuck. Mr. Jack Chant and Mr. Walter Emery are the Babes, and very droll children they are; as the Villains, the Stebbings are responsible for much mirth, their combat scene being excruciatingly funny; Miss Mai Duncan makes a dashing and handsome Robin Hood; and Miss Alice Chant a captivating sweetheart. Miss A. Gellatly is a delightful Fairy Queen. Specialities are introduced by the Three Henriques, comedy acrobats; Chant and Chant, comedy duo; Brothers Allison, sand dancers; and George Melvin, Scotch comedian.

EMPIRE THEATRE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Frank Percival.—Messrs. Stillwell and Teulon's company, in the romantic drama, Queen of the Night, is paying a welcome return visit here. Miss Annie Brunette appears in the title-rôle, and plays all through with wonderful vivacity; as the hero, Frank Featherstone, Mr. Paul E. Teulon gives an admirable rendering of the part; while Mr. Harry Belford as the bibulous old Briskett, presents a very fine character-study.

DUNFERMLINE.—THEATRE ROYAL AND OPERA HOUSE.—Sole Lessee and Manager, Mr. W. E. Potts.—The pantomime, Mother Goose, is the attraction here this week. Mr. J. Telly Dillsen gives an exceptionally good impersonation of Mother Goose; and Miss Gertie Douglas as Colin is a dashing principal boy. Mr. Sam Thomson, who undertakes the part of Sandy Cook, is a clever comedian; Mr. Tom Packer does full justice to his part of Squire Stoneybroke; Miss Kitty Hildrew is a sweet Phyllis; Mr. Tom Nearney gives a creditable representation of Lawyer Graball; Mr. Arthur Lee Todd puts in some splendid work as Sergeant Muttonhead; Mr. James Chartres renders good assistance as Toby Truncheon; Miss Nan Dowling is successful as Jack; Dolly Dimple is nicely impersonated by Miss Wynnie Darrell; the Demon King and the Fairy Queen are respectively undertaken by Mr. Michael Kemble and Miss Catherine May, both being possessed of good voices, and who admirably portray their characters. The chorus is excellent. The singing and dancing by the Stuart Quartette add much to the night's enjoyment. De Ora gives a wonderful and clever gymnastic turn.

EASTBOURNE. — PIER PAVILION. — Manager, Mr. George Hayes.—Mr. J. D. Hunter's pantomime of Little Red Riding Hood is paying its annual visit to this place. Mr. J. D. Hunter is again an excellent Dame Trot, and his suffragette song creates much fun. Mr. Lauri Wylie makes a very happy Baron; his imitations as a Liliputian are very smart and clever. Mr. Fowler Thatcher does capital work as Tommy Green; Mr. George Meyer, an old favourite, gets many laughs as Johnnie Stout; Mr. Howell Seguin is a conspicuous success as Wolferino; and Mr. B. C. Gunnel does well as Willie. Miss M. Sadie, pretty, happy, and buoyant, is a principal boy of the best kind; Miss Cissie Wade, a sweet singer, is a charming Red Riding Hood, Miss Vera Dudley an attractive Boy Blue, Miss Beattie Lyndon a prepossessing and smart Rosa; and Miss Elaine Cliffe sings admirably as the Fairy Queen. Miss Rosa Rosetti in her musical mélange contributes one of the most pleasing and artistic items of the programme.

ECCLES.—GRAND THEATRE AND OPERA HOUSE.—Proprietor, Mr. C. Hamilton Baines; Manager, Mr. Albert Orton; Secretary, Mr. P. Ryan Smith.—Mr. Harry Fischer's pantomime company in Cinderella occupies the boards here this week. Miss Julia Bassett is a great success as Prince Perfect; Miss Empsie Bowman as Cinderella meets with a reward which is richly deserved; Miss Adele Lincoln makes a capital Dandini; Mr. Ernie Mayne as Jack Pickles upholds his reputation in an able manner; the Ugly Sisters are well impersonated by Mr. Chas. Tempest and Mr. Mark Sandown; the character of Baron Bunkum is well looked after by Mr. Johnny Johnstone; Flipper and Flopper, the bailiffs, are well represented by Messrs. Conan and Doyle; and the Verona troupe of dancers give a clever exhibition.

EDINBURGH.—ROYAL LYCEUM THEATRE.—Proprietors, Messrs. Howard and Wyndham, Ltd.; General-Manager, Mr. Geo. T. Minshull.—Mr. George Edwardes's company is here in the new comic opera See-See. The company includes several actors and vocalists well known and popular in Edinburgh. Mr. Frank Danby as Hang-Kee sustains with admirable art the principal comedy part. To this clever actor is largely due the laughter and enjoyment of the audience, a work in which he is ably assisted by Mr. W. H. Rawlins as Chevo in the second act. Mr. Leonard Mackey as Yen is particularly successful; he acts with ease and distinction, and sings with culture and dramatic power. A charming representative of the title-rôle has been found in Miss Lily Elsie, a graceful and accomplished actress, and a singer whose lovely voice has been carefully trained. Miss Amy Augarde gives prominence to the part of Mai-Yai, a fortune-teller, and her effective vocal method compels enthusiastic applause. Miss Octavia Barry has little to do as Mino-Yao, but the single number which falls to her part is brilliantly rendered. The perfection of dancing is shown by Miss Topsy Sinden in many beautiful movements, her exhibition of the dances of different nationalities being especially happy. Miss Sybil Grey, Miss Lilian Hewetson, Miss Adeline Lester, and Mr. John Byron do excellent service. The choruses are sung in a manner which gives great satisfaction, and Mr. Frank E. Tours conducts with ability.

KING'S THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. R. C. Buchanan; Acting-Manager, Mr. Amand Mascard.—The beautiful pantomime, Cinderella, so elaborately produced by Mr. Robert Courtneidge, continues to fill this theatre nightly. Miss Violet Englefield has been indisposed, and her part of the Prince has been successfully played for several evenings lately by Miss Dorothy Ward, a clever, handsome actress. Mr. Dan Rolyat, Mr. John Humphries, Mr. Stephen Adeson, and Mr. Ray Russell keep the audience in high spirits, and the graceful work of Miss Phyllis Dare in the name part, the sprightly dancing of Miss Gwennie Hasto, and the telling acting of Miss Dorothy Chard as the Fairy Godmother lead to ever-growing interest. The dance by Miss Dare, in which she is assisted by little Miss Adair, is encored every evening.

EMPIRE PALACE THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; Acting-Manager, Mr. W. Parham Wells.—Mr. Leo Stormont and company are prominent in this week's bill with their condensed version of Rob Roy, which is presented in an admirable manner, Mr. Stormont making a vigorous outlaw, with Mr. George Hunter a characteristic Bailee, and Miss Madge Flynn a typical Helen; while good support is given by Mr. Forrest Niven as the trusty Dougal, Mr. Wilton Reed as Rashleigh, and Mr. Frederick Harker as Captain Thornton. The Aurora troupe of bicycle riders display, if possible, more than their wonted daring and dexterity in their interesting performances; Miss Nina Gordon's clever imitations of well-known variety stars are favourably received; the grotesque acrobatic business of Manning's Entertainers in The Hotel Boots affords much diversion; and Griff, in a comedy scene, introduces some smart juggling and hoop-rolling. Another amusing comedy turn is that of Phil and Nettie Peters, who prove themselves an exceedingly comical couple. Mr. Jimmy Shields sings very pleasingly, and dances, with the aid of his crutch, in effective style. The efforts of Mr. G. W. Hunter, whether as a singer or a raconteur, are greatly enjoyed by his hearers; Paulinetti and Piquo display considerable skill and agility on the horizontal bar; Miss Winnie Gordon is an artistic sifflleuse, and The Order of the Bath sketch by Miss Lilieth Leyton and Mr. John Spurling creates not a little merriment.

COOKE'S ROYAL CIRCUS.—Proprietor, Mr. John Henry Cooke.—Ally Sloper's Half-Holiday continues to be the leading attraction of an otherwise well-varied and attractive bill; and on Monday evening Funny Niddy Vokes, the popular clown who impersonates Mrs. Sloper with marked success, received a benefit. Competitions in melodeon-playing and Highland dancing were held on the occasion, and silver medals, given by Mr. Cooke, were awarded to the victorious competitors. Mlle. Yetta's novel performance on the slack-wire is well received; Verne, a clever skater, gains great applause for his clever turn; the horsemanship and comic interludes are evidently much enjoyed by the audience; and the merits of the whole entertainment are in every way well sustained.

EXETER. — THEATRE ROYAL.—Chairman and Managing-Director, Mr. Edward J. Domville, J.P.—All who have seen Aladdin have been delighted. All the artists acquit themselves well. Miss Rose Helene is a prime favourite as principal boy; Miss Lulu Louden has charmed everyone by her winning manner as the Princess; Mlle. Ebba Darcier is heard to advantage in her songs; Miss Blanche Browne ably sustains the part of Pekoe; Mr. E. W. Amery as the Dame is an up-to-date comedian, and together with Mr. Fred Fowler, as the Magician, provides gags and topical allusions which cause roars of laughter. They are ably assisted by Mr. Harry Emeric, Mr. J. H. Booth, and Mr. Charles Ross, who all prove themselves talented artists. Messrs. Baroux and Bion evoke much laughter in their knockabout turn, and the Pauline sextette dance very prettily. The Athos troupe enhance their reputation as clever acrobats.

FALKIRK.—GRAND THEATRE AND OPERA HOUSE.—Managing-Director, Mr. R. C. Buchanan; Resident-Manager, Mr. Horace W. Ebbutt.—A Chinese Honeymoon is being presented this week at the Grand. It is produced by one of Mr. Charles Macdona's companies, and is dressed and staged in pretty and effective fashion. Mr. Harold Cotter as the Emperor Hang Chow invests the part with comic stateliness, and Mr. Louis Ashmede in the capacity of Lord Chancellor Chippie Chop is amusing. Mr. J. Maxwell Edwards as Tom Hatherton has a good voice, which he uses to considerable advantage. As the effervescent Mr. Pineapple Mr. Ernest Sefton is very refreshing, while as Mrs. Pineapple Miss May Davis is delightful. Miss Alma Bolton admirably represents the character of Mrs. Brown; Miss Kitty Clayton is a tricky Fi-Fi, and Miss May Stevenson as Soo-Soo is charming. The singing and dancing are very enjoyable.

FARNWORTH.—QUEEN'S THEATRE.—Proprietor and Manager, T. Morton Powell.—This week we are having a visit from Mr. Andrew Melville's company in Driven from Home. Mr. Felix Pitt as Anthony Raybrook gives a capital representation; Mr. Herbert Young does well as Walter Hatherleigh; the part of Geoffrey Waring has a capable exponent in Mr. Frederic Sandy; Mr. Leonard Aardale as Willie the Outcast plays creditably; Mr. F. C. Imbert as John Anderson is responsible for the humorous element; and Mr. Harry Cornwall as Jabez Thomas is all that can be desired. Miss Beatrice Western in the dual rôles of Laura Raybrook and Walter Hatherleigh the younger, meets with well merited success; and Miss Enid Wilde as Margaret Bailey plays in a natural and convincing manner.

FLEETWOOD.—QUEEN'S THEATRE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. H. J. Snelson.—This week Mr. Carr Loates' company present the comedy-drama At the World's Mercy. Mr. Loates is very successful as Captain Frank Manley; and Jabez Barber is ably represented by Mr. Geo. D. Knight. Mr. Henry Fergusson makes a good Jew as Morris Goldstein; and Mr. W. H. Irving gives a good portrayal of Slouching Sam. Mr. Alf. Dawson as Charlie Smart, and Kathleen Loates as Kitty Knott supply excellent humour, together with songs and dances, and keep the house in a continual roar of laughter; Alice Matthews is well suited in the part of Alice Lloyd; and Cissie Milford shows some good acting as Skittles. Little Daisy, as Captain Manley's daughter, Dot, is also exceedingly clever.

FOLKESTONE.—PLEASURE GARDENS THEATRE.—Manager, Mr H. W. Rowland.—The attraction this week is Mr. Frank Bertram's company in The Breed of the Treshams. Mr. H. Tripp Edgar puts in some fine work as Lieut. Reresby (The Rat); Mr. Oswald Lingard ably acts the rôle of Viscount Dorsington; Mr. Richard A. Green is uncommonly good as the villain Colonel the Hon. Clement Hungerford; Mr. George Traill deserves mention as Sir Henry Curwen; Miss Nellie Clyde gives an admirable delineation of Margaret; Miss Miriam Holt makes the most of her opportunities as Helena; Miss Violet Agnew is successful as Mrs. Bagshaw; and Miss Celestine Bertram's rendition of the part of Batty is perfect in every detail.

GAINSBOROUGH.—KING'S THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. Arthur Carlton; Resident-Manager, Mr. J. H. Stead.—On Monday and Tuesday Mr. Mouilliot's company appeared to crowded houses in The Blue Moon. Mr. F. W. Bowes and Mr. Chas. Stephenson caused roars of laughter as Moolraj and Private Taylor. The latter had a clever companion in Miss May Audrey as Millicent Leroy; Mr. Victor Wallace sang excellently as the Major; Mr. F. W. Wallace and Mr. Basil Mercer capably represented Capt. Ormsby and Bobbie Scott; the Prince had an imposing representative in Mr. F. Inwood; Miss Dorma Morgan was a charming Evelyn; and in the title-rôle Mlle. Marguerite Nauden sang sweetly.

GATESHEAD.—KING'S THEATRE.—Lessee, Mr. M. S. Hammond; Licensee, Mr. Ed. Johnson; Resident-Manager, Mr. H. Arnold. — Pantomime has abdicated, and variety returns here after a month's absence. The San Carlos Trio of Italian operatic vocalists make their initial appearance in this country. Two ladies and one gentleman form the trio, and brilliantly costumed, give selections from popular operas as well as Italian ballads in fine style, singing exquisitely and acting well. They are a trio of cultivated singers and supply a "turn" which would adorn any bill. The Mezettis present a comedy gymnastic act which is one of the smartest things ever seen here. The Herald Comedy Four, in an Indian scena, comprising harmony, comedy, and dancing, achieve a huge success; and Emmie Ames delights us with a novel song entitled "Emmie's Christmas Tree." Harry Bancroft's rendering of "Sea-gull" wins merited praise, and another actor and character vocalist in the person of Charles Stevens is thoroughly appreciated. A lady contortionist of great ability is La Belle Nello; and Jessie Burnett, comedienne, and pictures by Vernon's Bioscope complete the bill.

METROPOLE THEATRE.—Lessees, Messrs. Bolam and Bacon; General-Manager, Mr. Sidney Bacon; Acting-Manager, Mr. Thos. France.—Messrs. Glenville and Osmond's company is here this week in The Still Alarm. Mr. George Arthur submits a skilful rendering of John Bird; Mr. Matthew H. Glenville scores decisively in the part of Jack Manley; a very humorous Willie Manley comes from Mr. Tom Beasley; Mr. Lewis Gordon presents a polished Franklin Fordham; Miss Maud Warburton makes a charming Elinor Fordham, and Miss Gertie Reid as Carrie Wilber is very successful; Miss Mabel Veriton does well as Mrs. Manley.

QUEEN'S THEATRE.—Lessees, Messrs. Bolam and Bacon; General-Manager, Mr. Sidney Bacon; Acting-Manager, Mr. Stephen Smith.—Messrs. Carpenter and Cooper's company appears here in the drama, The Spider and the Fly, and have done good business. Mr. Stanley S. Gordon as Cyril Girdlestone is very successful in an exacting part; a powerful villain is found in Mr. Ellis J. Preston; Mr. H. C. Lanceley gives a clever rendering of the Rev. McAllister; Mr. Reginald Payne has a congenial task as David Strong, and takes full advantage of his opportunities to score; very quaint is Mr. Chas. Russell as "Hard" Roe, who, together with Mr. Chas. A. Preece ("Soft" Roe) is responsible for many a laugh; the varying emotions of Edith McAllister (the fly) are reflected with distinct success by Miss Nina Vaughton; Miss Amy Venimore as Stella Grey (the spider) is seen to great advantage; Misses Lucy Murray and Ada Palmer ably depict humorous characters.

GLASGOW.—THEATRE ROYAL, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. F. W. Wyndham; Acting-Manager, Mr. Percy Humphreys.—Dick Whittington goes on his journey merrily here, and capital business results. The splendour of the scenery, the staging, and the dressing are much admired, while the efforts of the company to carry the production through to a successful issue are as strong as ever. The pantomime has many notable features, as witness the fun by Messrs. Will Evans and Downes and Longford, in the Garden scene; then Mr. W. F. Frame is very happy in his new Scotch song, which takes well, and his patter is also good. Mr. Bransby Williams is a perfect success in his impersonations of great actors, which are a fine feature; as the hero, Dick, Miss Madoline Rees sings in an engaging and delightful manner; as does Miss Lena Vere, the Alice of the cast, both ladies working well together. Misses Edna Morgan, Mena Brae, and Aimee Grey are conscientious and clever artists; they sing and dance in excellent style. Notable is the favour extended to the Tiller Troupe of dancers and Mme. Grigolati's flying ballet, by the audience. They all achieve success, and they thoroughly deserve it.

ROYALTY, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. F. W. Wyndham; Acting-Manager, Mr. Wm. M. Downie.—After an absence of a few months, Messrs. A. and S. Gatti and Charles Frohman's company has returned here for a short season, in The Belle of Mayfair. For the parts of the modern Romeo and Juliet, the company is fortunate in possessing two such attractive and interesting performers as Miss Alice Russon (Julia Chaldicott) and Mr. Vernon Davidson (Raymond Finchley); the heads of the rival houses are also capitally represented, the fire-eating Carl of Mount Highgate by Mr. Arthur Hatton, and the suave and amusing baronet, Sir John Chaldicott, by Mr. Fred Rolph; Mr. Wensley Russell sings, acts, and dances in excellent style as Hugh Meredith; Mr. Robert Whyte, jun., gives proper accent and gesture to the rôle of Comte de Perrier; as Captain Theobald, Mr. Arthur W. Metcalfe displays a gentlemanly bearing; and the parts of the Footmen are adequately filled by Messrs. Harry Huntley, White Wentworth, and Crespan. Miss Joan Keddie makes a pleasing Princess Carl, singing several lyrics with charming effect; Miss Barbara Huntly enters into the part of Lady Chaldicott with spirit; Miss Maud Aston is good as the saucy maid, Pincott; Miss Rosa Snell gives distinction to the part of Lady Rosaline; other ladies of quality being attractively represented by Misses Lily Stuart and Christine Rayinski. The play is produced by Mr. Herbert Cottesmore, and the orchestra is under the command of Mr. Alfred C. Trone.

KING'S, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. F. W. Wyndham; Business-Manager, Mr. H. Macfarlane.—After a month's run in Edinburgh, Mr. George Edwardes' company, in The Merveilleuses, opened here on Monday for a similar stay. A crowded house gave a hearty welcome to the latest musical piece, and, from the enthusiasm, it is easy to predict a success during the four weeks the play is to run. Miss Anna Hickisch acts with much animation as Lodoiska, and her singing is full of dramatic force; Miss Deborah Volar as Illyrine makes her successes more by the tuneful quality of her songs, the "Cuckoo" song, in particular, being rapturously encored; Miss Thelma Raye is a charming Pervenche, and has also some pretty numbers allotted to her. In fact, the company is specially well equipped with singers of merit. Miss Vivian Talleur as a dancer makes a hit in the part of St. Cyr, being wonderfully neat and agile; Miss Dora Langham, as Egle, is only afforded one chance to shine, in her song, "I always come back to you," with its accompanying dance, but she scored well, being ably assisted by Mr. Willie Warde, jun., as Des Goutheres; Mr. W. Talleur Andrews is a vocalist of striking merit, and his Dorlis is a fine performance, from his first dramatic scena right to the final scene; Mr. Eric Thorne as St. Amour has one of those eccentric parts in which he fairly revels, and not a point is missed; he has a new topical song, which went well; Mr. J. Robert Hale as Lagorille is accorded a hearty reception, and his performance as the elegant dandy is specially good; Mr. Lennox Pawle has joined the company here for the part of Tournesol, and his acting as the stolid police agent is richly comic. As the more volatile rival agent, Malicorne, Mr. Jack Cannot ably assists in the fun-making, and has a smart topical ditty and a new "detective" song; Mr. C. Reynold as the waiter at the Café Caveau, Mr. George Curzon and Mr. Harold Thorley as two dandies, Mr. J. Walker as Ragot and Mr. F. Stewart as Giffiart, complete an able cast of principals. The chorus is large and attractive, the rich dresses of the Directoire period were particularly handsome, and the augmented orchestra and chorus are ably controlled by Mr. Harold Vicars.

GRAND, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. R. C. Buchanan; Acting-Manager, Mr. D. Macfarlane.—The House that Jack Built continues to crowd the Grand to its utmost capacity at every performance, matinée and evening, and the funny business of Messrs. Fred Kitchen, Harry Lappo, and the Harmony Four, with the bright acting and singing of Misses May Mars, Luna Love, Frances Kapstowne, and the clever little girls, Maudie Francis and Wee Mona, combine to make a most attractive entertainment.

ROYAL PRINCESS'S.—Proprietor, Mr. Rich. Waldon; Acting-Manager, Mr. Hugh Murdoch. — Mother Goose is proving a veritable goose with golden eggs here, and the audiences are as large as ever. Miss Ethel Campbell and Miss Ella Retford make a charming pair of principals; the Sisters Hall, as second boy and girl, are strong favourites; and the comedians, Messrs. Foreman and Fannan, Austin Lenton, Wal Croft, and Harry McClelland, form a most entertaining combination.

METROPOLE. — Managing-Director, Mr. Arthur Jefferson; Manager, Mr. W. Gillespy. — In The Babes in the Wood pantomime, Miss Rose Hamilton is the bright particular star, and on Monday evening she was the recipient of numerous tokens of appreciation from delighted admirers in the stalls, while a beautiful floral basket was presented by the Ten Dixie Girls on the occasion of her birthday, for which Miss Hamilton, in a few well-chosen remarks, returned her sincere thanks. She is ably assisted by a strong company, which includes Bernard and Weston, Ten Dixie Girls, Lucy Lynch, Cecilia Maude, and the ever-popular Albert and Edmunds.

LYCEUM.—Proprietor, Mr. Rich. Waldon; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. H. Oakden. — The pantomime, Dick Whittington, from Blackburn, is being played here by Mr. John Tiller's company, and that in itself is a guarantee of merriment. To Miss Jessie Templeton is given the part of Dick, and her rendering of "The Bungalow in Borneo" is certainly one of the hits of the piece. As the Cat, Mr. Morel does well, and is highly appreciated by the juveniles; an old Glasgow favourite, in the person of Mr. Sidney Vincent, is as popular as ever with his clever eccentric dancing; Mr. Herbert Garside plays the part of Alderman Fitzwarren with much acceptance; Mr. T. Gibbs as Sammy Saltpetre, and Miss Lizzie Hay as the Princess, are a pair whose double turns are highly pleasing; as the Emperor of Morocco, Miss Hilda Vining appears to advantage; while the evergreen Mr. Barney Dixon makes an Al Mate. Miss Dorothy Gould is a charming Alice; and Mr. Geo. Elliston, as the family cook, Eliza, is responsible for lots of fun. Jack Idle is hardly a suitable name for Mr. Will Lytton, for from start to finish he is ever to the front with his comicalities and smart dancing. The Tiller Quartette of dancers are ever welcome.

EMPIRE.—Proprietors, Moss Empires, Ltd.; District-Manager, Mr. S. Gething; Resident-Manager, Mr. Charles Mussett.—The attractive programme this week includes John Leopold's company in a farcical absurdity, The House Boat; the Kellinos do good work in a capital musical and Risley entertainment, A Fête in Venice; A. D. Robbins is a clever cyclist; Master Clifford and Cliff Ryland do well as comedians; Henry J. Corner and the Dandies give a praiseworthy turn. The others who contribute are Ernesto, juggler; Jessie Albini, comedienne; and the bioscope.

ZOO-HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, Moss Empires, Ltd., and E. H. Bostock; Resident-Manager, Mr. E. H. Bostock.—The principal item in the programme is the acrobatic sketch The Hotel Grand, by the Six Brothers Luck, Ltd., and it provides lots of lively knockabout fun; Marie Santoi's pretty Japanese scena is another good item, and is well received; a dramatic and pathetic play is contributed by Mr. and Mrs. Royston-Dene, entitled His Birthday; J. W. Mayers is a clever basso comedian, with a wonderfully low-set voice; Little Tichbourn sings well and dances neatly, C. B. Jerome, negro comedian; Arthur Melrose, sifflleur; Ethel Donna, comedienne and dancer; and Sid Bandon, with a clever song founded on Burns' famous line, "A man's a man for a' that," complete a very enjoyable programme.

PAVILION, LTD.—General-Manager, Mr Samuel Lloyd.—Lydia Yeamans is again starring here, and her diversified musical items are much enjoyed; the Mysterious Lilith's turn is cleverly worked, and most mystifying; the Bensons give a varied musical show; Roberty's Family submit a juggling and balancing turn, which includes some difficult and daring feats; Arthur Aldridge is a tenor with a fine voice and a good selection of songs; the Clayton Twins give their amusing farce, Which is Which? Tom Davis's Trio appear in their motor cycle display on an elevated tea-cup track; Wal Robbins, Maude Forde, and Lilian Warren in her illustrated songs, add variety to the entertainment.

COLISEUM.—Proprietors, Moss Empires, Ltd; District-Manager, Mr. S. Gething; Resident-Manager, Mr. Harry Burdette.—Fred Karno's company, in The Dandy Thieves, forms the star turn this week, in which the part of Sergeant Lightning is ably played by a gentleman who fills the breach caused by the lamented death of Dick Kitchen, which occurred in Falkirk last week. Mendel, the blind pianist, gives some brilliant improvisations on themes suggested to him by the audience; the Chester Sisters are pleasing singers, dancers, and banjoists; the Two Butterflies is the title assumed by a clever boy and girl who give a neat and graceful acrobatic turn; the Sarnthaler Troupe of Tyrolean vocalists present some well-blended harmonies and elegant dances; George Adams has a powerful baritone voice, and discourses popular songs effectively; Stacey and Williams are comedians who keep up a lively fusillade of jokes, which tickle the audience immensely; the American Bioscope fills up an interval pleasingly.

PALACE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Rich. Waldon; General-Manager, Harry McKelvie.—The excellent programme submitted here includes Victoria Monks, the popular comedienne; another interesting turn is that provided by Jean Seul, the Indian mystery; Doody and Wright, Australian comedians, also made a good impression. Other prominent artists include A. J. Gamble, Scotch comedian; Tom Leo, the lazy comedian; the Eltons, horizontal bar comedians; the Camerons, comedy artists; Anita Wayman, Scottish soprano; Mlle. Sara's Marblesque Trio, in classical poses; and the Biograph with a pleasing series of pictures.

GAIETY.—General-Manager, Mr. W. H. Howard; Acting-Manager, Mr. Harry Bowerman. — The Silver-Toned Quartette have made this week their first appearance in a series of plantation and other melodies; N. C. Bostock is as popular as ever in Glasgow; the Four Sisters Sligo, in guitar, banjo, bell, and vocal harmonies, please extremely; Fred Neiman gives a good ventriloquial display; R. C. Note and Cade Burnett, comedians, are both very acceptable; and Nellie Ellaine, comedienne, has had a pleasing reception. Daisy Devonport made a good appearance as a comedy singer; and one of the most enjoyable items on the programme is the bioscope.

GLOSSOP.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Sydney Spenser.—Mr. John Walter's pantomime company with Babes in the Wood is at the theatre this week, and drew a large house on Monday. Miss Bertha Cousins as Robin Hood is admirable, her song, "Zuyder Zee," meeting with success; Miss Fanny Adamson is pleasing as Maid Marian, her rendition of "Manitoba" being well received; Miss Jessie Yonde is successful as Dolly Dimple, and Mr. Frank Stanart scores as Soft Tommy; Miss Lillian Florence, who possesses a musical voice, is charming as Fairy Good Heart; Mr. Ally Benson is exceedingly droll as Dame Flossie; Mr. Ernest Thirlwag as Baron Wheresmecash is clever and amusing; the Babes—Miss Kitty Chester and Baby Blyth—win general favour for their singing and dancing; Messrs. Traynor and O'Connor as Blustering Bill and Wavering Wally cause roars of laughter; the Landor Brothers, two agile contortionists and acrobats, work capitally together throughout the piece; and Mr. Phil White makes the character of Policeman Run-em-in laughable; Miss Kitty Leske (Little John), Miss Edie Bracewell (Allen-a-Dale), and Miss Mildred Carr (Will Scarlet) submit excellent portrayals. Specialities are also given by the Sweet Sixteen Ballet troupe, the Emerald quartette of acrobatic dancers, and Y.Z., instrumentalists, who receive a full share of appreciation. The staging and scenery are excellent.

GLOUCESTER.—PALACE.—Owners, Messrs. C. W. and J. R. Poole; Manager, Mr. R. T. Rea.—Mr. J. W. Hall appears here with great success as a patter comedian; and Rita and Roma introduce a clever dancing and singing turn; Clarke's Nippers are a smart juvenile combination of athletic singing and dancing experts; another smart juvenile who earns a large share of applause is Joe Conway with his parodies; Garvetta and Parr are capital in a pot-pourri act, the impersonations being specially good; Miss Alice Maple entertains with song and dance, and Miss Mona Mona in the same line is quite successful; Billy Richardson, the stump orator, is cordially welcomed; the Jansons are novel gymnasts. The Bioscope is, as usual, to the fore.

GREAT YARMOUTH. — ROYAL AQUARIUM. — Proprietor and Manager, Mr. J. W. Nightingale.—Mr. G. Carlton Wallace's romance The Love that Women Desire is being staged here this week. Mr. J. O. Stewart ably represents Squire Abingdon, whose son Richard, the villain of the play, is played with much success by Mr. Alfred Brandon. Philip Carnaby is naturally and effectively acted by Mr. Jerrold Heather; Dr. Brandreth and the Rev. Arnold Cathorne find capable exponents in Mr. Gillson Brooke and Mr. Hugh Wallace; and a clever character-sketch is given by Mr. Leonard Montgomery as the outcast, Frank Hardy. Mr. John Hignett is droll as Dennis O'Rourke; and Mr. J. W. Wilkinson causes many a laugh as P.-C. Sowerberry. Miss Lalla Stanhope is excellent as Sybil Thorburn; Miss Cicely Desmond capably represents Madge Abingdon; Pattie Swift is brightly and vivaciously represented by Miss Nita Imeson; and Miss N. Griffiths is admirable as Mariquinha, an Indian maiden.

GREENOCK.—ALEXANDRA THEATRE.—Proprietors, The Greenock Theatre Co., Ltd.; Managing-Director, Mr. R. C. Buchanan; Resident-Directors and Managers, Messrs. A. B. and J. J. Wright.—Messrs. Armitage and Leigh's company in Leah Kleschna is paying a first visit here this week. Mr. Paul Belmore gives a masterful portrayal of Kleschna; Miss Bessie Rignold thoroughly grasps the possibilities of Leah; Mr. William F. Grant is an excellent Paul Sylvaine; Mr. Campbell Goldsmid does capable work as Schram; and Mr. Roland Daniel is well placed as General Berton; the Misses Ethel Russell and Helen Belgrave act admirably as Madame and Claire Berton respectively; Miss Violet Thorold is a pleasing Sophie, and the rest of the cast lend valuable support.

EMPIRE THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—General-Manager, Mr. H. L. Skivington.—This week's bill is headed by the "Marlo Dunham Trio," who give a smart gymnastic performance; Natalia and Diana distinguish themselves in the same line; Messrs. S. McNab and company present a mirth-provoking sketch entitled The Egyptian Mummy, which is a decided success; a clever and interesting acrobatic performance is presented by the Bros. Pasquali; Gus Merriman contributes an entertaining turn; The Lynches, in American picture songs, are successful, and the Empire pictures are up to date.

GRIMSBY.—PRINCE OF WALES'S THEATRE.—Chairman of Directors, Mr. H. J. Curry; Managing-Director, Mr. J. H. Curry.—The first pantomime of the present season here has been seen this week, Messrs Dottridge and Longden presenting their version of Aladdin. In every respect the pantomime has been a great success, the scenic and spectacular effects being excellent features. Aladdin was played by Miss Fanny Wright, who made a bright and vivacious principal boy, whilst Miss Kitty Brewster was an ideal principal girl, and her singing pleased everyone. Miss Mollie Woolstenhulme also scored vocal honours as the Fairy Queen. Mr. Daley Cooper's eccentricities as Abanazar were highly diverting, and Mr. Julian Mack, as Widow Twankey, was one of the quaintest of dames. The Bros. Brooks found opportunity to create a lot of fun as the Chinese policemen, and Mr. Joe Robins was an entertaining figure as the Grand Vizier. Specialities were given by the Brewster Troupe, who accomplished a smart military drill, and Robins and Collier, in a novel acrobatic act.

CURRY'S TIVOLI.—Chairman of Directors, Mr. H. J. Curry; Managing-Director, Mr. J. H. Curry; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. W. North.—The Dayton Family are in the front rank of risley performers. Harry Edson presented his dogs, a couple of remarkably intelligent specimens of their race. Mlle. de Vena contributed a smart juggling and club swinging act. J. W. Rickaby occasioned much laughter with his drolleries and quaint style, whilst the merriment was added to by David Poole, a ventriloquist, and the Dunvilles, comedy musicians. Alexandra Edwin sang pleasing ballads, and Squiff presented a novel speciality, introducing a number of mechanical surprises.

THE PALACE.—Managing-Director, Mr. T. A. Edwardes; Resident-Manager, Mr. T. W. Moyes; Acting-Manager, Mr. A. V. Allton. — A capital drama in miniature was seen in Retribution. It portrays an incident of Russian life, and there is a thrilling climax. It was presented by Herbert Terry and company. Larola displayed marked originality as a juggler. Not only were his feats clever, but he combined with them some highly amusing business. Much interest was taken in the performance of W. Permane's Siberian bears, and they gave evidence of careful training. Woolmer Young is a comedian with good songs, Arthur Elvy caused much amusement as a sporting comedian, and others taking part were Edwards and Dacre, in a humorous sketch, the Moxons, acrobats and musicians, and Rose Carbini, comedienne.

HALIFAX. — THEATRE ROYAL, LTD. — General-Manager, Mr. Otto C. Culling.—There is plenty of animation about Mr. Milton Bode's Dick Whittington pantomime, which is having a successful run here this week. Miss Gladys Warren is an ideal Whittington, and renders with charming effect "Zuyder Zee." As the happy-go-lucky Matilda, Mr. Fred Danvers has enhanced his reputation as a dame. He receives adequate assistance from Mr. Roland Martin, who is responsible for a mirth-provoking representation of Jack. Mr. Bob Hull also scores in the energetic rôle of Fitzwarren. The ladies in the cast have every opportunity to distinguish themselves. Miss Flo Challis is loudly applauded for her capital renditions of "Hello! Hello! Hello!"; Miss Kathleen Severn never fails to win appreciation as Alice; specialities are introduced by Wallan (juggler) and Collin's Six Lancashire Lasses.

PALACE AND HIPPODROME, LTD.—Resident-Manager, Mr. Ed. Harrison.—Mr. James Kiddie's Cinderella pantomime is being staged here this week. The title-rôle is artistically acted by Miss Edith Harmer, her singing being particularly good; Mr. Dick Thomas's assumption of the Baron is exceptionally droll; Mr. Sydney Benson and Mr. W. G. Wesley distinguish themselves as the Ugly Sisters; a good study of Pimples is presented by Mr. Tom Payne; an admirable Prince is Mlle. de Rose, who sings the various numbers allotted to her in artistic style; Miss Cissie Hughes as Knight of the Cross and Miss Pollie Kiddie as Viscount Pappe acquit themselves with credit; some dainty dancing is submitted by the Three Parisienne Girls and the Sylphide Troupe of lady dancers.

HANLEY. — ROYAL, LTD — Managing-Director, Mr. Chas. Elphinstone; Manager, Mr. Douglas Elphinstone.—Messrs. Armitage and Leigh's company is paying a welcome return visit in the Heath-Wilson Barrett version of East Lynne. As Lady Isobel, Miss Julie Kennard scores a distinct success, her impersonation being exceptionally powerful; Leveson finds an admirable exponent in Mr. Eric Mayne; Mr. Alfred Beaumont makes a most effective Archibald Carlyle; Miss Ethel Hardacre acts with much intelligence as Cornelia Carlyle; and Mr. C. C. Grattan, as Justice Hare, contributes a capital portrayal.

GRAND.—Managing-Director, Mr. Chas. Elphinstone; Manager, Mr. Alfred Edwardes.—Mr. Alfred Edwardes is progressing favourably towards recovery from his accident, and, in the meanwhile, Mr. James Wynes holds the managerial reins. The Pichel Troupe head the bill this week in their marvellous acrobatic performance; Austin Rudd is as successful as ever; Messrs. James Willard and company, in their dramatic sketch, Did He Deserve It? are much appreciated. Another sketch, which proves most interesting, is Dr. Spot's Patients, in which all the characters are admirably portrayed by Miss Dorina. Herbert Bates possesses a fine tenor voice, which is heard to advantage; Donald Keir and Mabel Kingston sing well; and Tiny Arnold is a remarkably clever girl, her dancing being excellent. Torbay, in a new shadowgraphy entertainment, provides an amusing turn. The pictures are good.

HARROGATE. — GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Wm. Peacock; Acting-Manager, Mr. C. F. Smith.—Mr. Frank Cellier, jun., and Miss Florence Glossop-Harris presented on the first three nights of this week Carmen. Miss Harris gives a good reading of the name-part. Mr. Frank Cellier, jun., was excellent throughout. He played well, and his handsome appearance made him an ideal Don José. Mr. Edwin Beverley did well as the toreador Escamillo, and the same may be said of Mr. Cotton Holmes and Mr. Edward Landor as Corporal Morales and Lieut. Mina respectively. Miss Kate Turner was good as Michaela, and sang well. Mr. Herbert Halford gave a capital sketch of Lillas Pastia.

HARTLEPOOL.—EMPRESS.—Proprietors, Messrs. Everton and Cragg; Manager, Mr. Harry Burns; Assistant-Manager, Mr. Charlie Ferrier.—Houses well filled assembled at both performances on Monday, and appeared to thoroughly enjoy the menu served to them. The list is headed by the Tan Kwai troupe of real Chinese acrobats, whose exhibition of juggling, acrobatic, and conjuring feats are the wonder of all beholders. Ada Fawn, ever welcome here, entertains as well as ever with some capital songs; Bob Hamilton, Scotch comedian, and Andy Fagan, comedian and dancer, are also old favourites at the Empress. Charles Bignall is responsible for much merriment; excellent athletic and strength exhibitions are presented by those boy wonders, the Stowe Bros.; some creditable impersonations of variety stars are given by James Toner, and the Bioscope pictures are exceptionally good.

HASTINGS.—GAIETY THEATRE.—Manager, Mr H. W. Rowland; Resident-Acting-Manager, Mr Charles E. Scutt.—Mr. Frederick Mouillot's principal company paid its first visit to Hastings on Monday in the musical comedy, The Girl Behind the Counter, and attracted a well-filled house. The piece was staged with lavish attention to detail, was well stage-managed by Mr. Godfrey Allsopp (who also appeared as Rudolph, a commissionaire), and the music was finely rendered by a largely augmented orchestra directed by Mr. Hubert Sullivan-Brooke. Miss Nora Brocklebank finely played the rôle of Winnie Willoughby, and her songs were well sung. The manly rôle of Charles Chetwyn was exceptionally well taken by Mr. Arthur Cartwright, and his ballads were warmly applauded; Mr. H. B. Clarke Chadwick also won success in his comic rôle as the General, his business eliciting roars of laughter; Mr. Howard Cridland as Viscount Gushington played the voluptuous fop cleverly; and Mons. Jules Charmettes was an excellent Mons. Duval. Miss Olivia Ettone made a fine appearance as Millie Mostyn, and her singing was much liked; Miss Edith McIntosh attracted favourable notice for her Ninette; and Miss Doris Langdon, as Susie, associated with Mr. Frederick Park as Adolphus Parks, won much applause.

HOYLAND.—METROPOLE.— Lessee and Manager Mr. Geo. S. King; Acting-Manager, Mr. Geo. R. Baker.—Miss Lena Stanton's and Harry Joseph's company opened to an excellent house on Monday evening with Sinbad the Sailor. Miss Stanton, in the title-rôle, is charming, her vocalism and dancing being excellent; a captivating Princess Yazora is found in Miss Marie Santley, who is heartily applauded; Miss Ethel Errol as Captain Selim and Miss Norah Neville as Irza are very good; Mr. Harry Joseph as King Krusty, M.U.G., and Misses Lillie Richardson and Jennie Bradbury as Princess Fatima and the Queen respectively are well received; Little Keeno as Tinbad the Tailor and Mr. Bruce Green as Mrs. Clifford Gibson Sinbad keep the house in roars of laughter; Messrs. Farrell and Gorman as Bizbad and Quizbad are good; and Shipwreckos finds an able exponent in Mr. Will Terry. Miss Dollie Richardson is a beautiful Fairy Good Fortune; and the Old Man of the Sea is well impersonated by Mr. B. N. George. Specialities are supplied by the Alhambra Girls; Wyman, trick skater; I. P. Durney, globe walker; the Deroneys; Farrell and Gorman; and J., the Ventriloquial Josser; who are well received, a special hit being made by Little Keeno in his clever impersonations.

HUDDERSFIELD.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietors, Messrs. Milton Bode and Edward Compton; Resident-Manager, Mr. W. J. Andrews.—Here, for its first visit, The Dairymaids was heartily welcomed by a large audience, who evidently thoroughly enjoyed the piece. It was smartly played by the clever cast engaged. This includes Miss Violet Lloyd, bright as Peggy; Miss Rhoda Gordon, an attractive Winifred; Miss Cissie Sephton, delightfully quaint as Eliza, whose lover, Joe Mivens, was played in an irresistibly diverting and breezy manner by Mr. Lionel Victor; Mr. E. Statham Staples was just bubbling over with fun and vitality as Sam, singing and dancing with equal vivacity; Mr. George Desmond was quite an adequate Brudenell; Mr. Alec Fraser sang with great taste as Captain Leverton. The less prominent parts were in able hands, notably Mr. Forbes Dawson as Dr. O. Bryne, Miss Madge Avery as Miss Pyechase, and Miss Edith Blanche as Lady Brudenell.

HIPPODROME, LTD.—Resident-Manager, Mr. N. M. Robinson.—At the head of the bill are the Phillipi Brothers and troupe, in their pantomimic absurdity, Shunting. The other turns are Joe Humphreys, descriptive vocalist; Henry Hilton, a very smart artist in sleight-of-hand; Miss Elsie Earle, comedienne; George Ridgwell, who sings with cultured method, "There's a man in Manitoba"; Ross and Grayson, a pair of thoroughly entertaining artists, who sing and play effectively; Arthur Woodville, light comedian; Mephisto and Marie, in a clever gymnastic turn; the Cee-Mee family of trapeze artists; and humorous pictures on the Biograph.

HULL.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Sole Lessee, Mr. W. Morton; Resident-Director, Mr. W. F. Morton.—The public appreciation of the pantomime has never faltered, and when this evening it makes its exit it will be to general regret. Miss Mora Hersee has made a fair reputation in the city, and Miss Minnie Miriam established herself as a favourite.

ALEXANDRA THEATRE. — Mortons, Ltd. — General-Manager, Mr. Geo. Morton.—The 10.30 Down Express is a drama much to the taste of the audience, who find in it many points to please. The Letitia Leigh of Miss E. M. Walton is a clever character-study. As the hero, Mr. George Beverley is distinctly good, and creates a very favourable impression. As the villain, Mr. Chas. Burden is most satisfactory.

THE HIPPODROME.—Lessee, Mr. Alfred Graham; Manager, Mr. Tom Lunn.—The Club Raid makes a welcome reappearance; Sylvesto is a smart contortionist; Frank Cumminger is a clever dancer; and other popular turns include the Smythsons, Charles Santon, and the Bros. Bright.

THE PALACE.—Manager, Mr. Jno. S. Barnett.—Chung Ling Soo performs some of his wonderful tricks; Charles Mildare, siffleur, gains a good reception. Other turns include Park's Eton Boys, Godfrey James, Harry Leybourne, Ruth Dorris, the Meymotts, the Three Renards, and Mlle. Marzella.

THE EMPIRE.—Lessee, Mr. Alfred Selwyn; Manager, Mr. Harry Slingsby.—Tarro Myaki, the Jujitsu wrestler, is loudly applauded here. Other artists include Shawlene, the St. Johns, the Nettas, and others.

THE CIRCUS.—Resident-Manager, Mr. E. Emerson.—Hermann's spectacular effort, King and Country, and Dick Turpin's Ride to York are the leading items. Other artists include Mr. H. Fossett (in a trick act), Miss Fossett (in a cake-walk), Mr. Holloway (bar act), Little Valdo (clown), Henri (in a wire act), Thos. Fossett, and Dan Gregory.

HYDE.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Sole Lessee, Mr. Fred Granville; Acting-Manager, Mr. A. K. Feather.—The Musical Savonas and Cycling Elliotts are here this week, and their unique musical entertainment and skilful cycling tricks have gained for them repeated recalls. Among the other artists are Dolly Andrews, a smart little comedienne, who scores in song and dance; Harry Mantle, a finished vocalist; Donald Cameron, whose Irish ballads are loudly applauded; Cavern and Cave, in a laughable sketch, entitled An Early Morning Dip; Hulbert, a clever ventriloquist; Mons. De Lil, an expert illusionist; Renson and White, whose quaint patter and humorous ditties are well received, and the Orchids, who provide a humorous turn.

OHMY'S CIRCUS.—The bill here is topped this week by Parsano, whose daring and sensational act, described as "flying the flume," is nightly breathlessly watched by large and enthusiastic audiences. The Lissom Lady is another successful turn, and her marvellous contortionist feats are vociferously applauded. The Two Reays give a novel gymnastic and acrobatic chain performance; the Brothers France are clever on the wire, and Claude Ohmy and J. Welding continue to delight the audience by their equestrian abilities. A clever imitation of the cake-walk and other dances is given by a highly-trained horse; and Miss Ohmy goes through a riding act in a graceful manner. August and September are as popular as ever, and create roars of laughter, and the efforts of Little Bishop and the Bros. France in the clowning line are also productive of much hilarity.

ILKESTON.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Licensee and Manager, Mr. L. F. A. Rogers.—The attraction here this week is Messrs. Dan Thomas and Fred Clements' pantomime, Dick Whittington. Miss Mabel Hind as Alice very quickly sings and dances herself into favour; and Miss Trixie Cotterell gives a good portrayal of the title-rôle; Mr. Pete Almonte as the Cat is quite an acquisition; Mr. Sam Michello as Betsy the cook puts plenty of "go" into his performance, and there is not a dull moment when he is on the stage. Mr. Clements himself catches on as Ald. Fitzwarren; Messrs. Syd Crossley and Chas. Dore as Idle Jack and Silly Jim keep the audience in a good humour; and are well supported by Mr. Harry Pastor as Captain Skipper. Peto, the man monkey, receives quite an ovation for his clever monkey act; Baddow, ventriloquist, is a good turn; and the Excelsior Quartette of acrobatic dancers are clever.

QUEEN'S PALACE OF VARIETIES.—Licensee and Manager, Mr. T. Knightall.—A mannikin show by Mlle. Fontain gives great satisfaction; the Two Harveys play a sketch, entitled The Servant and the Page; the De Roys are conjurers of merit; Dora Dyson, vocalist; Jack Harvey, comedian; Polly Bellina, serio; and Martin Haley, comedian, contribute their share to the success.

IPSWICH.—LYCEUM THEATRE. — General-Manager, Mr. Leonard Grey.—When It Was Dark is being played here by a capable company under the management of Mr. Morton Powell. Miss Elizabeth Watson gave a powerful impersonation of Gertrude Hunt; Mr. Cyril Austin also, in his part of a clergyman, was very impressive; and Mrs. Morton Powell was well suited in the character of Helena Byars. Mr. George H. Pitt as Schuabe, and Mr. Arthur Murray as Sir Robert, gave effective assistance.

HIPPODROME.—Proprietor, Mr. E. H. Bostock.—One of the chief attractions of the current week is George Formby, a comedian whose characteristic ditties elicit much laughter and applause; Ergotte and King Luis head a troupe of Risley acrobats, who perform some startling feats; and Edith Courtney is a ballad singer of great merit.

JARROW.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Hugh Robertson; Acting-Manager, Mr Jerold E. Read.—An excellent pantomime company is here this week with Babes in the Wood. Mr. Leonard Charles gives an excellent rendering of the Demon Infernalito, and Miss Norah Prendergast is charming as Sylvania, the Fairy Godmother. Mr. D. J. Tandy makes the most of the part of Sir Brokah de Pawn, and Mr. Harry Albery is a capital Dame; Mr. Dawson Dewick revels in the part of Soft Sammy; the parts of Soap and Trust are done full justice to by Messrs. Farr and Farland; Messrs. Grapho and Jackson cause much amusement as Burgling Bill and Gentle Georgie, the two ruffians; Miss Amy Allnutt is an ideal Robin Hood, and Miss Belle Travers is excellent as Maid Marian. Miss Kate Emmett is quite at home as Will Scarlet, Miss Nelly Dyson is smart as Merrie Mavis, and Miss Baby Lily Belle and Miss La Bella Sylvia are pleasing as the Babes.

JERSEY. — OPERA HOUSE. — Lessee, Mr. C. Robert Perkins.—In Sight of St. Paul's is being played here this week by Mr. Arthur Carlton's company, and is exceedingly well staged. Miss Gussie Everitt takes the important rôle of Cynthia Dell, which she portrays very faithfully; Mr. Herbert Cecil figures with credit as John Gridston, alias Captain Gridston; another part of the villain type, Boldstein, being well acted by Mr. Henry Gilpin. Mr. Ernest R. Allen appears with credit as Tom Chichester; Mr. W. H. Demoney figuring as his younger brother, Harry; while Chichester père is impersonated by Mr. Arthur Armfield. The comedy element is well supplied by Mr. Herbert Colley as Jim Palfrey, the London cabby; and by Miss Sybil Hammersley, who takes the rôle of Becky Vetch. Mention must also be made of Mr. Edward Valentine, who appears as Fretley Burside.

KEIGHLEY. — QUEEN'S THEATRE.—Proprietors, Messrs. Carson and Kendall; Acting-Manager, Mr. Will Carson.—The return visit of Lucky Durham greatly pleased Monday's large audience. Mr. Edmund Kennedy as John Durham gives a firm conception of the character; Mr. Arthur Leigh is irresistibly droll as the Hon. Steighton. As Lord Mountfallon Mr. Robert Forsyth achieves success; Mr. Vallerton is well impersonated by Mr. A. E. Walker; Mr. W. V. Simmons Lynn is good as Arthur Walcomb; Miss Alice Esther Belmore plays in capital style, and her Helen Vallerton is excellent; Miss Florence Dulhunty is a charming Margaret Steighton; Miss Lilian Mason ably sustains the part of Mrs. Durham.

KILMARNOCK.—KING'S THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. R. C. Buchanan; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. Major Ward.—During the week veteran and youthful playgoers are being delighted with Mr. Stanley Rogers' amusing pantomime of Cinderella. Miss Madge Daly makes a sprightly Prince, and has a strong and tuneful voice; Miss Lily Eyton is charming as Cinderella; Mr. Harry Ray as Capers wins much approval for his acrobatic feats and eccentric dances; Mr. Frank Barclay has a cultured voice, and is seen to advantage in the character of Dandini; Mr. Freddie French is an irresistably funny Baron; and Mr. Ted Young provides much food for laughter as the Baroness. Arminta and Elvira are well portrayed by Miss Edith Barwell and Miss Grace Desmond; and the Duke of Whistbridge and the Fairy Godmother have attractive representatives in Miss Madge Allen and Miss Elsie Cooper.

KING'S LYNN.—NEW ROYAL THEATRE.—Lessees, J. Bannister Howard, Ltd.; Business-Manager, Herr B. Paruzer.—The enterprise of the lessees in securing a week's visit of the Moody-Manners Opera Company has been fully justified by results. One main feature that so makes for success in grand opera—the orchestra—was beyond reproach, under the capable control of Mr. Harrison Frewin. With so extensive a répertoire as the Moody-Manners Company has, it was left to the patrons of the theatre to decide by ballot which operas should be chosen for presentation. On Monday night Bizet's Carmen was performed to a packed and enthusiastic house. In the title-rôle, Miss Rosina Beynon quite captivated her hearers; and Mr. Charles Carter as Don José ably seconded her with an impassioned rendering of that part. As Escamillo, Mr. Frederick Erle appeared to great advantage, being vociferously recalled for his "Toreador" song. With a sweet voice, Miss Alice Boaden was most successful in her part of Micaelo. During the week have been presented, in the same good style, Il Trovatore, Faust, Lohengrin and Maritana, Cavalleria Rusticana and I' Pagliacci, Tannhäuser, and The Bohemian Girl.

KIRKCALDY.—KING'S THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. R. C. Buchanan; Resident-Manager, Mr. John Burton.—This week Mr. Morton Powell's company, under the direction of Mr. Frank Eden, is paying a return visit in Honour Thy Father. Mr. Walter M. Cameron undertakes the heavy part of Gabriel Garth, and is responsible for some fine acting; Mr. Bertram H. Ross is excellently suited as Jack Halyard; and Mr. W. R. Winning is fairly effective as Duncan Bly. Messrs. W. H. Melrose and Fred Rolls work hard and successfully as Ned and Mike; Mr. C. Merton, who is also stage-manager, capably depicts the madman Bloggs; Miss Mabel Coleman again appears as Lillian Garth; Miss Muriel Dean is a charming Mercy Merry; and Miss A. Salmon makes the most of her opportunities as Poppy. Miss Kate Newton is deserving of special notice as Mrs. Garth.

LEAMINGTON. — THEATRE ROYAL. — Lessees, Messrs. Milton Bode and Edward Compton; Manager, Mr. Harry Hunter.—Pantomime once again reigns here, and this week Mr. Milton Bode's company in the fairy pantomime, Aladdin, is proving a great attraction. Miss May Marton is a charming Aladdin, and contributes her songs in excellent style. She is ably supported by Miss Janet Reynolds as Princess Yo San; and Nicee, who finds a most graceful representative in Miss Emily Lovell. As Widow Twankey, Mr. Tom Owen is decidedly good; Mr. Clifford Morgan appears with conspicuous success as Abanazar, and sings with much artistic taste; Mr. Leo Sterling and Mr. Happy Attwood, as the Chinese Policemen, are comical, and the former introduces some clever musical specialities. Others who do much for the success of the production are Miss Ethel Wilson as Pekoe, Mr. Frank Couch as the Grand Vizier, Mr. Tommy Nelldon as Lip Tung Tee, Miss Addie Love, Miss Maud Dale, Miss Annie Watkins, and Mr. Walter Cranch. The Royal Welsh Meister Glee Singers contribute several part songs which are highly appreciated.

LEEDS.—EMPIRE PALACE.—Moss' Empires, Ltd.; District-Manager, Mr. Gerald Morton; Resident-Manager, Mr. Alex Galley.—A pleasing and interesting sketch serves to introduce the remarkable Magic Carpet, a series of clever illusions engineered by the master hand of John Warren; the appearance of Strassburger's Lilliputians is an interesting feature, the little people coming in for a great reception; Lindon's Entertainers give an enjoyable vaudeville turn; the Stein-Eretto troupe do marvellous acrobatic feats; and a delightful vocal turn by the Solari Duo is as popular as anything in the bill. That favourite comedy pair, Lee and Kingston, are meeting with the usual solid success; Prof. Vox is a past master in ventriloquial business; and Harry Clifford, comedian, and Lena Willard, comedienne and dancer, are responsible for the remainder of an excellent programme.

QUEEN'S THEATRE.—Lessees, Messrs. Dottridge and Longden; General-Manager, Mr. C. H. Longden; Acting-Manager, Mr. Chas. Bush.—This is the concluding week of Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Benson's five weeks' season at this suburban theatre, and a different selection from their Shakespearean répertoire is being presented each evening. A good house was in evidence on Monday for The Merchant of Venice, on which occasion Mr. and Mrs. Benson gave their accustomed artistic portrayals of the respective parts of Shylock and Portia; Mr. A. E. Warburton played with distinction the rôle of Prince of Morocco; a convincing personation of Antonio is to be credited to Mr. Clarence Derwent; whilst Bassanio and Gratiano are equally effective efforts by Mr. J. B. Buchanan and Mr. E. B. Nicholson. Mr. G. R. Weir has fine scope for his ability as Launcelot Gobbo, and Old Gobbo finds an able representative in Mr. Chas. Owen. The Jessica of Miss Tita Brand is a performance of merit. Twelfth Night, Macbeth, Hamlet, and The Taming of the Shrew have also been presented during the week.

HIPPODROME.—Proprietor, Mr. Thos. Barrasford; General-Managers, Mr. Claude Shayler and Mr. Chas. Weldon.—A demonstration of the Japs' art of self-defence—Ji-jitsu—is the feature of this week's bill, the chief executant being Professor S. K. Uyenishi. Sam Mayo, the inimitable immobile, enhances his reputation with new ditties; King's College Boys are heartily applauded for vocal renderings; the Villions are prominent in an expert trick cycling act; Henri Bekker, the conjuror, does a capital show; the Brothers Lillian achieve success in a novel speciality; the Great Vincent is applauded for his acrobatic proclivities; and Mark Leslie (coon specialist), Charles Cardow (a popular comedian), and Martinetti and Grossi (with novel speciality) are other prominent names in the bill.

LEICESTER.—ROYAL OPERA HOUSE.—Proprietors and Managers, Messrs. Milton Bode and Edward Compton; General and Business Manager, Mr. Henry Dundas.—The patrons of this theatre are this week being honoured with a return visit of Mr. Edward Compton, the popular actor, and one of the proprietors of this house. The usual delightful répertoire of old English comedies and plays is being presented, the favourite comedy, Davy Garrick, being selected for the opening night, in which Mr. Compton made his 1,339th appearance in the title-rôle. It is needless to say that Mr. Compton charmed everyone with his impersonation, which was throughout played in a manner which won for him the highest eulogium. As Violet, too, Miss Mackenzie is to be highly complimented on an embodiment which was at all times excellent. Mr. Henry Crocker as Alderman Gresham was most effective and clever; and as the Hon. Tom Tallyhaut Mr. Dennis Cleugh was very good. Miss Marie Hassell made a capital Mrs. Rumbelow; the same remark applying to Miss Barbara Pigot as Selina. Others deserving praise are Mr. Philip Gordon as Rumbelow, Mr. G. Wallace Johnston as Sowerberry, and Mr. Vernon O. Crabtree as Simpkins. The new one-act comedy, The Desperate Lover, preceded. On Tuesday evening She Stoops to Conquer was given, when Mr. Edward Compton as Tony Lumpkin and Miss MacKenzie as Miss Hardcastle delighted everyone. Edmund Kean, The School for Scandal, and The Rivals were also included in the week's répertoire.

THEATRE ROYAL. — Sole Lessees and Managers, Messrs. Milton Bode and Edward Compton; Business-Manager, Mr. E. R. Beaumont.—Pantomime having terminated here, the dramatic season opened on Monday evening with a return visit of Mr. Alfred B. Cross and company in The Manxman. As Pete, Mr. Cross is to be highly complimented on a very clever impersonation; and Miss Minnie Watersford as Kate Cregeen is also conspicuous throughout with a portrayal of great merit. Mr. Sydney C. Kearns as Philip Christian, and Mr. Dadley Stuart as Ross Christian, are both good; Miss Nellie Freeland as Nancy, Miss Mona Spearing as Miss Christian, and Miss Kitty Livesey as Bella Kelly are well suited to their parts; and Mr. Frank Etheridge as Cæsar Cregeen and Mr. Tom Bowron as Dr. Mylcreest are also commendable.

PALACE THEATRE, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; District-Manager, Mr. Hatton Wharton; Acting-Manager, Mr. C. Finch-Hatton; Assistant-Manager, Mr. Bertram G. Iles.—George Gilbey, who tops the bill this week, is an immense favourite, and he keeps the audience in a continual roar of laughter with his songs and patter. At the other end is Mr. J. G. Grahame and company, who are presenting an exceptionally clever dramatic episode, entitled The Yellow Fang; Harry Harrison, with well-sung and popular songs, maintains his great popularity; Wilson and Waring score a success with a most entertaining turn. Other artists who are well received are Gertrude Bradshaw, soprano; the Great Alexander, trick cyclist; the Three Guitanos, eccentric acrobats; the Northern Troupe of international dancers; Winnie Derson, comedienne; and Frank Darwin, actor-vocalist. The bioscope is also a feature.

PAVILION THEATRE. — Proprietor and Director-General, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Acting-Manager, Mr. Walter Lapworth.—A very fine and well-played emotional sketch, entitled A Prodigal's Wife, presented by Miss Lois du Cane and company, is the leading attraction here this week. Johnny Holland and company, retained over another week, create much merriment with their sketch, entitled The Millionaire; Little Rose-Pink, a dainty child artist, is scoring a well-deserved success, her dancing being worthy of special notice; George Hall is a clever and entertaining siffleur; Walter H. Pallister's Bioscope is again making a big hit with the usual up-to-date films; and Ethel Netherton, male impersonator, also appears.

LEIGH.—THEATRE ROYAL AND OPERA HOUSE.—Proprietor, Mr. J. W. Cragg; Resident-Manager, Mr. Harry Rousby.—Mr. Chas. Majilton and company of comedians are paying a welcome return visit here this week, and are repeating previous successes, The Trippers being selected for Monday. Mr. Charles Majilton plays the part of the Mystery with unqualified success; as the Scotchman, McCluckie, Mr. Jim Bond causes roars of laughter; a charming Alice is found in Miss Nora Christie; Miss Maddie Majilton contributes a clever study of Frank; Mr. Randle Wilson is also very amusing as Algie; and the other members of the company are all efficient. The Plumber and Round the Clock are also billed.

LEITH.—NEW GAIETY THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. R. C. Buchanan; Resident-Manager, Mr. John Darlison.—Following closely on the heels of The Fair One with the Golden Locks, the management now present the attractive pantomime, Little Red Riding Hood, which opened auspiciously on Monday evening to a crowded house. Messrs. George Le Clerq and Ben Brown head the cast, provoking hearty laughter with their amusing turns in the rôles of Johnny Stout and Jimmy Green; as the Widow Horner, Mr. Harry Nelson puts in some diverting business; to Mr. Astor Wybert, who plays the Village Squire, falls one of the most taking songs in the piece; Pepper and Peter Piper find good exponents in Mr. Alfred Bennett and Mr. Cutler; and Mr. Fred Zaranella, in the disguise of the Wolf, goes through some wonderful contortions. Among the ladies, Miss Lilian Lee makes a dashing Prince; Miss Rose Florence excels as the Fairy Queen; Miss Katie Butler is a versatile Blondina; Miss Rose Helene is very engaging as the Squire's daughter; Miss Nancy Hearne does well as a young Marquis; Miss Florrie Durant and Miss Beatrice Wilson make the most of smaller parts; and, though perhaps least in stature, not by any means last in popular favour, Miss Decima Brooke proves herself a winsome and promising young actress in the title-rôle.

LEVEN.—TOWN HALL.—Mr. T. J. Scott's cinematograph and variety combination received a warm welcome on Monday. Mr. W. Atkinson sang several illustrated songs in acceptable fashion; the Frohmans provided a pleasing instrumental turn; Mysterious Parker's quick changes proved popular; Mr. Arthur Austin was successful as a comedy juggler; Mr. Scott was an effective elocutionist; and the films shown were quite up to date.

LINCOLN.—PALACE.—Sole Proprietor, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; General-Manager, Mr. Sydney Arthur.—Mr. J. Collinson's company in The Topsy-Turvy School presents a hilarious turn; Silly Billy Elliott repeats a success of years ago; the Four Maisanos appear in an eccentric musical act; Gicardo is a smart juggler; and Cavalli, ventriloquist; Frieda Fane, ballad vocalist; Penstone is an illusionist of merit, and is ably assisted by Tsaou-Ngo; the entertainment concluding with films from Raymond's Bioscope.

LIVERPOOL.—ROTUNDA THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. M. Montgomery.—The stage of the north-end house has been occupied this week by Mr. J. Gar Kiddie's pretty pantomime, Little Bo-Peep, which contains an abundance of fun, with the result that audiences have thoroughly enjoyed themselves. Miss Lizzie Payne is a dainty Bo-Peep; Miss Susie Beaven makes a charming Boy Blue; Mr. Fred McLean proves exceedingly humorous as Baron Hardup; Gilroy and Gross create endless laughter in the characters of Weary William and Tired Thomas; and other principal rôles are efficiently undertaken by Mr. J. W. Groves, Mr. W. Hagues Gatty, Mr. Bert Allen, Mr. Albert Kail, Mr. Harry Wren, Miss Ida Dorrie, and Miss Nora Beverley. The dresses and scenery are particularly nice, and several smart specialities are introduced by the Solon Trio, Lohrenz Quartet, and the Hammersley troupe of lady dancers

LYRIC THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Henry C. Arnold; Directors of Entertainments, Messrs. T. Barrasford and F. Willmot; Acting-Manager, Mr. Fred Coles.—Mr. Dan Thomas's Aladdin company is drawing crowded houses here this week. Dan Thomas is the cause of much laughter as the Widow Twankey, as are the eccentricities of Haverley and Hamer, in the parts of Slip and Slop; Daisy Yates, in the title-rôle, is a prime favourite. Other artists are Marie Empress, who vastly pleased her audience; George Prince, a clever comedian; and the Four Dandies.

STAR THEATRE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Harris Fineberg.—Amid all the pantomime attractions in the city, drama continues to flourish at this popular resort, and during the week Bound to Win, presented by Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Kimberley's company, has done good business. Mr. Kimberley played his original part of Harry Lyndon with every satisfaction; Mr. Charles Harper submitted a capital picture of the rogue, Philip Ayre; Mr. H. Arnold Allen handled the rôle of Horatio Buffit with discretion, and along with Miss Trixie Hope, as Winnie Oakley, caused a deal of fun; Mrs. Kimberley powerfully portrayed Gladys Orme; Miss Violet Langley creditably enacted the part of Marion Forbes; and Mr. Sam Warren did the utmost with that of Lemon Drops. The racecourse scene, with the thoroughbreds, proved very effective.

QUEEN'S THEATRE.—Proprietors, Messrs. Carson and Kendall; Resident-Manager, Mr. Fred L. Arthur.—For the third and last week Mr. Lingford Carson's pretty pantomime, Babes in the Wood, has been delighting audiences here. Several new specialities are introduced, including Hurman, hoop manipulator and juggler, a most enjoyable turn.

ROYAL HIPPODROME.—Managing-Director, Mr. Thomas Barrasford; Manager, Mr. Walter Hassan.—After four weeks of excellent pantomime this eminently popular house have reverted to the usual variety order. Heading the programme this week is Leoni Clarke, with his clever performing animals, whose work has been much admired; Stanley Damerell and Cecil Rutland and company give a most diverting sketch, House Full; the Warsaw Bros. show themselves to be clever instrumentalists, as well as good comedians; Harry Thorpe and Zoe Coe present a neat comedy episode, My Burglar; the automatic theatre, introduced by the Katos, the Komical Kidgets, is a novelty; as acrobatic comedians Adams and Ward prove very funny; the Waltons distinguished themselves as speciality gymnasts; the Sisters Lytton, vocalists, are deservedly applauded; and Oakdene, comedy ventriloquist, presents a clever nautical scena, The Stowaways.

ROYAL PALACE OF VARIETIES.—Manager, Mr. M. Montgomery; Acting-Manager, Mr. Frank O'Toole.—Leah, the Jewish Maiden, is the drama given here this week by the "Royal" stock company, and is well put on. Miss Florence Palmer plays the title-rôle, and other principal characters are in the hands of Mr. Percy Boucher, Mr. Cecil Ravenswood, Mr. Harry Tresham, Mr. Sydney Grant, Mr. Robert Wilton, Miss Beryl Ravenswood, and Miss Sara Blumenthal.

PADDINGTON PALACE.—Lessee, Mr. M. Montgomery.—The drama being produced here this week by the "Royal" stock company is London's Curse, by E. Hoggan-Armadale. The principal characters are in the hands of Mr. Albert Sember (as George Montgomery), Mr. Francis E. Wybert, Mr. Frank S. Strickland, Mr. Walter Foster, Mr. H. G. Brandon, Miss Lina Nazeby, and Miss Lilian Burns. The Royal Bioscope has some capital pictures.

PARK PALACE, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. Walter de Frece; Director of Entertainments, Mr. Fred Willmot.—Principal here this week are Will Hebden and company with the funny sketch, Teddy Smiles, the Sportsman, which has proved a draw; Lady Julia, the ape with the human brain, has aroused a deal of wonderment; Tony Iveson is particularly diverting as the tramp at the piano; some delightful Scottish songs are rendered by Agnes McKellar; and Jules Kiaro performs remarkable feats as a hand-jumper and pyramidist.

WESTMINSTER.—Lessee, Mr. Fred E. Weisker; Acting-Manager, Mr. G. Montgomery.—Foremost here is J. A. Wilson, whose diverting act with his dog creates a deal of laughter; Clyo and Rochelle introduce some clever tumbling into their comedy, An Actor's Antics; Bert Gordon, piper and vocalist, receives hearty applause; Jennie Hartley is an artistic comedienne and clever dancer; the Faulkner Trio present a funny turn, The Rival Tourists; Frew and Frow are an able pair of character comedians; and the Belmont Sisters dance in a most accomplished manner, and render popular duets.

EMPIRE.—Proprietors, Moss' Empires, Ltd.—Pantomime has given way to variety here, and at the top of the bill this week is a capital little operetta called Happy Holland, presented by Jake Friedman and company, which has been received with much appreciation. Mr. William H. Day and Miss Laura Dyson have a telling sketch, entitled Crystal-Gazing; the Paxton Trio of handbalancers display much skill; Derenda and Green are a smart pair of comedy jugglers; Albert Christian proves himself a fine vocalist; Baker and Balfe are expert xylophonists and able dancers; Horace Jones, with his description of an excited Welshman at a football match, causes endless laughter; and in the list are, also, Kate Cohen, vocalist; and Olga and Elgar, duettists.

LLANDUDNO.—PRINCE'S THEATRE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. C. R. Chaplin.—On Monday and Tuesday Mr. Fred Jarman's company presented the powerful Anglo-Russian drama, Under the Czar. Mr. Wilson Howard as Nicholas Jeroslaff gave an excellent portrayal of a difficult part; Mr. Gerald Smythe, in the part of Captain Johnson, showed ability; Mr. George H. Doyle as Zaohar Kovesky was capital; Mr. Louis Weston gave a first-class representation of Paul Ignat; Mr. R. Tarrant as Victor Klieff was good; Miss Lillian Herries as Sonla Gregorovitch enacted the part with exceptional pathos and ability; and Miss Beatrice Annersley as Siemka and Miss Madge Clare as Zara Bhur respectively were well placed.

LONG EATON.—LYCEUM THEATRE.—Miss Ethel van Praagh and her company are here this week in An Unwedded Wife. The play gives scope for the powers of Miss Praagh as Marion, who displays dramatic skill of a high order in the title-rôle. Reggie is cleverly played by Little Doris; Mr. Richard Purdon as Napoleon Bodmer, Miss Violet Wilson as Elsie Langham, and Mr. J. Edward Whitty as a police-constable create much fun. The final scene, the ruins of the Abbey of St. Kilda, with mechanical effects, is greatly admired.

LOWESTOFT.—MARINA.—Managing-Director, Mr. E. A. Smith.—Another capital attraction this week is the drama The Great Awakening, ably presented by Miss Maud Hildyard's company. Mr. A. C. Hardie gives a fine reading of James Selby, and the same remark applies to Mr Magill Martyn, who ably doubles the parts of Sir Henry Merton and Jack Merton. Mr. Stephen Langton appears successfully as Guy Rogan; and Mr. Gordon McLeod is well placed as Capt. Harry Lambert. Miss Doris Digby is praiseworthy as Molly Merton; and Miss Maud Hildyard skilfully enacts the important character of Lola Selby.

MACCLESFIELD.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. W. K. Gatley.—The boards are occupied by the famous Harry Starr and company, appearing the first part of the week in Otto, the Outcast, and during the latter portion in Carl, the Clockmaker. In the former play, which is well staged, and affords plenty of amusement, Mr. Harry Starr, in the title-rôle, has a part well suited to his dramatic abilities; Mr. D. Beattie gives an admirable impersonation of Daddy Bruneau; Mr. E. Firth as Dr. Coquedille is exceedingly good; and Mr. W. Miller as Augustine is responsible for much hearty laughter. Miss Kate Norris as Lara gives a realistic portrayal of the character, and is accorded a hearty reception at the fall of the curtain; Miss Blanche Leroy is pleasing as Susette; Mr. W. Hee as the Marquis De Laporte is excellent; and Miss Cissie Hastings as the Marchioness De Anvilliers is very charming.

MAIDENHEAD.—TOWN HALL.—Secretary, The Town Clerk.—Mr. John A. Thomson's pantomime, Robinson Crusoe, was here on Wednesday and Thursday, with Miss Millicent Davis in the title-rôle. Miss Marie Curtis as Alice Mayflower and Misses Hilda and Molly Hypatia as Billie Taylor and Dolly Dimple are all good; and Miss Carman Cecil is a charming fairy. Mr. Alf. Bert is successful as Will Atkins; Mr. Carl Moneta is nimble and entertaining as Man Friday; the comic monkey and dog are well represented by the Bros. Wallace, and Mr. Tom Gilbert scores as Mrs. Crusoe. Among the varieties are clever acts by a performing donkey and goat (introduced by Mr. George Huntley), juggling by the Allan Bros., graceful dancing by Sisters Hypatia and Sisters Kennedy, and a laughable skit, entitled "The Conjuror Unmasked," by the Codinas.

MAIDSTONE.—HIPPODROME.—Lessee, Mr. S. Baskerville.—Prominent among the good turns appearing here this week are Hanvarr and Anna Lee, expert club jugglers and acrobats; Fred Millis is a clever ventriloquist, his fit-up with automatic figures being very effective; Tacius is the possessor of a remarkable voice, his singing of "Drinking" in two octaves being an extraordinary feat of vocal skill; Huline and Le May are amusing musical clowns, their turn being full of instrumental surprises; Webb and Branston, operatic duettists, are very popular; and Robbie Roy, Scotch comedian; Miss Jenny Lynn, comedienne; and the bioscope, complete the programme.

MANCHESTER.—ROYAL OSBORNE THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. W. B. Broadhead; Acting-Manager, Mr. P. B. Broadhead.—Theo Kremer's The Fatal Wedding is being played here this week by Mr. Bert Coote's company. A crowded house witnessed the performance on Monday. Mr. Ernest Owttrim gives a manly interpretation of Howard Wilson; and as Mabel, his wife, Miss Katherine Clarke acts with sincerity and charm. As the adventuress, Cora Williams, Miss Leah Marlborough presents a vigorous character-study; and the villainy of Robert Curtes is ably demonstrated by Mr. Guy Hastings. The rôles of Toto, the butler, and Bridget, the cook, are rendered humorously by Mr. C. H. Hughes and Miss Julie Temple. Miss Marie Wilson proves herself a clever juvenile as Jessie, "the little mother," and deserves great praise for her singing and dancing. In the third act a pleasant diversion is introduced in the form of specialities by Miss Dolly McCalla (and chorus), a neat little comedienne; Miss Ivy Westaby, vocalist; Master Walter Aubrey, step-dancer; Miss Marie Wilson, vocalist; and Master Frisby, boy vocalist.

METROPOLE THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. W. B. Broadhead; Acting-Manager, Mr. P. B. Broadhead.—Mr. Fred Granville presents here this week a capital version of The Forty Thieves. In the matters of scenery, dresses, and general talent, this is among the best of popular pantomimes designed for the road, and certainly provides plenty of amusement. Miss Flo Warner answers all usual requirements as Ganem, the dashing son of Ali Baba; and as Morgiana, Miss Emmie Milstead, an excellent singer and dancer, gives a particularly fine performance. Very good also are Mr. Sid Cotterell as Lieut. Hassarac; Mr. Allan Carruthers as Ali; Messrs Burley and Burley as a couple of Bagdad "Blues"; Mr. Watty Griffin as Moketta, the donkey; and Mr. Joe Bell as Mustapha; while as Cogia, Mr. Dan Ager adds to the fun; and bright and pleasing work is contributed by Mr. C. Caldcleugh and Misses Edna Cragge, Carrie Carsdale, and Ada and Netta Poole.

ST. JAMES'S THEATRE.—Lessee, Mr. R. Flanagan; Manager, Mr. Gus Flanagan.—Mr. Frank M. Thorne's well-known romantic drama Napoleon the Great is the attraction here this week. Mr. Hugh Montgomery retains his old part of Napoleon, which he fills with vigour and distinction; and another prominent figure in the cast is Mr. Frank M. Thorne (the author), who makes a marked success in the rôle of Pierre Pomponnet. Mr. Albert Sinclair adds a fine performance as Sergeant Choupin; Miss Leslie Warner is admirable as Marie Walewska; and Miss Florence Thorne as Mère Dumont presents a clever character-sketch. Others who do well are Messrs. Henry Earlesmere, Phil Harper, and Bartlett Garth; while all the minor parts are suitably filled.

GRAND JUNCTION THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. W. B. Broadhead; Acting-Manager, Mr. P. B. Broadhead.—Last week's attraction at the Royal Osborne Theatre—Cinderella—is proving equally successful at this popular house.

EMPIRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; Acting-Manager, Mr. H. Hall.—The programme here this week is changed from variety to pantomime—an extremely clever show—under the direction of Mr. J. Elliston. The story is that of Puss in Boots, and the entire equipment is on an elaborate scale. An immense audience on Monday accorded hearty appreciation, and laughter constantly attested the humorous quality of the entertainment. Miss Minnie Jeffs is pleasing as Colin; and Miss Jennie Johns as Princess Ivy gives a bright and clever performance. Misses Edith Goodhall, Minnie Crest, and Florence Elliot are also seen and heard to advantage in incidental rôles; while a considerable amount of fun is contributed without cessation by Mr. George Hestor, Mr. Harry Levaine, Mr. George Avon, Mr. Sammy Shields, Mr. Harry Rogerson, and Mr. Barney Gilmore (the Cat). The well-known speciality work of most of these artists is introduced as the piece goes on, and in addition to this and the general business of the production, the vocalism of the Columbia Comedy Trio is particularly notable and interesting. The staging is brilliant throughout.

HIPPODROME.—Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; Acting-Manager, Mr. E. P. Morgan.—This week sees the last of the great water-spectacle, The Flood, which nevertheless is attracting large houses. Preceding this wonderful item, we have, at the head of a strong variety list, the popular Madge Lessing, in selected songs of scenic order; while capital turns are given by the Saphos (in a comedy bar act), the Matweef-Hugoston troupe of Russian singers and dancers, W. J. Ashcroft (the original solid man) in a couple of amusing ditties, Carlos Caesaro in a clever naval act, Browning and Wally (graceful gymnasts and dental athletes), Howard and Collinson in their laughable sketch The Porter and the Parcel, two pleasing items by the choir, and a comic series on the Bioscope.

KING'S, LONGSIGHT.—Manager, Mr. W. B. Broadhead; Acting-Manager, Mr. P. B. Broadhead.—Messrs. Cullen and Carthy's delightful pantomime, The Babes in the Wood, after a successful week at the Queen's Park Hippodrome, is the attraction here, and full houses are the rule.

QUEEN'S PARK HIPPODROME.—Manager, Mr. W. B. Broadhead; Acting-Manager, Mr. P. B. Broadhead.—An excellent programme here this week is headed by Harry Daniels and company in a side-splitting sketch, entitled Rent, which is well received. Fred S. Peake and company present, with considerable success a new dramatic costume sketch, entitled The Gambler; the Edgertons are seen in a clever gymnastic act; Brull and Helmsley sing and dance well; and Frederica's toy terriers and cake-walking pony, Dot, are exceedingly well trained. Charlton, in an eccentric musical act, is good; Primavesi is an expert juggler; and George Duval is an amusing stump orator. The Wrong Clue, shown on the Bioscope, is interesting.

HIPPODROME, HULME.—Manager, Mr. W. B. Broadhead; Acting-Manager, Mr. P. B. Broadhead.—The Six Brothers Luck are to the front here this week in their original pantomime, The Hotel Grande, and cause roars of laughter; Fred and Maud Vypond are vastly entertaining, and are deservedly well received; Mr. "E," the "pat patterer who portrays piquant points in peculiar pictures," is exceedingly good; and the Evalos are capital comedy jugglers. Good turns are also those of Wright, Ismay, and Wright in a speciality dancing act; Lestree, a smart juggler; the Five Casino Girls, brass instrumentalists; Standring, the singing mill lad; and the Aeronauts, grotesque acrobats. Nellie Navette did not appear on the occasion of our visit.

MANSFIELD.—GRAND THEATRE.—Proprietors, Mansfield Theatre Company; General-Manager, Capt. Cecil Clayton.—Pantomime again holds the sway here this week, Little Red Riding Hood being the attraction. Mr. James Wood as the Baron plays well; as Dame Trott Mr. Arthur Drew causes roars of laughter; Mr. Will Raglan as the Wolf is capable; Messrs. Grant and Kelly in their respective parts cause amusement; Miss Rosie Juden in the title-rôle is charming; and Prince Charming is admirably presented by Miss Winifred Hamilton. Miss Renee Ven Atken makes a fascinating Fairy. The Great Escaladers, clever ladder performers; acrobatic dances by the Four London Belles; and cornet and posthorn solos by Miss Maud Kessler are among the specialities.

MARGATE.—HIPPODROME.—Joint-Proprietors, Messrs. Frederick Mouillot and Walter de Frece; General-Manager, Mr. J. de Frece; Resident-Manager, Mr. C. F. Bawtrey.—The programme here this week includes the Musical Schaffers, in their refined musical number, entitled The Garden of Melody, with elaborate stage setting and electric light effects; Eva Warde, comedienne and dancer, gives an attractive turn; Ryder Davis, comedian, proves amusing; and George and Lelia, in their comedy duo, are also an acquisition to the programme. The Three Brothers Curran, in their amusing boxing sketch, Taking a Census, create considerable laughter; and Will English is as popular with Hippodrome audiences as ever. The pictures this week are especially good.

MIDDLESBROUGH.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Charles Imeson.—There was a large audience here on Monday night when Mr. J. F. Elliston's pantomime, The Sleeping Beauty, was produced. In the title-rôle Miss Lily Pane is graceful and attractive, singing sweetly and playing very ably; Miss E. Gordon as the Prince is a brilliant success; Silver Star, the fairy godmother, finds a pretty and pleasing exponent in Miss Agnes Molteno, both her acting and singing being of the highest order. the King is admirably impersonated by Mr. Alf. Bishop; as the Queen, Mr. Dave O'Toole is also very funny; and Mr. W. J. Churchill, a favourite with Middlesbrough playgoers, is amusing as the Count. Miss Ada Tilley is very graceful as the Grand Chief; and Mr. Ralph Howard scores as the Count's page. Mr. Lennen Meadows is good as the Yellow Dwarf; the part of Bonne Bouche is well portrayed by Miss Nellie Howard; the Morton Trio are excellent, their harmonious songs being one of the hits of the "panto"; an appreciated turn is introduced by Miss Lottie Stone's troupe of dancers; and excellent cornet solos are rendered by the Musical Howards.

OPERA HOUSE.—Acting-Manager, Mr. W. K. Chatto.—Miss Annie Bell, with her company, is this week presenting Sapho. In the title-rôle Miss Annie Bell leaves nothing to be desired; and Mr. Otto Munster makes an excellent Jean Gaussin. Miss Dorothy Crowther is delightful; while into the part of Father le Grande Mr. Oliver Rogers infuses a large amount of skilful acting. Eugène Flamant finds an excellent exponent in Mr. H. Langford; the part of Caoudal is admirably played by Mr. Pringle Roberts; Miss Florence Graham does ful justice to her rôle; and a clever repeesentative of Clara is found in Miss Lucy Desmond.

MOTHERWELL.—NEW CENTURY THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. R. C. Buchanan; Resident-Manager, Mr. Reginald Grant.—Mr. Lionel Rignold and Miss Ada Blanche's company opened here on Monday in What the Butler Saw. Mr. Charles Fawcett acts the part of the mercurial Irishman to the life; Miss Ada Blanche as Mrs. Barrington is exceptionally bright and pleasing; Mr. Lionel Rignold is irresistibly droll as the Butler; special mention should be made of Mr. Roy Byford as the Professor; Mr. William Dunlop aptly sustains the rôle of Sir Charles Foden; Mr. George Ascott gives a good impersonation of Colonel Dunlop; and equally good are Messrs. Harry Rignold and Leo. St. Clair as Abraham Weinstein and Sydney Clifford. Miss Marie Daltra submits a finished piece of character-acting as Miss Foden; and Miss Jennie Wigney is a sweet and girlish Nora.

NEWCASTLE-ON-TYNE.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Managing-Director, Mr. Robert Arthur; Acting-Manager, Mr. F. Teale Lingham.—Extensive patronage continues to be accorded Mr. Robert Courtneidge's lavish production of Aladdin. Mr. Neil Kenyon, with his inimitable impersonation of the Widow Twankey, is a now firmly-established favourite in Newcastle; and Messrs. Charles Harvey and Alfred Clark are both proving very popular; while the admirable vocal efforts of Miss Florence Smithson, Miss Lily Morris, and Mr. Fred Allandale are a distinct feature of a nicely-balanced entertainment, of which the minor parts are all well filled.

TYNE THEATRE AND OPERA HOUSE.—Lessees, Messrs. Howard and Wyndham; Acting-Manager, Mr. Fred C. Sutcliffe.—There is no diminution to the enormous houses attracted to Aladdin at the Tyne Theatre, the crowds for the early doors assembling hours before admittance can be gained. The pantomime is now really at its merriest. When in possession of the stage, Messrs. Harry Lauder and Dan Crawley cause a continuous ripple of laughter, their famous tea-scene being the pièce de résistance of the show. A very attractive exponent of the title-part is Miss Beryl Somerset; and Miss Jose Collins is nightly applauded for her excellent vocal efforts, whilst all the other members of the company give good support.

GRAND.—Lessees, Messrs. Bacon and Bolam; Managing-Director, Mr. Sidney Bacon.—Mr. F. Marriott Watson's company in A False Wife is paying a visit here this week, and attracting good houses. The great feature of this weird and mysterious play—the manner in which a living man is changed to a skeleton, and brought back to life again—is greatly applauded. There is a most capable company, headed by Miss Florence E. Florence as Lady Mansfield, and all gain the approval of the audience.

EMPIRE THEATRE.—Proprietors, Messrs. Moss' Empires, Ltd; Managing-Director, Mr. Richard Thornton; Resident-Manager, Mr. Harry Esden.—The Scotch comedian, Dean Tribune, and company in a delightful pantometta, entitled Bo Peep, is the premier attraction this week. For the space of about thirty minutes it keeps the audience well entertained, the catchy songs, dainty dances, and capital fun completely captivating everyone. Miss Ethel Lonsdale as Bo Peep acts throughout with conspicuous ability, whilst as Boy Blue, Miss Estella Tribune sings and dances in a charming manner. Mr. Dean Tribune as Simple Simon keeps those present in roars of laughter. The principals are ably supported by Mr. Medley Barratt as Baron Bustup, Mr. David Denard as Dame Dishwater, and Mr. Harry Tribune as Shadows. Kelly and Ashby, in their billiard-table scene, are very amusing; they perform many clever feats. Welter Bellonini is a juggler of more than average ability; the Five Bogannys ("The Lunatic Bakers") give a daring risley performance; Dan Conroy proves as popular as ever, and is well applauded. Carrie Joy, Petram's Marionettes, Edie Veno, and the Bioscope pictures complete a good bill.

PAVILION THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Thomas Barrasford; Manager, Mr. Will H. Boardman.—The top of the bill here is deservedly occupied by Gustave Fasola, Oriental wonder-worker, who performs the most sensational illusions, greatly mystifying everyone. Bertisch, the strong man and weight-lifter, was seen to great advantage; Leah Ardell is a distinct success as a vocalist; Ted E. Box is a clever comedian, and made a great hit with his policeman song. Tom Collins was heartily received; Sable Fern sang in pleasing style. Walter Stanley, comedian; the Five Vernons, operatic xylophonists; Wright and Elton, in "Mirthisms," and a new series of pictures on the Barrascope also contribute to a first-rate bill.

NORTHAMPTON.—OPERA HOUSE.—Proprietors and Managers, Mr. Milton Bode and Mr. Edward Compton; Resident-Manager, Mr. Charles Hermann.—For the third time, Mr. Wentworth Croke presents The Christian here, with Miss Grace Chalmers in the part of Glory Quayle, which she endows with all the grace and charm associated with the character; Mr. Frank Tennant is well suited for the rôle of the Hon. John Storm, and plays it well; Mr. Edwin Ling is excellent as Father Lamplugh; Mr. Frederick Scarth ably portrays Lord Robert Ure; Mr. W. Brisco Owen is good as Horatio Drake; Miss Molly Hayden is a pleasing Mrs. Callander; and the remainder of the cast is good.

PALACE OF VARIETIES.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Fred H. Anderson; Acting-Manager, Mr. Thos. A. Evans.—The Marlelloni Troupe of acrobats, four ladies and one gentleman, give a very clever and interesting display; Carlo Venturne's illusion, "So'da," the creation of a woman, or, rather, two, out of nothing, is wonderfully well done; the Salitos, boy and girl equilibrists, show the advantage of good training, combined with aptitude; Ethel Loftus has been warmly welcomed on her return visit here; Bert Boothroyd scores as a comedian and raconteur; Bonnetti and Corri provide an amusing juggling act; Carson Hicks gives an acceptable song and dance; Sylvia Martin, the lady horse trainer, introduces her mare, Beatrice, showing the perfection of training; and Clement Vincent produces a fresh set of interesting pictures.

NORTH SHIELDS.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Arthur Jefferson; Acting Manager, Mr. Horace Lee.—The attraction here this week is Mr. Charles Macdona's company, with The Toreador, which has been cordially greeted. As Carajola. Mr. Sidney Granville is a distinct success; Mr. Robert Rous makes quite a hit as Sammy Gigg; and Mr. Fred Thompson is clever as Sir Archibald Slackett. Mr. Richard Adams makes the best use of his opportunities as Pettiter; and Mr. J. Herbert Willis wins much favour as Augustus Trail. As Donna Teresa, Miss Nina Carlton is seen to great advantage; Miss Beatrice Rowe is a popular Nancy Staunton; Miss Leah Howard is well placed as Susan; Miss Winsome Hetherington proves an attractive Dora; Miss Gwen Clifford gives a good rendering of Mrs. Malton Hoppings; and the augmented orchestra and chorus acquit themselves satisfactorily.

NORWICH.—HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, Messrs. E. H. Bostock and F. W. Fitt; Manager, Mr. Councillor F. W. Fitt.—An entertaining programme is presented this week. Ruby Bijou is a very clever and graceful dancer and receives hearty appreciation; Maud and Sydney Wood, in the same line, were also well received; Mabel Bright and company in their vocal melange, "Girls will be girls," obtained much applause; the Brothers Huxter, as acrobats, tumblers, and dancers, receive unstinted praise; Seeley and West as musical comedians are most entertaining; Belle Braham, in her picture songs, is a good turn; whilst Latiné, female impersonator, does well; T. Norman Mills, with his spirited songs, renews his former successes; the Hippo-Bio displays some amusing pictures, and the efforts of the excellent orchestra add to the pleasure of the entertainment.

AGRICULTURAL HALL.—Messrs. Barker and Thurston's carnival and its side shows still continue successful.

NOTTINGHAM.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Managing-Director, Mr. Robert Arthur; Acting-Manager, Mr. Howard Finney.—Dick Whittington has now entered upon the last week but one of its run, much to the regret of the public, who crowd the theatre nightly. All the company work assiduously, and there is not a dull moment from start to finish.

GRAND THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. Charles P. Cooke.—The pantomime, Jack and the Beanstalk, still continues to attract. Miss Daisy Sillcott as Jack has made hosts of friends, and the sweet singing and charming manner of Miss Phyllis Yorke claim everybody's admiration. The comedians headed by Mr. Charles Gardiner, are indefatigable in their efforts to amuse.

EMPIRE THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; Acting-Manager, Mr. Chas. H. Bowmaker.—The stirring equestrian sketch, Dick Turpin's Ride to York, is proving once more its evergreen capacity to attract. Presented by Mr. F. Ginnett, whose company includes also Mr. Geo. Jennings and Mesdames Ginnett and Jennings, its every appearance is received in the most enthusiastic manner. Tom Costello, with new songs and business, finds his reception as hearty as ever. Miss Clarice Netta, a soprano vocalist of unusual ability, makes a very acceptable turn, and the Three Ramoniers, in a clever ladder balancing and acrobatic performance, are very good. Harry Russon, the actor comedian, must feel gratified at his success, whilst Arthur Spencer entertains in a very satisfactory manner. Frobel and Ruge are excellent aerial gymnasts, and the Gentle Mackweys cause a great deal of mirth by their fast and furious comedy acrobat act. The programme is completed by Holden's mannikins, a really clever performance, and "The Village Fire Brigade," series of pictures on the Bioscope.

NUNEATON.—PRINCE OF WALES'S THEATRE AND ENTERTAINMENTS CO., LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. A. F. Cross; Acting-Manager, Mr. Walter J. R. Bryan.—Mr T. Morton Powell's company occupies the boards this week with The Woman Who Gambles. Mr. Alec Alexander gives an excellent portrayal of Count Otto Steinbach; the part of the villain, Baron Cratzlaw, finds an able exponent in Mr. H. Sinclair; Miss Lilla Wilde gives a good impersonation of the Countess (the woman who gambles); others deserving of praise are Miss Florence Halton (Cora Gouldhart), Miss Dorothy Haigh (Mlle. Zila Zeyelda), Mr. Reginald Fox (Lieut. Kard), and Mr. Arthur Richards (Hon Bertie Bray). The piece is well staged.

OLDHAM.—EMPIRE THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. E. Dottridge; Assistant-Manager, Mr. J. Hulme.—The D'Oyly Carte principal repertoire opera company commenced a week's engagement here on Monday evening, when a large and appreciative audience assembled to witness The Gondoliers. Mr. Strafford Moss and Mr. Albert Kavanagh appeared as Marco and Giuseppe respectively, with great success; Mr. Fred Billington had a capital reception on his entrance as Don Alhambra, and he shows that he has lost none of his powers to please with his singing; Mr. Charles H. Walenn is again the Duke of Plaza-Toro, and he also assisted greatly in promoting the merriment. Mr. Leicester Tunks makes the most of Luiz, and Mr. Fred Drawater scores as Antonio; Miss Hope Hastings as Gianetta and Miss Lulu Evans as Tessa sing their numbers in capital style, whilst Miss Norma Russell makes a stately Duchess, and Miss Mabel Graham is excellent as Casilda; Miss Phyllis Grey as Inez leaves nothing to be desired. A well-balanced chorus does much for the success of these popular operas. The Mikado, Iolanthe, Yeomen of the Guard, and H.M.S. Pinafore constituted an attractive programme for the rest of the week.

ROYAL THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Manager, Mr. E. Dottridge; Assistant-Manager, Mr. W. Howgate.—The Three Olympiers head the bill in their artistic show, "Beauty in Bronze"; Mr. C. Parker's Six Æolians have had a capital reception; La Fails, in their capital gymnastic entertainment, gain much applause, and Morny Cash keeps the audience roaring with his funny songs; Ada Parker is a charming songstress and a neat dancer, and Mamie Gannon is a smart coon comedienne; the Two Falcons, comedy acrobatic equilibrists, are quite up to date, and A. E. Clifford is a good vocalist. The Royal Dottoscope concludes the entertainment.

HIPPODROME.—Manager, Mr. E. Dottridge; Assistant-Manager, Mr. Nuttall.—Mr. Will Vay's juveniles, in a comedy scena, give a show which is heartily enjoyed. Mr. Will Godwin does well in his scena, Repentance. The Three Clarions provide refined comedy and smart dancing; Chas. F. Best does some clever work in his original comedy act, and Marion Grahame, operatic vocalist, sings sweetly; Fred Lester, baritone, sings popular songs, and Fred Casburn is a unique comedian. The Dottoscope is again a feature of the programme.

OXFORD.—NEW THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Thomas Lucas, J.P.; Acting-Manager, Mr. C. C. Dorrill.—On Monday Mr. Charles Macdona's company began a successful engagement here with Mr. Popple (of Ippleton), which, well played by a good company, was heartily received by a full house. Mr. Allan Pollock was highly successful as Freddy Popple; Mr. L. Bullock Webster acted well and danced cleverly as Norman Popple; Mr. R. MacLachlan sang sweetly and made an acceptable Jacques Kenyon; Mr. S. Courtenay and Mr. J. Stevenson were good as George Hennay and Henry Doring; and Mr. Tom May got a great deal of fun out of the part of Platt. Miss Millie Hylton scored a big success as La Bolero, her singing and acting meeting with keen appreciation; Miss Cora Lingard was a sweet and sympathetic Violet Brinton; Mrs. Doring and Mrs. Hennay found capable exponents in the Misses Alice Rene and Stella St. Audrie; and Miss Nellie Hodson was a bright and chic Louisa. The chorus was well up to the mark.

PAISLEY.—PAISLEY THEATRE.—Sole Proprietor and Manager, Mr. J. H. Savile; Acting-Manager, Mr. Frank Bentz.—Goody Two-Shoes has entered on its sixth and final week preparatory to going on tour. Mr. Savile has added another success to his long list of triumphs in the pantomime line, and there is no reason to fear but that his Goody Two-Shoes will become as popular in the different places it visits as it has been in the home of its production.

HIPPODROME.—Sole Proprietor, Mr. E. H. Bostock; Acting-

act; Bob Nicol's mimicry of music-hall stars gets the usual demonstrative reception; E. J. Sheldon, comedian and dancer, is much applauded; Jeannette Hall, the lady baritone vocalist, is also successful; and T. E. Johnstone, topical character vocalist, supplies a good entertainment. The Hippodrome Bioscope, with the Aladdin pantomime, completes.

EMPIRE.—Lessee, Mr. J. H. Savile; Manager, Mr. Tom Toy.—Heading the bill this week is George M. Schilling, the famous athlete and traveller, who relates his experiences; Lillian Sivado, in a novel and sensational trapeze act, is applauded; Li-Chang-Hi, the Chinese conjurer, displays skill; a capital turn is submitted by Harry Leaton, refined vocal comedian; Katie Eplett, comedienne and dancer, arouses enthusiasm; Jack Ramsay, versatile mimic, vocalist, and raconteur, is entertaining; Lillie Hales, comedienne and dancer, is smart and taking; and The Dunlops score in an original comedy cycle act.

TOWN HALL. — Proprietors, Magistrates and Council.—The Chas. W. Poole's colossal Myriorama is an entertainment which is largely patronised here this week. Various places of modern and historical interest and of great events are graphically depicted, the pictures being of a brilliant and spectacular nature. All that is witnessed is made the more interesting by the clever explanation of Mr. John R. Poole, who acts as guide. The variety entertainment is of exceptional merit, and includes the Lizzette troupe of lady acrobats; Harry Raymond, coon vocalist and dancer; Woolford's educated ponies, dogs, and donkey; Dane's marionettes; The Fordyces (Jennie and Willie), juvenile vocalists and dancers; Sydney Bach, piano-playing exponent; and Funny Chef, versatile comedian. Poole's animated photos are particularly pleasing.

PERTH.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Sole Lessee and Manager, Mr. J. H. Savile; Acting-Manager, Mr. Frank Aldridge.—Miss Grace Warner, supported by Mr. George Gordon and her London company, is here this week with an excellent programme, including The Scarlet Clue, Lady Audley's Secret, My Artful Valet, Editha's Burglar, and The Little Widow. In the first-named piece Mr. George Gordon assumes the arduous rôle of Michael Stanton with acceptance; Mr. Arthur St. Clair's is a pleasing impersonation of the twin brothers Jack and Harry Esmond; Mr. J. L. Leigh is highly amusing as Billy the Rotter; Little Phyllis Massey's Reggie is heartily approved; Miss Hilda Herne contributes a pleasing portrayal of Elsie Dane; Miss Esther Dean is a vivacious Musette; Little Violet Palfrey is vociferously applauded for her delightful rendering of Little Polly; and Miss Grace Warner's Sal Scarlett is an exposition of talent which the audience fully appreciates.

PETERBOROUGH.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Manager, Mr. A. Darville Vernon.—Messrs. A. Hamilton Warden and Chas. V. Sandford's company, in A Woman's Past, is here this week. Mr. W. Henry Hargreaves gives a fine rendering of David Heath; Mr. Charles V. Sandford does full justice to the rôle of Frank Dellannoy; Mr. A. Hamilton Warden is suitably placed as Clement Harper; and Mr. G. Moreton-Williams enacts the part of Uriah Craven in an able manner. Miss Maisie Hanbury submits a clever portrayal of Bessie; Miss Eva Bertram is successful as Clara; and Miss May Dallas makes a pleasing Dorothy.

PLYMOUTH. — THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. C. F. Williams; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. Langdon Lee.—Blue Beard has now entered on his last week's existence at the Royal, and the country people are joining with the townsfolk in crowding to Mr. Williams's popular theatre. The different vocal numbers have "caught on" immensely, the singers being nightly the recipients of handsome bouquets and other tokens of appreciation. Sister Ann (Mr. George Brooks), Shakabak (Mr. Frank Bertram), and Iphraham (Mr. Wilfred Shine) still produce roars of merriment by their quaint "gags" and witticisms, while tuneful vocal items are delegated to Miss Murielle Langley (Selim), Miss Peggy Primrose (Fatima), and Miss Elma Morris (Abdul). The speciality dances by an accomplished trio of ladies—the Gilbert Girls—also form an attractive feature of the performance.

GRAND THEATRE.—Lessee, Mr. C. F. Williams; Manager, Mr. Percy Williams; Assistant Acting-Manager, Mr. Ernest Grant. Mr. E. Hill Mitchelson's drama, entitled When the Lights are Low, is staged this week. As Gun Goldsworthy and Roland Goldsworthy Messrs. C. A. Melton and C. Baird were very creditable, and a similar compliment may be paid the Misses Ethel Kay and V. Vanbrugh for their impersonations of the parts of the sisters Violet and Nancy Christie. Other commendable members of the company are Messrs. W. Terriss (Admiral Goldsworthy), Larry Clements (Donald McPherson), and Chas. Locke (Ikey Isaacson).

PALACE OF VARIETIES.—Manager, Mr. Jack Field.—The star turn, Galetti's Monkey Comedians, is of a distinctly novel nature; Walter Munroe, Irish comedian, returns after an absence of nine years, and his hearty reception bore testimony to the fact that his old friends have not forgotten him; the Knick-Knacks, comedy and speciality dancers, provide an interesting turn; Miss Fatmah Diard gives a touching rendering of "Home, Sweet Home"; the Steinway Quartette entertain with some high-class vocalism; and the Beautiful Lilian performs some clever trick cycling. The other contributors to an interesting programme are Mignonette Kokin (comedienne and dancer), Ena Richards (dancer), and Vernon's pictures.

PONTYPRIDD.—ROYAL CLARENCE THEATRE.—Owners and Proprietors, Mrs. Trenchard and Miss L. Jones; Manager, Mr. Charles Trenchard.—An undoubted attraction is provided this week in Mr. Ronald Grahame's pantomime, Aladdin. Miss Celestine Brandon as Aladdin takes the house by storm; Miss Edna Hans shines as Pekoe; Miss Lucie Fitzroy is a charming Princess Badrilbadour; Miss Edie Cameron is a favourite as My Sweete; Mrs. Camille Twankey is admirably portrayed by Mr. Gilbert Hart; Mr. Wilfred E. Brandon must be congratulated for his Abanazar; Mr. Herbert Davies does well as Emperor Many Wany VI.; and Mr. Tony Freedman is good as the Grand Vizier.

PORTH.—THE PALACE (late OPERA HOUSE).—General-Manager, Mr. C. W. Poole; Acting-Manager, Mr. W. Bynorth.—This week an excellent and varied programme has been arranged by Messrs. Poole. The bill is headed by the Royal Quintette, Scotland's representative international dancers, vocalists, and pipers, who are accorded a warm reception; Sisters Clare, charming singers and dainty dancers, are thoroughly up to date; Judge's Performing Cockatoos, introduced by the Sisters Judge, are well worth seeing; The Seddons are responsible for some capital fun; Mlle. Ada Catley gives a most creditable performance on the swinging wire; Charles Banks, comedian, and his wonderful dog, Woof, submit an enjoyable turn; Selby and Myers score a distinct success; Mantell and Oval are exceptionally smart as comedy acrobats; the Seabornes, acrobats, are successful; and some pretty pictures are shown on the Bioscope.

PORTSMOUTH. — THEATRE ROYAL. — Licensee and Manager, Mr. J. W. Boughton; Acting-Manager, Mr. Armstrong Bell.—The Japanese musical play, The White Chrysanthemum, is paying a welcome return visit here this week, and is presented by Mr. Frank Curzon's principal company in a highly creditable manner. Miss Dorothy Court charms the audience by her delightful portrayal of the name part; Miss Maisie North as Betty Kenyon and Miss Gracie Sinclaire as Cornelia Vanderdecken are both admirable in their respective embodiments; Mr. Davy Barnaby sustains the part of Lieut. Chippendale Belmont, and merits great praise for his excellent presentation; Mr. E. Pope-Stamper also deserves great commendation for his careful rendering of Lieut. Reginald Armitage; Mr. St. John Hamund is conspicuously successful as Admiral Sir Horatio Armitage; Sin Chong and Private Perks are well placed in the hands of Messrs. O. E. Lennon and Harry Paulton, jun., who provoke peals of merriment by their capital comedy. The mounting and dressing are of a lavish nature, and the chorus and orchestra are under the able direction of Mr. Leonard Hornsey.

PRINCES'S THEATRE.—Licensee and Manager, Mr. J. W. Boughton; Acting-Manager, Mr. T. E. Agate.—Mr. Fred Benton and his able company are here this week in the highly-successful and exciting drama, The French Spy. Mr. Beresford Lovett, as Captain Sommers, makes a manly and convincing hero; Mr. Max Coutts is excellent as Count Romanoff; Mr. George Sherraton, as Petross Romanoff, his brother, displays considerable ability; Fritz, a German strong man, is smartly and amusingly taken by Mr. Fred Benton; Miss A. Harrison-Tate gives a powerful portrayal of Olga; Miss Madge Devereux, as Countess Ande, does very capable work; and Miss Ella Seton as Julie is admirable. The remainder of the characters are all well depicted, and the mounting and scenery, notably the torpedo-boat effects, are very effective.

EMPIRE PALACE.—Secretary Mr W. Pratt.—Good business is assured here this week, Dr. Walford Bodie being the principal attraction. Dr. Bodie had a most cordial greeting, and did some astounding work, to the great satisfaction of the audience. Cissy Lupino, transformation dancer, is a capital exponent of the Terpsichorean art; Cleland, grotesque juggler, with his "muddled-up mixture of mirth," is most diverting; Millie Howell, a smart descriptive vocalist, does well; the Pirmans, in novelty pantomime act, "Dans le Jardin," score; Queenie May, juvenile artist, sings some taking songs in excellent style; George Bendon, the white coon, ably renders plantation melodies; Herbert Shelley, in Dan the Outlaw, gives an interesting and well-sustained episode of the time of George III., in which he appears in five different characters; and Payne's Bio-Photoscope, with some new films, completes the bill.

PRESTON.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietors, the Executors of the late Mr. Wm. Johnson; Resident-Manager, Mr. Stephen Pritt.—Messrs. G. M. Polini and Austin Melford's company is presenting The Silver King here this week to large audiences. Mr. Fred B. DAVISS gains hearty applause for his dramatic and convincing interpretation of the title-rôle; Mr. L. St. George Lowther's delineation of the Spider is thoroughly effective; Mr. Edward J. George gives a natural and genuinely humorous embodiment of Jaikes; and Mr. Arthur Wright as Elijah Combe, Mr. George Belmore as Henry Corket, and Mr. Warriss Lindon as Cripps ably sustain their parts. Nellie Denver is successfully portrayed by Miss Daisy Scudamore; and Cissie Denver has a charming representative in Miss Flossie Hall Daviss, a child actress of exceptional ability.

ROYAL HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, Messrs. W. H. Broadhead and Sons; Resident Acting-Manager, Mr. E. J. Linsdell.—Aladdin, a pantomime, presented by Messrs. Holland and Wood's company, is a popular attraction here this week. Miss Florence Haskoll plays the part of Aladdin in spirited style; and the Princess has an attractive exponent in Miss Florence Wood. Unlimited fun is supplied by Messrs. Nash and Noel, Mr. Percy Curry, and Mr. George Reeves. Special turns contributing materially to the success of the performance, are given by the Three Trees, vocalists and dancers; the Chameleon Cave Guards, in a military march with electrical colour effects; Kendrick and Laura, with songs and dances; and Nash and Noel, eccentric comedians.

PRINCE'S THEATRE.—Proprietors and Managers, Messrs. Sawyer and Woodruff.—Mr. Fred J. Little and Mr. Fred Darcy's company is appearing here this week, in Sinbad the Sailor. Miss Marie Reeve is a very popular Principal Boy; Mr. Walter Adams as Sinbad makes a hit with his songs; Mr. Albert E. Mann in the rôle of Mrs. Sinbad keeps the house well amused; Miss Nell Brough is seen to advantage as Selim, and scored a success with her whistling; Miss Amy Calcott makes a bright and vivacious Zorilda; Mr. Fred Taylor a merry Captain Cook. Messrs. Newco and Sullo as Baccah and Stoppah evoke continuous laughter; Mr. Fred Dobito in the part of Ali Loofah has ample opportunities of using a fine bass voice; Miss Flora Buxton, in the rôle of Princess Zaidre, sings old-time songs, which are received with great favour; and others who ably sustain their respective parts are Miss Marian Ellis as the Fairy, and Knoto as the Old Man of the Sea. Specialities are introduced by Les Beaux Belles, graceful and original dancers; Messrs. Newco and Sullo, in a clever creation, entitled John Chinaman and Jonathan; the Calcotts, banjo experts; Dobito and Buxton, excellent vocalists; and the Marvellous Westwoods, in a clever cycling act.

RADCLIFFE. — GRAND OPERA HOUSE. — Sole Owner and Manager, Mr. George T. Sante; Acting-Manager, Mr. Jas. Boothman.—Mr. A. E. Smith's company, with the pantomime, Aladdin, is finding favour here. Mr. Fred Ramsdale as the Widow Twankey is a host in himself; Miss May Leycester is dainty as the Princess, and adds to her success by her delightful singing; Miss Bessie Carlton plays Aladdin with dash and sprightliness; the Brothers Padley cause much fun as policemen, and their acrobatic performance is very clever; Miss Kitty Nicklin is good as Peko; and Mr. Percy Beresford is well placed as the Grand Vizier. Miss Connie Irwin is the bewitching Genii of the Lamp; the Silverdale Troupe of lady dancers also deserve a word of praise.

RAMSGATE. — AMPHITHEATRE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Henry Bowman.—The fairy pantomime, Bluebell in Fairyland, is this week produced in first-rate style by Mr. Edward Graham-Falcon's company, and good audiences have been attracted. Miss Florence Somers plays admirably as Bluebell, and Mr. Lawrence Emery's impersonation of Dickie, the crossing-sweeper, is a fine piece of work. As the two footmen, and subsequently the twin schoolboys, Messrs. J. H. Bishop and Charles Resti contribute vastly to the amusement caused; and Mr. Frank Lennard is eminently successful in the rôle of Mr. Joplin, a soft-hearted City merchant. The important rôle of Peter, the cat, is undertaken with considerable success by Master W. Blincoe. The other characters are well sustained, the company being an exceptionally strong one. The songs of all go down well, and the chorus is a finely-trained one. The scenery is of an elegant character, and the general mounting of the pantomime leaves nothing whatever to be desired. The speciality dancing of the three Sisters Holman is worthy of mention.

RAWTENSTALL. — GRAND THEATRE. — Lessee and Manager, Mr. Arthur de Frece; General-Manager, Mr. George Dickinson.—Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Kimberley's company is here with Two Little Drummer Boys. Miss Maggie English and Miss Maud Douglas are exceptionally good in the title-rôles; Miss Edie Macklin is a smart and lively Molly Meadows; as Alma Kingsley Miss Mildred Eversleigh is both charming and clever; Miss Kathleen Magee makes a capital Drunken Meg; Mr. Frank Fuller is a really good General Kingsley, and Mr. Fred Emery an excellent Captain Carsdale. Mr. Archer Helsby makes an admirable George Darrell, and Mr. J. Magrath as Corporal O'Quirk creates considerable amusement.

READING.—ROYAL COUNTY THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. Milton Bode; Acting-Manager, Mr. Arthur Cowley.—Mr. George Dance's company is the attraction this week in the popular comic opera, The Little Michus. Mr. Foster Courtenay is exceedingly humorous in the part of General des Ifs, and creates the greatest hilarity all the time he is on the stage. He is ably seconded by Mr. Gilbert Childs, who is very amusing as Bagnolet; Mr. William Everard sings well as Gaston Rigaud; Mr. Robert C. Harcourt as Aristide Vert makes the most of a somewhat unsatisfactory part; the Little Michus are charmingly impersonated by the Misses Alice Coverick and Gipsy Dale. Mr. Leon Simkin as Père Michu and Miss Mary Young as Madame Michu both sustain their characters well. Miss Bessie Mackenzie in the dual parts of Mlle. Herpin and Mme. du Tertre is good; and Mlle. Marjorie is highly successful in her dances as Mlle. St. Cyr.

RHYL.—QUEEN'S PALACE.—On Saturday Mr. John A. Thompson's company concluded a successful three nights' engagement in Aladdin. Miss Lilian Earle made an excellent Aladdin. Miss May Tompleton, as the Princess, sang several pretty songs; Mr. Fred Lake, an old favourite, made himself very popular. The pantomime had the advantage of having several specialities, including the Geisha troupe of lady dancers; Korrie, musical entertainer; Sisters Isabel, American coon artists; and Bert Goldin. This week Mr. Fred Jarman's company is here in the well-known drama, Under the Czar. Miss Lillian Herries has many friends in Rhyl, who welcome her reappearance here in the part of Sonia Gregorovitch. Mr. Wilson Howard and Mr. G. H. Doyle are excellent in their respective parts of Nicholas Geroslaff and Zakhar Kovesky.

ROCHDALE.—EMPIRE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Thomas Hargreaves; Acting-Manager, Mr. Frank Hargreaves.—The Balsamas, in a comedy gymnastic act, are exceptionally clever on the triple bars and at the same time are highly amusing. The Three Ferganas, head-to-head balancers and tumblers, give a remarkably clever display; Sadie Seymour wins great favour with her descriptive vocalism; Wallace Whitney creates much amusement as a character-comedian. Other turns are submitted with success by Beattie Foster, low-comedy artist; Learto, comedian, and his dog "Bobs," in musical comedy act; the Onatis Troupe, Algerian jugglers; Miss Omega, on the wire; and the Empire Bioscope.

CIRCUS AND HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, Smith and Co.—An attractive programme is submitted here this week. Dickenson and Johnson give a graceful exhibition of ornamental swimming, also performing some clever feats under water; the Attilla Bros. score largely with a display of weight-lifting and muscular development; J. K. Tideman, comedian; Dolly Denner, buck dancer; Mozzetto, juggler; the Paul Hesse Trio, acrobatic wire performers; Master Harry Raley, vocalist; George Brown, comedian; and Vernon's Bioscope complete the bill.

THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietors, The Northern Theatres Co., Ltd.; Managing-Director, Mr. W. Robinson; General-Manager, Mr. Otto C. Culling; Resident-Manager, Mr. J. Hague.—The Ugliest Woman on Earth is the attraction here this week. Some really fine emotional acting is done by Miss Beatrice Homer in the title-rôle; Mr. Philip Dorien cleverly portrays the part of Jack Merriman; Mr. Leyton Consellor submits a fine study of Hubert Gold; and Mr. Charles Barrett is seen to advantage as Antonio Luchesi; Miss Nell Oliver deserves praise for her embodiment of Rose Courtenay.

ROTHERHAM.—THEATRE ROYAL, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Resident-Manager, Mr. Holbery Hardy.—Again local playgoers are being regaled with pantomime, Messrs. Moore-Kennedy's company appearing with Dick Whittington. Of the Immortals, Miss Mollie Revell as Fairy Queen and Mr. Tom Lewis as the Demon Rat are deserving of mention, their musical items being well received. Mlle. Lucretia is very sprightly in the title-rôle, her dances being deservedly applauded; Mr. Percy Victor is very funny as Alderman Fitzwarren; Idle Jack by Mr. Will Sandes is responsible for much of the success of the show, his legmania turn being very clever. Mr. Fred Fulton as Betsy Mary Ann is seen to advantage; and Mons. Paulette is very clever as Tilby the cat. The Canadian Boys, Messrs. Kino and Kirby, score heavily as Shuffle and Shirk; and Miss May Vincent is a smart Viscount Piccadilly. Miss Jessie Barrow is seen to advantage as Maid Marian; and Miss Helena Barton is very pleasing as Alice Fitzwarren. The Lily Godfrey Troupe are responsible for some very clever dances.

RUGBY.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Managing-Director, Mr. A. F. Cross; Acting-Manager, Mr. Geoffrey Fulton.—Mr. Tom H. Taylor's company is this week presenting The Female Swindler. Mr. John Millane gives an able and artistic impersonation of John Coulson, and is well supported by Mr. John Belton as Abraham Mikestein; Mr. Clarence Ibbotson works exceedingly hard, and gives much satisfaction as Lord Hitchell, Billy Binks, Scotchman, and the Washerwoman. Mr. A. Kenyon Gray is clever and dignified as James Oliver, and Mr. Guy B. Ellis gains the sympathy of the audience by his acting as Harold Travers. Miss Florrie Kelsey is charming and effective as May Andrews, and Miss Mary Dawson is good as Mary Ann Mee. As Lu Valroy, Miss Grace E. Leslie is a great success, and Miss Edith Gray causes much amusement as Mrs. Poppem.

RUNCORN.—PUBLIC HALL.—Secretary, Mr. E. S. Lea.—Owing to the demise of the old Theatre Royal in this town, and pending the erection of a new building, attractions are being booked at the above hall. For the current week we have a welcome return visit to the town of Mr. John H. Tomkinson's Royal Gypsy Company. The top of the bill is awarded to the Rizarelis, a couple of juvenile performers, whose evolutions on the trapeze are executed in a style worthy of all praise; Vio Lette, a very clever child artist, proves to be the possessor of a strong and sweet voice; Elsie Rubina, with charming studies of equipoise on the wire, is warmly applauded; Frank Power is a tenor vocalist of undoubted merit; Tweed Andrews has some smart patter and songs; Miss Kitty Linda, contralto vocalist, is much appreciated; Miss Minnie Richardson delights with violin selections, and Miss Daisy Vernon, descriptive vocalist; Miss Annie Knowles, a lady trombonist of high repute; Sisters Dudley, in admirably-rendered duets; Miss Evie Lynn, comedienne and expert dancer; the Five Dees, comedy artists; and the Recars, in a marvellously enacted acrobatic show, are all well received.

SALFORD.—PRINCE OF WALES' THEATRE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. E. B. Goulden; Acting-Manager, Mr. Harold Goulden.—Mr. Lingford Carson's company drew a good house on Monday with The Power of the Cross, by George A. de Gray, in which that gentleman ably sustains the weird character of Baron Wolfe Curzola. Miss Mildred Cottell as the adventuress, Rita Lascelles, makes a satisfactory impression, and she is ably assisted in villainy by Benjamin Hawke, in the hands of Mr. L. F. Trenaur. Comedy is well represented by Mr. R. E. Nugent as Timothy O'Dowd and Miss Etta Turner as Dolly Gray; Miss Phyllis Vaughan as Blanche Kingsley and Miss Stanley Burt as Margaret Seaton, with Mr. C. Linney as Gerald Fairfax and Mr. A. J. Haviland as Dr. Leslie Fairfax, cleverly sustain their respective characters.

REGENT THEATRE OF VARIETIES, LTD.—Managing-Director and Licensee, Mr. W. Turner; Manager, Mr. Herbert Raymond; Secretary, Mr. J. C. Patterson.—John Tiller's pantomime Aladdin is presented twice nightly, and full houses found much amusement on Monday when it commenced a twelve nights' run. Aladdin is spiritedly represented by Miss Jessie Wilton, whose singing is much applauded; Mr. Fred Dark as Widow Twankey, Mr. Harry Elliston as Abanazar, Mr. Harry Morgan as I-Ke-Mo, and Little Britton as Schnapps work hard together in providing food for roars of laughter; Miss Clara Beck makes a charming Princess Balroubadour; Pekoe is most fittingly portrayed by Miss May Sharples; and Miss Maud St. John is a charming Ting-Ling. Mr. Harold Wardroper does well as the Emperor, and a pretty Genie of the Ring is seen in Miss Daisy Woodworth. A very pleasing part of the entertainment is the smart and pretty dancing of the Tiller Quartette and eight well-trained girls.

ROYAL HIPPODROME.—Manager, Mr. W. B. Broadhead; Acting-Manager, Mr. Percy B. Broadhead; Resident Acting-Manager, Mr. C. H. Wentworth. —The Smoking Concert, by arrangement with Mr. Fred Karno, is a funny sketch under the direction of W. B. Crabtree, who acts as chairman, and is one of the principal items of this week's programme. Blackmail is an amusing water sketch, played by Henry Herne and company; Tom and Marée Motramo (comical musical artists), Carr and Rose (Fred and Ada, clever drawing-room entertainers), Zertho (the clown with his clever dogs), Wragg and Wragg (military athletes), Johnson and D'Evere (cycle riding and balancing), and Beattie and Blanche (comediennes and dancers) also provide good entertainment.

SALISBURY. — COUNTY HALL.—Proprietor, Mr. A. Whitehead; Business-Manager, Mr. T. Brinsmead.—Good houses have assembled to witness Mr. Edward Graham-Falcon's company in Bluebell in Fairyland. Miss Mamie Finbow in the title-rôle scored a great success; as Dicky Mr. Sidney Edward cleverly enacted his part; Mr. Herbert Clark and Mr. George Colman as Will and Wont caused great amusement; Mr. Roy Travers, the Sleepy King, received several encores for his songs; and Miss Sylvia Mortlake as the Reigning Queen was both fascinating and dignified.

SEACOMBE.—IRVING THEATRE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. James Kiernan.—Mr. Edward Marris's pantomime, Robinson Crusoe, is drawing capital houses here this week, a result which the production well deserves. The title-rôle is excellently acted by Miss Maisie Jarard, whose rendering of some of the newest songs gains unstinted applause. Miss Effie Vincent presents a charming little Polly Maydew; Mr. James Graydon gives a clever personation of Mrs. Crusoe; the comic business of the Waldrons (Joe and Etty) as John Willie Crusoe and Matilda Crusoe, keeps the merriment fairly going. Mr. G. Brentwood (Will Atkins), Mr. Alec Kashma (Captain Mainbrace), and Mr. Ernie Hampson (Friday), deserve commendation for their respective renderings. Mr. Herbert Peace gives an adequate rendering of the King, and Mr. Jack Cashma makes the most of his opportunities as Scraps, the dog. A special feature is the tuneful vocalism of the Thalian Glee Singers.

SEAHAM HARBOUR.—NEW THEATRE ROYAL. —Proprietor, Mr. A. C. Harrison; Manager, Mr. Sidney Beltram.—A welcome return visit is being paid this week by Mr. Ernest R. Abbott and company. On Monday A Wife's Triumph was presented with marked success. Mr. Abbott as Frank Wilton portrayed the character with his well-known ability; as Ellis Jordan Mr. W. H. Garbois played with entire success; Julius Hartman was well presented by Mr. Weedon Ross; Mr. Edwin Keene as Ben Bradford gave a meritorious delineation of the part; Mr. W. H. Davis Brown did well as Stubbs; and Mr. D. Pentland was good as Chas. E. Rylands. Bessie Dewhurst was presented in excellent style by Miss Ada Abbott; Alice Wilton was skilfully enacted by Miss Doris Dew; and Margery smartly played by Miss Marjorie Tennant; and as Frank Miss Hetty Jones did well. Sapho, Lady Audley's Secret, and East Lynne are included in the week's repertory.

SHEERNESS.—THE PALACE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Phil Reymond.—Business at this old-established amusement temple continues good, thanks to Mr. Reymond's practical catering. This week we have Mr. Montague Butler, a clever burlesque conjuror, who is voted very funny; Mr. Nick Ohlson, a first-rate eccentric comedian, makes a hit with his well-written songs; Miss Josie Watson is a popular burlesque actress, her songs being good and capitally sung; Mr. H. S. Leggett (of the four famous Leggetts) fully sustains his reputation as a comedian and champion dancer; Mr. Phil Reymond, the well-known comedian, still continues a big favourite; and the Arundel Company conclude with a comedy sketch, The Sham Count, which tickles the audience immensely.

THE HIPPODROME.—General-Manager, Mr. Fred Leighton.—An interesting programme is provided here for this week, and includes the Two Bees, in an allegorical scene, entitled "The Man in the Moon," for which they gain a hearty reception. Mons. Slippere, the blind pianist, submits a clever entertainment; the Musical Palmers make a welcome reappearance here, and are loudly applauded for their efforts; Denby and Dent, song and dance artists, are cordially received; Miss Daisy Palmer, comedienne and dancer, wins approbation; Mr. Neil Hardy, eccentric comedian; and Miss Nelly Wilson, comedienne, also successfully contribute. The pictures by Vernon's Bioscope still remain an attractive feature of the bill.

SHEFFIELD. — LYCEUM THEATRE. — Managing-Director, Mr. John Hart; General-Manager and Treasurer, Mr. J. E. B. Beaumont.—On Monday a crowded audience received with enthusiasm Mr. Robert Courtneidge's production of the Oriental musical extravaganza The Blue Moon. The character of Moolray, the juggler and idol-maker, gave Mr. Alfred Beers every opportunity of showing his abilities as an alert comedian; Mr. Reginald Switz made a humorous Private Taylor; Mr. J. E. Fraser sang and acted most effectively as the gallant Captain; Mr. Leslie Gaye submitted a clever sketch of a type of military man; the part of Chandra, the Blue Moon, was played with bewitching grace and naïveté by Miss Clarice Lockstone; and Miss Florence Imeson was a charming and tuneful representative of Millicent.

THEATRE ROYAL. — Managing-Director, Mr. John Hart; General-Manager and Treasurer, Mr. J. E. B. Beaumont.—Mother Goose continues its successful run, and large and appreciative audiences enjoy the beauty of the spectacular display and the humour and vivacity of the whole performance.

ALEXANDRA THEATRE. — Managing-Director, Mr. W. D. Forsdike; Acting-Manager, Mr. C. W. Ramsay.—Dick Whittington is filling the theatre nightly, and is another Alexandra triumph.

EMPIRE PALACE.—Proprietors, The Moss Empires Co., Ltd.; Acting-Manager, Mr. Alan D. Dunbar. —The pièce de résistance this week is an operatic scena, entitled Betta, the Gipsy, an effectively-mounted production, in which the celebrated vocalist Mlle. Alice Esty appears in a picturesque rôle, supported by several talented artists and a well-trained chorus. Little Ganty, the popular Baron of last year's Royal pantomime, is always welcome; Zanfretta and Napio are general favourites here; Miss Alma Grey introduces interesting dances; and the programme includes The Courtiers in a refined vocal entertainment; Les Uniques, novelty artists; Miss Lily Esplin, serio; Mr. Chas. Vincent, a smart vocal comedian; Mr. Ernest Torrence, with pleasing illustrated songs; and the Bioscope, with new animated pictures.

GRAND PALACE.—Proprietor, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. Richard Ralli.—At this popular hall the following artists are now appearing: Smith and Johnson, Miss Eva Hope, Mr. Jack Wayho and company, in a clever sketch; Mr. Francis O'Flynn; Mr. Jim Hegarty; Pallister's Bioscope, with humorous subjects; Miss Cissie Coman, Mr. Arthur Williams, and Miss Marion Scott. Large and delighted audiences continue the rule.

CENTRAL HALL. — Miss Marie Glenn, Scotch vocalist; Mr. George Young, blind singer; Vosper, the well-known society entertainer; and the Biograph make up the programme.

SHREWSBURY. — THEATRE ROYAL. — Licensee and Business-Manager, Mr. W. C. Dornton.—Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Levy and J. E. Cardwell's juvenile company is here this week with The Sleeping Beauty. Miss May Gibson makes a charming Queen, and her tuneful singing gives evidence of careful training; Miss Annie Brumby and Miss Flo Edwards are a pleasing pair of Fairy Attendants; Miss Edie Camm is a dainty Hyacinth; Miss Addie Gibson an attractive Bluebell; Miss Beattie Townshend plays carefully the part of Maligna; Mr. Will Orston acts and sings effectively as Father Time; Miss Kitty Trewhitt looks well and contributes some spirited and taking songs as Prince Florizel; Miss Daisy Fielder makes a good Valet; Miss Isa Gibson as Trixey merits praise; Miss Gladys Skipp is an efficient King's Herald; Master Jack Harrison is lively and amusing as King Fearnought; the Bros. Armstrong, with their drolleries, make diversion as the Queen and Maid respectively; and the Misses Mona Townshend, Dolly Brough, Ethel Townshend, and Gertie Brumby work hard and successfully. Messrs. Doyle and Gibson enliven the pantomime with their witticisms as Colonel Dreadnought and Major Flashlight; Mr. Pat Sloan and Taylor Snowball are a useful pair as Gollywogs; Wee George Wood is a precocious and clever little actor as Bertie Dalrimple; and Miss Nita Paley as Bertie's Nurse makes the best use of her opportunities. Miss Dolly Dodds sings and acts in an accomplished manner as Beauty. The ballets are artistic, the chorus is well trained, and the specialities by La Belle Annette, solo dancer; Miss Edie Camm, bâton swinger; Wee George Wood, and the Marguerite Quartette are worthy of encomiums.

SMETHWICK. — THEATRE ROYAL. — Proprietor, Mr. C. Barnard; Manager, Mr. E. Hewitson.—A gorgeous comic pantomime is The Forty Thieves, presented on Monday by Little and Darcy's company. Miss Marie Silcott as Morgiana sings and acts admirably; Miss Minnie Silcott makes a dashing Captain Abdallah; Messrs. Malone and Conley are diverting as Abdallah's Lieutenants; Mr. Willie Black is quite a host in himself as Ali Baba; and Mr. Ted Wootton is excellent. As Ganem, Miss Violet Silcott is particularly sprightly and dashing; Mr. James Ferguson is funny as Mrs. Cogia Baba, his broad Scotch being much enjoyed; and Mr. Willie Hicks makes a clever and amusing donkey. The specialities include a capital trick cycling turn by the Daunton Shaw Troupe; and the principal dancers are the Esmeralda quartet.

SOUTHAMPTON.—GRAND THEATRE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Fred Mouillot; Resident-Manager, Mr. Arthur Weston.—The first local representation of Peter's Mother is being given by Miss Emma Hutchison and Mr. Percy Hutchison's company. Miss Ruth Mackay is excellent in the title-rôle; Mr. Percy Hutchison gives a finished impersonation of Peter; Mr. Bille Norwood's John Crewys stands out prominently in a good all-round cast; Mr. Charles Harley fills the small part of Sir Timothy Crewys with success; and Miss Hilda Honnis gives a fine character-study of Sarah. Chalk and Cheese precedes the comedy.

PALACE.—Sole Proprietor and Director-General, Mr Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. Wm. Trussell.—Bella and Bijou are the stars here, and win golden opinions for a versatile show. Their sketch The Suffragettes is both up-to-date and entertaining. George Kirk and company present a capital tabloid melodrama, Grip; or, the Fatal Hand; the Bouncing Dillons submit a clever show; the Gondolier Glee Singers are excellent vocalists; and other turns in a good all-round programme are given by the Chee-You-Say family of Chinese conjurers; and Vowles and Bryan, who appear in a capital scena, In a Garden.

HIPPODROME.—Proprietors and Managers, Messrs. F. Mouillot and W. de Frece; General-Manager, Mr. J. de Frece; Acting-Manager, Mr. H. P. Howell.—Mr. Fred Mouillot's pantomime Aladdin is attracting good houses. It is merrily played, and the whole production runs smoothly from start to finish. Miss Minnie Love is a dashing Aladdin; Mat Melrose is very funny as Widow Twankey; and Miss Lala Melrose a charming Princess. Miss Zoe Gilfillan sings well as the Genie of the Lamp; and the Berlin Quartette contribute some smart dancing.

SOUTHEND-ON-SEA.—EMPIRE THEATRE.—Empire Theatre Co., Ltd.; Managing-Director, Mr. Geo. Conquest; Acting-Manager, Mr. A. Lingham Power.—A very creditable and successful production of the pantomime entitled Sinbad is given here this week by Mr. Geo. Bryden-Phillips' company. Special note should be made of the very pretty scenery, whilst the whole mounting is exceptionally good. Both the dancing and singing meet with rapturous applause, Miss Marguerite Erroll being the principal dancer. Miss Belle Harcourt, who is responsible for the title-rôle, sustains her character with evident delight, having capital assistance from Mr. Charles Dillon as Mrs. Sinbad. Mr. Dan Whitley is a comedian of no mean repute, and well interprets Hindbad. Captain Scuttle is ably played by Mr. Willie Page. Esmonde and Verona provide hearty merriment as Ben Bunk and Sanders McBobstay; as also do Snow and Farron as King Tibbles and Princess Naggles.

SOUTHPORT.—OPERA HOUSE, WINTER GARDENS.—Proprietors, The Southport Opera House and Winter Gardens' Co., Ltd.; Secretary, Mr. R. Singleton.—A most attractive entertainment is furnished here by the engagement of Mr. William Greet's principal company in The Earl and the Girl. Mr. William Stephens kept the house on Monday in continual merriment by his clever and versatile impersonation of his original part of Jim Cheese; Miss Francis Earle played the rôle of the American heiress Elphin Hay with charming piquancy, her vocal numbers being artistically rendered; Miss Gertrude Melville essayed the character of Daisy Fallowfield with great success and charm; Mrs. Black, the strong lady, had an energetic and forceful representative in Miss Beatrice Anderson; 'Liza Shoddam was effectively portrayed by Miss Jennie Richards; and Miss Joan Clifford also acted meritoriously. Mr. Arthur Harold merits unstinted praise for his fine portraiture of Dick Wargrave; the Hon. Crewe Boodle had a characteristic impersonator in Mr. Percy E. Wright; Mr. Fred W. Patrick was very good as the host Hazel; the parts of Bunker Bliss, Downham, and Mr. Talk were ably depicted by Messrs. Courtin, Norman, and Taylor respectively.

ALBERT HALL, WINTER GARDENS.—Lessee, Mrs. Charles Parker; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. H. Mertz.—The principal turn here is this week supplied by the Hartley Wonders in their marvellous jumping speciality, a clever and dainty performance; other prominent items were contributed by Mount and Corelli, society entertainers, in their musical duologue, The Master and the Maid; Onda and Artell, in their unique gymnastic pot-pourri act; and Maggie Walsh, the original Lancashire singing mill girl. The programme also embraces Dick Bradley, tramp trick cyclist; Mint and Mart, comedy sketch artists; Little Bobbie, "the gallery boy"; the Ellimans, refined musical entertainers; Mayon and Marie, in their amusing sketch, Elizabeth and the Baby; and the Bioscope with the latest films.

SOUTH SHIELDS.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessees and Managers, Messrs. John and Fred. Coulson.—Claudian is paying a return visit here. Mr. William Maclaren is seen to great advantage as Claudian. The Almida of Miss Lily C. Bandmann is played with a grace and charm which win the hearts of the audience. A powerful portrayal of the Tetrarch is given by Mr. F. Owen Chambers; Mr. Douglas Earle depicts Agazil with great vigour. The humour of the piece is ably sustained by Mr. Chal. T. Chaloner as Belos; Miss Maud Garth as Edesna and Mr. Weston Hubbard as Alcares. In the prologue, the characters of the Holy Clement, Theorus and Serena, are ably represented by Mr. S. Brisco Farbridge, Mr. Edmund Grogan, and Miss Rosa Webster respectively.

EMPIRE PALACE THEATRE.—Proprietors, The South Shields Empire Palace, Ltd.; Managing-Director, Mr. Richard Thornton; General-Manager, Mr. Frank Allen; Resident-Manager, Mr. Geo. F. Thompson.—Charles Coborn, in old songs and new, has had a good reception; Mr. and Mrs. Lucas score heavily in their character selections from Charles Dickens; Fred Elton, musical speciality artist, is heard to advantage. The songs rendered by the coloured Meisters were much appreciated; Princess Pauline is a dainty comedienne The remaining attractive items are Frazer and Mac, comedy artists; Hettie Chattell, comedienne; Harold Hughman, mimic; Harry Lawson, comedian; and the Bioscope, with new and interesting films.

TIVOLI.—Proprietors, Messrs. J. K. Hall and Jos. Sweeney; Business-Manager, Mr. Harry Burns.—The head of the bill is Craig, Rose, and Craig, dental artists, who provide a sensational turn; De Voy, Hurst, and Ricks submit an amusing comedy sketch, Black Justice; Milner Verren, tenor vocalist, sings some good songs. The dancing Gilberts are much appreciated; and the remaining portion of the programme is contributed by Ray and Miles, comedy artists; Alf Thomas, top-boot dancer; and the Tivoli Bioscope.

SPENNYMOOR.—CAMBRIDGE THEATRE.—Lessee, Mr. Hugh Robertson; General-Manager, Mr. Lloyd Clarance; Resident-Manager, Mr. David Collins.—Messrs. Beaudyn and Livesey's company is appearing here in a return visit with A Traitor Prince, under the direction of Mr. George M. Montanini, who himself fills the rôle of Prince Rao with great acceptance. Miss Alice N. Livesey appears to advantage in the picturesque character of Vashti, a snake-charmer; Miss Rose Routledge succeeds in presenting Lola Vane in a very interesting light; and she is ably supported by Mr. W. H. Porter as Lieut. Frank Derrick. As Cara, Mr. James Sherwin displays marked abilities.

STAFFORD.—LYCEUM THEATRE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. James Elphinstone.—Mr. J. Maundy-Gregory's fine company is presenting Lights Out. Mr. Charles Esdale as Lieut. Von Lauffen, and Mr. Kenneth Brampton as Lieut. Von Howen, have a fine conception of their respective parts; as Sergeant Volkhardt Mr. Lionel D'Arragon gives a manly and impressive study; as Klara Volkhardt Miss Frances Darle is really excellent, her interpretation being both powerful and womanly.

STALYBRIDGE.—HIPPODROME.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. James Fioni.—The artists here include Angeline, the lady Cinquevalli; Dan Ashton, the Lancashire collier lad; Kerr and Shaw, comedians; the Arleys, in a clever pot-pourri act; George Collins, an excellent comedian; the Sisters Marion, duettists; Johnny Alexander and Co., in a farcical sketch, Brown in Paris.

ST. HELENS.—THEATRE ROYAL AND OPERA HOUSE.—Proprietors, the St. Helen's Theatre, Ltd.; General-Manager, Mr. McLeod Loader.—We are favoured here this week with a vist of Messrs. Alfred Paumier and Walter Howard's excellent company in The Midnight Wedding, which is proving highly attractive. Miss Annie Saker is seen at her best in the dual rôle of Karl and Princess Astrea; Mr. Alfred Paumier gives a sound and clever enactment of Paul Valmar. They are well supported by Messrs. F. W. Freeman, Ernest E. Imeson, Clinton Baddeley, J. E. Page, Algie Spalding, E. Fletcher, Miss Marion Fawcett, Miss Ada Champion, and Miss Prudence Lawrence.

FIPPODROME.—Proprietors, Messrs. T. Barrasford, Will Sley, and F. Wilmott; Resident-Manager, Mr. A. V. Carnell.—The premier position is held here this week by Wild, Willie, and West, who are causing uproarious merriment in their comedy acrobatic trap scena, The Bounding Navvies. Miss Ely Adair is a pleasing vocalist; Harry Grey scores as an eccentric comedian; the McConnell Trio are very clever in their absurdity A Musical Mistake, as are the Three Dreadnoughts as rifle shots; Miss Olive Arundale is a comedienne of much merit; and the musical sketch, A Night in Japan, presented by a capable company, is well received.

STOCKPORT.—THEATRE ROYAL AND OPERA HOUSE.—Sole Owner and Manager, Mr. Charles Revill; Acting-Manager, Mr. Charles Revill, jun.—A source of abundant merriment has been the appearance here this week of Miss Florence Baines and talented company in Miss Lancashire, Ltd. As Mary Ellen Thompson, Miss Florence Baines is genuinely amusing; Mr. Burt Burton ably impersonates the character of Harry, and also entertains with his solos on the one-stringed violin; Mr. R. C. Hicks, as the solicitor Fox, is mirth-provoking; Mr. David Donaldson acts effectively as John Higgins; Mr. Payne Fletcher as Mary Ellen's father, and Miss Pattie Groves as Bridget Thompson, share much of the success of the piece; Mr. S. C. Leslie is comical as Isodore Moses, and Eva Lancashire has a pleasing representative in Miss Kitty Jones.

EMPIRE.—Proprietors, The Stockport Empire Theatre Co., Ltd.; Acting-Manager, Mr. W. Black.—Lillie Soutter, character comedienne, heads the bill here this week, and has met with a gratifying reception. Unmistakable success was achieved by Diamond and Beatrice, instrumentalists of a high order; Marlow and Manton were very amusing in their sketch, Other People's Babies; Edith St. Claire, burlesque artist, sang pleasingly; the efforts of the Bros. O'Brien on the horizontal bar were applauded; Harry Butt is a promising boy vocalist; Arthur Albert, actor-vocalist, sang in good style, "Nelson from his monument"; Monty Walker, comedian, was well received, and marked appreciation was bestowed upon the Royal Tokio troupe of Japanese performers.

STOCKTON-ON-TEES.—HIPPODROME THEATRE.—Proprietors, Messrs. Geo. and Robt. Nicholson; Manage, Mr. W. Ainsworth.—Mr. Bert Bernard's company, in The Brewery, is here this week. It is a pantomime act, in three scenes, and causes great amusement. Lillie Le Breton, in her trapeze act, is graceful and artistic; the Four Jumels are an excellent turn, their musical act is greatly appreciated; Bert Woodward, the cycling coon, is applauded for his marvellous feats; Leonard and Larry cause great amusement in their sketch; as also does Bert Delmar, in his character delineations. J. H. McCann is an old favourite here; as a roller skate dancer he is remarkably good. Clito, in her statuary act, is well received; the Pictoscope completes an enjoyable programme.

GRAND THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Proprietor, Councillor J. Batty; Manager, Mr. W. Batty.—Claude Feldman's Juvenile Troupe head the bill this week, their singing and dancing being worthy of mention; Frank Boyce, character comedian, is good; as also are the Elgars, high-class vocalists. Fioretti and Elby present an act in spade-jumping, which is much appreciated; the Four Spanish Goldinis give a good display of dancing, juggling, &c.; the Arthur Saxon Trio fully maintain their reputation as strong men; and the Five Saxonias, in their musical act, display great skill. Payne's Bioscope concludes the programme.

STOKE.—HIPPODROME.—Proprietor, Mr. T. Allan Edwardes; Manager, Mr. H. Miller.—The Craggs head the bill this week in their clever acrobatic sketch, which is much appreciated. Henderson, the blind musician, contributes an excellent turn; Harry Jennings is a clever clog-dancer; the Two Wiltons are extraordinary dancers; Pueblo and Cropp are sand-dancers of ability; Russell Carr is a ventriloquist who contributes a smart turn. W. B. Raby, a comedian of much merit, and Mabel Le Roy, a comedienne with good songs, also contribute. The pictures are excellent.

STOURBRIDGE.—ALHAMBRA THEATRE.—Manageress, Miss Maude Lynton.—Mr. Herbert Barr's company, who created a most favourable impression on their visit last season, is here in Aladdin. Miss Maudie Vincent as Aladdin was well received; and Miss Lora Lyndon as the Princess proved a pleasing artist. The part of Pekoe was ably played by Miss Dorothy Wilson; Mr. Will Sherlock, however, took the honours with a comical performance of Abanazar; and Mr. Carl Fredericks as the Emperor was most amusing. Others who ably assisted included Little Della, Messrs. Wilfred Davie, Duncan, Morton, and David Phillips.

SUNDERLAND.—AVENUE THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Chas. E. Machin.—Now in its fifth week, Mr. J. F. Elliston's production of Dick Whittington continues to provide delightful entertainment for crowded audiences. As Dick Miss Maidie Scott has thoroughly made good her hold, the assured ease of her acting and her fine, cultured voice having made her a firm favourite; Miss Veronica Brady charms all hearts as Alice Fitzwarren; she both sings and dances exceptionally well, her song, "Timinee," making a great hit. The greater part of the merriment is due to the untiring efforts of Mr. Tom Foy, whose conception of Idle Jack could not be improved upon. His plate-breaking act is one of the hits of the show; Fitzwarren is in the capable hands of Mr. Bert Harrow, who scores with his "Cricket" song; Misses Gertrude Lytton, Flo Chevaliar, Clorinda Thurtell, Lil Hartley, Violet Morgan, Messrs. J. C. Scatter, Jack Foy, Tod Lowen, and Ted Foy all capably fill responsible parts, and have become firm favourites. The Aquamarinoff Troupe of Russian dancers prove a pleasing feature

KING'S THEATRE.—Managing-Directors, Messrs. Ernest Stevens and R. C. Buchanan; Resident-Manager, Mr. Harry L. Curlo.—The Fair One With the Golden Locks was staged here on Monday night. As the Fair One Miss Gertrude Branscombe is excellent, her vocal efforts being heartily appreciated; Miss Beatrice Bonnie makes a dashing principal boy; and the same may be said of Miss Dollie Hook as Count von Nickel. As Prince Pippin Mr. Will Letters is responsible for much of the fun; Mr. Barry Lupino keeps the house in the best of good humour whilst he occupies the stage, and, along with Miss May Lupino, sings the "Zuyder Zee" in excellent style; he is also a smart acrobatic dancer. Mr. James Chippendale is seen to advantage as the Dame; and the Fairy is in the able hands of Miss Olive Pringle, who scores by her fine rendering of a pleasing ballad. Messrs. Chas. Calvert and Grafton Williams add their quota to the fun.

THEATRE ROYAL.—Managing-Director, Mr. Chas. E. Machin; Acting-Manager, Mr. Jas. Hemingway.—Mr. Frank E. Burdett's company is paying a welcome return visit here in the ever-popular drama, The Indian Mutiny.

PALACE OF VARIETIES.—Lessees and Managers, Messrs. Rosen and Bliss; Acting-Managers, Messrs. Browne and Stringer.—An exceptionally good bill is provided here this week. The premier position being given to Harry Cadle's company, in a burlesque pantomime, entitled Mick Whittington. The Abdullah Arabs, some dozen in number, fairly arouse the enthusiasm of the audience with their smart acrobatic work; Walker and May, coloured vaudeville artists, submit a bright turn with great gusto; Mason and Burt are clever gymnasts of a rather unique order. The bill also includes Les Sados, juggler and equilibrist; Mabelle May, comedienne and dancer; the Haverley's American pictures, with vocal illustrations; Frank Coyle, the amusing comedian; and Vernon's Bioscope.

SUTTON-IN-ASHFIELD.—KING'S THEATRE.—Proprietors, Mansfield, Sutton, and District Theatres, Limited; Managing-Director, Mr. Cecil Clayton; Manager, Mr. Edward Gray.—Mr. T. Arthur Jones's company is playing here in Life's Sweetest Sins. In the part of Captain Harold Marston, Mr. T. Arthur Jones exhibits ability; Kimberley Coutts is well played by Mr. Robert Sawin; and as Dr. Colbrooke Mr. Oswald Douglas gives a fine character study. Miss Hazel Dent as Doreen Rivers, Miss Mary Ainslie as Fay Colbrooke, and Miss Elsie Walton as Bess Grayson are each good in their respective parts.

SWINDON.—QUEEN'S THEATRE.—Proprietor and Responsible-Manager, Mr. Alfred Manners.—After a successful run of four weeks at Newport, Messrs. J. D. Hunter and Sidney Cooper's pantomime, Dick Whittington, has been moved in its entirety to this theatre, opening on Monday, under the acting-management of Mr. H. Bowman, to a crowded and enthusiastic audience. The piece is under the direction of Mr. C. Wood, and a capital chorus and augmented orchestra do good work under the bâton of Mr. Surtees Cornes. Miss Emily Taylor is particularly successful as Dick, and renders her songs delightfully; Miss Rosalie Jacobi is pleasing as Alice, her efforts being highly appreciated; and Miss Florrie Bray as Captain becomes a general favourite at once. Miss Marjorie Seymour is delightful as the Fairy. The fun of the piece is rich and continuous, and no wonder, with such clever comedians as Mr. W. Ellerslie (Fitzwarren), Mr. H. Rose (Idle Jack), and Mr. Charles Wood, an excellent Cook. Mr. Frank Carson is smart as Emperor; and Master Will Cleveland as the Cat. Prominent among the specialities are De Lillo and Metz, in their clever drawing-room pot-pourri; Frank Carson and Correlli Livesey, in their scena, My Little Octoroon; and Chas. Wood, with his "Twenty Faces Under One Hat."

TAMWORTH.—ASSEMBLY ROOMS.—Manager, Mr. F. Hughes.—On Saturday and Monday evenings Miss Maggie Morton's company appeared here in the domestic drama, Home, Sweet Home. Mr. Gordon Ingram was a manly Stephen Armitage, and Mr. F. Morton Wright gave a capital character-study as David, his father. Mr. Chas. Clayton made an aristocratic Duke of Ancaster, and Mr. Frank Wheatley was decidedly funny as his son. Mr. William Wake as Lord Silvermore gave a creditable rendering of the part. Miss Enid Edoni made a charming Joan; Miss Nellie Marler as Sybil Fay was clever and amusing; and Miss Louise Carlton appeared to advantage as Lady Somerton. The other characters were ably sustained, and the piece was well-staged.

TODMORDEN.—TOWN HALL.—Proprietors, Todmorden Corporation; Secretary, Howarth Stansfield.—Miss Inez Howard's company was here for three nights in the stirring melodrama The Worst Woman in London. As Frances Vere Miss Doris Price scored a great success, her delineation being a most powerful one; Jack Felton was ably impersonated by Mr. Frank V. Fenn; and the part of Vincent Lyle was cleverly undertaken by Mr. Charles Clifford; as James Milford Mr. John Cullen was very effective; and Miss Emma Victor as Matilda Parker and Mr. Sydney Clayden as Bob Goldfinch did exceedingly well; the Ruth Milford of Miss Maud Camfield was a finished performance. A word of praise is also due to Mr. Charles Cross for his efficient musical direction.

TON-Y-PANDY.—ROYAL.—Lessees, Messrs Carlton and Duckworth; General-Manager, Mr. Sam Duckworth; Acting-Manager, Mr. Ridgewood Barrie.—Miss Elaine Verner's company, in Saints and Sinners, presents a most enjoyable entertainment, and deservedly commands extensive patronage. The chief honours rest with Mr. Harding Thomas, whose Jacob Fletcher is an excellent piece of work; a capital performance of George Ringsmill is given by Mr. Reyson-Cousins; Mr. Edgar Kent is a keen and strong Captain Fanshaw; the part of Samuel Hoggard is played with marked success by Mr. John Hooker; Prabble is ably presented by Mr. Guy Dene. The part of Letty Fletcher is taken by Miss Elaine Verner, who plays with remarkable skill, and shows an artistic mastery of the character.

TORQUAY.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Licensee and Managing-Director, Mr. W. H. Mortimer; Secretary, Mr. Arthur Pearse.—The Walls of Jericho, played by Mr. Arthur Bourchier's company, is drawing large audiences here this week. As Lady Alethea Frobisher Miss Gladys Mason is all that could be desired, and acts with great force and power; Miss Marguerite Cellier is sympathetic as Lady Westerby, and the part of Lady Lucy Derenham is cleverly portrayed by Miss Nona Wynne; Miss Edith Cuthbert makes the part of Miss Mornington a real character study, and a capable representation of the Duchess is given by Miss Leonora Thomas. As Jack Frobisher Mr. A. E. Anson is honest, manly, and natural; as Hankey Bannister Mr. George A. Brandham is appropriately bluff, breezy, and uncouth; and Harry Dallas is portrayed with much dash and vigour by Mr. A. W. Tyrer. The unscrupulous Marquis is ably acted by Mr. Cyril Baleine, and Mr. George Percy does equally well as Bertram Hannaford.

WAKEFIELD.—ROYAL OPERA HOUSE.—Proprietors, Sherwood and Co.—Mr. Chas. Chard's pantomime Cinderella continues to attract good houses. New songs and business have been added.

HIPPODROME.—Lessee, Mr. Alfred Selwyn; Manager, Mr. Sidney Tolfree.—The Eight Lancashire Mill Lads are clever in their vocal scena Home for the Holidays; Russell Hatton capably presents Dickens's "Christmas Carol"; Vernando, ventriloquist, proves popular. George Bernard, actor-vocalist; Marie Yorke, comedienne; Ted Waite, comedian, and Dan Noble, comedian, also contribute.

WALSALL.—HER MAJESTY'S THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Proprietors, The Walsall Theatres Co., Ltd.; General-Manager and Secretary, Mr. W. H. Westwood.—A capital programme is being submitted here this week. Topping the bill are Carl and Mary Ohm, presenting a clever animal act; the steeplechase by monkeys and dogs creates much laughter. Kitty Marion is a pleasing comedienne; Russell Brandow, acrobatic dancer, is very successful; Gus Garrick, in music-hall tit-bits, is well received; and Percival, the Piano-Shifter, is very good. Frank Cass, vocal comedian, does exceedingly well; Carney and Armstrong, who sing and dance and whistle, are much appreciated; and the American Bioscope completes the bill.

GRAND THEATRE.—Proprietors, The Walsall Theatres Co., Ltd.; General-Manager and Secretary, Mr. W. H. Westwood.—Mrs. Frank Bateman's company is here this week, in the drama, No Wedding Bells for Her. Miss Lizzie Montague gives a first-class rendering of the part of Lola Delaspierre; Mr. Percy Shaw is a capital Dick Delver; Mr. Frederick Garton is well placed as Montague Blair; Miss Grace Battersby is successful as Doris Fane; and the part of Harold Trevelyn is well played by Mr. Arthur Linay.

WARRINGTON.—ROYAL COURT.—Proprietors, Messrs. W. Johnson and J. Potter; General-Manager, Mr. J. Potter; Director of Amusements, Mr. Fred Willmot.—The Four Juggling Geraldos are the big attraction here this week, and delight all with their wonderful juggling and hoop rolling act. Tennyson and Wallis, old favourites here, are responsible for immediately putting their patrons in good humour; Miss Mabel La Blanche's rendering of "Love's old sweet song" was highly appreciated; the Three Pirmans are original and clever in a decidedly humorous entertainment; and Snowball and Miss Dolia are smart patterers. Souplessi on the silver rings scores well; and Helen Martin has a good voice of capital range. Yorkshire Tom is a good mimic, and the Bioscope depicts some charming pictures.

WEDNESBURY.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee, Mr. Harry Battersby; Acting-Manager, Mr. Kuner.—The American Indian actress, Go-Won-Go-Mohawk is paying us a return visit in the sensational and interesting drama Wep-Ton-No-Mah. Mr. C. W. Charles as Colonel Stockton and Mr. Henry P. Kennedy as Captain Franklin do some very clever work in their respective parts; Manuel Lopez (Spanish Joe) is ably managed by Mr. Edward Leroy; Mr. Pasco Bioletti achieves success in the rôle of the Chief Ga-ne-Gua; Wep-Ton-No-Mah, the Indian mail-carrier, is artistically rendered by Go-Won-Go-Mohawk; Miss A. Hart makes an interesting Matilda; and the part of Nellie Stockton is admirably portrayed by Miss Minnie Goepel.

WEST BROMWICH.—THEATRE ROYAL AND OPERA HOUSE.—Lessee, Mr. Harding Thomas; Manager, Mr. Herbert Vere.—On Monday Mr. Frank Denman-Wood presented his pantomime Dick Whittington, with all new scenery and effects, to a crowded house. The title-rôle is perfectly enacted by Miss Daisy Morell; a sweet Alice is made by Miss Millie Doris, who was encored for her songs; Mr. Jack Simpson shows talent as the Cat; Mr. Fred Acton makes a smart Fitzwarren; Mr. Frank Daleno well maintains his popularity here in the character of the Cook; Mr. Will Dennis creates roars of laughter in his funny impersonation of Idle Jack; Messrs. Juan and McQue work hard and succeed in the respective parts of Larboard and Starboard; Captain Scuttle is in the hands of Mr. A. Schaller; Miss Pam Schaller looks smart as Tommy Bowline, as does also Miss Winnie Acton in the character of Dolly Dimple.

NEW HIPPODROME.—Manager, Mr. H. W. Player.—An entertaining programme, with Edward Boyde holding premier position, is drawing crowded houses nightly, Mr. Boyle being greeted with roars of laughter. Clive and Clive are comedians of decided merit; Tom York contributes some clever coster songs; Miss May Fallowfield has a capable and well-trained voice; a dramatic episode, The Thin Red Line, submitted by Rollo Bolmain and Sara Mignon, is well received; a smart turn is that of Lazern the Mystic, who does some new tricks; Lloyd Phillips and company are responsible for clever acting in the military drama Betrayed Friendship; Pecitt and Lizette create much amusement with their cleverly-worked and laughable pantomime The Crazy Cook, and the Hippodrome pictures are always popular.

WEST HARTLEPOOL.—GRAND.—Lessee, Mr. Fred Granville; Manager, Mr. H. E. Feather.—Mr. H. Theodore's company is this week presenting The Shulamite. Simeon Krillett as played by Mr. Algernon J. Hicks is a vividly realistic character, presented with splendid dramatic effect. Miss Ruth Shepherd, a studious and accomplished actress, gives an earnest portrayal of Deborah Krillett, which creates a deep impression on the audience. Mr. Charles Fancourt's rendition of the part of Robert Waring is a well-balanced one. Tante Anna is made distinctly characteristic by Miss Emily Levittez. Mr. George Rammell, creditably fills the rôle of Jan Vandeberg; and Memke is played with excellent taste by Miss Chrissie Bickerstaff. The play is preceded by the smart little duologue Jerry and a Sunbeam, in which Miss C. Bickerstaff plays Mary Bellosis in a style perfectly in keeping with the character; and Mr. G. Rimmell handles the rôle of Jerry Corbett with perfect naturalness.

PALACE.—Proprietor, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. Julius Simpson.—Both "houses" were on Monday night packed by audiences who showed every mark of approval of the talent submitted. The solos by Les Frasettis upon violin, 'cello, harp, and xylophone were well received; charming Rose Elliott bewitched all with her singing; Gus Hindell made a conspicuous hit with his song-scena Boys of To-Day, in which he is assisted by a number of youngsters; J. P. Ling, another old favourite, in a mimetic monologue, elicited hearty laughter. The Amiable Idiot and the Dainty Soubrette (The Lorrisons) caused a constant ripple of merriment whilst they were on. A sensational balancing trapeze act was performed with remarkable dexterity by the Donnas Trio; Harry Vardon's ventriloquial entertainment was worked in a manner highly creditable to him; and a series of Bioscope films is not the least interesting feature of the programme.

WEST STANLEY.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietors, The Stanley Theatre Co., Ltd.; Managing-Director, Mr. Mark H. Lindon.—Messrs. W. H. Hallatt and Walter Howard's company in Her Love Against the World is here this week. Mr. Walter Howard gave an imposing portrayal of the Earl of Strathmere; Miss Rosie St. John was clever as Nello; Mr. Mayor Cooke's impersonation of Ulric, Prince of Ravensburgh, was all that could be desired; Mr. W. H. Hallatt gave a fine representation of Prince Othmar; Mr. Sam Arthur made a good Prince Maurice; Miss Ellen Snow as Iris submitted a smart piece of acting.

VICTORIA THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. T. C. Raws; Responsible-Manager, Mr. John Cassidy.—The bill here this week includes Fred Dice, comedian and dancer; Will Sydney, song illustrator; Hicks's Clerks, a clever troupe of vocalists and dancers; Mr. Ted Hord; Carl Birval, ventriloquist. The bill concludes with a farce and Aladdin pantomime on the Bioscope.

WHITEHAVEN.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. J. Clark; Acting-Manager, Mr. Fred Clark.—Mr. Herbert Ralland's company is here in a three-nights' engagement of the comic opera La Poupée. Mr. Fred Seymour scored heavily as Hilarius, his performance being very amusing; Mr. Arthur Cozens was successful as Lancelot, and his singing was much appreciated; Mr. Walter Balfour was excellent as Father Maxime, his rendering of "A jovial monk" securing the inevitable encores. Miss Mysie Devine made a charming Alesia, her singing and acting alike being excellent. The chorus was strong, and the scenery much admired. For the remaining three nights of the week the drama Human Hearts is billed.

WIDNES.—ALEXANDRA THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. Jas. Kiddie.—In the absence of Mr. Kiddie with his pantomimes Mr. Tom Swinton is "deputising" as manager here in a most popular fashion. This week's booking is Messrs. Alfred Northway and W. V. Garrod's company in The Prodigal Parson. As the Rev. Tom Godley Mr. W. V. Garrod is very successful; Mr. Alfred Northway does full justice to the part of Enoch Faggins; Mr. Wm. Hayward is a capital Ben Faggins; Mr. W. Vincent's methods are admirably adapted to the part of Ned Nettlepan; Mr. Owen Redmond as Phil Drive is largely responsible for the humorous relief, and he does his work well. The George Markby of Mr. J. Edward Evan is thoroughly sound; Miss Lydia Hart is an amusing and entertaining Gretchen; Miss Mildred Hayward as Fern Godley wins the sympathy of all, playing the part restrainedly and naturally; Miss Violet Jeffries gives a good interpretation of the part of the blind child Myrtle; Miss E. Fredericks is successful in the part of Pomeroy.

WIGAN.—ROYAL COURT THEATRE.—Proprietors, The Wigan Entertainments Co.—Mr. F. R. Benson's (North) company has produced a series of Shakespearean plays, which have attracted large and enthusiastic audiences during the week.

THE HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, The Wigan Entertainments Co.—The Tennessee Guards go through lightning drill exercises; and the Eight Lancashire Lads give a fine exhibition of clog-dancing. Ariel and Astarte perform some admirable feats upon the horizontal bar and trapeze; and Martinett and Wallace, as substitutes for Jean Seul, who was indisposed, give a good comedy musical turn. The Three Whirligigs appear in a smart singing and dancing act; and Maxford and O'Neill are original in their patter. Happy Parker, novel comedian and dancer; Valvo, the military ventriloquist; and Maston, mimic, are also well received.

WOLVERHAMPTON.—GRAND THEATRE.—Lessees and Managers, Mr. E. H. Bull and Mr. Milton Bode; Acting-Manager, Mr. Percy Percival—Mr. H. Hamilton Stewart's company is this week appearing here in Sherlock Holmes. The title-part is well played by Mr. Hamilton Stewart, and he is ably supported by Mr. James Shea, Mr. Stephen P. Ewart, and Miss Gladys Harvey in their respective parts.

EMPIRE PALACE.—The leading item in this week's bill is Walter George's Smart Set Entertainers, including Miss Hilda Light and Miss Georgie Martin. Other attractions are the Alaskarno Trio; Alf Gibson, comedian; The Stewarts, dancers and pipers; Walter King, comedian; Hettie Lee, dancer; and Harry Nation, character comedian.

THEATRE ROYAL AND HIPPODROME.—The Coal King occupies the boards here, the principal characters being capably portrayed by Mr. Cole Aspinall, Mr. Lauderdale Maitland. Mr. Escott Robson, Mr. Alfred Terris, Mr. Frank Dalton, Miss Gertrude Valentine, Miss Sinna St. Clair, and Miss Enid Ross.

WORCESTER.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Arthur Carlton.—Mr. Carlton's pantomime, Cinderella, is in the fourth week of its production. The picturesque dances and ballets are elegantly performed. Miss Evelyn Desa, who has won great favour for her graceful impersonation of Cinderella, sings and dances agreeably; Miss Lallah Davis is an ideal Prince, and her singing is one of the features of the pantomime. Miss Amy Randolf is smart in the rôle of Dandini; Misses Kittie Olive and Fanny Wallis, who takes the parts of Cinderella's Ugly Sisters, are excellent, the singing of the former being exceedingly good. Harley and Melton convulse the audience from beginning to end; Mr. K. Harker is most amusing; Mr. A. E. Behan is good as the Baroness; Mr. Henry Maynard sings and acts well as the Demon King. A word of praise should also be given to the Fairy Queen, Miss Carmen, who has a beautiful voice.

WORKINGTON.—OPERA HOUSE.—Lessee, Mr. Stanley Rogers; Manager, Mr. Falconer Jackes.—On Monday night Mr. W. J. Robertson's company presented Human Hearts to a large and appreciative audience. Mr. W. D. Fazan was a capital hero; Mr. E. Gray played effectively as the villain; as Jem Mr. E. H. Dobell was interesting; as Jimmy Mr. H. Turner was sympathetic; Miss Dora Watson was graceful as Ruth; Little Grace in the hands of Miss Renee Roberts was well sustained; and equally capable was Mrs. E. Palmer as Samantha and Miss Maud Linton as Jeannette.

WORTHING.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Manager, Herr C. Adolf Seebold.—Miss Rose Moncrieff's company is here this week in Jack and the Beanstalk. Miss Moncrieff does well as Jack, her singing and dancing meeting with unstinted approbation; Mr. Harry Burton is exceedingly quaint as Mrs. Jack; the Sisters Allan are good as Philomel and Phyllis; Messrs. Ted and Harry Dewar greatly add to the fun as Fanfare and Blowhard; Mr. Chris. Baker is well placed as Baron D'Oofless, as is Mr. Harry Willats as the Demon Discord. In the harlequinade which follows the following work indefatigably:—Mr. Ted Dewar (clown), Mr. Harry Dewar (pantaloon), Miss Maud Annesley (harlequina), Miss May Rivers (columbine), and Mr. Charles Rawling (policeman).

WREXHAM.—EMPIRE MUSIC HALL.—Proprietor, Mr. J. J. Scott; Manager, Mr. Herbert Nicholls.—This week a good company has entertained the patrons here. Onzelo and Onro do some smart tricks on the trapeze; The Friscos are clever knockabout artists; Mr. Charles Ridgewell is a successful comedian; Miss Lily Watson is a pleasing character comedienne; and Lecon and Leco are amusing as comedy jugglers. The pictures are, as usual, a great feature of the entertainment.

YORK.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessees, Messrs. Waddington.—Dick Whittington, as produced this week by Mr. James Kiddie's company, is a merry show, and has delighted large audiences. Miss Adele Rose is an ideal hero, who must be written down a popular success; Miss Leah Lavine, a talented comedienne, makes Alice a very winsome personage. For genuine drollery Mr. Fred Spencer as the Cook would be hard to beat; Alice Kendal as Jack is also out of the common, and scores a great success. J. H. Wakefield is funny as Fitzwarren; and Bass and Guinness indulge in their usual business with good effect. A special word of praise is due to Miss Flo Hilton, who, superbly dressed, sings some excellent songs in first-

THE SHOWMAN WORLD.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE SHOWMEN'S GUILD IN LONDON.

For the nineteenth year in succession the Guild held its meeting at the Royal Agricultural Hall, Islington. There was a record attendance, showmen and van dwellers from all parts of the kingdom crowding the "Pillar" Room, the venue of these gatherings.

The President, Lord George Sanger, to everyone's delight, occupied the chair, and was supported by the Rev. T. Horne, Mr. T. Watson Wright, solicitor, and the following members of the executive:—Messrs. P. Collins, John Collins, Whiting, Newall, Payne, Wallis, T. Norman, Holland, Gray, Beech, Forrest, Turner, Read, Jacob Studt, John Studt, T. Hurst (hon. sec.), and others.

LORD GEORGE SANGER, in his presidential address, welcomed the members once again to the annual meeting in London, and rejoiced that, despite his own increasing years, he was able to preside over their deliberations. He was proud of the honour of being their chairman, for it identified him still (although he had retired from the business) with the people and profession with whom and wherein he had spent the whole of his working life. Boy and man, he said, he had travelled the fairs and had worked shows for over seventy years. For that period of time he was proud to say that the public had appreciated to the full his efforts to amuse and entertain them. He felt quite certain that so long as showmen honestly endeavoured to supply good shows the British public would not only support, but would defend and vindicate them against all attacks of the small but sometimes very blatant enemies of the popular amusements of the people. He asked his showmen friends to bear with him for a moment if, in the fulness of his age and experience, he ventured in all kindness to rebuke them. He and the officers were quite ready to have begun their meeting with promptitude and at the time fixed. Punctuality, he reminded them, was the soul of business, and they ought to have endeavoured to be there and ready to begin at the time appointed, and not to have kept the executive and the reporters waiting a useless half-hour. We are told, he continued, that a word to the wise is sufficient. Let them bear in mind that the Press have many other engagements in their busy working days than their meeting at that hall, and that to keep them waiting is a mistake to be at all times avoided. As far as he could guide them with his advice, it seemed to him that they had only two important questions outside the regular work of the Society to determine. They had to consider what was to be done with regard to Mitcham Fair and Burslem Wakes. The fight carried on by their Society to safeguard their rights and the people's rights at both these places had fully shown how the British public valued their fairs and holiday times, and how keenly they resented the efforts made in certain quarters to deprive them of these fairs. He well remembered Mitcham. He had attended it in his early years, and although he did not know its importance to travellers at the present moment, it had never appeared to him as being a fair really worth a big and costly struggle to maintain. If, as he believed, from information given him, the local circumstances were difficult, he counselled that some friendly arrangement be arrived at with the powers that be. (Cheers.) With regard to Burslem they stood on entirely different ground. Here their character, both as men and as entertainers, had been traduced, and they were compelled to vindicate their social life and moral character in face of the attacks made upon them. He repudiated with the greatest horror and indignation the cruel slanders levelled against them. Particularly he referred to the reckless assertions of certain public men in Burslem charging the show people with being in some way the cause of increased vice and immorality. These charges, he was proud to say, had been fully met and in every instance disproved. With their enemies, who besmirched their lives in this way, there could be no compromise. These enemies must ever be met and determinedly brought to the proof. He concluded by wishing them all possible success and prosperity, and that he had much pleasure in again tendering his contribution of £100 to the funds of the Association. (Loud and continued applause.)

The Rev. T. HORNE briefly detailed the scope of the Society's work in the past year, with special reference to public meetings. These meetings, he said, had been eminently successful in carrying out one of the most important objects of their Association—the informing and guiding of public opinion with regard to show people and their avocation in life. With the presence of the civic authorities and the local clergy, they had held public meetings at King's Lynn, Gloucester, Hull, and Rotherham Fairs. These matters were dealt with in the annual report, and he strongly commended that document to the careful reading of showmen. Those who did not agree with them would find set out in that report full justification for the work of the Showmen's Guild. He thoroughly agreed with the wise words of counsel given by their President, and he felt sure that he was only expressing their wishes when he tendered to their honoured leader their profound respect and admiration for his continued work and unfailing sympathy and generosity. He alluded to the work of the Society in rousing public interest and vindicating the character of show people at Burslem, and concluded, amid general applause, by the expression of the hope that in the present year their work would be less hampered by the mistaken and misplaced zeal of those who wished not only to prevent show people earning their livelihood, but also to deprive the people of their fairs and popular open-air amusements.

Mr. T. WATSON WRIGHT, Parliamentary Solicitor, gave a detailed statement of the Parliamentary defence work and the equally important work of defending the fair rights of the people. He congratulated them on the striking success of their opposition to the Private Bill of the Middlesex County Council, and pointed out that the amendment that they had obtained secured the first recognition of the true status of show people. (Cheers.) He concluded a very able speech by the expression of his conviction that in the year before them they would have very little expensive work in Parliamentary defence.

Mr. TOM NORMAN proposed, and Mr. BIBBY seconded, the complimentary votes to the chairman, to Mr. Read for the use of the room, to the speakers, and to the Press.

At the close of the meeting and during the day some sixty members were enrolled.

In the evening committee meetings were held, dealing with Parliamentary work, Mitcham Fair, and other business touching the Metropolitan district.

SHOWMEN'S SUPPER AND BALL AT THE WORLD'S FAIR.

All the notabilities of Showland—east, west, north, and south—were present at the annual social function at Islington. Successful as the previous showmen's reunions have been, the present year has established a record, and the committee, under their indefatigable chairman, Mr. T. E. Read, are to be heartily congratulated on the brilliant success that rewarded their efforts. The committee were Rev. T. Horne (president), Mr. T. E. Read (lessee of the World's Fair) (chairman), Messrs. H. Read, J. Chittock, G. Taylor, A. Ball, W. Wilson, F. Bibby, H. Taylor, J. Hastings, W. Slatter, J. Trouson, Wm. Le Neve, C. Brown, W. Taylor, A. Twigdon, A. Bew, T. Harriess, W. Hussey, E. Hussey, F. Savage, W. Walcot, J. Smith, T. Hurst, Frank Turner, W. Metcalfe (hon. treasurer), and C Day (secretary). The crowded dining hall was a veritable galaxy of "fair women and brave men." Mr. T. E. Read presided, supported by the Rev. T. Horne, Mr. Fowler, Mr. Greenwood, Mr. Frank Turner, Mr. Trouson, Mr. Day. Mr. G. H. Kemp, Mr. J. Wentworth, Mr. Hamlin, Mr. Chiappa, Mr. Savage, Mr. T. Hurst, Mr. W. Le Neve, Mr. Chamberlain, Mr. Russell, Mr. A. Twigdon, Mr. P. Collins, Mr. John Collins, Mr. Wm. Mitchell, Mr. John Whiting, Mr. Jacob Studt, Mr. J. Monte, Mr. Wm. Keyes, Mr. Relph, Mr. Ben Mitchell, Mr. Wm. Taylor, Mr. Chittock, Mr. Hastings, Mr. Wm. Pike, Mr. Robt. Pike, Mr. Wm. Bedford, Mr. H. Read, Mr. W. Slatter, Mr. Walcot, Mr. A. Ball, Mr. T. Harriess, Mr. Wm. Wilson, Mr. C. Brown, Mr. A. Blow, Mr. Geo. Taylor, and Mr. Wm. Metcalfe.

There were nearly four hundred guests, and all were delighted with the admirable arrangements for their reception and entertainment.

Mr. T. E. Read, on rising to propose the chief toast in all assemblies of Englishmen—"The King"—was vociferously cheered. The King, Queen, and the Royal Family were toasted, and the National Anthem sung with the utmost enthusiasm.

In proposing the next toast, "Success to the Showmen and Van Dwellers' Protection Association," Mr. Read said that he had been present at the annual meeting of the Van Dwellers' Society held at the World's Fair that day. He had heard the able speech of Lord George Sanger, their honoured president; the work of the Association had been put before them with eloquence and force. He felt sure that it was to the interest of every showman to subscribe to the funds of that Association. He, therefore, had great pleasure in asking them to drink success to "The Showmen and Van Dwellers' Society," and with the toast he ventured to couple the name of the Rev. T. Horne. (Loud cheers.)

Mr. Horne, on rising to respond, was received with acclamation. They all knew, he said, how the interests of the Showmen's Guild were dear to his heart. He had looked upon its infant days, and now it had attained full maturity of years and power, and the infant he had tended in its early life was now in strong and vigorous youth and energy. There were some present—he could see one at least before him—old showmen who were present at its birth, and stood as its godfathers. He referred to men like Mr. Chamberlain and Mr. Chittock, both of them veterans of the road and amongst the founders of the Society. He knew that in answering for the executive he was voicing the thanks of the president and the whole of the officers when he expressed his gratitude—their gratitude—for the cordial way in which the toast had been received. (Cheers.) He could only hope and trust that under the divine blessing the Society would continue to prosper and to extend its necessary and useful work. (Applause.)

Mr. Trouson proposed the health of the chairman, Mr. T. E. Read. In doing so he expressed the admiration they all felt for the energy, ability, and kindness that characterised Mr. Read and his management of the World's Fair. (Cheers.) The toast was received with musical honours.

In his response, Mr. Read remarked that he had endeavoured to draw bigger crowds than ever before to the World's Fair. He had worked hard, and success had been the gratifying result. It had been a great pleasure to him to preside over that important assembly and to welcome his showmen friends from all parts of the kingdom. He sincerely hoped that their annual gatherings under the glass roof of the Royal Agricultural Hall would continue to be as successful and as popular as the present one was proving itself to be. (Cheers.) He thanked the proposer of the toast; he thanked them all for their good wishes, and in conclusion he had much pleasure in proposing the toast of the "Supper and Ball Committee and the Press"—the Press that had dealt so generously with their enterprise, and had so kindly noticed their work and efforts to amuse the public. (Applause.) This toast being duly honoured, brought the supper to a timely conclusion.

After an interval for social intercourse, the guests proceeded to the beautifully decorated ballroom, where, to the sweet strains of Kalischan's Band, dancing was kept up until the wee hours of the morning.

AN inquest was held on Friday, Jan. 18, on Frederick Poole, the entertainer who first introduced to an English audience a system of moving pictures. He died at Newbury of heart disease on Thursday. "Poole's Panorama" was deservedly popular throughout the country, and almost a sensation was caused by his introduction of the myriorama, a system by which the panoramic pictures were set in motion by winding them on huge reels. Naturally Mr. Poole's idea was quickly overshadowed when the biograph system was introduced, but the worthy entertainer had amassed enough money to become part proprietor in various Welsh theatres.

SHOWMEN'S BANQUET AND BALL AT OLYMPIA.

The showmen of the Empire have foregathered in their multitude this past ten days in London, the heart of the Empire, on pleasure bent. The showmen—the experts in movable shows—have been having a delightful change, a high festival of rest and recreation, by visiting the great permanent shows of London town.

The funmakers and the merry-men have been holding high revel at the Mammoth Fun City in the West End, and again later on in the week at "Happy Islington."

All that is best in showland has been in London this week. Showmen, and their wives, sons, and daughters, from far-away regions of Scotland, Ireland and Wales; showmen from the Midland Counties; showmen from Lancashire and Yorkshire, from the Eastern, the Southern, and the Western Shires, have taken possession of the Metropolis, seeing everything and going everywhere.

With the hearty co-operation of the directors of "International Fairs, Ltd.," and the new Olympia company, the showmen of the Fun City invited their friends and relations from the country, and those, too, nigh at hand, to a fraternal banquet and ball.

With the full resources of Olympia placed at their disposal, it is no exaggeration to say that the hospitality and entertainment placed by the polyglot funsmiths at the West Carnival Fair was of such a character as to place it beyond any possible taint of competition or rivalry with other fraternal reunions.

It was a pleasure to see the evident zeal of all concerned to make the Showmen's Festival at Olympia a red-letter day in the calendar of the show world. The president of the Banquet and Ball Committee was B. W. Rose, Esq., and the vice-presidents were Sir Wm. Bull, M.P., E. Daouste, Esq., A. E. Gatcombe, Esq., R. Crossman, Esq., Chas B. Cochran, Esq., Wallace Jones, Esq., P. Collins, Esq., J. Amery Parkes, Esq., Watson Wright, Esq., Cecil Browne, Esq., Fred Karno, Esq., E. H. Altman, Esq., G. Taylor, Esq., and Harold Birkett, Esq. The chairmen were Lord George Sanger and F. H. Payne, Esq.

The committee included such well-known showmen as Messrs. W. Sedgwick, S. Jeffrey, F. Wilson, T. Knighton, W. Le Neve, Barron Bros., Beddall Bros., T. White, J. Lynch, J. Wilson, J. Osborne, G. Smith, and Alf Ball; and with them were associated Fred Bibby, Mellor Bros, J. Wentworth, W. Jones, and G. B. Sadler. The chairman of committee was Mr. Arthur Dashwood, and the secretary and treasurer Mr. A. Carden.

The guests numbered 460, and the large dining-hall, when the whole of the company were seated, presented a sight to be remembered by all who were privileged to be present.

Mr. F. H. Payne presided, and after the loyal toasts had been duly honoured, Mr. B. W. Rose gave the principal toast of the evening, "The Mammoth Fun City." He humorously alluded to the early essays of his boyhood in keeping shows, from the first Punch and Judy show his father had given him down to the presidency of that notable assembly. He had been a lover of showmen and shows, and it was his proud boast to win and hold the title "showman." (Applause.) In proposing the toast, "The Mammoth Fun City," he would remind them that its promoters had striven—and he hoped with success—to prove that, given a real good and attractive show, London would patronise it. This they had done, with the freely-rendered ability, talent, and energy of their showmen friends, the tenants of the Fun City at Olympia. Nearly half a million of people had passed the turnstiles of the show, and he ventured to say that, with the evident public seal upon their work, they could go forward and look to many similar seasons at Olympia and to many such friendly gatherings as the one he was then addressing.

"Success to the Mammoth Fun City" was then honoured with tumultuous applause. Sir Wm. Bull, M.P., in a delightful speech, proposed the next toast on the list, "Olympia, Hammersmith, and the pleasures of his constituents." He reminded the showmen that he, too, like Mr. Rose, might consider himself a showman. They had a great show at the Westminster Houses of Parliament. He was a member of that show. (Laughter.) They had their "razzle-dazzle," their "highfliers," and their "roundabouts," their "star turns," and their "side-shows" in their palace on the Thames at Westminster. He was delighted to be with the funmakers of Olympia, for even the sedate senators of St. Stephen's needed a little mirth and merriment at times. He knew that Hammersmith loved a good show, and he was confident that such shows as the one now housed at Olympia was fulfilling a necessary work in supplying fun and merriment for the people. (Great applause.)

The Chairman, in asking them to honour the next toast, "The health of the showmen," said that unfortunately the king of showmen—Lord George Sanger—owing to indisposition, was not amongst them as their honoured guest that night. He had a letter from him which fully explained the cause of the veteran showman's absence:—

"Park Farm, East Finchley.
"Jan. 21, 1907.

"DEAR SIR,—I am sorry to say I shall not be able to attend your (what I hope will be) charming meeting.

"I went to bed on Saturday with a slight chill, and now at 10.30 this morning I am up again and writing you this letter explaining why I feel unable, under the circumstances to keep my engagement with you. I do however assure you, my professional brethren and your guests, of my warmest admiration and respect.

"Trusting that all will be well with you, and that your gathering will more than fulfil your highest anticipations,—Believe me to remain, most respectfully yours,

"GEORGE SANGER.

"A. CARDEW, Esq., Olympia."

In reading Lord George Sanger's letter to them he felt sure that they would not only regret the cause of his absence, but they would be delighted to know that the cold from which he suffered was only, as the letter indicated, of a temporary nature. The showmen, he was convinced, had shown, by their enterprise at the Fun City their ability to cater for the people's amusement. He assured them that the New Olympia Company, with which he was associated, welcomed them to Olympia. Their relations with the International Fairs' Board of Directors, and through them with the showmen, had been of the most satisfactory character. He was proud of the extremely satisfactory way that the showmen had carried on their business at Olympia. Not one complaint had been heard against them, and when it was remembered that the showmen workers in the Fun City of Olympia were equal in number to the inhabitants of many a provincial town this was high testimony to their character and social life. He coupled with the toast the name of Mr. Patrick Collins, a showman well known and universally esteemed and one of the providers of amusements at Olympia. (Applause.)

Mr. P. Collins, on rising to respond, was received with cheers. He deeply regretted that their honoured leader was not with them to reply on behalf of the showmen world. He was honoured in the absence of Lord George Sanger in being coupled with the toast, and whilst personally thanking them for that distinction, he could assure the gentlemen who had originated and so admirably carried out the Fun City at Olympia that their showmen tenants were fully satisfied with the way they had been treated by the promoters of the Fair, and that they would gladly come again and do their best, as they had endeavoured to do at the opening enterprise. On behalf of the showmen and for himself personally he thanked them. (Cheers.)

The toast received musical honours.

Mr. C. B. Cochran proposed "The health of the Visitors and the Press." By the visitors and the Press, he said, he included their showmen friends who had journeyed from near and far to be with them and those gentlemen of the Press who had, by their kindly interest and appreciative articles, done so much to bring the Fun City before the show-loving public. Without the showmen and without the Press all their efforts would have been futile. With the showmen and the Press they had succeeded beyond the fullest measure of their expectations. He coupled with the toast the name of the well-known Press representative, Mr. Dauncey. (Cheers.)

Mr. Dauncey suitably replied.

The Chairman then intimated that the company could now adjourn to the ballroom. Dancing was maintained, and the festivities continued until 5.30 a.m. During one of the intervals Arthur Prince, the celebrated ventriloquist, delighted the immense audience by his most original entertainment, cram full of "gags" and impromptus of the moment.

AN inquest was on Wednesday held at the Railway Hotel, Porchester, by the South Hants Coroner, Mr. Edgar Goble, into the circumstances attending the death of James Manders, a menagerie proprietor, aged seventy-four, who was killed on the railway at Porchester Station on the previous afternoon. Evidence of identification was given by a son, Joseph Manders, a showman, aat present living at Portsea. The story of the fatality was vividly told by Harry Pink, a signalman, at Porchester Station. Witness said that at 4.54 he signalled an express train from Fareham to Portsmouth. Just then he saw the deceased in the 6ft. way. He was apparently crossing over to catch the down train, which was due at 5.5. There was a level crossing at the spot. As the train was approaching witness saw the deceased cast his eyes towards the train, and then make a rush across the line in front. The next witness saw of him was lying in the 4ft. way. It was not a case of suicide. Witness considered that death must have been instantaneous. The jury returned a verdict of "Accidental death," and added as a rider that they considered the present arrangement very dangerous, and that some better provision should be made to safeguard the public.

"THE ERA" can be obtained at the principal bookstalls throughout the provinces.

THE L.C.C. AND AMUSEMENTS.

The London County Council resumed its sittings, after the Christmas recess, at the County Hall, Spring-gardens.

CORONET THEATRE.

The Theatres and Music Halls Committee reported that they had considered a drawing submitted by Mr. W. J. Rose, showing the erection of a fireproof chamber to contain a motor generator in the basement and under the stage at the Coronet Theatre, Notting Hill Gate, and the conversion of an adjoining vault into a cell chamber. The Committee recommended that Mr. Rose be informed that the Council has no objection to the arrangements on the drawing submitted by him, provided that certain stated conditions be complied with.

THE FORESTERS.

The Committee reported that they had considered a drawing submitted by Mr. B. Crewe with reference to the Foresters, Cambridge-road, Bethnal Green, showing the provision of additional dressing rooms and lavatory accommodation, a new staircase from the balcony, and an additional exit on the o.p. side of the hall. They recommended that Mr. Crewe be informed that the Council has no objection to the arrangements shown on the drawing submitted by him with regard to certain proposed additions and alterations at the Foresters, provided that certain stated conditions be complied with.

Carried.

INSPECTION.

The Committee reported that the expenditure incurred in connection with reports upon the character of the performances, &c., at places of public entertainment during the quarter ended Dec. 31, 1906, was £6 19s. 11d.

LONDON PAVILION.

The Committee had considered a drawing and specification, submitted by Messrs. Wylson and Long, of the heating arrangements proposed to be provided at the London Pavilion, Piccadilly-circus. They recommended that Messrs. Wylson and Lond be informed that the Council has no objection to the arrangements shown on the drawing submitted by them, provided that certain stated conditions be complied with.

THE PALACE, STOKE NEWINGTON.

The Committee had considered a drawing submitted by Messrs. F. Matcham and Co., showing the proposed reseating of the pit stalls at the Palace Theatre of Varieties (formerly Alexandra Theatre), Stoke Newington. They recommended that Messrs. Matcham and Co. be informed that the Council has no objection to the arrangements shown on the drawing submitted by them, provided the centre gangway of the pit stalls be continued through to the pit, and that if a barrier be required a rope with a slip connection be used.

THE PARAGON.

The Committee having considered a drawing submitted by Mr. A. Parnacott, recommended that he be informed that the Council has no objection to the arrangements shown with regard to certain works proposed to be executed in connection with the heating installation at the Paragon, Mile End, provided the usual conditions be complied with.

PROPOSED NEW HALLS.

The Committee reported that they had considered drawings submitted by Mr. B. Crewe, of a Hippodrome proposed to be erected on a site between Nos. 327 and 333, Harrow-road. Accommodation is shown for 2223 persons. The drawings are generally in conformity with the regulations of the Council, and the Committee recommended that Mr. Crewe be informed that provided the works shown on the eleven drawings submitted by him be commenced within six months the Council will be prepared to grant a certificate under section 12 of 41 and 42 Vict., cap. 32, to the owner of such building, on being satisfied that the premises have been completed in accordance with the drawings referred to and the regulations of the Council and that certain stated conditions have been complied with.

The Council on Nov. 21, 1905, approved drawings submitted by Mr. F. W. Hingston, of a music hall proposed to be erected at the junction of Kilburn High-road and Kilburn Priory. Amended drawings for the erection of a music hall on this site have now been submitted by Mr. W. G. R. Sprague. Accommodation is shown for 2073 persons, and for this number sufficient exit accommodation is provided. The Committee recommended that Mr. Sprague be informed that, provided the works shown on the nine drawings submitted by him be commenced within six months, the Council will be prepared to grant a certificate under section 12 of 41 and 42 Vict., cap 32, to the owner of such building, on being satisfied that the premises have been completed in accordance with the drawings referred to and the regulations of the Council, and that the usual conditions have been complied with.

THE QUEEN'S POPLAR.

The Committee having considered drawings submitted by Messrs. Alexander Ritchie and Co., recommended that they be informed that the Council has no objection to the arrangements shown on the two drawings submitted by them with regard to certain works proposed to be executed in connection with the heating installation at the Queen's, High-street, Poplar, provided that certain stated conditions be complied with.

SHAKESPEARE THEATRE.

The Council on Nov. 30, 1906, granted a licence for stage-plays for the period commencing Nov. 30, 1906, and ending Jan. 31, 1907, to Mr. William Bennett for the Shakespeare Theatre, Lavender-hill, Battersea. Mr. Bennett has now applied for an extension of this licence. Inspections have recently been made of the premises, and it has been found that with a few exceptions the Council's requirements have been complied with. Mr. Bennett attended before the Committee, and stated that the outstanding matters would be attended to at once. The Committee recommended that a licence for stage-plays for the period from Feb. 1, 1907, to the end of the meetings of the Council, sitting as the licensing authority in 1907, be granted subject to an undertaking that the theatre shall not be open on Sundays or other days prohibited by the licence for private gain or by way of trade.

All the above recommendations were agreed to.

SHELTERS.

The Building Act Committee recommended that the Council consent to the erection of three iron and glass shelters at a proposed theatre to abut upon Rupert-street and Shaftesbury-avenue, as shown on the plans, submitted with the application of Mr. W. G. R. Sprague, on behalf of the Jacobus-Marler Estates, Limited, such consent being subject to the usual conditions.

Agreed to.

THE MUSIC HALL ARTISTS' STRIKE.

Mr. Greenwood, chairman of the Theatres and Music Halls Committee, in reply to a Labour member, promised that in regard to the strike of music hall artists and employees he would see that no incompetent persons having to do with the management of bioscopes, &c., were engaged.

PRESENTATION.—On the 18th inst., on the occasion of her benefit at the Belfast pantomime, Mother Goose, Miss Carlotta Levey, who was presented with several beautiful bouquets and baskets of flowers, was also the recipient of a handsome gold bracelet from her legion of Belfast admirers.

LONDON & SUBURBAN THEATRES.

"CINDERELLA" AT THE MARLBOROUGH.

(SECOND NOTICE.)

Messrs. Ernest Stevens and R. C. Buchanan, at the Marlborough, undertook to present to the public an operatic, spectacular, and genuinely funny fairy pantomime, and that they have faithfully carried out their portion of the contract the North Londoners have not been slow to recognise, with the result that, both at matinées and evening performances, Mr. J. Murray Heriot, the popular and genial acting-manager of Holloway's own theatre, has on occasions had regretfully to turn money. A second view of the production only confirms the favourable impressions we formed of it on Boxing Day, when its conspicuous success was presaged by the approval of two audiences that taxed the holding capacity of the house.

At the head of the scheme of fun are Messrs. George French and Mr. Tom W. Conway, the former as the impecunious Baron and the latter as his wife. The unfortunate nobleman, as we all know, entered into what may be appropriately defined secondes noces, his choice falling upon a lady of limited means and unlimited vocabulary, and a past-mistress of topsy-turverydom in speech that is always amusing. She is a shrew of the most vigorous pantomime breed, and Mr. Conway's self-assertiveness and constant exhibition of tantrums are in the best spirit of farce. A Baroness without a "Suffragette" song is not to be thought of, and the rights of a long-suffering lady, who insists upon them in a tale of well-written verses, are well emphasised by the comedian. Mr. George French has a droll style that is invaluable in such a part as the Baron, a submissive, weak-kneed scion of pantomime nobility that has his counterpart only in those rollicking old-fashioned farces that writers of the fifties were wont to designate as "screaming." Incidentally Mr. French sings Harry Lauder's song, "Ma Daisy," with wonderful smartness, vim, and humour, and when the Baron, like another Orlando, wrestles with a formidable champion, and conquers him, his absurdities increase, and the heartiest laughter is rampant when he turns the tables on his acidulated spouse.

It would indeed be difficult to find a more fascinating Prince than Miss Lelia Roze, who is the personification of courtliness and grace. Her acting, too, is marked by genuine fervour. Especially is this the case in the love-making scenes, and an air of romance too often absent in versions of the immortal story marks Miss Roze's treatment. She looks quite the gallant of the Watteau period, and her superb figure, refined bearing, and elegant manners, enable her to realise the preux chevalier whose dalliance with the kitchen-maid supplies so many agreeable moments. Miss Roze is always "in the picture," and her work is full alertness and go. She sings that favourite pantomime number, "Hello, hello, hello!" with additional verses, and makes a hit therein, being evidently an immense favourite. A very spirited and vivacious Cinderella is Miss Daisy Revett, who throws into her acting much energy, speaks her lines with pleasing point and agreeable archness, and dances with considerable grace. She has a number in the Kitchen scene that quite reflects the romantic nature of the story of the cinder-wench heroine. It is entitled "When the fairies go to bed," and the aid of a pretty little girl in her "nighty" is a happy thought that immensely enhances the small scena in the minds of the Holloway juveniles. Contrary to the usual practice, Dandini is played by an actor—and in this instance a very good actor—Mr. Harry Welchman, who scores with the number, "There's a man in Manitoba." Mr. William Pringle, both unobtrusive and artistic as Capers, the page, is the chief factor of the success of the duet, "The Parrot." Miss Louie Tinsley's Elvira has grown in grotesque power, if that were possible, and audiences roar at the impassioned protestations of the elderly maiden who yearns for "The strange thing called love," and dreams of Lewis Waller and other stage favourites. Miss Adelaide Gracey also lends excellent support as the other sister, Araminta. Mr. Charles Kean—an historic name, indeed—makes an excellent flunkey; Miss Ellaline Thorne is a shapely and sprightly Duke of Whistbridge; and the Doreen Girls dance with an immense amount of verve, energy, and grace in various ballets. The final scene, In the Sweet Spring-time," is of a Japanesy nature—a fanciful picture, it may be, of a suburban villa and garden in the neighbourhood of Tokio. The figurantes and ballerine carry branches of almond blossom, and the stage becomes a veritable bower of bloom. Mr. Alfred Terraine is the artist; and Mr. E. Grimani is responsible for the design and painting of the attractive Home of the Fairy Godmother, charmingly represented, by the way, by Miss Kitty Dale, who sings with much taste the popular drawing-room ballad, "Once." Miss Dollie Harcourt, Miss Marian Roberts, Miss Doreen Vaughan, and Miss Rose Vane aid the effectiveness of the representation by their several impersonations.

"JACK AND THE BEANSTALK" AT ISLINGTON.

(SECOND NOTICE.)

One is far better able to judge of the merits of Mr. Samuel James's second annual pantomime at the Grand, Islington—a house which, by the way, has in the past won a big reputation for its Christmas pieces—than at the initial performances on Boxing Day. The rough edges incidental to a first representation have all disappeared, and the pantomime now works as smoothly as well-oiled machinery. The leading parts have been entrusted to competent artists; and the comic element is well supported by the comedians of the company. The most prominent performer in the comic scenes is Mr. Charles Austin, who as Mrs. Jack, the mother of the hero, has again achieved a distinct success, and renewed the great popularity he won in last year's pantomime. Mr. Austin plays the Dame with a keen sense of humour, and is exceedingly happy in working up the business of the part. As evidence of this one can specially mention the very funny Kitchen scene, in which the Dame is found actively engaged at the washing-tub. Next she proceeds to make a pudding for her dear boy Jack, but that youth disparages his mother's efforts in the culinary line. The Dame having paid a visit to "The Angel" over the way, falls fast asleep, is made the victim of a practical joke, and wakes up with "pudding on the brain." Mr. Austin, being a resourceful comedian, has many resources for promoting merriment, and does not fail in any of them. Mr. Nat Wilkins as the Baron is also to be complimented on making the best use of the opportunities afforded him, and his active co-operation in the fun-making is an important factor in securing the success of the pantomime. One of the hits of the performance is a dance which he gives in association with Miss Marie Ault, who as the Baroness plays the part with abundant humour. Messrs. Harley and Harden as Fanfare and Blowhard introduce their knock-about business with the most satisfactory results, and their genuine hard work is rewarded by loud applause. Miss Blanche Vincent makes a capital representative of Jack, and enters with spirit into the business of the part. She sings popular songs with gratifying success, and quickly gains the favour of the audience. Miss Florence Watson is a bright and pleasing Princess, acting with refinement and singing with a charm of manner that is quite effective. Her songs include, of course, the popular "Zuyder Zee" and other favourite melodies of the day. Miss Marie Altino is an attractive Fairy Rosebud, and her agreeable rendering of "In Dreamland" is loudly applauded. Mr. James Wilson is well placed as the Demon Discord, and Mr. Dick Tubb lends valuable assistance as the Giant Gorribuster. The Sisters Bartholomew as Philomel and Phyllis score in a special duet and dance; and favourable mention should also be made of Miss Queenie Gordon as Daisy and Miss May Lurlin as Rowland.

In the harlequinade Mr. Fred Melros is a capital clown, and is well supported by Mr. Harry Adlin as pantaloon and Mr. Ninety as policeman. Mr. Robert Sawyer is an active harlequin; and Miss Connie Ford does good service as Columbine. Mlle. Luma introduces a notable speciality in the form of an illuminated dance, the various shades of colour and the pretty patterns thrown upon her whirling robes being most artistic and effective. It remains to mention the good work done by Mr. William T. Gliddon as conductor of the orchestra, and who is also responsible for the music, and the charming scenery which has been furnished by Mr. George Tweddel.

"HUMPTY DUMPTY" AT KENNINGTON THEATRE.

(SECOND NOTICE.)

The gay and picturesque pantomime of Humpty Dumpty is doing such good business at Kennington Theatre that Mr. H. B. Brandrett, the manager, has decided to continue the production for at least a week longer than was originally intended, and if matters can be arranged, the run will be extended by a fortnight. At any rate, bookings will be accepted up to Feb. 9, and those who like a high-tone Christmas entertainment in which genuine mirth blends in ceaseless flow with melodious music, graceful dancing, and an almost bewildering succession of stage pageantry, should not fail to see Humpty Dumpty.

As Humpty Dumpty Miss Yvonne Lamor remains a very warm favourite, her singing and dancing appealing in the highest degree to the artistic susceptibilities of the audience. Miss Georgina Middleton, in the character of Princess Curly Locks, wins fresh laurels week by week, and in the first act her song, "I dream of you," never fails to secure a recall. Mr. R. H. Douglass, the King of Humptiland, worthily maintains his high reputation as a comedian, and he is ably seconded by that inimitable artist Mr. Arthur Rigby as the Queen of Humptiland. Mr. Rigby earns terrific applause with his slumber song in the Shoe scene, in which he is assisted by Miss Fidene, who is quite a clever little girl. Messrs. Moon and Morris as Johnny Stout and Jimmy Green, the knockabout comedians, make a big hit in the railway station scene, where the fun is fast and furious. The Crystals, the American vaudeville artists, sing and dance admirably, and their song and dance, "I have a bungalow in Borneo," in the first act remains one of the features of the pantomime. Mr. E. W. Thomas makes an excellent Doge of Venice and Wizard of Memphis. Mr. Edward Thirby does well as the Old Woman, and Miss Norman Bowyer, in the part of Twinkle-Star is seen to great advantage. The Sisters Crisp dance effectively as the Little Gollywogs, and Messrs. Wally Scott and Seth Whyte appeal to the children especially as the Great Gollywogs. Miss Elsie Evelyn Hill is a very good Mrs. Tremaine, and Miss Gladys Rose Jones is clever and bright as Leslie Tremaine, the character around which the pantomime centres. Miss Elinor Vale deserves credit for her portrayal of Polly, and Miss Turner wins nightly hearty applause for her exceedingly good skipping-rope dance.

RICHMOND THEATRE.

On Monday, Jan. 22, the Pantomime "SINBAD THE SAILOR."

Fresh from its triumphs at Bath, and with its honours thick upon it, Mr. Peter Davey's pantomime met with a particularly happy reception here. The production is a feast of colour, harmony, and good taste. In the opening scene at Balsora there is a quaint aquatic ballet that is one of the prettiest things in the show; another charming scene was the Home of Neptune, followed by a veritable triumph of scenic art, the Coral Reef. The company engaged in the interpretation is all round excellent. Distinctly funny was the Grinbad of Mr. Percy Baverstock; Mother Sinbad, "a poor, lorn, lone soul," found a clever exponent in Mr. Arthur Royce, whose unflagging humour proved infectious. Delightfully quaint and boasting quite a large share of nature's charm, dainty little Miss Neste Laurel was the life and soul of the pantomime. She dances and sings with unflagging vivacity. In the title-rôle Miss May Hart scored one of the successes of the evening, and her interpretation of the part left nothing to be desired. Mr. E. W. Colman as Nathaniel Fitzgubbins, of Hatton Garden, did his best with a part not conspicuous for its opportunities; the Old Man of the Sea was excellently portrayed by Mr. H. Grey-Dolby; Boozah, a long-shoreman of the approved type, was ably represented by Mr. Donald Young, who scored heavily throughout. Miss Clodagh Brown was a breezy Boreas, and played with a good deal of vigour and vivacity; Miss Rita Ricardo as Neptune, jun., proved quite attractive; a fine, dashing Captain of the Amazons, Kalitza, was in safe hands with clever Miss Sybil Brooke; a veritable Blossom in a fairy-like bouquet was Miss Gladys Glynn. Mr. Leslie Digby struggled with the dual nationality of Gaelic-Arabian type, to which he added selections from Cockayne; he did exceedingly well too. Miss Mollie Wynne as a Balsorian urchin made the most of an insignificant rôle; Mr. James Rivers created a lot of fun as the Lobster. The mise-en-scène was of a refined character, and Mr. Harry Turner, stage-manager, may be complimented on his skill. Tumultuous applause greeted the Valley of Diamonds and Flower Land—both marvels of scenic craft. The music is tuneful throughout, and the various excerpts admirably rendered; especially was this evident in the duet between Sinbad (Miss M. Hart) and Rosee (Miss Laurel) in Scene III., "When I gaze." Mr. Brian Daly is responsible for the lines, lyrics, and concerted pieces, much of which is above mediocrity and worthy of the unstinted applause so liberally bestowed on these features. Some artistic work in shown in the costumes, cleverly designed by Mrs. Peter Davey and Comelli. The pantomime is a really excellent sample of its kind, and is played twice every evening to full houses.

THE PAVILION.

On Monday, Jan. 21, Shakespeare's Play, "THE MERCHANT OF VENICE."

On Monday evening a crowded and enthusiastic house witnessed the praiseworthy efforts of the clever Jewish Operatic and Dramatic Company in their performance of The Merchant of Venice. That the play has suffered by its translation into Yiddish is very evident, while many of the artists had not sufficiently grasped the intentions of the immortal writer. It was pleasant to observe that the Portia of Mme. Natansohn had been throughout carefully and intelligently studied, and although there was no individuality of style, yet her impersonation was marked by an earnestness and a painstaking appreciation of the requirements of the part. Mr. C. Natansohn presented no great originality of treatment as Shylock, but gave a rendering that was dramatic without being scholarly, although his forcible acting delighted his countless admirers. Mme. J. Kayzer was bright and pleasing as Nerissa; and Mme. Goldstein enacted Jessica in a winning and sympathetic manner. Antonio was in the hands of Mr. Issacowitch, who is to be highly commended for his portrayal; and a creditable representative of Bassanio is found in Mr. M. Gusofsky. Mr. J. Fineberg is an easy and pleasant Gratiano; Lorenzo and Salarino are well played by Messrs. N. Hamburger and Markowitz respectively; many hearty laughs are raised by the excellent reading of Lancelot Gobbo by Mr. J. Scherman; and Mr. J. Goldsmith makes a dignified Duke of Venice. The play was well dressed and mounted, and the scenery was most effective. During the week The Zionist, The Jewish Priest, Menasha, The Broken Hearts, and Holy Sabbath have been played.

THE TERRISS.

On Monday, Jan. 21, the Pantomime, entitled "ROBINSON CRUSOE."

Mr. H. V. D'Esterre's pantomime of Robinson Crusoe is at this theatre, and is well patronised by the folks of Rotherhithe. It is written by Brian Daly and J. M. East, with music by J. Nurnberger. Miss Agnes Paulton is a captivating and dashing Robinson Crusoe, and her numerous songs are greeted with applause. Miss Maud Denny dances very gracefully, and makes a winsome Polly Perkins, also singing sweetly. Miss Eileen Guilbert shows great vocal abilities as the Fairy Queen. Miss Ada Davidson makes a decided success as Jack, and her song, "Roses, roses everywhere," is one of the hits of the evening. Mrs. Crusoe is cleverly played by Mr. Will Smith, who is responsible for a great deal of laughter; Mr. Charles H. Phydora and Mr. William Phydora keep the ball of fun rolling as Ben the Bo'sun and Mick the Mate. Mr. Henry W. Hatchan shows great dramatic force as the pirate, Will Atkins; Miss Lily Brame is excellent as Nellie; Mr. H. E. High supplies a good character-sketch as Friday, and gives a skilful speciality turn on the roller-skates. The Four Diamonds dance effectively; and the Phydoras contribute a clever musical selection. There is a large and very tuneful chorus, and the pantomime altogether must be pronounced a decided success.

"ALADDIN" AT THE CRYSTAL PALACE.

(SECOND NOTICE.)

It would be difficult to say whether the all-round excellence of the production or the individual popularity of the artists is the greater feature of Mr. J. Bannister Howard's pantomime, which is now in its fifth week of success at the Crystal Palace Theatre. From the first the elaborate mounting, music, and fun, seemed to assure a good run, but there now exists a cameraderie between the audience and its entertainers which is good to see. The entrance of Aladdin (Miss Lillie Lassah) is a signal for rounds of applause, and on Monday she was the recipient of a handsome floral tribute on the conclusion of her song, "Hello! Hello! Hello!" which she has cleverly worked up. Miss Lily Gullick has a suggestion of coyness in her assumption of the part of the Princess which adds charm to her singing and acting, and her song, "A bungalow in Borneo," goes well, assistance in the choruses being derived from Miss Lottie Stone's troupe of dancers, Mesdames Hill, Caley, Resta, and Tidd, whose acrobatic evolutions are redemanded to the point of exhaustion.

As Pekoe, Miss Nellie Barnwell is fresh and lively as ever, and renders her "Hyacinth" song with great effect. The success of Miss Gladys Ray's Pitti-Sing is enhanced by the "toy" duet, which is a most popular item with the young folk who attend the matinées. Miss Daisy Lake as Spoo-Nee has a comely presence, and has added to her agreeable rendering a Highland costume song with a full chorus. Miss Josephine Sullivan is an imposing Fairy Queen, and her "Moon" song, with a chorus "off," is encored nightly. A bevy of pretty girls make an attractive crowd, singing and acting well together.

Mr. Arthur Poole has worked up the part of Abanazar to its highest possibilities as a mirth-making medium, and whether holding the stage alone or working wheezes with other comedians he is inimitable. As Wishee-Washee, Mr. Frank Weir has plenty to do, and his new song, "Let me sing," with novel effects, is a welcome addition. The Brothers Onda as Boo-Bee and Bob-Bi, Celestial members of the "force," back-talk most bewilderingly, and manage to introduce new and sometimes impromptu business, and their smart triple-bar act is still a great feature in the Palace scene. Mr. A. E. Passmore as the Widow Twankey is a great favourite. His performance is full of droll touches, and it is pleasant to see that the traditional "dame" can be really funny without being vulgar. The travesty of the "Sandow Girls" in Act 1 constitutes the hit of the piece, and as a genuine bit of good-natured burlesque would be hard to beat. The four comedians, Messrs. Poole, Passmore, and the Brothers Onda, never seem to satisfy the audience in the matter of encores in this little scene. As the Slave of the Ring, Mr. J. Devereux Cawdery is as agile as ever in the demon trap scene, using the "star," "vampire," and other traps with great daring and finish. Mr. E. Oxlee makes a fine Emperor, and his share in the quartettes with the three other members of the Glee Singers' party, Messrs. Henry, Malaghan, and Del Lungo, are always appreciated and redemanded. Master Freddie Clarke as the Emperor's Cat must be a treat to the younger members of the audience to judge from the shrill shouts of laughter which his gambols always evoke. The old-fashioned harlequinade entertains a nightly pleased assembly, and sends everyone home in a good humour. Mr. Sainton's music arrangements are admirable, and a high pitch of excellence is reached in the choruses.

THE WEST LONDON.

On Monday, Jan. 21, the Drama, by Frederick Melville, entitled "THE BEAST AND THE BEAUTY."

Though loth to lose their pantomime, there was, nevertheless, a sigh of contentment amongst the West Londoners, as they cordially settled down this week to the enjoyment of their favourite fare—drama. As Jack Barrymore, Mr. Herbert Ford is a complete success. Possessed of a good stage presence, and a penetrating voice, he quickly secured the attention of the house, and easily held it to the fall of the curtain. Mr. William E. Passmore gives a good character-study of the Earl of Loman; Mr. Harry Talbot finds ample scope for his low comedy powers in his genial impersonation of Tom Chicken; Mr. Eric Campbell, in more senses than one, powerfully portrays the luckless Ned Samson; Mr. Jas. Neal works with energy as Joe Pugsley; whilst Mr. Henry Mervyn is responsible for a telling representation of cool, calculating villainy. Miss Daisy Gwynne acts Delilah Vane with plenty of resolution, her playing in the third act reaching a high standard of excellence; Miss Mollie Williams is decidedly pleasing as Clarice; Miss Mamie Rendle does good work as Mimi; and Miss Lydia Audre receives much encouragement for her simple, yet withal earnest, rendering of the sympathetic rôle of Violet. The rest of the members of a long cast all do well, and the play is staged and mounted in lavish fashion, the Woodland Glen set in the third act calling for special mention, the natural beauties of the scene being enhanced by the cooing of pigeons and the gambols of rabbits, as they scamper about in full enjoyment of their liberty. Mr. W. Fraser-Brunner is general-manager for Mr. Frederick Melville and Mr. William Bailey's interests are, as usual, well looked after by the always courteous Mr. James Sinclair.

GREAT enthusiasm prevailed on the closing night of the pantomime, Mother Goose, at the Palace Theatre, Belfast, on Saturday last. The principals were accorded an ovation, and, at the concluding scene, Mr. Fred W. Warden, managing-director, appeared, and thanked the huge audience for their patronage, stating that the support accorded the pantomime had achieved a record run. Miss Carlotta Levey (who during the evening was the recipient of a lovely basket of flowers) was also compelled to give a speech, and Mr. Martin Adeson addressed a few words to his host of Belfast admirers.

PRINCESS LOUISE AUGUSTA OF SCHLESWIG-HOLSTEIN and suite witnessed the performance of The Scarlet Pimpernel, at the New Theatre on the 18th inst.

THE DRAMA IN BERLIN.

"DAS FRIEDENSFEST."

Drama, in Three Acts, by Gerhart Hauptmann, produced at the Deutsches Theatre, Jan. 16, 1907.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

BERLIN, THURSDAY, Jan. 27.—One of the earliest of Hauptmann's plays, Das Friedensfest has been so seldom performed that it was a novelty to the majority of theatre-goers. It was given some eight years ago by the Free Stage Association, and since that time has not been done here. It is one of the most realistic and uncomfortable plays that ever delighted a German audience. What possible end can be served by holding up the doings of a quarrelsome, morbid, and half-crazy family in the glare of the footlights when—unhappily—there are plenty of the same type in real life is a question that the author himself must answer. Nobody would wish to deny the genuineness of the characters, or a certain fascination that the play exercises in parts over the audience, but that the nerves of the hearers are strained to painfulness is equally true. The plot is briefly as follows:—Dr. Scholz is returning to his home after many years' absence. The cause of his leaving was a terrible quarrel with his son Wilhelm, who had struck his father in the face in defence of his mother. The young man feels remorse at his conduct, and is returning to the home he, too, had left, trusting to the "feast of peace"—Christmas—to bring about a general reconciliation. Wilhelm's brother Robert is a hard-hearted, cynical brute; their sister Auguste is as unpleasant a person as one could well meet; their mother is a cipher. The only persons with bright and normal natures are Ida—Wilhelm's fiancée—and her mother. As soon as the brothers meet, bitter words are uttered, and on the arrival of the poor old doctor we feel a catastrophe is approaching. The air is sultry to suffocation—to speak figuratively—and the least spark will cause an explosion. And what is dreaded happens. Beneath the lights of the Christmas tree, to the sound of the church bells, old grievances are renewed, the old quarrel breaks out afresh, and the doctor's brain gives way under the strain. He becomes a raving madman, and expires in the next room, where he has been removed by his sons. Ida comforts Wilhelm, but his brother cheerfully tells him he will end like his father. This the other man indignantly repudiates, but he fears in his heart that his brother is a true prophet, and with this gloomy prospect the curtain descends. The interpretation was admirable, especially good renderings being given by Fräuleins Wangel, Durieux, and Sauer, Herren Biensfeld and Reinhardt.

The event of the week has been the visit of Mme. Suzanne Desprès and her Parisian company at the Neues. The critics are for once entirely in unison in praise of the talented actress, whom many declare to be the most perfect realisation of Ibsen's conception of Nora. Mme. Desprès commenced her season of six performances with two pieces unknown to Berlin audiences—Ajalbert's three-act drama, La Fille Eliza, and Jules Renard's one-act play, Poil de Carotte. She at once took her audience by storm, and the applause which crowned her efforts was deafening. The plot of La Fille Eliza is probably known to your readers. It is the story of a girl who stabs her lover and is condemned to life-long imprisonment. In the first act the murder is committed; the second act depicts the trial—this is taken up entirely by the lawyer's defence and the verdict. The prisoner says not a word, but the facial expression of Mme. Desprès, the agony of suspense, the horror and despair as sentence is pronounced, were so realistic that the audience were profoundly moved. In the third act Eliza is in her prison cell; she musters the things left behind by the women who have left the prison, and reckons out on her fingers in dumb agony how long they must have been there; she herself will remain for ever; and with the wild despairing cry "Toujours, toujours!" the piece ends. M. Lugné-Poe supported Mme. Desprès admirably in the rôle of the advocate, and the remaining characters were all satisfactorily sustained. The Crown Prince, who was present, complimented the famous actress after the performance, and promised to come again with the Crown Princess—a promise which was fulfilled three nights later.

Salome is still once or twice in the bill each week at the Royal Opera, and has reached its fifteenth performance. It is not in the nature of this music-drama to become popular, and nobody would be more surprised than Richard Strauss himself to see it become so, but it is unquestionably the greatest work of the kind of the age, and as such must always make its mark. On various operatic stages in Italy Salome has recently achieved great success, notably at Turin, where Dr. Strauss, who conducted, was called before the curtain over a dozen times. Die Zauberflöte is given this evening at the Opera House, with Fräulein Frieda Hempel, of the Court Theatre at Schwerin, in the rôle of the Queen of the Night. This talented young singer has made much progress since her début in that part three years ago, and her career has been unusually rapid. Her beautiful voice fills the Opera House in every part, her acting is good, and her appearance imposing. I am told there is every probability of Fräulein Hempel receiving a permanent engagement here before long.

A new lyric-dramatic dancer, Fräulein Rita Sacchetto, has made a decided hit here. The young lady—who is particularly pretty and charming—poses chiefly as costume danseuse, and her dresses are perfect "dreams" of beauty. Fräulein Sacchetto made her début before an invited audience at an art salon last week, her public performance the following night confirming the excellent impression she made. She danced a minuet in Gainsborough costume, and appeared as Djamileh, the Impersonation of Spring (to Strauss's delightful watzes), and other fanciful characters and symbols. Hearty applause rewarded the young lady's graceful dancing.

Dr. Fulda's verse-comedy Der Heimliche König has passed its twenty-fifth performance at the Lessing Theatre, and there is little diminution of its popularity. The weekly bill at the Lessing comprises, in addition, Wenn Wir Toten Erwachen, Sudermann's Blumenboot, with a single performance of Die Weber and Ibsen's Rosmersholm. No new play is announced for the present, Hauptmann's new comedy appearing in February.

Blumenthal's comedy Das Glashaus is still given once or twice a week at the Royal Schauspielhaus, and was honoured one evening recently by the Kaiser and Kaiserin. The piece was conscientiously overhauled by a doubly-exacting censorship, and one or two dubious sentences were, with the author's permission, altered.

Influenza is busy amongst our first artists. Frau Agnes Sarma and Dr. Pohl are attacked, and several of the Royal Opera singers are down with it. At the last moment one of the performances at the Komische Oper had to be altered owing to indisposition of several of the artists.

"THE ERA" can be obtained at the principal bookstalls throughout the provinces.

THE DRAMA IN PARIS.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

PARIS, THURSDAY, Jan. 24.—The excitement this week has been the question of the Opéra management. During the last few weeks the Paris and English Press referred to M. Albert Carré as the successor of M. Gailhard, and M. Carré was even interviewed on the pieces he intended to produce during the coming season. The Era alone named the winners from the very start, and our prediction that MM. Messager and Broussan would be elected has come true. But, now that all the excitement has subsided, it will be interesting to throw a side-light on the intrigues that have been going on during the last few months. Many candidates had come forward, the majority of them impresarios, who knew very well that they did not have a shadow of a chance, but who considered it a cheap way to advertise their name. The only serious ones were M. Albert Carré (manager of the Opéra-Comique), M. Porel (manager of the Vaudeville), the brothers Isola, M. Broussan, and M. Messager. In this list I should also include M. Gailhard, who clung desperately to his post, and whose friends worked hard to get him re-elected. The curious part of the business was that men high in office took an indirect part in the strife. M. Fallières, our respected President, and M. Clémenceau had their favourites; and ladies inside and outside the theatrical world threw themselves into the fray. Yet there was only one combination possible, that of MM. Messager and Broussan, the most suitable men for the post of managers of our Opéra; but it was not to come about without trouble. Strongly backed, a favourite with the authorities, M. Carré would have been appointed, had not the financial question cropped up. But that question was almost insurmountable, and it therefore seemed strange that M. Carré's friends did not leave him quietly at his post at the Opéra-Comique instead of forcing him to the front, with the result that many facts leaked out about the monetary position of the Opéra-Comique which took the ordinary public somewhat by surprise. Then things took an unexpected development. The manager of the Opera has to be heavily backed with capital, and we were officiously informed that the brothers Isola were coming to the rescue. In other words, they would supply the necessary money, in return for which they were to have a share in the management of both our lyric stages. Those in the know never believed this an instant. MM. Isola are very influential. Establishments like the Folies-Bergère, Olympia, and others, ostensibly managed by M. Ruez, belong to them; and if MM. Isola had been appointed joint-managers of the Opéra-Comique and of the Opéra as well, they would have formed one of the most gigantic trusts on record. Our Fine Arts Minister understood this very well; and as apparently he had the mission to work M. Carré into the Opéra at all cost he made them another proposition. "You bring your money," said M. Briand, "and you have . . ." "Have what?" cried the brothers Isola. "My promise that you will be placed at the head of the Théâtre Populaire which we intend to build!" The brothers looked at one another, made their bow to the Minister, and the next morning we learnt that the negotiations had been broken off, that M. Carré intended to remain at the Opéra-Comique, and that MM. Messager and Broussan had been asked to submit their plans. They had them ready long ago, and M. Briand awoke to the fact that the combination of which he thought last was after all the best.

Our Seventh Civil Court had to busy itself about Adam and Eve. This is what had occurred. At the beginning of the season MM. Tristan Bernard and Charles Cuvillier had brought out at the Capucines a two-act operetta called Avant-hier Matin; and after the thirty-sixth performance the manager, with the authors' consent, had suppressed the second act. But the authors had sold the score to a publisher, who paid them a royalty of £3 for each performance; and when the work was reduced to one act he refused to adhere to his contract, because, as he said, they had now spoiled the piece. The publisher, sued by the authors, told the Court that he had bought a two-act play and that if it had been offered him in its present form he would not have accepted it. But MM. Bernard and Cuvillier speak differently. According to them, the publisher knew very well that, whilst the first act was rather funny, the second one did not offer much interest. In the first act we see Adam counting his ribs, finding one missing, and starting his love idyll with Eve; whilst the second tableau, showing us the pair in lodgings after their fall, is quite useless. Moreover, say MM. Bernard and Cuvillier, it happens continually that authors strike out scenes if they consider it necessary. Coppelia was written in three acts, and is now produced only in two. When Hellé, M. Alphonse Duverny's four-act opera, was revived, it had been condensed to three. And Thaïs? Everybody knows that after it was produced it underwent several alterations. All these arguments were put forward by the plaintiffs, but it is a question whether they will convince the tribunal, which has adjourned the case for a week.

That witty but erratic playwright M. Albin Valabrègue has suddenly turned up again. For a very long time we had lost sight of him. Some said he had become a monk, whilst others asserted that he had joined a band of brigands in Calabria in order to be able to introduce robbers into one of his farces. An American paper even brought the news that he was managing a big hotel in Arizona. As it turns out, M. Valabrègue is neither monk nor brigand nor hotel proprietor. He is what he always was, a smart dramatist; and M. Samuel, the Variétés manager, has asked him to write a three-act play for Mme. Jeanne Granier.

There was rather an unpleasant scene at the Antoine Theatre about a lady's hat. A gentleman in the stalls, unable to catch sight of the stage on account of a huge structure of flowers and feathers in front of him, asked the wearer to be so kind as to remove it. The lady refused to do so. The gentleman repeated his request twice, and then theatened the lady that if she did not obey the third summons he would box the ears of the young man who accompanied her. There was a roar of laughter in the stalls when the youth, not wanting to be the victim of his companion's obstinacy, compelled her to take off her hat. The little system had worked so well that another man, labouring under the same disadvantages, resolved to put it into practice; but in this case it led to a violent row. M. Gémier, not caring to turn his house into a battlefield, has now issued a ukase that in the first five rows of the stalls ladies will not be allowed to wear their hats. If M. Gémier were not a timid man he would have extended that ukase to all the stalls, but for fear of giving offence to his fair clients he has resorted to this half measure. In time he will, no doubt, extend it to the rest of the house.

MM. Clot and Dublay, managers of the Bouffes, have engaged Mlle. Mariette Sully to sing the leading part in La Petite Bohème, by MM. Paul Ferrier and Hirschmann, the new operetta that will be brought out at that house in the course of next week. MM. Simon-Max, Langlois, and Mlle. Dumesil will also appear in that work.

To the consternation of the audience at the Châtelet, one of the Brothers Lockford whilst making his triple somersault miscalculated his distance, and dropped on to the dancers below. Fortunately the net broke his fall, and no harm was done. He made the somersault a second time, and in such a brilliant fashion that he was loudly cheered by the house.

M. Tristan Bernard is busy on an adaptation of Planté's La Marmite, which, if we are rightly informed, will be produced at the Odéon.

THE THEATRE-FRANCAIS SEASON.

On Monday, Jan. 21, at the New Royalty Theatre, Revival of the Comedy, in Three Acts, by Henri Lavedan, entitled

"LE MARQUIS DE PRIOLA."

Le Marquis de Priola .....M. LE BARGY
Pierre Morain .....M. PRADALY
Docteur Savières .....M. DARCEY
Brabançon .....M. LEBEEY
First Monsieur .....M. HILLAIRET
Second Monsieur .....M. CHARLYS
Un Domestique .....M. STERN
Mme. de Valleroy ....MLLE. GABRIELLE DORZIAT
Mme. Savières .....MLLE. FERIEL
Mme. Le Chesne .....MLLE. NELLY CORMON

M. Henri Lavedan is one of the wittiest of modern French playwrights. His maiden effort consisted of some little society dialogues, which appeared in a French illustrated paper. Then he produced Le Prince d'Aurec, a serious satire on the degeneracy of the modern French aristocracy; and another piece, on a social subject, entitled Les Deux Noblesses. In his Viveurs, which was one of the great successes of the theatrical season of 1895-6, he drew a vivid picture of Parisian Bohemia, in which Mme. Réjane, in the leading rôle, jumped over a table to get back to her lover; and Le Nouveau Jeu, which had a long run at the Variétés, showed a master in the art of life-like portraiture. The Marquis de Priola, with which the French season at the Royalty opened on Monday night, was produced at the Comédie Française on Feb. 7, 1902.

The Marquis de Priola is a modern Don Juan, without the reckless gaiety of his prototype. A young man named Pierre Morain is the Marquis's protégé. Pierre is the son of one of Priola's game-keepers, who was the victim of a gun accident. The mother died of despair at her husband's death, and, as the Marquis was divorced from his wife, and was childless, he adopted Pierre, and had him educated as a doctor. It is suggested, from the first, that Pierre is the son of Priola, and that the gamekeeper killed himself on discovering that he was dishonoured. The mentor is bringing up his pupil in the most heartless cynicism. It appears that the Priolas have, for generations, sacrificed every principle to passion. The Marquis finds his match, however, in a certain Mme. de Valleroy, who defies his temptations. Priola is actually seized with a passion for his ex-wife, now married to a noble-minded gentleman, M. Le Chesne. The lady is removed from the sphere of the seducer's influence, and Priola continues his attack on Mme. de Valleroy, who is conquered, and is ready to yield to his suggestions. But the Marquis simply asks her to be his friend, and she goes away mortified. Amongst the libertine's letters Pierre finds the portrait of his mother, and thus learns that she was his protector's mistress. In the last act, the irresistible Priola almost conquers the virtue of his ex-wife's intimate, Mme. Savières; but, in the midst of his wickedness, he is struck down by paralysis. His doom is announced to him by his son in the following gruesome dialogue :—

MORAIN : You carry death within you.
PRIOLA : I am ill?
MORAIN : Lost.
PRIOLA : What is the matter with me? Tell me, since you are a wizard.
MORAIN : I am not a wizard; I am a doctor.
PRIOLA : Well, come to it. What shall I die of?
MORAIN : Of your vices. You are threatened with paralysis. Since I have known you, I have noticed the symptoms of the complaint, and I know how rapid is its progress. Your dissipations have poisoned you. And, as you have passed your life in doing evil for evil's sake, remorselessly——
PRIOLA : I'm proud of it!
MORAIN : Now you are the prey of an evil which does not forgive.

Priola defies death, and Morain taunts him with never having known love. "Then," says Priola, "since I have never known how to love, at least I will show you all how I can hate. I will blaspheme till my last breath, and will not go without throwing in the face of this abject, hypocritical, and gross world, which has misunderstood me, the scorn which I have for its iniquitous laws, its false morality, its religions, one as empty as the other. And you, you, the only being I have loved, perhaps; you, who are lightly going away without turning your head, after having stabbed me! . . . Look at me. I am your father!" Then Priola falls insensible into Morain's arms, and the latter says that he will nurse the paralytic for the twenty years or so that he may continue to live.

The piece is distinctly distasteful to an English palate. There are only two personages in whom we can take any interest; the leading figure is entirely antipathetic; and the idea of the play is repellent without being enthralling in its gruesomeness. The dialogue is, of course, well written—we can always trust M. Lavedan for that—but the theme is ill-devised, and its melodramatic conclusion is inconsistent with the cynical and somewhat unsavoury tone of the comedy scenes. The redeeming feature of the revival, as of the original production, is M. Le Bargy's creation of the Marquis, an embodiment of great vigour and artistic elaboration. M. Pradaly plays Morain ably and well; and the other characters are capably sustained.

On Thursday Le Demi-Monde was performed, with M. de Bargy as the philosophic Olivier de Jalin, and Mlle. Gabrielle Dorziat as Suzanne.

AMUSEMENTS IN INDIA.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

BOMBAY, JAN. 12.—The New Bandmann Opera Company landed in Bombay on Dec. 21, and opened a short season the following evening. The plays staged were The Beauty of Bath, The White Chrysanthemum, Belle of Mayfair, Mr. Popple, of Ippleton, The Dairymaids, and The Girl Behind the Counter. A very excellent account was given of each and every piece, much of the success being due to Mr. Warwick Major and Miss Georgie Corass. Miss Corlass has always managed to fill a large corner in the heart of the Bombay public, and, as the leading lady in the several companies that have visited here, she has each time made herself a warmer favourite. Miss Doreen O'Connor is another of the old faces, and proves increasingly popular. Mr. Johnny Osborne and Mr. Dan Clifford are undoubted acquisitions to the company. The two new leading ladies, Miss Poppy Poole, of the Gaiety, and Miss Constance Lait, of the Savoy, at once secured favour here. Mr. Fred Ellis, an old member of the company, acquits himself really well. Mr. Edgar Favelle, the new tenor, and Mr. Victor Khan, have done excellently in their different rôles. The stage-management has been a feature of the visit, and the settings of the various plays have been unique for India.

THE Paris-India Motor Company are filling large houses nightly in the canvas structure on the Maidan. The bioscope is one of the finest seen in India, and the range of pictures is very extensive. They are performing three times nightly, and the entire show is under the management of the company's resident-superintendent, Mons. Paul Picard.

COL. BOB LOVE AND MRS. HARNISTON-LOVE are due here shortly from Calcutta, where they have had a most successful season. They are old favourites in Bombay, being regular cold season visitors with their circus for many years.

PRESENTATION.—On the conclusion of the run of Sinbad at the Royal West London Theatre, Mr. Alfred Reynolds, Mr. Brydon Phillips' business-manager, was presented by the management of the theatre with a very handsome umbrella, mounted with silver.

A NEW edition of the highly-successful pantomime, Cinderella, with fresh songs, dances, and jokes, will be produced on Monday next at the Broadway Theatre, New Cross.

THE PLAYHOUSE.

Mr. Cyril Maude's new theatre, the Playhouse, is a model of taste, comfort, and convenience, and the architects, Messrs. Delmar Blow and Fernand Billerey, have studied all these requisites with success. The theatre is thoroughly warmed, and a novel system of ventilation with powerful fans over the proscenium arch ensures a thorough supply of fresh air; the stage is warmed as well as the auditorium to avoid the unpleasant chill which is so often felt on the rising of the curtain. The main entrance, in which the box-office is situated, is elliptical in shape, the floor is of black and white marble, and the stucco walls, closely resembling stone in appearance, have a handsome decorated dental cornice. Three steps lead, by two pairs of fine mahogany vitrage doors, from the vestibule to the first novel feature of the house—the stalls promenoir. This is a lofty space at the back of the stalls, and will be used as a promenade between the acts. The moulded and panelled walls are decorated in a rich cream colour; the handsome bracketed fibrous plaster cornice and enriched floor dressings, the large panel over the main door to the stalls, with its centre medallion encircled by a wreath of palm leaves, and the handsome electrolier, combine in giving the promenoir a charming appearance. The stalls refreshment lounge—fitted in Empire style, with a fine mahogany table, partly covered with a linen table-cloth—and the ladies' and gentlemen's cloak-rooms are approached from this part of the house.

The stalls occupy the entire ground floor. No less than three pairs of vitrage double-doors lead from the promenoir to the stalls, and there is an additional exit leading to the street, so that the stalls are provided with ample means of egress. The 197 stalls consist of spacious arm-chairs, with a considerable division between each chair and a large space between each row—for which much thanks. The chairs have cane backs and seats, with loose cushions embroidered in gold. The walls surrounding the stalls are panelled in old gold brocade with frieze of trylypths and swags in gold with bronze heads at intervals, from the horns of which depend electric lights.

The dress-circle walls are panelled in old gold brocade, with large oil paintings at each side representing English and Italian comedy—the work of MM. Henri Brémond and Maurice Tastemain. These pictures represent the Shakespearean drama with a scene from A Midsummer Night's Dream and Italian comedy with its traditional characters—Pierrot, Harlequin, Columbine. The drop-curtain is painted by the same artists. The centre panel shows the entrance to a theatre of the old days, "Une petite histoire d'amour," which indicates to the audience the light nature of the piece which is about to take place on the stage itself. The broad border of the curtain and its rich ornamentation are painted by M. Jobbé-Duval, Professor of the "Ecole Boule." The caryatides decorating the sides of the two lower private boxes are the work of the well-known sculptors, MM. Louis Noël and Déchin. These artists are also responsible for the two low-relief frames of the cupola representing Thalia crowned by Fame. This cupola is the feature of the decoration. It is encircled, as already mentioned, by a large ring ornamented and lighted by globes of electric light, and by a large electrolier hanging from its centre which gives its full value to a painted vellum carried by cupids, also the work of MM. Brémond and Tastemain, as well as two large lower bull's eyes, with, in one, the figure of Poetry, in the other that of Music. There are open-work gilt balustrades in front of the tiers, and four ornamented lamp-posts light the bottom part of the dress circle. The colour scheme is brown and gold—light brown for the walls, dark brown for the silk hangings of the boxes, the cushions of the seats, the carpets, &c.

The King's box, which is entered direct from Craven-street, and the lower box on the opposite side of the house, have finely-modelled balconies, with large gilt caryatides at each side, supporting the boxes on the dress-circle level, all of which are draped in a handsome old-gold brocade. Adjoining the King's box, and connected by a fine teak staircase, is a handsomely-decorated retiring room, carpeted in rich crimson, with furniture of the Louis XV. period. Two smaller private boxes are situated at the back of the dress circle.

In the dress circle there are one hundred and twenty-four balcony stalls at 7s. 6d., forty-eight balcony seats at 6s., while the tier above consists of fifty-four upper-circle seats at 4s., one hundred and twenty-six at 2s. 6d., and fifty-five 1s. gallery seats. Each seat throughout the house is separate and may be booked in advance. The refreshment room leading from the dress circle is decorated in French grey with modelled swag frieze and masks at intervals. The splendid system of electric lighting has been installed by Messrs. Maple and Co., Ltd. The builders are Messrs. Patman and Fotheringham, Ltd.

The dimensions of the stage are as follows :—Width of proscenium opening, 26ft; depth of stage, 27ft.; width of stage, 46ft.; height of fly-rail, 22ft.; height of grid, 50ft. The lighting of the stage is carried out by means of four battens, six hanging lengths, and float, with all colour effects, the number of lights available on the stage being the equivalent of about 1,050 16-candle power lamps. The whole of this system is controlled from the lighting gallery on the side of stage, where all the regulating switches and gear are fixed. The stage itself is made of oak, and is the first of the kind so constructed under the recent regulations of the London County Council.

PRESENTATION.—At the termination of the pantomime of Dick Whittington at the King's Theatre, Hoxton, Mr. Harry Bristow, the stage-manager, who has also played the Dame and Clown, was presented by the staff with a silver cigar case and with a gold-mounted umbrella by Mr. Fred Bousteed. Mr. Bristow resigned the stage-management on Feb. 2 in view of tempting offers to go into the halls.

ACTORS' DAY.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE ERA.

SIR,—When I added my name to the list in support of Actors' Day, I thought it was for a fund apart, and distinct, from any other fund; for the purposes of organisation, for the betterment of actors and actresses, for the foundation of a protective and benefit society of a kind suitable to the profession and its circumstances; not a charity. It certainly was not clearly set forth what the purpose really was; but I think I am right in saying that the majority of those who gave their names thought somewhat as I did. When it was officially declared that the money raised was to be divided between the A.B.F. and the A.O.F. I refrained. To put it mildly, I was disappointed. I feel sure that "Actors' Day" was meant to be something different. It was a good idea that has somehow got addled in the hatching. "Actors' Saturday" is upon us. The meaning and the object here are clear. We are called upon to give what we can afford to the A.B.F. When I can afford to increase my subscription to the A.B.F. I will do so, but it will be on or about "Actors' Saturday," not on "Actors' Day." As, doubtless, there are many regular subscribers to the A.B.F. who promised support to "Actors' Day" and withheld it for the same reasons as I have, is it not a bit inconsistent that they should be irresponsibly called "backsliders" and "renegades" for not supporting a fund to which they regularly subscribe—viz., the A.B.F.—for that is what it amounts to.—Yours faithfully

COLEMAN DAVIES.

50, Slaney-street, Newcastle, Staffs, Jan. 22.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE ERA.

SIR,—I wonder if you will allow me a little space for something that seems wanting in this discussion—i.e., "common sense." We hear a lot of talk about what actors will and should do, but very little about what they can do; and the reason is not far to seek whilst the talk comes from people who, to put it mildly, know little or nothing about the rank and file of the profession, their needs and their wishes.

Let us be frank, and come out of the limelight a bit.

Mr. Cecil Raleigh, in his "hopeful speech" at the St. James's, says that on the computation that there are 250 places of amusement in England, and supposing each contributed £50 once a year, the result would be £12,500. Does Mr. Raleigh think, or does he "know," of half that number of theatres, whose staff (including the visiting company) total a number whose one-night contribution of salary would be collectively £50? I am not great at figures, but it seems to me that in round figures this means fifty people with an average salary of £6 per week, or seventy-five people with an average salary of £4 10s. per week; and if the number of theatres who give employment to seventy-five people a week exist, even then we know jolly well their salary is not £4 10s. If it was they want "banks," not "charities." And this is what I complain of: the people who administer or dictate the administration of our funds and charities—and, consequently, if we are to be self-supporting, our contributions as well—do not know our circumstances. They arrange these things from comfortable London offices. Do they come out amongst us, and see and hear and know as we know. The Americans say, "Talk's cheap, but it takes money to buy land."

Let me give one more example of stay-at-home knowledge.

The A.A. announce that they have secured "payment for rehearsals." Right! Let us have a "common-sense" look at it. For provincial productions we are to give two weeks' rehearsals free. After that we are to receive payment for all over, which is to be deducted from our salaries after the piece has run four weeks. I say, Sir, it is not payment; it is a loan or advance on salaries. How many provincial productions rehearse more than two weeks, and those that do, manage to run for more than four?

Mr. Editor, they don't know! I suppose they mean well, but they don't know. What's the remedy? Two words: "common sense." When you want bread, go to the baker. When you want Actors' Day, and actors' requirements, go to actors, not managers, authors, or those of our calling who drive their 1000-guinea motors at such a rate that they do not notice the poverty through which they pass.—Yours faithfully,

EDWARD VAN BIENE.

AMUSEMENTS IN ROTTERDAM.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

ROTTERDAM, JAN. 21, 1907.—Manager Van Eysden has "struck oil" with the production of Huzaren-Koorts ("Hussar-Fever") this being the title in Dutch of the latest German farcical comedy that is now running at the Lustspielhaus in Berlin, and is being played with enormous success throughout Germany. The success that it is meeting here in its Dutch attire is a no less "booming" one, as night after night the vast auditorium of the Grand Theatre is crowded from pit to dome. The comedy is bright and amusing, the mounting excellent, and the cast a capital one. The members of the company at the Grand come out in flying colours, Mesdames Van Eysden, Kley, Van Kerckhoven, and Mauhs, and Messrs. Poolman, De Jong, Melsert, and Morriën being deserving of special praise.

AT the Tivoli Theatre the Brondgeest Ensemble, of which Henri Brondgeest is manager and leading man, has been seen in an interesting programme, consisting of Oscar Wilde's Salome and Ninon de L'Enclos. In both plays the title-rôle is taken by Mrs. Brondgeest. Her interpretation of Salome is well known to our public, as she played it a couple of years since and received favourable notices for the impersonation.

ISADORA DUNCAN has been again in our midst, having given one of her "dance-evenings," as she calls them, in each one of the principal cities of the land. One of the "off-nights" at the Grand Theatre was chosen for the event in Rotterdam, and, as usual, despite the high prices, a large and fashionable audience responded to the call, Miss Duncan being greeted with warmth, and many of her numbers being perforce encored. The programme consisted of numbers from Iphigenie in Aulis and Iphigenie in Tauris, of Gluck, and, as final encore, the ever-popular "Blue Danube" waltz.

A SERIES of special performances are being given by the Opera Association, at the head of which are a number of persons of standing in the Dutch musical world. Artists of established reputation are engaged for each opera that is put on by the association, and performances take place successively in Amsterdam, Rotterdam, and The Hague. Last Saturday being an off-night at the Grand, Rotterdam, was the favoured city, and Mozart's comic song, Così fan tutti formed the attraction. Although this work of Mozart is seldom sung in its entirety, many of the airs are well known and familiar to the ear. The lovely music was fully enjoyed. Frau Hedwig Schacko, from the Stad Theatre of Frankfort, pleased the audience in the spsightly rôle of the mischievous lady's maid, Vespina, and did justice to the requirements of the music.

LOUIS BOUWMEESTER has started for a second tour through the Dutch East Indies. He is, as before, supported by his own company, and will give a round of his celebrated impersonations.

ALBERT VOGEL, a Dutch reader and elocutionist, who has acquired a well-deserved reputation for his remarkable talents, has also sailed for the Dutch East Indies. One of his best efforts is his delivery of Shakespeare's "Coriolanus" in Dutch, which is indeed a piece of artistic elocution.

PLAYERS OF THE PERIOD.

MISS GLADYS GUY.

Like so many other impressionable young ladies, Miss Gladys Guy conceived a passion for the stage when her mind should have been occupied with the intricacies of decimals, vulgar fractions, and algebra. But decimals seemed always a point too far off, vulgar fractions were vulgar as compared with her aspirations, and in algebra, instead of letting "X" or "C" stand for a given quantity, it was a case of "O.P." always in her mind. Miss Guy showed capabilities for the stage at an early age, when she created all the leading parts in the cantatas, &c., produced from time to time by her schoolmistress. In these, Miss Guy shone to such an extent that she attracted much attention.

Miss Guy received little or no encouragement from her family, but an advertisement in an old newspaper which happened to fall into her hands during a stay in the country proved to be the turning-point in her career. It was one of Mr. Stedman's many advertisements, asking for choristers. Miss Guy stole up to London, and, feeling very much like a conspirator, called at the address given, and was the same day engaged for the opera season at Covent Garden. This was practically her first performance on a real stage, a start that many might envy, and which boded well for her future. After being at Covent Garden for some time, Miss Guy craved for something that would enable her to shine individually, and was lucky in securing the part of Marjory in Mr. Max Pemberton's play, The Finishing School, at Wyndham's Theatre. Soon after this Miss Guy joined Mr. George Dance, who engaged her to understudy Mrs. Pineapple in The Chinese Honeymoon. Unlike many in a similar position, Miss Guy had her chance owing to the sudden indisposition of a principal, and went on for the part at very short notice, when it was at once seen that she was quite capable of sustaining a leading rôle. This led to her being engaged by Mr. Dance for Cinderella at Richmond, where she won much admiration and golden opinions from Press and public. Miss Guy's appearance did much to help her in the part of Cinderella, as she answers exactly to one's idea of the heroine of the famous fairy tale. Small wonder then that, after such successes, Mr. George Dance re-engaged Miss Guy for musical comedy, this time as Peggy in The Cingalee, a part that she played on tour with considerable success, so much so, indeed, that when Mr. Dance acquired the provincial rights of The Beauty of Bath, he engaged Miss Guy to play the part created by Miss Ellaline Terriss, viz., the Hon. Betty Silverthorne, which she is now playing. The part suits her admirably. Miss Guy endows the part with a quaint personality quite her own, and her singing and dancing leave nothing to be desired.

Having made such rapid strides in her profession so far, it will not be surprising if, in a very little while, we find Miss Guy in the very front rank of musical comedy artists, and inviting criticism from a West-end audience.

DALSTON THEATRE.

On Monday, Jan. 21, the Musical Comedy, by George Dance, entitled

"A CHINESE HONEYMOON."

The return visit of Mr. Milton Bode's company to the Dalston with A Chinese Honeymoon is a welcome event, and the piece is drawing crowded houses. The scenery is pretty, as are also the dresses, and the performance, which runs with smoothness, is punctuated by applause and laughter. Mr. George Rydon as Mr. Pineapple makes the most of his part, and some of his songs are encored. Miss Gwennie Harcourt's Fi-Fi is distinctly diverting, her singing being capital. Miss Gladys Ward as Mr. Pineapple, and Miss Nancy Rossiter as Soo-Soo, act charmingly and sing well. Miss Maud Adams as Mrs. Brown, the official mother-in-law, is the very ideal of shrewish pomposity; Mr. Harry Jennings as Tom Hatherton is decidedly effective; Mr. Rudolf Kloss as Hang Chow, the Emperor, is amusing; Mr. Leonard May as Hi Lung, the Lord High Admiral, is capable; as is also Mr. P. Allerton Turner as the Lord Chancellor. The Misses Dorothy Radcliffe, Iris Royal, Kathleen Kerr, and Elsie Skillings make pretty bridesmaids; and Miss Ada Booth and Miss Daisy Moule, as maids of honour to Soo-Soo, are also admired. Mr. Damant is the musical-director of a full chorus and augmented orchestra.

STAGE CHILDREN.

Lady Mansel appeared at the North London Police-court on Monday with half a dozen of the children performing in her music hall entertainment, A Concert Rehearsal, and asked for licences for the boys and girls to give a show at the Stoke Newington Palace during the week. Mr. Robinson, the acting-manager, said the certificates were all correct, and Sub-divisional Inspector Hart said proper notice had been given. Mr. Fordham: I see there is one child ten years of age, another eleven, two at twelve, and one thirteen. I cannot license children ten and eleven years of age to be in the theatre until ten o'clock at night; and I don't know that I ought to license those at twelve to be out at that hour. You may take a licence for the twelves and thirteen until 9.30 if you like, but the other two I will not license at all. Lady Mansel: They are only on the stage a few minutes to speak a few lines. Mr. Fordham: But they are much too young. Lady Mansel: If they were not in the theatre they might be running the streets. Mr. Fordham: They would have very bad parents if they did. Lady Mansel: They will be very well looked after. Mr. Fordham: Very likely; but these little children look delicate, and I cannot offer you anything beyond what I have said. If they are out of bed longer than they should be, it will not be with the magistrate's sanction. Mr. Robinson said he would, with the magistrate's permission, take the licences for the elder children.

NEW PLAYS AT THE APOLLO.

The new programme presented by Mr. Otho Stuart at the Apollo on Tuesday pursued the path of pleasantness, and the audience was stimulated to enthusiasm by the promise and brightness of two plays, written by authors who for the first time were given the opportunity of wooing fortune as playwrights. The opening piece, by E. M. Bryant, entitled The Peacemaker, was played by the following cast :—

Elizabeth Lavendar ..MISS LILIAN BRAITHWAITE
Joyce Harford .....MISS INA PELLY
Doctor Burton .....MR. ALFRED BRYDONE
Richard Harford .....MR. ATHOL STEWART
Parsons .....MISS ELLA TARRANT

Elizabeth Lavendar, a romantic and attractive young spinster, cultivates a benevolent attitude towards the world in general and towards her own friends in particular. She is much concerned at the domestic differences that have separated the young couple Joyce and Dick Harford, after a short year of marriage. The bride of a year is now a soured and disappointed woman, and such a miserable ending to a union made with every prospect of happiness touches Elizabeth to the heart. She plans at her flat in Kensington a little dinner, to which she invites husband and wife unbeknown to each other, and arranges with an amiable doctor, a constant admirer, that, though he is to be one of the quartet, he will not really be allowed to dine, but when he has swallowed the soup he will be called out on urgent professional business by a note brought to him by the maid. Elizabeth herself is to be called away by well-assumed hysterics on the part of the cook, and the estranged couple left to themselves. The scheme "gangs" a little bit "agley." Parsons brings the note much too soon, and the cook's hysterics, at first pretended, become quite real. Joyce Harford sees through the trick, and exposes it to her husband. They become reunited, and after concocting an indignant letter to the well-meaning Elizabeth, go off to the Carlton and dine. The doctor returns, and finding that his devotion to her has touched Elizabeth's heart, he persuades her also to go to the Carlton. Miss Lilian Braithwaite has a part entirely to her liking, and as Elizabeth Lavendar she is sweetness and graciousness personified. Mr. Alfred Brydone plays the doctor with easy naturalness and professional bonhomie. Miss Ina Pelly expressively indicates the boredom suffered by Joyce Harford, depicting also with complete success the more amiable mood of that character. Mr. Athol Stewart is effective as Dick Harford; and Miss Ella Tarrant gives a touch of comedy to the rôle of Parsons. The Peacemaker is a decided acquisition to the attenuated list of good one-act comedies; and (Miss) Bryant is entitled to every encouragement.

The pièce de résistance of the bill was the play, in three acts, by John Valentine, entitled

"THE STRONGER SEX."

Hon. Warren Barrington ..MR. LEONARD BOYNE
Mary .....MISS NINA BOUCICAULT
Oliver Thorpe .....MR. PAUL ARTHUR
Robert Forsythe .....MR. REGINALD EYRE
Joan Forsythe .....MISS LILIAN BRAITHWAITE
Mrs. Van Garkerken ....MISS MARIE ILLINGTON
Mrs. Davenport .....MISS GERTRUDE SCOTT
Lady Frampton .....MISS ADA POTTER
Mrs. Prescott-Lane ....MISS KATHERINE MAUDE
Mrs. Rawley .....MISS META PELHAM
Joseph Jameson .....MR. PHILIP KNOX
James Josephs .....MR. GILBERT YORKE
William .....MR. HEATH J. HAVILAND
Jenkins .....MR. PERCY A. GOODYER

Mr. John Valentine has chosen as the theme of his play the power of a determined woman to subdue the brutal callousness of a man who has married her for her money, and who on the threshold of the honeymoon kisses her best girl friend, for whom he confesses a warm affection, in the hearing of his bride. Theorists would plan out the proper course for Mary, the Texan girl, to follow in the treatment of her English husband, the Hon. Warren Barrington, who bears a curious, but, of course, quite an accidental, resemblance to Geoffrey Delamayn in Wilkie Collins's story of "Man and Wife." But on the sierras of Western America they have a short way with ruffians, and Mary, whose heart is chilled by the knowledge that her love is thrown away on a waster, covers him with a revolver when he is about to strike her. This surprise comes at the end of the second act, in the course of which Warren is continually aggravated and humiliated by the patronising airs assumed by the moneyed Mary—a sound business woman who gets rid of a couple of moneylenders to whom he had given notes of hand that were to mature on his marriage with the rich heiress. Mary, nevertheless, thinks that Warren has grit, and by the aid of her cousin, Oliver Thorpe, she gets him an appointment with a company, herself guaranteeing a salary of £1,000. Employment will give him less time to indulge in the practice of throwing the furniture about, will give him a stimulus in life, and will take him from home. In the third act, which takes place at Mary's cottage at Cowes, the firearms incident has apparently been forgotten and forgiven. Warren has become so successful a business man that the company employing him have taken over his salary, and he is simply hungering for the love of the little woman who is such a strange mixture of meekness and strength. Of course, he gains it, but only after another threatened rupture. A side issue of the plot is the courtship of the candid American, Oliver Thorpe, and Miss Joan Forsythe, the bosom friend of Mary. Joan, after declaring that she would never accept him, makes him an offer through her rich guardian, Mrs. Van Garkerken, whose dearest wish is to see her protégée married to a man who dares to tell her (Mrs. Van) the truth. Her own method is to blurt out facts in the most unpleasant way possible; but, then, she is very rich, and can do that sort of thing with impunity.

The last-mentioned character is played with rare finesse and a genuine sense of character by Miss Marie Illington, who may be said to have succeeded Mrs. John Wood in this sort of part. She makes every speech tell, and her caustic utterances raise continual laughter. Miss Nina Boucicault as Mary realised admirably in the first act the timidity and unworldliness of the girl who does not quite appreciate her surroundings or her position. With a fine sense of restraint, the clever actress reaches the dramatic climax by delicate gradations of feeling. She lets us see that the outward calm, the icy coolness of demeanour covers a surging tempest of passion; and the threat of the revolver is not spoilt with any melodramatic excess. Mr. Leonard Boyne shows in the most artistic way possible the brutish nature of Warren Barrington. Such a type of Englishman is exceptional among the leisured classes, but he exists for all that. Would such a man be brought to reason by a threat with firearms? Why not?

Mr. Paul Arthur, as the cool, clear-headed American, has a perfect appreciation of a part that might have been written for him, and he scores most unmistakably by his quiet, unforced method of saying a really good thing. His scenes with Miss Marie Illington furnish the lighter element of the piece, and these are heartily appreciated. Miss Lilian Braithwaite succeeds in investing the complex character of Joan Forsythe with natural charm, and Joan's distress at the declaration of Warren at the end of the first act rings true. Miss Gertrude Scott, whom we have seen recently playing with rare dramatic force in The Virgin Goddess, has the part of a smart young lady of fashion at the wedding reception in the first act. She is beautifully gowned, acts with considerable distinction, and speaks her few lines with admirable clearness. Mr. Philip Knox and Mr. Gilbert Yorke are funny as the moneylenders.

THEATRICAL GOSSIP.

MR. TREE asks us to contradict the absurd statement which has been made, and has appeared in print, to the effect that he had intended to appear at a music hall and had been dissuaded from doing so by the Variety Artists' Federation. Mr. Tree, it is hardly necessary to say, had made no such arrangement. He also wishes it to be known that any action that has been taken by any member or members of his company in connection with Actors' Day has been quite uninfluenced by him. Mr. Tree is the last manager in London to interfere in any way with the independence of his company or to influence their opinions in a matter of this kind; and he has shown his sympathy with the movement by a liberal subscription.

MRS. R. D'OYLY CARTE, in the midst of the success of her Savoy revivals, has suffered sad bereavement in the death of the late Mr. D'Oyly Carte's elder son, Mr. Lucas D'Oyly Carte. Mrs. Carte was deeply attached to the two sons of Mr. Carte by his first marriage, and must feel the loss of her stepson very acutely.

MR. D'OYLY CARTE was educated at Winchester and Magdalen College, Oxford. He was called to the Bar, and acted as private secretary to the late Lord Russell of Killowen at the Venezuela Arbitration in Paris in 1899. Shortly after his return from Paris, Mr. Lucas D'Oyly Carte discovered that he was suffering from tuberculosis. At the Kelling Sanatorium, Holt, where he lived during the last few years, he occupied the position of a member of the executive committee, and gave his valuable assistance to an institution founded to provide for needy patients. Within a few weeks of his death Mr. Carte wrote a treatise on charitable sanatoria for consumptives.

MR. GEORGE ALEXANDER was on Tuesday formally adopted as a candidate for the County Council in the interests of municipal reform, and addressed a preliminary meeting of his supporters at South St. Pancras the following day. The popular actor-manager was enthusiastically received, and delivered his maiden speech, which traversed many subjects, with the utmost confidence, Mr. Alexander's references to the extravagant demands made upon theatre owners by the County Council were sympathetically received, and sounds of approbation also attended his announcement that he paid £1500 a year in rates.

MR. ALEXANDER is pursuing his campaign energetically, and has a public meeting on Feb. 11. "I might say that several distinguished authors have approached me with a view to writing me a particular scene for each of the meetings," said Mr. Alexander to an interviewer, "and as I am always accustomed to speaking other people's words, it might not have been a bad idea. But I'm sorry to say that the only person I should have sufficient confidence in to let him write my speeches for me would be Mr. George Bernard Shaw, and he's on the other side."

MISS ELLEN TERRY, despite the rough weather, made a highly pleasurable trip across the Atlantic, and arrived in New York on Sunday morning in the best of health. During the voyage Miss Terry presided at a concert, contributed chiefly by the members of her company, in aid of the Seamen's Orphans' Fund, thus enjoying a distinction that has not hitherto been conferred on a lady. The popular actress has made the interesting announcement that, during her stay in America, she intends to devote some time to lecturing in different parts of the country.

THE features which struck everyone at the private view of the Playhouse on Friday afternoon were: the double-curved, gilt-pilastered balconies; the two lanterns on spear-shafts at each side of the private boxes; the spacious, comfortable stalls, covering the whole of the ground floor; and the pretty act-drop, representing, in a broad frame, a party of ladies being ushered to a sedan-chair, outside an old English mansion, by footmen with torches. The Playhouse is one of the most comfortable theatres in London.

MR. ARTHUR BOURCHIER has determined that whenever a new play is necessary at the Garrick Theatre he will produce a comedy in four acts, written by Miss Gladys Unger, with Richard Brinsley Sheridan as its hero. The play was given successful trial trips by Mr. Charles Frohman in Boston, and by Mr. Bourchier at Brighton three years ago, and since then has been subjected to some needed revision. Meanwhile, The Morals of Marcus is being so extensively patronised as to render the date of production of Miss Unger's play very uncertain. Mr. Bourchier is sending out a carefully-selected company into the provinces with The Morals of Marcus, under the direction of Mr. M. V. Leveaux, the tour opening on Monday, Feb. 11, at Edinburgh.

"MR. SHERIDAN" was tried at the Theatre Royal, Brighton, on August 29, 1904, with Mr. Jerrold Robertshaw as the brilliant dramatist, who pervades the play with characteristic activity, making love to the heroine, accepting a challenge to a duel to shield his son, evading sheriffs' officers sent to arrest him, and finally winning the lady and a draft for £15,000.

MR. MARTIN HARVEY, Miss N. De Silva, and their company have commenced a spring tour at Devonshire Park Theatre, Eastbourne, in the presence of a very large and distinguished audience, which included most of the notabilities at present staying in the South Coast resort. On the final fall of the curtain on The Only Way, there was a demonstration of warm enthusiasm. On Thursday, Mr. Harvey and his fellow artists appeared at the New Theatre, Oxford, the house having been sold out several days before.

A PROJECT is on foot for the raising of a memorial to the late distinguished authoress, Mrs. Craigie (John Oliver Hobbes). It is proposed that, in the event of sufficient funds being collected, the memorial should take the form of a portrait plaque, in marble or bronze, to be placed in University College, London (where Mrs. Craigie studied); a replica of the plaque, to be placed in a suitable position in the United States; a scholarship, for the study of modern English literature, to be given annually in England; and a similar scholarship, to be given annually in the United States.

AN influential committee has been formed, including His Excellency, the American Ambassador, Mr. George Alexander, Mr. Max Beerbohm, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bourchier, Mrs. W. K. Clifford, Mr. W. L. Courtney, Mr. Anthony Hope Hawkins, Miss Mary Moore, Mr. and Mrs. T. P. O'Connor, Miss Ellen Terry, Miss Jessie Bateman, Mrs. Humphry Ward, and Sir Charles Wyndham, together with many members of the aristocracy and prominent representatives of art and literature.

MR. BEERBOHM TREE has generously complied with a request of the West India Committee, made through Mr. Arthur A'Beckett, to lend His Majesty's for a special matinée in aid of the sufferers by the recent earthquake. The matinée will be arranged to take place some time in February. Among the first to offer support to Mr. Tree in his commendable undertaking were Mr. George Alexander, Mr. Frederick Harrison, Mr. Cyril Maude, Mr. Arthur Bourchier, Mr. Seymour Hicks, and Miss Ellaline Terriss.

"HIS HOUSE IN ORDER" celebrates on Feb. 1 at once its anniversary and its fourth century, which means that during its twelve-months' occupancy of the St. James's at least a hundred matinées of Mr. Pinero's great play have been given. In all probability the run of the piece will last till Easter, but when the time for its withdrawal arrives its successor will be found in a new play by Mr. Alfred Sutro, to which the title of John Gladye's Honour has been given. Mr. George Alexander will impersonate the title-rôle, and the cast will also include Mr. Matheson Lang, Mr. Norman Forbes, Mr. Michael Sherbrooke, Mr. Vivian Reynolds, Miss Eva Moore, Miss Helen Ferrers, Miss Henrietta Watson, Miss Gwendolyn Floyd, and Miss May Martyn.

THE triumphal progress of His House in Order is meanwhile to be extended in the provinces, Mr. Alexander having arranged to send out two companies in the spring, the first starting on Feb. 4, with that very promising young actress Miss Dorothy Grimston as Nina, and Mr. Stephen Ewart as Hilary Jesson. The second tour begins on Feb. 11, Miss Auriol Lee and Mr. Frank Fenton being entrusted with the chief parts.

MR. JOHN HARE enters immediately upon the rehearsals of Madeleine Lucette Ryley's adaptation of La Belle Marseillaise, in which he is to create another Napoleon at the Duke of York's. The original was produced at the Paris Ambigu, in the March of 1904, and deals with a plot to compass the death of the First Consul by means of an "infernal machine." The conspirators in this fell design are the keepers of a Parisian café and his wife, whose beauty has won her the title of "La Belle Marseillaise." There are, in addition to this exciting episode, a number of thrilling incidents, which serve to provide a bountiful evening's amusement. The title-part will be played by Miss Irene Vanbrugh, who thus renews an association with Mr. Hare which was last notable in The Gay Lord Quex, and Mr. Henry Ainley will also have an important part.

MR. AND MRS. KENDAL'S spring tour will begin at Croydon on Feb. 4, and extend to several provincial centres. A feature of the tour of the popular artists will be the production of a new three-act play, entitled The Melcombe Marriage, by Winifred E. Dolan, which will be staged during the second week at Brighton.

MRS. D'OYLY CARTE acknowledges, in feeling terms, the appreciation shown by the public for her efforts to serve them by the production of the present revivals. "With a practical experience of the public sentiment and feeling for the operas extending without a break over nearly thirty years," writes Mrs. Carte, "it has been a great gratification to me to find that at no period since the production has the approval of the public been shown more strongly than during the present revival.

"The numbers present at the performances have greatly exceeded those at the previous revival; and I am especially glad to see that it is in the cheaper parts of the house that the largest increase is shown. On Saturday last the gallery stairs were full of playgoers for the evening performance before those attending the morning performance had left their seats. While my health cannot, I fear, allow me to continue my labours for an indefinite period, it will always be my brightest reward to feel that, in a time of stress and difficulty, the kind public gave me a support which has greatly touched me, and has strengthened me to continue for a little while longer in their service."

MR. WILLIAM JOHN LOCKE, who is adapting his novel, "The Beloved Vagabond" into a play for Mr. Arthur Bourchier, is the Secretary of the Royal Institute of British Architects. His works include "At the Gate of Samaria," "The Demagogue and Lady Phayre," "A Study in Shadows," "Derelicts," "Idols," "The White Dove," "The Usurper," and "Where Love Is." He is the author of Mr. Cynic, played at the Royalty in 1899, and The Lost Legion, which was produced at the Great Queen-street Theatre in 1900.

MUCH satisfaction is expressed in all circles in Berlin at the forthcoming visit of Mr. Tree and his company, the performance of Anthony and Cleopatra is being particularly looked forward to. It is a pity, writes our Berlin correspondent, that the Royal Schauspielhaus is not available for the undertaking, that theatre being so very much more suitable than the New Royal Opera (Knolls). The statutes of the Schauspielhaus, however, prohibit the performances of any foreign company.

MR. MCLEOD LOADER, the manager of the St. Helens Theatre Royal and Opera House, took his sixth annual benefit on the 17th inst., and was enthusiastically supported both morning and evening. Miss Florence Baines, of Miss Lancashire, Limited, had travelled specially from Blackburn to take part in the matinée performance, and had a cordial reception. She sang a humorous song, "Dinner down town," which was much enjoyed, and in response to hearty encores gave her laughing song in Lancashire dialect, and a recital of "The Rolling Stone." Miss Ray Wallace was also recalled for her imitations of leading variety artists.

IN the evening the St. Helens Glee Club, under the conductorship of Dr. Siddall, gave a good rendering of the glees, "Breathe soft, ye winds" and "The Hungarian March." Harry Taylor, a quaint comedian, and the Silver-tone Quartette appeared successfully. Mr. Loader, who was also heartily applauded for his recital of "Coming home," expressed his thanks to the directors for giving him the benefit, to his staff, who had evidently worked hard to dispose of the tickets, and to the ladies and gentlemen who had given their services. During the evening the members of the company presented Mr. Loader with an ebony walking-stick with ivory handle, silver-mounted, bearing the inscription: "Presented to Mr. McLeod Loader, as a mark of respect, from a few artists at St. Helens Theatre, 17th January, 1907."

THE Moody-Manners Opera Company will meet a long-felt want by the production shortly of Madame Butterfly in English, the company having just completed arrangements with Ricordi, of Milan, to perform that opera, as well as La Boheme. It is hoped to produce both works at the Sheffield Festival operatic week, beginning April 22, and to give them in London during the Lyric season, directly the Covent Garden season finishes. All new scenery and costumes are now being prepared for Madame Butterfly, which should achieve the same success in Great Britain as it has just had in New York, where it reached a run of fifty consecutive performances.

MR. LEONARD RAYNE, the well-known South African manager, has been invited to join the committee of the South African Products Exhibition, to be opened in London in about a month's time. Agreeable with the interest he takes in all things appertaining to South Africa, Mr. Rayne has consented to accept the position, thus valuably strengthening the operations of the executive.

THE Duke of Orleans and suite were present at the performance of Tristan und Isolde, at the Royal Opera, Covent Garden, on Saturday night.

IN the absence of Miss Lily Harold, on the afternoon of the 17th inst., the part of Robin Hood in the pantomime at Terry's Theatre was played by Miss Margaret Eastland.

MR. H. B. IRVING has expressed himself more than pleased with his experiment, as he describes it, of his visit to America, and declares in grateful terms that everywhere he has been received with the greatest kindness. The clever young actor confided to a Pittsburg interviewer his views on a National Theatre. "England and America," said Mr. Irving, "have neither of them any permanent abode for the best productions. I think perhaps there is more likelihood of something of that kind coming to pass here than in England. You have so much wealth here that may be attracted to some such beneficent purpose that it seems more likely to be brought about here. In England we should have to approach it through the municipal ownership plan, I suppose."

MR. CHARLES MANNERS gave fresh proof of his enthusiasm for the propagation of the art of music at the general meeting of the Dublin Orchestral Society, held at the Royal Irish Academy of Music on the 18th inst., when the report included an expression of thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Manners for their donation of £50. In the course of a speech, Mr. Manners gave a few friendly hints which should prove invaluable, coming as they did from an entrepreneur of such wide experience. He suggested that the Society should afford the public an opportunity of indicating by ballot what they would like to hear played. He thought the item in the balance-sheet of £24 14s. 7d. for the purchase, hire, and carriage of music was too high. He had the overtures of some forty Grand Operas, and if they wrote to Charles Manners he was certain he would lend them to the Society for nothing at all on their paying the carriage to and from the stores.

THE following evening witnessed the conclusion of Mr. Manners' season at the Theatre Royal, Dublin, and in response to the repeated calls of a crowded house, Mr. Manners came forward and said they would be glad to know that this season was the best they had had so far as the attendances were concerned. What they did they did without subsidy of any form or kind whatever, whereas companies in France, Germany, and Italy enjoyed subsidies ranging from £5,000 to £30,000, £40,000 and £50,000 a year. Yet they had, perhaps, the best of all subsidies in their approval, support, and patronage, for without such patronage subsidies could not greatly improve opera, and they hoped for a continuance of that support. Mr. Manners was glad to hear of the success of Dublin Operatic Societies, especially as such work as they did was being taken up so keenly in English towns. They were assisted by similar societies in Glasgow and Newcastle and Sheffield, where they gave an opera festival week, and Liverpool. They hoped the Dublin society would help them. When they came to do the works themselves he would lend one, two, or three principals for their performances, and also the books, piano and vocal score, and stage management.

THE provincial success of Peter's Mother continues uninterruptedly. In the third week of its tour all the "Hutchison" records have been broken at Bournemouth by over £100, in spite of the fact that during the last twenty years of their management some remarkably strong plays have been presented by them in the town. The advance booking alone for Peter's Mother after the Monday's performance exceeded £190.

MISS MABEL LOVE will start a tour with Peter's Mother at the larger suburban theatres and provincial cities on Feb. 4 at the Coronet Theatre under the above management. A flying matinée with the piece to Richmond has also been arranged. For the first week Miss Love will be supported by Mr. Hutchison, and afterwards Mr. Templar Powell will take up the part. Mr. Hutchison will then continue playing Peter in the North company till the end of the present tour in May.

THE foyer of the Prince's Theatre, Bristol, has just received an added adornment in the shape of a handsome copy of the portrait of Mrs. Siddons, which is hanging in the National Gallery. It has been presented to Mr. J. M. Chute, the proprietor and manager of the theatre, in connection with his generostiy to the St. Augustine's Schools last July, when he gave a successful matinée on their behalf. Attached to the frame is a presentation plate, signed by the managers of the school, and bearing the inscription:—"Presented to James Macready Chute, Esq., in warmest recognition of his kind and ready help to the St. Augustine's Schools Committee."

"THE CONDOTTIERI," by Rudolf Herzog, continues to be a leading attraction at the principal theatres on the Continent. The Emperor and the Imperial family were present at the anniversary performance in Berlin, and the Emperor warmly congratulated the management, comparing Herzog's Renaissance play to Shakespeare. We hear that there is every possibility of an English version of this play being shortly put on at a leading West-end theatre.

ONE of the most successful of suburban London's pantomimes this year is Mr. Louis Calvert's production of the ever-popular story of Cinderella. Mr. Calvert announces for next week a second edition, into which several new features will be introduced. The Broadway Theatre has deservedly earned the reputation for successful pantomimes, and this year's annual has established a record. Owing to the excellent business, Mr. Calvert has decided to run the pantomime an extra week.

THE Playgoers' Club have up to the present entertained over 8,000 poor children at this season's pantomimes. To-day a further contingent of 2,500 will go to the Grand Theatre, Islington, and by the courtesy of Mr. J. B. Mulholland, 500 children will be taken to Cinderella at the King's Theatre, Hammersmith. Mr. J. Bannister Howard has invited 2,000 to the Crystal Palace for the following Saturday.

AT the Hotel Cecil on Sunday evening Mr. Joseph Litt will read a paper, under the auspices of the Playgoers' Club, entitled "A Defence of Musical Comedy." Mr. Louis Bradfield will take the chair, and several well-known artists have promised to give musical illustrations.

MISS ELEANOR GILBART has been engaged by Mr. Bourchier to play Antoinette in The Morals of Marcus on tour.

PROVINCIAL playgoers will be delighted to learn that the serious indisposition which compelled Miss Mary Neil to abandon her spring tour of Her Luck in London has happily passed away. Miss Neil is now quite restored to health, and is looking forward with pleasure to visiting very shortly all the principal dramatic houses of the United Kingdom, where, no doubt, a big welcome awaits her. An enthusiast in the art she loves, her enforced rest has made her even more eager to resume work and win fresh laurels.

TERRY'S THEATRE, where the pantomime of Red Riding Hood came to an end last week, will be re-opened early next month by Mr. W. H. C. Nation with a new version by Mr. H. Chance Newton of MM. Barrière and Capendu's farce, L'Héritage de M. Plumet. An adaptation of the same piece by Mr. James Mortimer, it may be mentioned, was produced at the Criterion in April, 1887, with the late Mr. George Barrett and Mr. William Herbert, Mr. Brandon Thomas, Mr. Julian Cross, Mr. Compton Coutts, Mr. Ben Greet, Miss Helen Leyton, Mrs. C. L. Carson, and Miss Lydia Cowell in the cast.

THE Irving Memorial Committee held a meeting on the 18th inst., when the Chairman, Mr. Cecil Raleigh, was supported by Messrs. Geo. P. Bancroft, Acton Bond, Lewis Casson, Norman Forbes, John Hare, Martin Harvey, Alfred Kendrick, Cyril Maude, A. W. Pinero, Edward Terry, and Chas. Cruikshanks (secretary). Several matters of interest were discussed, and the first list of subscriptions, as published in our columns, was referred to. The next meeting of this committee was fixed for Friday, Feb. 8, at 11.30.

THE weekly meeting of the Council of the Actors' Association was held on Tuesday. Mr. C. Aubrey Smith (chairman), Mr. A. E. Drinkwater (deputy-chairman), Mr. Henry W. Mote (hon. solicitor), Miss Beatrice Lamb; Messrs. Cecil Barth, J. Cooke Beresford, Clarence Blakiston, Acton Bond, Burton Cooke, Thalberg Corbett, F. Cremlin, William Devereux, Walter Russell, Brandon Thomas, Spencer Trevor, and Charles Cruikshanks (secretary) were present.

THE Hon. Solicitors reported they had advised members on points submitted. Miss Phyllis Relph was elected a Commissioner in place of Miss Mary Relph. Misses Juana Jerome, Belle Donaldson, Kathleen Doyle; Messrs. Richard C. Hicks, Maurice Mancini, Dennis Eadie, Mark Lester, Wm. J. Butler; Misses Violet R. E. Paget, Hilda Moore; Mr. Hugh C. Buckler; Miss Constance Collier; Messrs. Julian L'Estrange, Frank Collins, Arthur Applin; Misses Sybil Bourchier, and Olivia Glynne were nominated for election, and a former member was reinstated. Dr. Owen W. Morgan, of Newport, Mon., was elected hon. medical officer in succession to Dr. T. G. Macormack, deceased.

THE Secretary reported that a member had received settlement of his claim under a fire policy through the instrumentality of the Association. The report of the Finance and General Purposes Committee was received. The Deputy-Chairman reported the result of the first "Social" meeting held on the 18th inst., and stated that the next meeting would be held on the 1st prox., when Mr. Granville Barker would deliver an address on "The Evils of the Touring System," with Mr. Cecil Raleigh in the chair.

THE Finance and General Purposes Committee held a meeting on Monday last, when there were present:—Mr. Acton Bond (Chairman), and Messrs. J. Cooke Beresford, A. E. Drinkwater, Alfred Kendrick, C. Aubrey Smith, Miss Kate Phillips, and Chas. Cruikshanks (secretary). The committee were engaged in preparing the report for the year 1906 to be submitted to the Council for their approval. The same committee held another meeting on Tuesday, when Mr. Acton Bond (Chairman) was supported by Messrs. J. Cooke Beresford, A. E. Drinkwater, C. Aubrey Smith, and Chas. Cruikshanks (secretary). Several matters of detail were discussed, and the secretary received instructions.

THE Subscription Committee held a meeting on Tuesday last, when there were present:—Mr. C. Aubrey Smith (Chairman), Messrs. Cecil Barth, J. Cooke Beresford, Burton Cooke, Thalberg Corbett, and Chas. Cruikshanks (secretary). Questions connected with the amount of subscription and methods of payment were considered, and further discussion on the points suggested was deferred. The secretary received instructions to prepare, in the meantime, certain information for the use of the committee.

A MAGNIFICENT oil portrait of the great actor, John Kemble, has been presented by the Earl of Yarborough to the Corporation of the City of London, who have accepted it with thanks. The interesting picture will be placed in the Guildhall.

MISS BESSIE BUTT, who was recently laid up with a sharp attack of the prevailing epidemic, is now back at work and scoring nightly as Cinderella at the Alexandra Theatre, Birmingham.

AT a Charity Concert last week at Steinway Hall, given under the auspices of Mr. George Peachey, two pupils of Madame Kate Flinn greatly distinguished themselves, and did their teacher much credit. Miss Barbara Battishill, a beautiful mezzo-soprano, sang Chaminade's difficult songs, "Viens mon bien aimé," and "L'Amour Captif," in cultivated style; and Miss Ruby Cobbett, a very fine contralto, of whom we have spoken before, sang "My gentle child" (Teresa del Riego) and songs of Mallison, with great effect. Both ladies have a future before them, and owe much to Madame Flinn's training.

MISS ROSE LEMOINE, while performing at Manchester in Peter Pan recently, met with a serious accident, falling upon the stage in the second act and seriously injuring her knee. The unfortunate lady is for the time being forced to use crutches.

"GREETINGS FROM AFAR" are sent to us by Mr. Claude King, who is at this moment achieving renown in India by his finished performance of Hilary Jesson in His House in Order, presented by the Bandmann company. Referring to the production of Mr. Pinero's play in Calcutta, Mr. King writes:—"This very wonderful play has 'held 'em' here as no other of our repertoire has done before, and we have played some good ones, too; but the truth and humanity of it all has seemed to appeal enormously to them, with the result that the theatre was packed for our second performance of it, and the audience seemed to awake from its usual semi-comatose condition—climatic, no doubt—and came dangerously near to enthusiasm."

MR. FRANK ROTHSAY, who has been acting-manager of the Stratford Borough Theatre since its opening in 1896, is to be accorded on Thursday a complimentary benefit matinée by the kindness of Mrs. C. Ellis Fredericks, the proprietress of the Stratford Theatres. All connected with the theatre and the pantomime company Robinson Crusoe have volunteered their services, and Mr. Rothsay will also have the assistance of several prominent professional friends now in London.

MR. AND MRS. GODFREY TEARLE, having acquired the entire wardrobe, scenery, and effects of Mr. Esmonde Bramley's Shakespearean company, by arrangement with Mr. Whitford Kane, will on Easter Monday next launch into management. Mr. Tearle's father, the late Mr. Osmond Tearle, it will be remembered, toured a Shakespearean répertoire company in the British provinces for upwards of twenty-five years, and it was in his company that Mr. Godfrey Tearle made his début, later appearances being made in Mr. Beerbohm Tree's company. Mrs. Tearle is no stranger to the works of Shakespeare, having played Rosalind and other parts of his creation just four years ago. The company will include several members of the late Mr. Osmond Tearle's company, who were with him upwards of fifteen years. Mr. Haldane Crichton will be the general-manager.

T.R.H. the Prince and Princess of Wales have given their patronage to the Summer Fair and Spanish Market, to be held on June 12, 13, and 14 next, under the presidency of H.R.H. the Princess Henry of Battenberg at the Prince's Skating Club, Knightsbridge, in aid of the Belgrave Hospital for Children.

SIR SQUIRE BANCROFT is among the recently-issued list of subscribers to King Edward's Hospital Fund for London. The contribution of the eminent actor-knight is £50, and is an annual subscription.

INFLUENTIAL support has been secured for a fund which is being raised on behalf of the two young daughters, aged seventeen and eighteen, of the late Frank Celli, the once popular actor-vocalist, who died in Charing Cross Hospital two years ago, leaving them totally unprovided for. Having finished their education, the young ladies have now to start earning their own living, and as they possess considerable dramatic talent, they contemplate taking up the stage as a profession.

THE council of the Academy of Dramatic Art, 62, Gower-street, which comprises Sir Squire Bancroft (president), Mr. John Hare, Mr. Tree, Mr. George Alexander, Mr. Forbes Robertson, Mr. Cyril Maude, Mr. Arthur Bourchier, Mr. A. W. Pinero, and Mr. J. M. Barrie, have taken a keen interest in the matter, and have kindly consented to give them both a year's training at special terms. It is accordingly hoped to raise a sufficient sum to enable the Misses Celli to accept this generous offer and to maintain them during their studies. Mr. F. H. Pedgrift, of The Era, has kindly accepted the position of hon. treasurer, and contributions may also be sent to Mr. S. Sherrington Chinn, 1, Albemarle-stret, W.; Mr. C. T. H. Helmsley, the St. James's Theatre; Mr. Lawrence Kellie, 191, Portsdown-road, Maida Vale, W.; and Mr. M. V. Leveaux, the Garrick Theatre.

MR. CHAS. CAFFREY, who recently concluded a very successful engagement as the Caddy in Chas. Macdona's principal Three Little Maids company, has been secured by Mr. Seymour Hicks for his new production, My Darling, at the Hicks Theatre in March.

MR. HARRY KILBURN, whose representation of Hans Wagner in Baron Harriss' No. 1 Prince of Pilsen company is one of his finest achievements, first saw the light of day on the Wearside, and as a boy was principal alto in St. Mark's Church, Sunderland, in the famous Grammar School of which town (notable as being the scene of the late Sir Henry Irving's first appearance on the stage), Mr. Kilburn received his early education. After the usual probationary period of concerts and amateur acting, the age of eighteen found him a slim, fair-haired youth, panting to play Romeos and Claude Melnottes. Fate, however, willed it otherwise, his instantaneous success in a comic song at a concert-hall in Hull one evening stamped him as a comedian of the first water, and as such he has elected to remain. Mr. Kilburn, whose wife is one of the charming Sisters Grosvenor, resides in one of those old-world many-gabled mansions in the artistic colony of Bedford Park, and is keenly interested in all matters appertaining to scientific research.

BARON HARRISS is to be congratulated upon the ready response provincial managers have made to the excellence of his Prince of Pilsen company. Offers of dates are pouring in upon him so fast that he finds it necessary to duplicate the company for the autumn. The other company in course of organisation will be in every essential on a par with the present one. For the part of the Gibson Girl a young lady of remarkable grace of movement has already been engaged from Buda Pesth, and negotiations are pending with a well-known tenor whose efforts hitherto have been confined to the concert platform to assume the title-rôle.

THE wedding of Mr. Neil Forsyth, M.V.O., the popular manager of the Royal Opera, Covent Garden, and Miss Mary Cathcart, of Edinburgh, is fixed for March 16. The marriage will be celebrated at Inveresk, Scotland.

MR. TREE'S production of Antony and Cleopatra was the subject of a debate at the Playgoers' Club on Monday evening, Mr. Douglas Crichton reading the originating paper. Mr. Harry Hart occupied the chair, and among those who took part in the discussion were Messrs. Osman Edwards, Fritz Zorn, Hubert Greenwell, Hole, Barclay, and Raunheim. Unanimity practically prevailed as regards the beauty of, and the lavish care which had been bestowed upon, the production at His Majesty's, but there was considerable divergence of opinion as to the acting.

MR. BANNISTER HOWARD is making arrangements for some leading attractions to follow the pantomime at the Crystal Palace Theatre. On Feb. 4 Bluebell in Fairyland will be presented; Tommy, the new play by Mr. Jerome K. Jerome, in which Miss Annie Hughes has made such a success, will arrive on Feb. 11; The Freedom of Suzanne is underlined for Feb. 18; and on Feb. 25 A Night Out will be played.

THE old Avenue, which Mr. Cyril Maude has transformed into a handsome theatre, under the name of The Playhouse, was first opened to the public on March 11, 1882, with a revival of the English version of Offenbach's comic opera, Madame Favart, Miss Florence St. John, the late Fred Leslie, and the late C. D. Marius being included in the cast. Many well-known actors have appeared there, the most notable of earlier years being the late John S. Clarke and Mr. Arthur Roberts. It was at the Avenue, it will be recalled, that Mr. George Alexander began his managerial career with Dr. Bill, produced on Feb. 1, 1890. The Avenue, too, witnessed the production of Mr. Bernard Shaw's first play, Arms and the Man, produced in April, 1894; while at least one distinct success of later times was found in A Message from Mars, which had a long run, and still forms a great attraction in the provinces.

MR. OTHO STUART is desirous of correcting the impression that seems to prevail that the author of The Stronger Sex is a lady and an American. "Mr. Valentine," he writes, "is an Englishman, and has resided in America a few years only."

A USEFUL method of indicating available seats has been invented by the Savoy management, who now publish a box-plan of the first circle, balcony stalls, and stalls, together with an enumeration of the vacant seats for the two following performances. Places may be booked by letter, telegram, or telephone, and by means of the published chart the possibility of obtaining immediate accommodation is revealed.

MR. J. F. ELLISTON'S great popularity was further exemplified on Wednesday, when he took his 27th annual benefit at the Bolton Theatre Royal. He was inundated with congratulatory telegrams, he received numerous offers of special service by artists of note, and the public crowded the theatre in every part, particularly at the evening performance, when money had to be refused at the doors. The popular pantomime, Mother Goose, was received with considerable enthusiasm. Mr. Elliston made an eloquent speech, and telegrams of congratulation were received from Mr. Tree, Mr. Lewis Waller, Mr. George Alexander, Mr. Seymour Hicks, Miss Julia Neilson and Mr. Fred Terry, and the Marchioness of Headfort, Mr. Arthur Collins (of Drury Lane), the Zancigs, Mr. Oswald Stoll, Miss Marie Lloyd and Mr. Alec Hurley, Mr. Arthur Bourchier, Mr. George Edwardes, Mr. Cyril Maude, and Miss Edna May.

THE season of grand opera at Covent Garden will begin on April 30. During the first fortnight Dr. Richter will direct two cycles of Der Ring des Nibelungen, for which several prominent German vocalists have already been engaged. Mme. Melba and Signor Caruso will again be the leading attractions. The German operas will be conducted by Dr. Richter, Signor Cleofonte Campanini will direct the Italian works, and M. André Messager will be responsible for the French compositions.

ITEMS OF INTEREST.

MR. GEORGE ALEXANDER has been canvassing South St. Pancras quietly but steadily, and has been winning the hearts of the voters of both sexes in that district by hundreds. Now and then he has met with an objection on the part of some of those old-fashioned people who cannot understand how an actor can be a good citizen; and anecdotes of the ben trovato order are in circulation in connection with this prejudice. At one house where he called, he found the "interior" of an almost impossible primness and hard accuracy of arrangement; and the proprietress, an elderly lady with spectacles, told him that she had never been in a theatre since she was a girl, and the only thing she thought she knew about actors was that they were a careless, untidy lot. "I must confess, sir," she continued, "that you don't look at all like that; and my nephew, who is always in the pit on first nights, told me something the other day that accounts for it. So I am going to give you my vote." "May I ask," said Mr. Alexander, "what was your nephew's remark?" "He said you had had your house in order for over a year, and full of people, too, all the time. That was enough for me."

APROPOS of our paragraph about dumb-show conversations on the stage, we are reminded of a bon mot of Mr. Beerbohm Tree's, when on the boards. It was during the performance of a special matinée of Hamlet, at the time when the first news had been given to the Press that he was intending to bring out a new play upon the subject of Nero. The speech in the third act of Hamlet, commencing "'Tis now the very witching hour of night," contains these lines:—

"O heart, lose not thy nature; let not ever
The soul of Nero enter this firm bosom."

When Mr. Tree came to these words, he promptly introduced a line of his own, as an aside, for the benefit of one of the company who was standing at the wings. The line was—

"Excepting when I play the part myself."

ONE of Mrs. Tree's most humorous remarks concerned a lady "with a past," or, to be more accurate, with several pasts. She had recently married a second time. Her name coming up in the course of conversation, someone asked who her first husband had been, and finished by saying, "I can't remember for the life of me. I know it began with an L." It was taken up by Mrs. Tree in a moment. "I should think it was—Legion!"

APROPOS of the proposals for an Actors' Union, we may refer to something of the sort which is mentioned by Colley Cibber in his "Apology." The Patentees of Drury Lane Theatre reduced the salaries of the company on the principle that "the surer way was to bring down their Pay in proportion to the Fall of their Audiences." Betterton opposed this, and "drew into his Party most of the valuable Actors who, to secure their Unity, enter'd with him into a sort of Association. All this the Patentees for a time slighted; but when matters drew towards a Crisis, they found it adviseable to take the same Measures, and accordingly open'd an Association on their part." This "dissention," says Cibber, was so bad for business that "before Xmas the Patent had lost the getting of a thousand Pounds by it." Betterton and his party eventually opened a new theatre in Lincoln's Inn Fields, and produced Love for Love with great success.

THE revival of The Gondoliers at the Savoy, with its marvellously well-trained chorus, reminds us that Mr. W. S. Gilbert was the originator of the movable, as opposed to the inanimate, chorister. His first experiment in this direction was made in connection with the production of his and Arthur Sullivan's Thespis, at the Gaiety Theatre, in the December of 1871. Previous to this, the idea that the chorus was anything more than a stage audience was a tremendous novelty. Nor was it only the choristers who objected to being placed and directed. On one occasion a principal lady became quite indignant, and said, "Really, Mr. Gilbert, why should I stand here? I am not a chorus-girl!" To which Gilbert replied curtly, "No, madam, your voice is not strong enough, or no doubt you would be." There were in Thespis all the germs of an opera like The Gondoliers, from Mr. Gilbert's song about "I once knew a chap who sustained a function, On the North South-Eastern Middlesex Junction," to Sullivan's exquisite setting of "Little Maid of Arcadee."

AFTER H.M.S. Pinafore had crossed the Atlantic, Sullivan became famous in the most remote parts of the United States. He used to tell of an adventure in the West which proved his popularity. "I was travelling," said he, "on a stage in rather a wild part of California, and arrived at a mining camp, where we had to get down for refreshments. As we drove up, the driver said, 'They are expecting you here, Mr. Sullivan.' I was much pleased, and when I reached the place I came across a knot of prominent citizens at the whisky store. The foremost of them came up to a big, burly man by my side, and said, 'Are you Mr. Sullivan?' The man said, 'No,' and pointed to me. The citizen looked at me rather contemptuously, and, after a while, said, 'Why, how much do you weigh?' I thought this was a curious method of testing the power of a composer, but I at once answered, 'About one hundred and sixty-two pounds.' 'Well,' said the man, 'that's odd to me, anyhow. Do you mean to say that you gave fits (he used a stronger word) to John S. Blackmore down in Kansas City?' I said, 'No, I did not give him fits.' He then said, 'Well, who are you?' I replied, 'My name is Sullivan.' 'Ain't you John L. Sullivan, the slogger?' I disclaimed all title to that, and told him I was Arthur Sullivan. 'Oh, Arthur Sullivan!' he said. 'Are you the man as put Pinafore together?'—rather a gratifying way of describing my composition. I said 'Yes.' 'Well,' returned the citizen, 'I am sorry you ain't John Sullivan, but still, I am glad to see you, anyway—let's have a drink.'"

MR. EDWYN BEVAN has been writing to the Times contending that the scenery and dresses of Antony and Cleopatra at His Majesty's are "radically false" to history, Mr. Tree having thought it advisable to eliminate Greek feeling from the mounting. "It would be presumed," says Mr. Percy Macquoid in the Daily News, "that Mr. Bevan knows the state of confusion and demoralisation that existed at the Alexandrian Court between the reign of Ptolemy VI. and Ptolemy XIII." There still live persons ignorant of the state of morals of that period, which doubtless anticipated that of the Regency. As for Mr. Macquoid's following contention that "the incidental accidents of marriage materially affected the personal appearance of the later Ptolemies," we can only imagine that if Cleopatra's handling of the Messenger, as Miss Collier plays the scene, be a correct representation of the manners of the time, there can be no possible doubt whatever on the point. The "personal appearance" of a consort of a lady of the Cleopatra type must have frequently been "modified" in little domestic disputes—to say nothing of occasional "bloody teeth" (Antony and Cleopatra, Act. I, Scene 5).

THE man who does not belong to the dramatic profession and is continually pestering the unfortunate manager for free admissions, occasionally perpetrates a "howler" worthy of a Board School boy. When a certain Madame Favart company was on tour at a town in the provinces, one of these gentlemen asked for two stalls. As business was big and his claims inadmissible, he met with a polite refusal. "It doesn't matter," he said airily; "I'll go round to the Royal Hotel and get them from 'Madame Favart' herself; I know her intimately!"

CECIL RALEIGH AND A TRADES UNION.

SOCIAL GATHERING.

In arranging a series of "social afternoons," the Council of the Actors' Association have hit upon a happy idea. The innovation was inaugurated on Friday afternoon last week, when Mr. A. E. Drinkwater presided over a crowded meeting of members of the profession, and Mr. Cecil Raleigh delivered an altogether admirable address on the subject of a trade union for actors.

After asking the question as to whether the craft with which actors and actresses were associated with was really a profession or a calling, or whether it could merely be called an industry, Mr. Raleigh proceeded:—"You know that it is a very common thing for a theatre to take as much as £400 or £500 in a week. The two hundred and fifty theatres of England must take on an average £200 a week each, or else they would cease to exist. This means £50,000 per week. If you take a working year of forty weeks, this would mean that exactly two millions per year is spent by the public upon theatrical amusement. Now, two millions per year represents 5 per cent. on a capital of twenty millions. The figures are probably far higher, but it is very easy to see that, on a very modest computation, you are the workers in a business that represents twenty millions of invested capital.

"Now, I put it to you bluntly, do you get a fair wage for your labour? Do you get a fair share of the vast sums that change hands over your head? Are you satisfied? Are things going from bad to worse, and if you are going to let them go from bad to worse, think of what your position will shortly be? Count the cost.

"Wherever cheap labour is abundant the price of labour must sink. Whenever six people want one job the standard of wages must go down. You have in the provinces frequently to compete with the paying amateur or the amateur who will work without being paid. These people are the blacklegs of our calling. Their competition is a genuine grievance against which you have every right to protest. But at present you cannot protect yourselves against this competition. How is it to be done?

"I may horrify a good many people by the proposition I am going to put forward, but with all humility I put it forward just the same. To-day you say nobody shall belong to the Actors' Association until he or she has been a certain length of time upon the stage. I say that no man or woman should be allowed to go upon the stage until he is first a member of the Actors' Association. I would apply to our calling the strict trades union rule. You would exclude the undesirable and bar the paying amateur if they had to come to you first for permission to act. You would stop the cut-throat competition of the noodle and the ne'er-do-well In time you would be able to insist that our calling should be practised only under certain fair and equitable conditions, and for something that was a little above the starvation rate of pay. For a moment put out of your minds the thought of art; consider your business as a commercial undertaking. Study the models presented to you by the great combinations of working-men, who, without attempting to dictate to their employers, insist upon a proper regard to the rights and requirements of labour. Remember the old days of good-fellowship have long gone by when actors were a very small, brotherly, and Bohemian band. To-day entertainment is a vast industry, which counts its workers by thousands. Are we going to be the only body of workers in England that has no real organisation and no real union to protect, not the masters, but the men? When are you going to say, 'I will not put my foot on the stage with any man or woman who does not belong to the Actors' Association'?"

An animated discussion followed, most of the speakers expressing their agreement with the views set forth by Mr. Raleigh.

MR. FRED MORLAND thought that a council should be elected annually, consisting of fifteen or twenty members, and the opinions of the candidates in regard to reforms should be made known before the election. No good purpose would be served by their being enthusiastic over the trade union proposal for a short time and then let the whole subject drop to the ground.

MR. CECIL BROOKING remarked that they were inclined to treat their managers as schoolboys treated their masters—as enemies. Managers were not their enemies, they were employers. If they could go on in a steady manner from that meeting, he was sure some good would result.

MISS GLADYS FFOLLIOTT referred to the Variety Artists' Federation and its recent operations on behalf of the music hall performers. She pointed out that the subscription was only sixpence per week, and suggested that some similar arrangement might be put in force for paying the subscription of the A.A.

Miss F. Morland, Miss Rose Matthews, and Mr. Knox Orde were among the other speakers, and eventually it was decided to hold another meeting for the purpose of discussing the proposal put forward by the opener of the debate.

A vote of thanks to Mr. Raleigh, proposed by the Chairman, brought the proceedings to a close.

"THE SWORD OF HONOUR."

Comedy, in Three Acts, by Leopold Montague, produced for the first time at the Balfour Institute, Liverpool, on Saturday, Jan. 26.

Major-General Uton, V.C. ....MR. J. A. DODD
George Wroxeter .....MR. C. G. JACKSON
Mr. Smart .....MR. A. G. PENLINGTON
Mr. Skinner .....MR. D. HERBERT RICHARDS
Corporal Jago .....MR. J. MCGORRIN
Margery Uton .....MISS M. CARROLL.
Mrs. Baxter .....MISS HUDSON
Mrs. Phillips .....MISS WALKER

Judging by the reception of its initial performance, The Sword of Honour is likely to be heard of again. It is quite a simple little comedy, the plot revolving round the character of a retired army officer, Major-General Uton, V.C. He is a most lovable man, the soul of honour, and generous to a fault, and having as guide, philosopher, companion, and treasurer, a charming daughter, approaching womanhood. Thoughtless generosity and indiscriminate subscriptions cause the General to overrun his limited income, and he has to face the necessity of increasing it in some way in order that Uton Manor may not be sacrificed. The first act ends as he innocently agrees to enter the directorate of a bubble company under the wing of a couple of commercial rogues, Messrs. Skinner and Smart. The company, as a matter of course, fails, and in Act II. General Uton is selling all his property in order to compensate the unfortunate shareholders, although this action is entirely voluntary. In the third act the General has fallen into low water indeed, and even sends his cherished sword of honour to be sold; but all eventually comes right through the acceptance of a new motor gun-carriage that the General has invented. Mr. J. A. Dodd gave an admirable interpretation of the estimable veteran Major-General Uton, and his daughter Margery was well played by Miss M. Carroll. Adequate support was rendered by the other members of the cast. The author, it may be added, has produced several three-act farces of his own, and two in collaboration with Mr. Alban Atwood, but The Sword of Honour is his first three-act comedy.

"ALLY SLOPER'S HALF HOLIDAY" reminds us that in connection with his £100 diamond ring competition for popular pantomime actresses a diamond ring is publicly presented each week to the lucky winner on the stage by the great Sloper himself, and also a special extra £50 ring at the end of the season.

CHAT WITH MR. CECIL RALEIGH.

(BY OUR OWN COMMISSIONER.)

In conversation with our interviewer on Monday, Mr. Cecil Raleigh was good enough to give a few further reasons, from his point of view, in favour of the proposed trade union for actors.

"I think," said Mr. Raleigh, "that the constitution of the Actors' Association should be so reformed and readjusted as to give our great theatrical institution all the powers of a trade union. To begin with, the basis of admission to membership must be widened, though the control should be kept in the hands of the most experienced actors. Of course, what I suggested was that the Association should consist of two classes. There should be the ordinary members, who would only be called upon to pay a small subscription. The second class would be those who have acted for a certain length of time—say, four or five years—and who would be eligible for election as Fellows. The number of members should be unlimited, but a reverse principle should be observed in regard to the Fellows. The latter should elect the Council, and the Council should retire every year."

"Do I understand that you suggest that an actor should be obliged to show some qualification before being allowed to become a member of the Association?"

"No; the first step towards going on the stage should be membership of the A.A., and, to my way of thinking, actors and actresses should be so united and so strong in their unity that they would be in the position of saying to an aspirant, 'You shall not go on the stage until you have joined our Association.'"

"But would you be prepared to accept as members of the Association people whom you did not know were fitted for stage work?"

"I don't say anything at all about that. I am talking trade unionism. What we wish to get rid of is the paying amateur. The evil which is centred round that worthy practically exists only in the provinces, and, therefore, it scarcely concerns London. The class of people to whom I refer can get important parts by paying for them, or without receiving any remuneration for their labours. If every actor were compelled to become a member of the Association we should take care that they would not be allowed to act without payment. At the same time, do not imagine that we should elect as members all the lame and the halt and the blind, the absolutely unfit and the undesirable. People would still go on the stage, as they have been doing in the past. To the man or woman who has a predilection that way we should say, 'Come,' but we must guard ourselves against unfair competition. And kindly bear in mind that my scheme is of an economic and not an academic character."

"I take it, Mr. Raleigh, that there would be a minimum salary?"

"I certainly think there should be one, but that is a subject for discussion between the managers and the Association. I am strongly of the opinion that the managers would be the first to meet us on these grounds. In London not the slightest difficulty would be experienced in this matter. Now, I want you to tell this story for me. When I said just now that the managers would come to our assistance in the matter of salary I had in my mind three instances where my old friend, Mr. Arthur Collins, raised the salaries by one-half and one-third after a good performance on a first night. And probably this is what he has done in hundreds of cases that I know nothing of. Recognising that that is the sympathetic view which most managers hold, I feel sure that there would be no difficulty in arriving at a reasonable and just minimum salary. The question, of course, has mainly to do with the provinces, and there it is that the pinch caused by inadequate salaries is most keenly felt. When artists have to change their lodgings from week to week they cannot possibly live as economically as they would in a permanent home. It is unfair to ask a man, and absolutely dishonourable to ask a woman, to accept less than a legitimate living wage. To give a woman a pound a week and to expect her to pay for the conveyance of her own luggage is to my mind nothing short of criminal. If the Association appeals for help to the great London managers I am convinced that the latter will only be too glad to assist in stamping out this iniquity. Do not forget that the managers are well organised. The actors are not; but it is high time they were."

ROYAL OPERA, COVENT GARDEN.

On Thursday, Jan. 17, Wagner's Der Fliegende Holländer was performed at Covent Garden, a large audience being attracted. Herr Arthur Nikisch was the conductor, and the orchestra rendered a fine interpretation of the romantic overture, while the performance all round merited approval. Herr Theodor Bertram appeared as the Dutchman and acted with significance, although his voice was hardly powerful enough for the part; while Frau Von Westhoven as Senta succeeded best in the purely vocal instead of the dramatic side of the character. Herr Franz Naval gave a finished rendering of Erik's music; and Herr Allen C. Hinckley as the sturdy Skipper and Herr Robert Cunningham as the Steersman sang admirably in their respective characters; while good results were achieved by Frau Von Krauss Osborne in the part of Mary.

The Duke of Orleans was present at the performance of Tristan und Isolde at the Royal Opera last Saturday evening.

Die Walküre was given on Tuesday night at Covent Garden, a large and appreciative audience being present. This noble section of the Ring has always been a great favourite with operagoers, and deservedly so, for the great beauty of its first act and the lovely duet contrasts admirably with the more dramatic situations of the closing scenes. More than twenty years have passed since this fine work was first produced in London, and although often performed, the interest of the musical public seems ever on the increase. The performance on Tuesday night was one of the best the present German Season has given. Herr Kraus, who was in fine voice, sang the music of Siegmund grandly; in fact, never has this artist appeared at Covent Garden to more advantage. Herr Kraus was admirably supported by Frau Von Westhoven, a most effective Sieglinde, the great duet in the first act being remarkably well sung by these two clever artists. As Brünnhilde Frau Litvinne sang and acted with great dramatic feeling and expression, and it was pleasant to have that clever and experienced artist Mlle. Olitzka in the character of Frieka once again at Covent Garden. Herr Feinhals made a dignified Wotan, and Herr Hinckley was entirely successful as the sturdy Hunding. All the minor parts were most adequately filled, and Herr Franz Schalk, the conductor, gained excellent results from the fine orchestra.

THE most unlikely things happen Golf is looked upon as not only one of the most healthy games, but also as one affording the least risk of accident to its votaries, but even golf is not exempt from its special dangers. A well-known J.P. recently lost an eye in consequence of a blow from a golf-ball when playing on the Meyrick Park Links, the eye having to be removed. The sufferer was so far fortunate in possessing an accident policy with the Railway Passengers' Assurance Company, under which the sum of £500 was forthwith paid.

MISS ROSE MONCRIEFF'S pantomime of Jack and the Beanstalk having been such a great success, she has decided to prolong its tour.

GEORGE ALEXANDER ON ACTORS' DAY.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE ERA.

SIR,—May I, through the medium of your columns, plead for a little patience on the part of those who are at present levelling adverse criticisms at the Actors' Day Fund? Surely it will be most regrettable if the eventual permanent success of the scheme is jeopardised because they are unwilling to wait till our advisory board is able to lay definite plans before them. It is quite true that the board might have been formed before, and that it may be advisable in the future to modify or extend the formation of it, and among the points which have been raised there are doubtless many worthy of earnest consideration. I do not hold a brief for the advisory board, but probably no one is more fully aware how much will have to be done before the method of working the fund is brought to perfection than the members of the board themselves.

The main object of "Actors' Day Fund" is to place our theatrical charities on an absolutely independent basis—to enable us from our own resources to render help in cases of distress as economically and efficiently as possible: a noble aim worthy of any profession. But before we can realise our aim we must have experience; mistakes will doubtless be made, but we mustn't lose heart at the very outset because we haven't ready to our hands a perfect working machine. And may I call attention to the great difference between carping criticism and friendly suggestion; it is for the latter I most urgently appeal.

I may perhaps be expected to go into the question of managers' subscriptions. I hold strong views on the matter, but for the present think there would be no useful purpose served by opening a discussion on the subject, and whether "asked" or "invited" I think we may feel sure that, as in the past, we shall be generously supported by the leading managers and actor-managers of our profession.

If only we can all unite cheerfully and generously in this great scheme, I am convinced we shall soon have matters arranged on a good business footing, and that more money than ever will go to existing charities, apart from the great good we hope to do in other ways.

If every actor and actress actually working on next Actors' Day will give their salaries, together with the support of the managers and authors, we shall have an almost unprecedented amount to allot to charitable purposes. And in asking the co-operation of the entire profession, I am much encouraged by the fact that within such a small space of time we have among us subscribed well over £3000, viz., £1469 to Actors' Day and over £1800 to the Irving Memorial. I am accused of optimism, but, be that as it may, these figures tell their own tale.

In conclusion, I would call attention to the splendid way in which the rank and file of those engaged in the provinces have answered to the call. I am sure a large majority of the actors and actresses in receipt of large salaries will next year follow the worthy efforts of those much-to-be-praised artists.—Yours faithfully,

GEORGE ALEXANDER.

"A WOMAN'S SHAME."

A Drama, in Four Acts, by Fred Jarman, produced for the first time at the Queen's Royal Theatre, Dublin, on Friday, Jan. 18.

Matthew Brandon .....MR VICTOR GORDON
Mark Brandon .....MR. WILLSON HOWARD
Howard Brandon .....MR. VALLENDER
Harry Vanstone .....MR. DOYLE
General Sir G. Vanstone ..MR. LOUIS WESTON
Detective Brett .....MR. T. JARMAN
Inspector Barton .....MR. BEST
James .....MR G. P. AMALIA
Angeline .....MISS MACDONNELL
Lady Vanstone .....MISS MADGE CLARE
Bella .....MISS BEATRICE ANNERSLEY
Dora Brandon .....MISS LILLIAN HERRIES

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

Many of the situations in this new piece are powerfully dramatic, and the dialogue abounds in clever lines. There is a strong vein of comedy to relieve the tension of the story, and Mr. Jarman may be congratulated all round on achieving a real success, an opinion which was most heartily endorsed by a very enthusiastic audience, who laughed and cheered from the start to the fall of the curtain. The story opens in the garden of a quiet English vicarage, where we find the parson, Matthew Brandon, and his wife Dora. The latter has recently returned from a ten years' sojourn in India, and the couple have been married but four days. To the Vicarage come first Howard Brandon, the father, and then Mark Brandon, the brother of the cleric. Mark is wanted by the police for forgery, and it is suggested that he shall remain in hiding at the Vicarage till the affair blows over. The parson refuses to aid his criminal brother, but whilst pleading to him for help Mark gets behind him as he sits on the garden seat, and suddenly jerking his head back pours the contents of a phial of prussic acid down his throat. The assumption of a clerical suit of clothes, the transfer of a pocket-book and papers, together with the marked resemblance in their appearance do the rest, and Matthew being dead, Mark takes his place and his wife.

Act II. introduces us to London, where Mark, still posing as Matthew, is keeping a gaming house, and is using his "adopted" wife, much against her will, as a decoy. One of the "pigeons," Harry Vanstone, falls in love with Dora, and this leads to a quarrel, in which Vanstone is stabbed and Mark has to fly the country. Dora escapes complicity in the affair by hastily putting on a Sister of Mercy's dress, thus avoiding arrest, and is allowed to nurse the injured man back to health.

In Act III. we find Dora married to the now convalescent Harry Vanstone, and learn that the ship in which Mark was a passenger foundered in mid-ocean with all hands. Mark, however, did not sail, having booked a passage to mislead the police, and turns up smiling and callous as ever, intent on blackmailing Lady Vanstone and determined to get her back. For some time his return is kept from Dora's new husband Harry, but he eventually learns the truth and complications follow, until at the finish Mark's real wife. Angeline, who was supposed to have committed suicide to escape from him, turns up in the person of a nursing sister who figures earlier in the piece. The police in the meantime have discovered Mark is still living and come to arrest him, but he follows his clerical brother's mode of exit and swallow's poison, Harry and Dora being thus left in peace.

Mr. Fred Jarman's No. 1 company made a decided hit in the production. Miss Lillian Herries did very well in the trying part of Dora; Mr. Willson Howard showed a fine appreciation of the villain's many opportunities, his grasp of the devil-may-care, selfish Mark Brandon's character being firm and lasting; Mr. Vallender was exceedingly amusing as the sponging old father, Howard Brandon; and Miss Beatrice Annersley scored an emphatic success as Bella, the servant. The other parts were well rendered by a numerous cast.

"THE GONDOLIERS."

Revival of the famous Gilbert and Sullivan Opera at the Savoy Theatre, on Tuesday, Jan. 22.

The Duke of Plaza-Toro ..MR. C. H. WORKMAN
Luiz .....MR. ALEC JOHNSTONE
Don Alhambra del Bolero....MR. JOHN CLULOW
Marco Palmieri.....MR. PACIE RIPPLE
Giuseppe Palmieri .....MR. RICHARD GREEN
Antonio .....MR. OVERTON MOYLE
Francesco .....MR. HENRY BURNAND
Giorgio .....MR. TOM REDMOND
Duchess of Plaza-Toro .....MISS LOUIE RENE
Casilda .....MISS MARIE WILSON
Gianetta .....MISS LILIAN COOMBER
Tessa .....MISS JESSIE ROSE
Fiametta .....MISS BESSEL ADAMS
Vittoria .....MISS NORA MCLEOD
Giulia .....MISS CLARA DOW
Inez .....MISS ETHEL MORRISON

The Gondoliers is one of the most delightful of the Gilbert-Sullivan series, and the warmly enthusiastic reception which it had at the Savoy Theatre on Tuesday evening proved that the spell of Mr. W. S. Gilbert's libretto and the late Sir Arthur Sullivan's music is still as strong upon the public as it was in the December of 1889, when the opera was produced, with Miss Decima Moore, who then made her first appearance on the stage at the age of eighteen, as the heroine. Miss Geraldine Ulmar was the prima-donna; and in this production Mr. Rutland Barrington returned to work at the Savoy, from which Mr. George Grossmith had seceded, the newcomers to the cast being Mr. W. H. Denney and Mr. Frank Wyatt. And who can ever forget Miss Jessie Bond's Tessa, Miss Rosina Brandram's Duchess of Plaza-Toro, Mr. Courtice Pound's Marco Palmieri? The Gondoliers, as someone has aptly remarked, is "as spontaneous as the light-hearted laughter of the Sunny South and as luminous as an Italian summer sky." It is not the mere melodist who is heard in this charming score; the hand of the trained and expert musician is felt throughout in the most agreeable and admirable way. The delicate and insinuating humour so characteristic of Sir Arthur Sullivan is irresistible. The pervading brightness and "jollity" of the music are delicious; and Sullivan's winning piquancy in the comedy scenes is exquisite. The imitation of the old Italian opera of the type of the end of the last century and the beginning of the present reminds one strongly of the early operas of Rossini; and there is plenty of the charming facility with which Sir Arthur wrote music of all sorts, touching no style which he did not adorn. The principal numbers are too famous to need enumeration, the fluent melodies being aided and embellished by the skill which only comes from a thorough knowledge and instrumental resource.

Since the opening night of the season there has been a notable improvement in the all-round quality of the acting. Excellent as the performance of The Yeomen of the Guard was, there was yet a touch of "provincialism" about it which now has practically disappeared.

For Miss Lilian Coomber's performance of Gianetta we have nothing but praise; she is an actress of ability and a singer of exceptional power. She sang "Kind sir, you cannot have the heart," with charm and feeling. Miss Jessie Rose made a pretty and piquant Tessa, and was best in the quartettes, "Then one of us will be a queen" and "In contemplative fashion." She might, perhaps, have given a more pensive note to the song "When a little maiden marries," but the way in which the number is taken is much a matter of individual taste. Dainty Miss Marie Wilson played Casilda with the prettiest dignity imaginable, and sang very sweetly. Miss Wilson is blessed with a natural repose of manner which is quite refreshing. Miss Louie Réné was a stately and imposing Duchess. Miss Bessel Adams, Miss Nora McLeod, and Miss Clara Dow acted and sang very agreeably as the Contadine Fiametta, Vittoria, and Giulia. Miss Ethel Morrison was effective in the small part of Inez, the King's foster-mother. Mr. C. H. Workman's task is not a light one. His parts are associated with the names of players who have been taken to the heart of the British theatre-going public, and the cordiality with which Mr. Workman was welcomed on Tuesday night spoke volumes for the strides which he has made in the favour of the Savoy audiences. As the Duke of Plaza-Toro he acted with that quiet humour and artistic restraint which distinguish the true comedian. The Grand Inquisitor of Mr. John Clulow was an impersonation of genuine merit. Mr. Pacie Ripple is gay and debonair as Marco; Mr. Richard Green was excellent as Giuseppe. It is an admirable and artistic reading which it would be hard to over-praise. It is equally excellent in acting and vocalisation; and Mr. Green's finely-cultured voice, good appearance, and unmistakable histrionic gift were again demonstrated and acknowledged. Mr. Alec Johnstone created a very favourable impression as Luiz; Mr. Henry Burnand as Francesco, Mr. Overton Moyle as Antonio, and Mr. Tom Redmond as Giorgio all showed carefulness and capability. Special praise should be given to the excellently-trained chorus; it would not be easy to find prettier girls or better voices than at the Savoy. The opening chorus, "List and learn," was beautifully rendered. Mr. François Cellier's conducting of the fine Savoy orchestra was irreproachable. The production was enthusiastically received by a large audience; and at the close of the performance Mr. W. S. Gilbert bowed his thanks, supported by the whole strength of the company.

Mrs. D'Oyly Carte deserves the gratitude of all London playgoers and lovers of music by the dainty and delightful treat which she offers them at the Savoy.

BETWEEN 3000 and 4000 people attended the Bohemian concert at the Queen's Hall on Friday evening last week, held for the purpose of celebrating the twenty-fifth anniversary of the London and North-Western (London) Athletic Club. There was an altogether admirable programme, and the proceedings were presided over by Sir Frederick Harrison. Mr. James Wright, the theatrical traffic manager of the L. and N.W. Railway, officiated in able fashion as the stage-director. The concert commenced at seven o'clock with a magnificent organ recital by Mr. W. Emerson, followed by an overture played in skilful style by Mr. Howard Hadley. Miss Carmen Hill gave a tuneful and expressive rendering of several songs, including Goring Thomas's "A Summer Night" and Leoni's "Coolan Dhu." Mr. Arthur Prince treated the huge audience to his extremely amusing ventriloquial entertainment; and Mr. Will Edwards created a good deal of merriment with his songs "The Employment Bureau" and "My Dreams." Mr. Nelson Jackson was delightfully humorous in a musical sketch and a monologue; and M. Tividar Nachez distinguished himself with his violin performances. The splendid vocal attainments of Mr. Dalton Baker were exercised to fine effect in the songs "The days gone by" and "Lanagan's Log"; and Miss Edith Evans gave an enchanting delivery of some of Liddle's and German's popular compositions; while to Mr. Anderson Nicol great praise is due for an altogether capital vocalisation of Riego's "Brown Eyes" and Stephen Adams's "Thora." The special exhibition of Urbanora pictures proved highly attractive and interesting.

FIFTY YEARS OF THE DRAMA—1850-1900.

(COPYRIGHT.)

In these columns it is proposed to give a strictly alphabetical arrangement of the titles of plays produced during the last fifty years. It will be the most complete list ever published, and should prove invaluable to authors desiring to discover whether a certain title has ever been used, and when. To members of the dramatic profession it will be useful in determining the dates of plays in which they have achieved successes. Our readers are politely requested to advise us of any omission or inaccuracy which they may notice.

This list as soon as complete will be published in cheap book form.

LONDON VARIETY THEATRES.

THE SOUTH LONDON.

The week at the South London began very auspiciously on Monday, when the vast auditorium presented the spectacle of a sea of faces, all deep in the enjoyment of the good things provided. Good order was nevertheless secured by Mr. William Payne, who, by the exercise of ability and tact, is gaining rapidly in esteem. The outstanding item of the programme was furnished by Lockhart's Elephants, which are introduced by Captain Taylor. The animals retain unimpaired all their sagacity and skill, and have added to their répertoire fresh feats that reflect creditably on their present trainer. It seems quite easy for one animal to stand on his hind-legs on a pedestal while another ponderous brute balances himself on his head with evident enjoyment. The funny supper party was enacted to the accompaniment of shrieks of laughter, especially when one of the animals, having regaled himself with whisky, fell to the ground with every sign of intoxication, and is ignominiously haled off to gaol by an elephantine policeman. The performance, which is throughout a marvellous exhibition of animal training, includes the riding of a tricycle by one of the animals. Pictures often exhibited of elephants doing all sorts of wonderful things are not always realised, but in this instance the animal does actually mount a handsome nickel-plated machine, and pedals unaided round and round the stage.

Many varieties of entertainment were included in the bill, among the most interesting being Barnard's Mannikins, who go through a sketch, entitled The Coons' Revelry. The puppets disport within a set representing a garden, wherein a white damsel sings and dances very naturally. Prominent in the fun-making are two piccaninnies, whose misadventures with a motor car and a mule keep the house in the merriest mood. The marionettes are well voiced and skilfully manipulated, and the hearty reception which awaits the operators is well deserved. Tilbury and Ford submitted a duologue in which a piano lent effective aid. The gentleman, who is an able executant, accompanied himself in a "lazy" song, while his fair partner put on a principal boy's costume, preparatory to taking part in a duet founded on the little word "If," in which topics of the day are treated. Political subjects were also brought in in a second effusion, which excited the patriotic fervour of the audience.

A new view of the coon vocalist is afforded by Miss Amber Austa, whose song of "Oysters" is assisted by an old negro carrying a couple of pails across the stage. The contrast obtained by the young and dainty maiden, with her dulcet voice, and the aged and uncouth negro, with his raucous tones, is very pronounced, and is inconceivably droll. The young lady also dances expertly, displaying grace of movement and indulging in picturesque poses, to a weird accompaniment by the orchestra. The aid of the musicians is also called in by Mr. Charlie Faning, a jovial comedian, whose voice was mimicked in a whimsical way by the trombone, much to the amusement of the house.

The sketch announced on the programme was that of Ned Kelly, Bushranger, but on the occasion of our visit a deputy appeared in Keith and Kent, who gave an interesting sketch, in which the mannerisms of the audience in gallery and stalls were laughably burlesqued, the gentleman being exceptionally resourceful in byplay and facial expression. Mr. Fred Elmont in "Loving words and kindness" has a song which is agreeable with the taste of the audience; Miss Ada Vernon sang effectively "You ask me why I love you"; pictures of a diverting kind were shown on Ruffell's Bioscope; and the well-assorted programme also embraced Mr. Charles Whittle, a versatile comedian. Only a partial performance was given on Tuesday as a consequence of the strike, and for the rest of the week a revised programme was presented.

WALTHAMSTOW PALACE ANNIVERSARY.

Enthusiasm of the most marked description was the key-note of the evening on Friday of last week, when Mr. Arthur J. Barclay once more rallied around him a huge gathering of personal friends, with an almost overwhelming attendance of the general public, to do honour to the conclusion of his third year of management at this house. The "two-houses-a-night" system had to be abandoned for the occasion, and the continuous performance lasted from the rise of the curtain at 6.30 till about half an hour after midnight, during which there was no intermission in the excellent entertainment. The fine auditorium was beautifully decorated with festoons of flowers and flags, with a radiant electric star above the proscenium to indicate, as it were, the galaxy of "stars" on the stage beneath. A considerable number of Mr. Barclay's managerial friends from London travelled down to do him honour and wish him many happy anniversaries. Mr. and Mrs. G. Adney Payne graced the performance with their presence, and among those we recognised may be mentioned Mr. Fred McAvoy, Mr. Charles Beecham, Mr. Harry Masters, Mr. "Teddy" Granville, Mr. Jack Lotto, and Mr. Harry Day. Mr. Geo. F. Slatter, the ever-alert and popular acting-manager of the Palace, was here, there, and everywhere looking after everybody's comfort and pleasure.

The evening was charmingly opened by the orchestra with a specially-composed overture, entitled "Frivolity," by Mr. H. Petersen, capitally rendered under the direction of the composer. In addition to the clever performers who had been appearing in the regular bill of the week, Joe Elvin and his company gave an amusing performance of The Jockey, which was received with roars of laughter. Miss Marie Lloyd, in her best form, told about the customs of the country, and followed with her fetching song about Spain. Arthur Roberts and Ruby Celeste appeared in the screaming duologue Packing. The inimitable comedian threw himself heart and soul into the comicalities of a part that he certainly must have invented to suit his own incomparable personality. He was charmingly seconded by Miss Celeste, and both artists had an enthusiastic reception. John Lawson gave his vivid sketch of modern society life, Vanity, with fine effect. Miss C. Stroud Wilson's beautiful and highly-trained voice was heard to the utmost advantage in Guy D'Hardelot's song "Because." What more can be said about Little Tich than has been said a thousand times? The popular comedian made everyone shout with laughter in his song of "The Park-Keeper," but perhaps even exceeded his success in that when, attired in skirts, he appeared as the "Ballet Girl." The audience would hardly let him go. Alec Hurley was another immense favourite with his coster song and the inimitable whistle his admirers know so well. G. H. Chirgwin, as usual, delighted everyone present, and sent them into raptures when he played on his one-stringed violin "She wore a wreath of roses," which was voted exquisite. Fred Eustace and his company appeared with great success in the sketch The Amber Light, Mr. Eustace himself fully sustaining his reputation as the Yankee. Among others who appeared may be mentioned Ada Cerito, Lieut. Albini, Sisters May, George Antill, Bertha Goddard, Marie Weston, Master Geo. Phillips, Jessie Huddleston, and Dorothy L. Clark.

During the evening the managing-director, Mr. G. Adney Payne, appeared on the stage, surrounded by a number of friends, and, in the course of an admirable speech, paid a high compliment to the captain of the ship, Mr. A. J. Barclay, and his lieutenant, Mr. G. F. Slatter. In the course of his remarks, Mr. Payne emphasised the fact that, since its opening, the Walthamstow Palace had shown an improvement every year, and he was pleased to think that the shareholders had had a good return for their money. After all present had tried to shout themselves hoarse over "Auld Lang Syne," the big audience dispersed.

STRATFORD EMPIRE.

An attractive programme is submitted here this week. The patriotic note is struck by the exhibition of military accomplishments and horsemanship by the Boy Army. These well-trained lads appear first on horseback and go through many intricate drill evolutions with rare precision, and afterwards their performance consists of smartly taking to pieces and refitting transport wagons, field guns, &c., and showing the manner of carrying this active service impediments across streams and over hedges. The performance is very interesting, instructive, and exhilarating, the boys entering upon their work with a refreshing zest and zeal. Their training reflects the greatest credit upon their mentor, and the turn receives unstinted applause. The Selbinis submit an entertaining act of clever cycling, and their feats are undertaken with that ease and coolness which betoken the skilled performer. Their concluding item is decidedly startling; one of the cyclists falls from a high platform on to a kind of see-saw, and at once another cyclist on the opposite end is shot into space, turning a complete somersault on his machine. Sadie Simpson has a most effective song, which wins plenty of favour, and her clever step-dancing is much admired. The Brothers Webb display marked ability and versatility in the manipulation of several quaint musical instruments, and their fine concertina playing is a prominent feature of their turn, to which much amusement is added by their merry by-play and comedy business.

Telepathy, or thought reading, which has exercised the public mind so much of late, is being exploited this week by "The Collier and his Child." Their performance is on orthodox lines, the father coming among the audience, who hand him various articles, which his daughter, seated on the stage blindfolded, describes with unerring accuracy. Coming direct "from pit to stage," as described on the programme, a fluent and polished performance is not expected; but there is an obvious code employed between the father and daughter, and this is the more apparent in the second part of their performance, when members of the audience are asked to point out sentences in a book which the daughter, with another copy of the book, reads aloud from the stage. While containing nothing likely to solve the "mystery" of telepathy, the turn is decidedly interesting and deservedly applauded. Carrie Laurie's Kindergarten comes in for a huge amount of popularity. The children have youth and undoubted vocal ability in their favour, and the experience of their mentor should enable her to eclipse, with her present troupe of juveniles, any of her past successes. The Australian Twin Andersons are two charming and vivacious damsels, who revel in song and dance, and their expert skipping-rope dancing is novel and popular. Alice May and company, in their sketch Tranquillity, provide some entertaining moments; Allan Hanbury receives hearty applause for his contribution to the programme; and Ray Maskell is quickly installed a favourite, her agile dancing being much admired. The Bioscope—always popular at Stratford—is showing the pictures of "Always True to his Trust." Early comers are regaled with the orchestral selection "Sunlight and Shade," under the able guidance of Mr. Augustus Greco. For the comfort of the many patrons of this well-conducted variety theatre Mr. S. T. Mayne, the urbane acting-manager, is responsible, and Mr. W. S. Buccleugh is the courteous assistant acting-manager.

MASONS AT WORK.

The Chelsea Palace Lodge of Freemasons, No. 3098, held an emergency meeting on Tuesday last for the express purpose of initiating Mr. Ian Colquhoun, the well-known baritone, into its mysteries and secrets, that gentleman sailing on the forthcoming day to fulfil a professional engagement in America. In the forced absence of Mr. Albert Le Fre, the W.M., and Mr. James W. Matthews, the I.P.M., the Master chair was occupied by Mr. Wolfe S. Lyon, the treasurer of the lodge, supported by Messrs. Sidney M. Austin, P.G.D.C. of Bucks, J. A. Romain, the W.M. of the Warrant Officers Lodge, M. Serpentello, S.W., H. Baroni, G.W., C. G. Doughty (secretary), W. Hitch, S.D., Douglas White, J.D., F. H. Pedgrift, I.G., Asher (organist), and Messrs. Valazzi, F. McNaughton, Fred Frewen, Frank Hardy, Ernest Jones, R. Duce, Scott Adaker, Atlas, Wilton Heriot, W. Jeapes, Spot, Bert Bigney, F. Hill, F. Winn, and others. After the acting W.M. had initiated Mr. Colquhoun he took advantage of the meeting to bring up some of the arrears of the lodge work, and advanced Messrs. Whiteley and Goodman, and further advanced Messrs. Moran and Ernee Rees. After the lodge was closed the brethren adjourned to the old Chelsea hostel, the Six Bells, and partook of a slight entertainment, at which Mr. Colquhoun expressed the great delight the impressive ceremony had afforded him, and in response to a general request, sang "Off to Philadelphia." The acting W.M. read telegrams from the W.M., Mr. Albert Le Fre, and a great number of the members who were absent fulfilling pantomime engagements in various parts of Great Britain, expressing their regret at being prevented attending the gathering.

THE Southsea and Portsmouth Entertainments' Committee invite tenders for the rights to give entertainments on open spaces at Southsea and Portsmouth during the ensuing season of 1907.

MR. CHARLES HOWITT returns with Mr. Leonard Rayne to South Africa to produce The Bondman, Robin Hood (Mr. Lewis Waller's version), The Electric Man, and other West-End London successes. Mr. Howitt has been Mr. Rayne's producer and stage-manager for seven years, also playing an extensive and varied list of principal parts, his latest successes being achieved in such widely-different characters as Iago, Polonius, and Raffles.

MISS DECIMA MOORE is at the present time paying a flying visit to the West Coast of Africa, prior to resuming the title-rôle in All-of-a-Sudden Peggy, which had such a successful autumn tour, under the management of Messrs. Glenister and Wood-Ingram.

MR. GRAHAM MORRISON has been engaged by Mrs. Michael Gunn to manage her most successful Sinbad the Sailor pantomime company, which she will transfer in its entirety to O. H., Cork, on Feb. 4, for two special weeks.

MR. HARRISON BROCKBANK has been engaged by Mr. Arthur Collins for next year's pantomime at Drury Lane, and has been highly complimented by managers on his performance in the successful pantomime at the Royal Court Theatre, Liverpool. Mr. Brockbank will produce a new musical sketch after the run of the pantomime, the subject being Robin Hood.

THE St. Louis Picture Company, by the aid of that wonderful combination, the Chronophone, supplies the proprietors of theatres, piers, winter gardens, or kursaals with pictures that talk and sing. The selections include The Little Michus, Veronique, The Mikado, and The Belle of New York, and reproductions of the voices and movements of R. G. Knowles, Hamilton Hill, Gipsy Woolf, Ernie Mayne, &c. The programme is changed each week, and the company can supply two and a half hours' show of the most up-to-date films.

Thy way, not mine, O Lord,
However dark it be.
Lead me by Thine own Hand,
Choose out the path for me.

AT the Newport Empire there is a good programme this week. Frank and Jen Latona, who are skilful musicians, provide a very pleasing turn; Jordan and Harvey are extremely amusing with their humorous impersonations; Dusty Rhodes, comedian, is immensely popular; Chas. Robinson contributes two songs, illustrated with coloured views; Sylvesta relieves the somewhat dull performance of a conjuring show with humorous patter; and Welsh comedy is represented by Parker and Parr, who are not only funny, but sing excellently. Hurley and Cole give a scena, including a burlesque on the Zancigs; the Mascotte Trio of lady gymnasts do some smart tricks on the rings; and the bioscope, showing some laughable pictures, completes the bill.

BROWN'S
BRONCHIAL TROCHES.
For Sustaining the Voice.
Invaluable for ACTORS and SINGERS.
Indispensable for PUBLIC SPEAKERS

GENTLEMEN,—For sudden affections of the Bronchial Organs I use and most cheerfully recommend "Brown's Troches." They are regarded as most eligible, convenient, and indispensable by numerous artists of my acquaintance, BOTH IN EUROPE AND AMERICA. They seem to act specially on the organs of the voice, and produce a clear enunciation.—Yours truly (Signed), MARIE ROZE MAPLESON.

THE LAW OF COPYRIGHT FOR ACTOR AND COMPOSER,
BY
ALBERT A. STRONG, LL.B. (Lond.).
Chapter I.
COPYRIGHT AS OPPOSED TO PERFORMING RIGHT.
Chapter II.
PERFORMING RIGHT.
Chapter III.
INFRINGEMENT AND REMEDIES.
Chapter IV.
MUSICAL COPYRIGHT.
Chapter V.
INTERNATIONAL AND COLONIAL COPYRIGHT.

"The Law of Copyright for Actor and Composer," by Albert A. Strong, LL.B., solicitor, author of "Dramatic and Musical Law" ("The Era" office), seems to be the one compendious and indispensable authority on the subject, as vexed as the "Bermoothes," and as tortuous as a Chancery suit, that has long been wanted. It is in every essential a text book for the perplexed layman, and no solicitor or barrister worth his salt ought to think of taking or appearing in "proceedings" without consulting its pages. It must suffice, after what has been said, to state little more than that the contents include five chapters, respectively named "Copyright as Opposed to Performing Right," "Performing Right," "Infringement and Remedies," "Musical Copyright," and "International and Colonial Copyright." The work, for all its precise authority, is not dry reading. The statutes, with the elucidatory notes, necessarily impose a task on the reader which takes some tackling, but they had to be there. The cases adduced, however, are full of interest. Certain of them might fitly find a place in the romance of copyright. There was the fight of Charles Reade with George Conquest over "It's Never Too Late to Mend," for instance, and the equally interesting conflict of Mr. J. A. Cave with Chatterton over "The Wandering Jew." The latter was a famous battle. Chatterton took it to the House of Lords, and was finally beaten, to the unspeakable relief of Mr. Cave, who is never weary of relating the story. Had the result been otherwise, it would have meant his ruin. I well remember meeting him on the day of his victory and "crashing a cup with him" in honour of the same. "The Law of Copyright" is dedicated to Mr. A. W. Pinero.—Sportsman.

Mr. A. A. Strong has published a book on "The Law of Copyright for Actor and Composer," which should be in the hands of everyone who is obliged to know about this perplexing subject. Dramatic copyright in England is in a particularly unsatisfactory state, and it is much to be hoped that ere long some more rational method of securing protection for a play may be devised than the slovenly and sometimes costly "production for copyright purposes," which is at present required.—St. James's Gazette.

Copyright confusion is, like the poor, always with us, and as it seems likely to remain so until at least the crack of doom, it were well for all concerned, or likely to be concerned, to take immediate steps to secure a copy of Mr. Albert A. Strong's new work, entitled "The Law of Copyright." Mr. Strong is already favourably known to the profession for his text-book on "Dramatic and Musical Law," which, like his latest production, is published at "The Era" Office. "The Law of Copyright for Actor and Composer" essays to make clear to the non-legal mind what is—or, in some cases, what probably is—the law as to musical and dramatic copyright. The chapters on the Berne Convention and on the Chase Act, passed by the United States Congress last March, are full of interest.—Referee.

THE ERA

SATURDAY, JANUARY 26, 1907.

AN ACTORS' UNION.

Mr. CECIL RALEIGH is one of the most interesting figures which appear from time to time on that secondary stage, the discussion platform. A marvellously apt humorist, with a quaint and calm delivery which would make his fortune if he were to do an eccentric "turn" at one of our upper-class variety establishments, he never rises to address an audience without making innumerable points and creating intermittent laughter. One of the most piquant parts of his character is that he is an ardent Socialist; and his views on any subject are certain to be of the "advanced" order. His speech at the meeting of the Actors' Association last week had all the agreeable qualities which we expect to find in one of his orations. Mr. RALEIGH is—using the word in its best sense—a born agitator; and his speeches are invariably of the cleverly convincing kind.

At the Actors' Association offices last Friday week Mr. RALEIGH warmly advocated the foundation of an Actors' Union, for the redress of wrongs, abuses, and grievances, including the commission system, non-payment for rehearsals, and the frequency of the paying amateur. His remedy for these defects was the alteration of the Actors' Association into a trade union—"lock, stock, and barrel" The power thus obtained, argued Mr. RALEIGH, could be applied to preventing anyone, male or female, from acting unless he or she were a member of the Actors' Association. This would, he said, mean the entire elimination of the "addle-pated" amateur, who brought down salaries and the stage by offering his or her services at reduced rates.

The difficulty which immediately occurs to one is this: If the only persons allowed to belong to the Association are actors who have been on the stage for some time; and if no one is allowed to act unless he is a member of the Actors' Association, how are any aspirants, however naturally gifted, to get on the stage at all? Take a young man who has been, like the late Sir HENRY IRVING and many other leading actors, an ambitious and assiduous performer in an earnest amateur company. He desires to obtain further practice in some good provincial "crowd." He goes to the manager, and is met by the objection, "I cannot engage you, because you have not been on the stage long enough to comply with the rules of the Actors' Association; and I cannot risk offending that powerful body." With his subscription in his hand, he repairs to the genial secretary of the Association. Mr. CRUIKSHANKS smilingly regrets that the aspirant cannot be admitted as a member because he has not been a certain number of years upon the stage. "Oh," says the aspirant; "but I cannot get on the stage because I am not a member of the Association. What am I to do?" The result, carried to its extremity, would be that the supply of promising novices would be entirely cut off. One by one the actors and actresses at present on the boards would retire, the services of those long-livers being raised to fabulous amounts by competition, until at last the English stage would be reduced to a Last Man, "doing" a monologue the joint work of Mr. PINERO, Mr. SUTRO, and Mr. H. A. JONES.

The idea of an Actors' Union is, however, quite worthy of serious consideration. The difficulty of working one on the lines of the ordinary trade unions is the extreme uncertainty how much an artist's services are really worth to a manager. This difficulty is met in the ordinary trade unions by forbidding any workman to do more than his fellow; so that the naturally quick man is obliged to regulate his pace by the average of rapidity. An ordinary trade can be acquired by any intelligent man, and one bricklayer does not differ much in value from another. It is not exactly the same with acting; nor is experience the only factor of artistic achievement. The histrionic faculty is a gift which needs to be developed, it is true, by hard practice; but the naturally clever aspirant will improve much more quickly than the most industrious dullard. As for paying amateurs, we must remember that, in the old times, the profession was chiefly supplied by them. Actors were regularly apprenticed to the managers of stock companies, putting down a premium, and, in return, being trained for the boards. This is practically what is being done, without premium, by many of our proprietors of travelling companies. A promising amateur joins one of these, and practically learns his business at rehearsals. What Mr. RALEIGH says of these is quite true; but it "cuts both ways." It is often the fault of the actors themselves that pieces are so long in preparation. It is not, we are sorry to say, the novices who are the worst sinners in this respect; they are often enthusiastic enough to come to the first rehearsal "letter perfect." There is a bad old tradition of the stage which favours the acquisition of a part, bit by bit, from the prompter, or from the book-in-hand at early rehearsals; and the stock argument against remuneration for these is the length to which they would be dragged out if they were paid for liberally.

The good bulk of actors and actresses are as satisfied with their profession as they can be, considering the precarious nature of employment in it, the small remuneration won, and the heart-burnings and jealousies inseparable from public appearance and personal rivalry. Up to the present, we had thought that the Actors' Association, which Mr. RALEIGH describes as "gut-less," was doing all that was necessary in remedying the wrongs and abuses of the actor—and, of course, like other ranks of life, the stage must have its black sheep and its seamy side. If there is sufficient demand for a Union to generate such a body, no reasonable person would wish to place any obstacle in the way of its formation. It is burning need and righteous indignation which has always created trade unions; and we may be certain that an Actors' Union will never be started without the stimulus of great grievances to be removed and serious wrongs to be redressed.

THE wedding gown worn by Miss Nina Boucicault in the first act of The Stronger Sex at the Apollo is of soft white satin, cut on closely-fitting Princess lines, and having a yoke of net glittering with silver paillettes, while the skirt is enriched with a bold design of silver embroideries. The long Court train presents a novel and charming effect, being fashioned entirely of wide bands of insertion alternating with gathered bands of satin, while a coronet of orange blossoms and a cloudy tulle veil gives the conventional finish to the toilette.

MISS LILIAN BRAITHWAITE wears an artistic gown of string-coloured lace, with narrow panels of gold lace, decorated with heavy grelots of gold cord and tassels of the same. Touches of gold appear in the lace insertions round the throat and on the sleeves, while a wide belt of gold tissue provides further adornment. With this costume is worn a filmy scarf of hand-painted black lace, edged all round with Nattier blue ribbon, and a picture hat of gathered lace bordered with ivory satin, a twist of Nattier blue satin securing the three uncurled ostrich tips in the same shade which provide further decoration.

AN effective scheme is carried out in the dress worn by Miss Marie Illington, which is designed in vieux-rose chiffon velours, the plain skirt being trimmed down the front with motifs of lace and loops of cord, while the bodice is distinguished by the new sleeves, which have the effect of being merely a continuation of the fichu.

PREPARATIONS are being made by the English Drama Society for the production early in February of a new comedy by Nugent Monck, entitled The Hour, together with Cleopatra in Judea, by Arthur Symons. In the meanwhile a representation of Shakespeare's Merchant of Venice is announced for Thursday next at the People's Palace, Mile End.

THE sad circumstances of the death of Miss Florence Howard, lately of the Comedy Theatre, were investigated at Marylebone Coroner's Court on Wednesday. In the course of the evidence one of Miss Howard's servants said she had been with the lady six years. On Sunday she was apparently quite cheerful, and in the evening dined out, returning to her flat a little after midnight. At 7.30 the next morning, when the witness entered her mistress's sitting-room, she found the apartment full of escaped gas, and discovered Miss Howard, who was partly dressed, sitting back in a chair, dead. The gas-stove near her was turned on. It was turned on by a screw, which was in a hole in the floor, covered with a lid. The screw was very loose. The witness added that, with the loosely-fitting gas tap, it was possible, in turning off the gas, to turn the screw back a little, and thus allow gas to escape.

THE evidence of the Coroner's officer showed that in a waste-paper basket was found a torn envelope bearing the words, "My will, March 9, 1906," and in a drawer was discovered a fastened envelope similarly inscribed. The Coroner explained that this envelope contained the deceased lady's will, dated March 9, 1906, and duly executed. After bequeathing legacies to her servants, she left the residue of her effects to her parents. There was also an undated codicil bequeathing articles of jewellery and her dog to different friends. The jury returned a verdict of death by misadventure.

PRESENTATION.—On Wednesday evening an interesting ceremony took place at the Colosseum, Oldham. Mr. H. B. Levy, on behalf of Mrs. Levy and Mr. J. E. Cardwell, who have been doing so well here with their juvenile pantomime, presented Mr. William Eastwood with a magnificent gold hunter watch, suitably inscribed, and a splendid gold bracelet, was handed to Mrs. Eastwood, as a token of the esteem in which they are held. Mr. Eastwood suitably responded for himself and Mrs. Eastwood.

MR. EDITOR.—SIR,— In the notice in last week's Era of the Opera House, Wakefield, you mentioned that Miss Allen Amber was seen to advantage as Maudie, one of the Ugly Sisters, instead of yours truly, MR. ALLEN AMBER.

A SKETCH WITHOUT A TITLE.

A Dramatic Sketch, in Five Scenes, produced at the Camberwell Palace, on Monday, Jan. 21.

Sir John Armitage ..... MR. G. F. LEICESTER
Capt. Selwyn Hilliard ..... MR. ROBERT PURDIE
Max Stein ..... MR. WALTER BEAUMONT
Kate Armitage ..... MISS DORA HAMMERSLEY
Ruth Hilliard ..... MISS LUCY EVELYN
Jack Beresford ..... MR. GEORGE GRAY

The question of title has often proved such a vexed one to dramatic authors that they have sought the aid of the public to settle the difficulty, and this week Mr. George Gray has resorted to the same means, and is offering a reward of £10 for the most suitable name for his newest production. It should not be difficult to secure a fitting title, for the piece deals with "the love that lasts," and is replete with episodes, any of which would suggest a name for itself. The "Fighting Parson" has been fitted with a character the sentiment of which secures the sympathy of the audience from the outset. Returning, after five years' absence in Australia, to England, home, and sweetheart, Jack Beresford finds that a report has been spread that he has married, although he was betrothed to his cousin, Kate Armitage, and left a portion of a pearl necklace as a love token in her keeping. Kate's affection for Jack is as strong as ever, but the statement that he is married is confirmed by a note addressed to Jack Beresford from "his wife," and the young lady receives him with coldness. The false rumour had been circulated by Captain Hilliard, an army officer, who aspires to Kate's hand and to the fortune which is willed to Beresford, but reverts to her should Jack fail to marry her. The returned wanderer confronts Hilliard with his libellous statement, with the result that a duel is arranged. The two rivals meet at the Abbey ruins, and Jack consents to the proposal that they shall each choose from a pair of pistols, one only of which is loaded. The word to fire is given, and at the same moment Kate rushes between the combatants and is shot. Jack is made to imagine that it was he who held the loaded pistol, and in despair determines to return to Australia. Before his departure he casually attends a meeting near the docks, where politicians of all shades of opinion are contesting. Jack joins in the discussion on trades unionism, and his remarks cause a disturbance, during which a woman is injured. She is taken to the Salvation Army shelter, and proves to be none other than the person whom Jack is alleged to have married. She is really the wife of Captain Hilliard, who had married her in Australia under Jack Beresford's name, and subsequently deserted her. With this evidence Beresford makes his way the next morning to the parish church where Hilliard and Kate Armitage, showing no traces of the pistol shot, are to be married, and stops the wedding party at the church door, where he denounces Hilliard and is reconciled to his old love.

The stirring incidents which we have briefly related are presented in admirable style by the company, headed by Mr. Gray, who is provided with a rôle in which he can play at will upon the sympathies of an audience. He is gay and debonair enough at the opening when he returns as the successful miner laden with wealth; but in the later passages he infuses into his rendering an impassioned energy which is very impressive. Miss Dora Hammersley is a graceful Kate Armitage, and makes full use of the opportunities for the display of emotion. An elegant villain is furnished by Mr. Robert Purdie, who is cool and incisive as the recreant Captain Hilliard. Mr. G. F. Leicester gives a sound and consistent rendering of an elderly baronet; Mr. Walter Beaumont is an effective representative of a foreign conspirator; and Miss Lucie Evelyn plays the deserted wife with power and expression. The sketch is mounted with the completeness characteristic of Mr. Gray's productions, the church scene being rendered very picturesque by a file of soldiers and a detachment of bluejackets drawn up outside. The performance was attended with the greatest success, Mr. Gray being loudly recalled at the close.

A COACHMAN'S NEAR CUT.

Lieutenant Albini writes the following account of an amusing adventure:—I was out of engagement the week ending Jan. 19, and promised Mr. Masters, Mr. Geo. Adney Payne's representative, I would perform "The Lady in Black" illusion at the anniversary at the Palace, Walthamstow, on Friday, Jan. 18. Telling the coachman I should like to get there as soon as possible, he said, "I know a near cut, sir. Leave it to me." I said, "All right; go your own way." Little did I think he would risk narrow country lanes in such a fog. After passing Tottenham he got into a lane and had to get from the box and lead the horse. This went on for about a mile, when we made a halt and found ourselves at the entrance to a farmhouse at Chingford. The farmer kindly directed us, and we continued on our way, having had strict instructions to keep to the left of the lamp. I noticed this lamp, and called the attention of the coachman to it; but he only replied, "No road, sir." He led the horse for about three-quarters of a mile, when we heard a dog bark, and found the horse was facing a gate. The coachman went into the yard and discovered a stable boy, who advised us not to go any further, as there was a well; but we had better turn round, and then keep straight on till we saw a lamp on the right, and go ahead till we came to the "Prince Albert"; we should then follow the tram lines until we came to Hoe-street. I asked the distance to the Prince Albert. He said, "Over a mile." By this time I was getting alarmed, and said, "If I give you a shilling," &c., would he show us out of the lane. Reply: "Yes, sir." Had he been a business man he could have made a good bargain, suggesting the risk of getting back without the aid of our lamps. The fog was getting so dense we could hardly see three yards in front of us. Our friend pulled us through, and we got to the Albert, and I invited the coachman and our friend to go in and light their pipes. I told the coachman to let her have her head. Entering Walthamstow—more trouble! We had to go a mile out of our way through tramway repairs. Anyway, we arrived at ten minutes to ten at the Palace. I had left Tufnell Park at 7.30—three-quarters of an hour's run. Miss Gautier and myself received a grand reception, and the souvenir given to me by Mr. Geo. Adney Payne and the directors I shall treasure as long as I live, and never forget the "near cut in the fog."

THEATRICAL INVENTIONS.

"SEXTON BLAKE."

A Dramette in Three Acts, by C. Douglas Carlile, produced for the first time at the Surrey Theatre of Varieties, Jan. 21.

Sexton Blake ..... C. DOUGLAS CARLILE
Tinker ..... LEE GILBERT
Silas Strong ..... W. LOUPER
Teddy Baker ..... PHILIP ASTERN
Makeroff ..... M. LANGDALE
The Master Criminal ..... CHAS. A. CARLILE
Leah Coursell ..... CARLOTTA DE YONSON

Founded on the thrilling tales now running in a weekly periodical, Sexton Blake is sure to hit the popular taste wherever presented, and crowded houses all the week here have set up on it the stamp of unqualified success. The piece deals with a secret society called the Nerva Brotherhood. Leah Coursell's father has been "removed" by the brotherhood, but has left with his daughter a precious packet of papers that the villainous gang of blackmailers, one of whom is known as the Master Criminal, are determined to possess, and for that purpose have lured Leah to Homer House. Leah, however, has called to her aid the famous detective Sexton Blake, who has already installed in Homer House his quick-witted aide-de-camp, Tinker, as page boy. The Master Criminal forces Leah to give up the packet; but Blake, who has changed places with the footman, comes to the rescue and snatches the packet from the villain.

In the next scene we are at Blake's study in Baker-street, and Leah comes to thank the detective for his timely assistance. Blake eventually persuades Leah to give up her scheme of vengeance on the brotherhood and let him retain the papers. Leah at last consents, and leaves Blake's house by the rear. The cabman who has brought her comes for his fare, but Blake sees through his disguise, and knows he has the Master Criminal as a visitor. Blake is convinced that this is the man wanted for the murder of his chief inspector, Davis, and tries to induce his visitor to remove the glove of his right hand, so as to identify his man by a scar on the palm thereof. The Master, however, is too wily, and Blake has to let him go.

The last scene is that of the offices of the gang at Westminster, where Blake comes in the disguise of a Jew, and telephones to Scotland Yard for assistance. When the Master Criminal finds the game up he hurls a bomb at Blake and Leah, but he is too hasty, and only compasses his own destruction.

In the title-rôle the author, Mr. C. Douglas Carlile, acts with all the coolness and assurance the part demands, and establishes himself a prime favourite; as his irrepressible coadjutor, Tinker, Mr. Lee Gilbert handles the character with care and discretion; Mr. Charles A. Carlile imbues the Master Criminal with a fierce determination and malevolence that win him the execrations of the gallery, than which no greater commendation could be desired; Miss Carlotta de Yonson as Leah Coursell gives a fine performance, her rendering of the rôle being full of impressiveness, while the actress has the added charm of being both heard and understood; Mr. M. Langdale as the Russian Makeroff gives a character sketch of much merit; and the general mounting of this interesting little dramette deserves a special word of praise.

Another strong dramatic sketch is The Blind Witness, played by Mr. Arnold Bell and his specially-selected company, which gets a firm hold on the audience, who follow with intense interest the fortunes of Gilbert Vaughan, who, while blind, is the unconscious prime mover in a tragedy which leads to many complications when his sight is restored. In the title-rôle Mr. Arnold Bell presents the character with a firm hand, and receives loyal assistance from Mr. Cuthbert Irvine as the villain Macari, Mr. Frank Carlile as Dr. Ceveri, Mr. Frank C. Robson as Anthony March, Miss Violet Campbell as Ellen Vaughan, and Miss Francis Campbell as Pauline March.

In direct contract is the bright, little comedietta, entitled Are You a Gentleman? which is handsomely staged, and smartly played by Miss Lilly Pearl and Mr. H. Leslie Bell. The theme of the story is novel, and treats of a young and pretty actress, whose many vain attempts to get an interview and engagement with a popular theatrical manager, hits on a daring scheme to attain her object, and her ingenuity deserves the success she obtains in the end.

THE LATE JOHN A. ATKIN MEMORIAL.

IN our notice of the Avenue Theatre, Sunderland, the part of Idle Jack in Dick Whittington was ascribed to Mr. Mark Sheridan. The credit of the performance should have been given to Mr. Tom Foy.

VARIETY GOSSIP.

At the moment of going to press the strife between proprietors and artists shows no signs of abatement, and the elaborate commercial development of the music hall business which has revolutionised the variety theatres is dislocated by a strike so extraordinary and far-reaching in its effect on all concerned that the history of amusement contains no parallel to it. Of course, arbitration at once suggests itself as the one and only method of securing peace. Mr. Arthur Roberts and Miss Marie Lloyd are in favour of a consultation between seven representatives of the Alliance and seven members of the London Entertainments' Protection Association, with a president who is neutral and absolutely impartial. No less a personage than Lord Rothschild has been suggested; and his lordship's exalted position, wide sympathies, and unobtrusive benevolence would make him an excellent choice should he be willing to accept the invitation. Another good selection would be Mr. George R. Sims.

THE syndicate system has its advantages for the prominent artist, who enjoys through its combinative enterprise a security of tenure and years of uninterrupted engagements. This fortunate state of things on the regular stage is only the lot of the popular actor-manager, who must look with some envy on the sure and handsome income of the leading lights of the halls.

THERE is not much doubt that the barring clause and increased number of matinées are at the bottom of the trouble. Managers say with truth that the clause has inflated salaries in consequence of exclusive engagements, which are, however, restricted naturally to a minority of popular favourites. It is the medium turn that feels the pinch of the condition in a contract that prevents the acceptance of an engagement at a hall within a certain distance of another at which he or she may hold a contract to be fulfilled, perhaps, a year ahead.

THE extraordinary feature of the present struggle is that the Federation artists have become trades unionists, and have broken their contracts, and imperilled their engagements ahead without hesitation on questions that are quite apart from their own immediate interests. Their legal position may be determined during the next week by actions resulting on writs issued. We hope before such actions come into Court that a basis of agreement will be arrived at honourable to both sides, and that the present deplorable business will end.

THERE was a large gathering of London and provincial managers at the Tivoli on Thursday evening. Mr. George Harrop, managing-director of the Palace, and Tower, Blackpool, expressed the opinion to our representative that half a dozen level-headed people on each side sitting round a table ought to be able to end the strike in an hour or two. The question generally was discussed by Mr. G. A. Payne and members of the Press. Mr. Tom Barrasford, Mr. Sylvester, Mr. Walter De Freece, Mr. B. Pearce Lucas, Mr. Harry Day, Mr. George Peel, Mr. Ben Nathan, Mr. Sydney Hyman, Mr. Harry Lundy watched an entertainment that was kept going with surprising celerity by Mr. Joseph Wilson. The audience, however, was decidedly thin.

AMONG the entertainers announced by Mr. Wilson was Datas, the memory man, whose reception was hardly encouraging. He addressed the audience as follows:—"Ladies and gentlemen, I have never been received like this before. I am here because I am under contract to appear or be served with a writ. I must either perform or go before a Judge of the High Court." His sang-froid never deserted him during some heckling from interrupters in the pit, and when the question was put: "When did Judas Iscariot die?" he replied: "On the Fifth of November—the same day as you will. Is that right, sir?"

ON Thursday night Clark and Hamilton declared their intention of working; and Mr. R. A. Roberts has also intimated his intention of not abiding by the Variety Artists' Federation mandate.

LATE on Thursday night Mr. Oswald Stoll received the following telegram from Mr. Datas, the accomplished gentleman, who, it will be remembered, has sold his head for £3000 to an hospital. The telegram runs as follows:—"Southampton-street, Strand. Oswald Stoll, Esq., London Hippodrome.—Have resigned Artists' Federation. Am heart and soul with the proprietors and managers. Appearing Tivoli and where wanted to-night."

IN the last edition of the Evening News on Thursday night the following paragraph appeared: "Another piece of news which has given great satisfaction to the leaders of the music-hall artists is that the manager of one of the Moss-Stoll Empires has telephoned his desire to sign the Charter in so far as his own hall is concerned. The Charter has been sent on him to sign." Mr. Oswald Stoll desires us to state in the most emphatic terms that there is no truth whatever in this paragraph. He is the only manager empowered by his company to sign a document of such a nature.

AMONG those watching the entertainment at the Oxford on Tuesday evening was Mr. Billie Bint, who listened with interest to Mr. Blyth Pratt's announcements from the stage, which reminded him of his early days as chairman in the days of Uncle John Jennings—a position he resigned in 1877. He used to introduce artists by name from a table placed in the middle of the stalls. In those days a great feature of the Oxford entertainments was sensational acrobatism, the performances being mostly in the auditorium. Tumblers now are mostly restricted to the stage, except in such areas as are found in the Agricultural Hall, Islington, and similar buildings.

AT the meeting of the London Pavilion Company on Thursday Mr. Turner, one of the shareholders, asked what was the attitude of the company in the dispute. Mr. Hugh Astley, the chairman, stated that they stood alone, and they had signed no contract. All the artists and employees had attended regularly and carried out their engagements. Mr. Turner asked if it was intended to sign the Alliance's charter, but the question gave rise to many expressions of protest, and it was allowed to drop.

A DEPUTATION from the Paddington Philanthropic Institution waited on Thursday morning on the National Alliance and asked them to refrain from closing the Metropolitan that evening, on the ground that they had agreed to pay £80 for the performance, with the object of giving the proceeds to the poor. The Alliance agreed not to take any steps with regard to the house, on the understanding that the organisers of the benefit for the poor would make a statement to the effect that "the performance will positively be given by kind permission of the Variety Artists' Federation and the Musicians and Stage Employés' Societies."

"DAN LENO THE SECOND," as he was orally announced from the stage by the manager, appeared at the Ealing Hippodrome on Wednesday night, and received an ovation at the two perforamnces. Looking very much like his lamented father, the youngster, who is only sixteen years of age, appeared in the rôle of a fireman, singing of the members of a brigade who were horrified to find that their own station had been burnt. Mr. Leno opens at Glasgow next Monday.

THE Isle of Man Legislative Council on Tuesday considered a Bill by which musical compositions are protected both as to performances and sale, power being given for the seizure of pirated music with a fine of £5 for the first and £10 for the second attempt to sell pirated music. The latter provision will be of great value to English copyrights, as vast quantities of pirated music have been sold in the island during the visitors' season.

WE regret to hear from Bradford of the death of Albert Hall, one of the best-known of song-writers. It is to be feared that the music pirates' handiwork had much to do with the end of the writer, which took place amid evidences of suffering and penury.

THE popular Miss Florrie Gallimore was on Saturday evening last, at the Park Palace, Liverpool, presented by the genial manager, Mr. Leo Weisker, on behalf of Mr. Fred Willmot with a beautiful bouquet, in recognition of her great success at that hall.

THE public interest aroused by the awful Jamaica disaster was speedily taken advantage of by the management of the Liverpool Olympia, who placarded the city with the announcement "that the earthquake could be fully realised" by a visit to that place of amusement. The result was that the holding capacity proved inadequate to meet the demand to witness the spectacle of The Earthquake, that has been a tremendous success during its stay of several weeks.

NOTICE has been given that Mr. Henry Richard Deeks Hooper, acting on behalf of his co-directors of the Palace, Clacton-on-Sea, Ltd., intends applying for an Excise licence to sell intoxicating liquors at that place. Rumour says the licence will be granted, and if so, it should go a long way to make this pleasant resort more popular still.

ALFRED LEONARD, a music-hall artist, did not appear on Thursday at Lambeth County Court, where he was sued by David Kopski, pianist and composer, for three guineas for composing a violin solo. The defendant's counsel, in applying for an adjournment, explained that Mr. Leonard was at Cheltenham or Chatham, and could not come to London on account of the strike. Judge Emden: Why cannot he come to London?—Counsel: The Federation will not permit him to do so. His Honour ordered the case to proceed, but as counsel could not go on judgment was entered for the plaintiff, with costs.

ALL unconsciously, whilst performing at the Hackney Empire, "My Fancy," the celebrated sand and bare-foot dancer, attracted the admiration of Louis Weirter, R.A., whose work is as well known to readers of newspapers as it is to the critics of the artistic world. Mr. Weirter has done a beautiful water-colour painting of "My Fancy," and has begged that clever young lady's acceptance of the same. Needless to say, "My Fancy" is delighted with this unexpected tribute to her dainty talent, and declares she is going to proudly exhibit it at every hall at which she performs.

"THE CASINO" March, now being played by Mr. H. Erhorn's orchestra of forty performers at the London Hippodrome, has become so popular that it is to be retained for some time as the pièce de résistance, while the chronomegaphone and other animated pictures continue to attract the public. Mr. Taylor bids fair to rival the redoubtable Sousa as a "March King." His waltzes are really sweet, but so far have not had a hearing. Messrs. Phillips and Page, Market-street, Oxford-street, are publishing Mr. Taylor's compositions.

MR. W. HARRISON, of the Brothers Harrison, met with an unfortunate accident at the Grand Theatre, Woolwich, last week, while playing in the pantomime, Babes in the Wood. In one of the knockabout scenes indulged in by the two robbers Mr. W. Harrison had a bad fall and seriously injured himself. At first the doctors feared that grave consequences might result, but, thanks to an iron constitution and indomitable pluck, the popular comedian was only three days out of the bill. In his enforced absence, Mr. Thomas Dearden, who has acted as "dresser" for Mr. Harrison for something like five years, but who had histrionic aspirations, stepped into the breach and had the opportunity of his life. He was complimented by the management (who rewarded him liberally for his services, given at a short notice), and by his fellow-performers, while Mr. Arthur Linforth, the producer of the pantomime, was so pleased that he immediately booked him for next year.

THERE were reports current on Wednesday in variety circles that the Moss and Stoll houses would be tackled by the National Alliance; but the following letter from Mr. George Gray, one of the chief speakers at the mass meeting at the Surrey, to Mr. P. A. Lennon, manager of the Camberwell Palace, shows that rumour to be groundless. Writing from South-place, Kennington, Mr. Gray says:—"Dear Mr. Lennon,—My voice has entirely left me, and enclosed is doctor's certificate. Do please apologise to the audience for me. My disappointment is far keener than theirs can possibly be by my enforced absence. I should not like your patrons to think that the Camberwell Palace was within the strike area. I would like them to thoroughly understand that the Palace is under the direction of Oswald Stoll, who has never made any agreement with an artist but what he has carried out."

CHUNG LING SOO, the Chinese magician, who is appearing this week at Hull, was the victim of a violent assault in that city on Monday. He visited the Alexandra Docks to ascertain whether some scenery had arrived, when he was set upon by two rough-looking men, one of whom struck him on the head with a heavy instrument. His assailants then took to flight, evidently discovering that they had mistaken their man, for Chung Ling Soo is certain that it was a case of mistaken identity. Chung Ling Soo did not discover that the men had gone until some time had elapsed, for at the outset he was dazed, and when he did recover he thought it best to immediately return to his rooms and have his injuries attended to.

BERT OLRAC, late of the Boisset's famous Up the River pantomime, is now working a successful trampoline bar act with Sanger's Hippodrome.

MASTER CLIFFORD is scoring a success on the Moss and Stoll tour, where his dancing and comedy business have been highly praised.

THERE was no meeting of the executive committee of the Music Hall Artists Railway Association on Wednesday, as there was not a quorum present.

MISS ETHEL DONNA has been doing exceedingly well, and her coon singing and clever dancing meet with decided approval. Hereditary talent again! She happens to be the daughter of Cliff Ryland, whose drollery is known from Peckham to the Pacific slope.

IT is very probable that in the near future the Sisters Poole, who have scored an enviable success in Mr. Fred Granville's production of The Forty Thieves at Derby, Stoke-on-Trent, and this week at the Metropole, Manchester, will appear in an ambitious dramatic sketch, specially written for them. Although, up to the present, these winsome young ladies have confined their attention to singing and speciality dancing, they have given indications of histrionic ability.

THE London Coliseum will shortly be offered for sale by auction by Mr. Benjamin I'Anson Breach, of the firm of Farebrother, Ellis, Egerton, Breach, Galsworthy and Co., of 29, Fleet-street. The property is described as a magnificent palace of varieties, with extensive stage, three revolving tables, and all modern appliances for producing most realistic effects, together with scenery, wardrobe, copyright songs, and other properties, with the advantage of possession on completion of the purchase. There are in addition valuable freehold and leasehold business premises, &c., in St. Martin's-lane, Chandos-street, and Taylor's-buildings, let and producing about £1,510 per annum. Two syndicates are said to be contemplating the purchase.

TO-DAY is the silver wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Coborn. "Twenty-five very happy years with the kindest of husbands!" says Mrs. Coborn. "Two out of the seven children have taken to heart the sentiment of Tom Costello's song, and 'sailed away'—a daughter to Yokohama and a son to Valparaiso. We hope, of course, that the latter part of the chorus will one day be realised. Anyhow, they have made a good start. The boy (Colin, aged 19) started at £200 per annum, with a substantial rise each year." We join in the congratulations that we feel sure will be showered on the happy pair.

MR. HARRY MOUNTFORD, the chairman of the Variety Artists' Federation, appeared at Bow-street on Thursday to apply for protection against the employés of a proprietor by whom, he alleged, he had been threatened. Sir Albert De Rutzen promised to send an officer to caution the persons concerned.

MR. FRANK MACNAGHTEN, in connection with the Britannia Theatre, one of the "chartered" houses, has continued Mrs. Sarah Lane's benevolent practice of giving free dinners to children at the Alexandra Trust, City-road, on Saturdays. Since December 8000 such dinners have been provided by him.

THE ridiculous statement got abroad during the week that Mr. Beerbohm Tree had intended to appear at a music hall, but had been dissuaded from so doing by the Federation. Of course, there was not an iota of probability in such a canard. The services of Miss Camille Clifford and the Gibson Girls were offered to the Tivoli; but on learning of the strike the Hon. Mrs. Lyndhurst Bruce decided not to appear.

"PRINCESS TRIXIE," commanded to appear before the King and Queen at Windsor yesterday, has, unfortunately, fallen a victim to pneumonia, and was consequently prevented from fulfilling her engagement. Her present condition is very serious, her temperature being abnormally high, but it is hoped that with care and skilful treatment she will speedily be able to renew her instructive and interesting performances at the Palace.

As was to be expected after the success made by Fragson in last year's and the present pantomime at Drury Lane, his services have been in great request, and offers of engagements have poured in from all parts of the world. America and France have particularly competed, and in the end Paris has succeeded in tempting the wanderer to return, temporarily, to the boulevards at a larger salary than has ever before been paid to a British-born variety artist. On Easter Monday, after the run of Sindbad, Fragson opens at the Tivoli here with a new budget of songs, and will also introduce some monologues he made so popular in France. He remains at the Strand house until June, and in July goes on a short concert tour round the English seaside resorts. Then early in September he will begin an engagement at the Scala, in Paris.

THE matinée at the Alhambra yesterday (Friday), in aid of the Jamaica Disaster Fund, was under the patronage and in the presence of the Lord Mayor and Sheriffs of the City of London, who attended in semi-state. An especially strong programme was presented, including the Zancig mystery.

THE Granville, Walham Green, just now has possibly the youngest chef d'orchestre of any hall in the kingdom in the person of Mr. R. E. Wilding, who, though but twenty-three, directs his forces with the skill and judgment of a much older man. Mr. W. H. Lennon, the new acting-manager, has already made a host of friends by his suavity and attention to visitors' comfort.

THERE have been many versions of Sydney Carton's Sacrifice, presented on the stage, but it has been left to Mr. B. Soane Roby to write a sketch of this name from the incidents in Dickens' "Tale of Two Cities" for presentation to a variety theatre audience. This will be played at Camberwell Palace during the week commencing Jan. 28.

"MOVING IN," one of Herbert Darnley's latest sketches, will be the principal attraction at the Hackney Empire next week. This is a screaming travesty on the trials and tribulations of a family emigrating to a new house, and winds up with a realistic explosion, the result of one of the new occupants looking for an escape of gas with a naked light. The fun waxes fast and furious throughout, and lacks none of the knockabout element.

OWING to the indisposition of Miss Lelia Roze, Miss Ellaline Thorne undertook, at short notice, the part of Prince Casimir at Marlborough Theatre on Friday night and Saturday matinée and evening of last week. Miss Thorne was complimented by many who witnessed her performance, and was the recipient of a large basket of flowers.

MISS EVELYN TAYLOR, the "girl with a style of her own," to-day possesses a record. On Wednesday night she gave eight performances at London music halls. On Thursday she was singing at nine "shows." Miss Taylor is a Leeds girl, petite, but full of pluck. That was shown on Wednesday night when some of the strikers showed a disposition to hustle her as she stepped out of her motor-car. Indeed, had it not been for the presence of her business manager, Mr. Leo Fritz, she probably would have suffered somewhat. As it was, Mr. Fritz had to stand the hustling, and Miss Taylor escaped. Next week Miss Taylor will try and manage ten turns nightly.

MR. TOM FANCOURT will shortly produce, on an elaborate scale, Off to Gretna Green, a new and original comic opera, in thirty minutes, which is something on original lines, so far as the variety stage is concerned. It is in three scenes, the book being by Wellesley Smith and the music by George Ess and Julian Rutt. Mr. Fancourt has had great experience in musical plays, being principal comedian for some time with Mr. George Edwards, Mouillot and Morrell, and Tom B. Davis, and has also been associated with the variety profession for a number of years.

MISS DOLLY ANDREWS has accepted a song from the pen of Mr. Chris Carlton, entitled "The Lady's Maid." It has a pleasing melody, and the chorus instantly caught on. This young and rising artist has been re-engaged to return to Liverpool for three weeks, and is not yet eighteen years of age.

MANY friends will regret to know that Mrs. Julia Woolf, the mother of Jack Woolf, of Wonderland fame, and grandmother of Gipsy and Lily Woolf, died on Monday, Jan. 21, aged seventy-six, and was buried at the Jewish burial ground, Plaistchett, East Ham, on Friday.

BERT COOTE'S Kiddies are performing many successful numbers in costume, and contingents of them are brightening pantomimes in Suburbia and the provinces by a happy combination of high spirits, light-hearted gaiety, and a real fitness for entertaining in well-chosen song and dance. The London Yankee Doodle Girls—to give them their full title—have been scoring most unmistakably at the Camden, from the moment of the first production of Mr. Robert Arthur's funny and refined version of Cinderella, but the brilliancy of their stage triumphs has been greatly enhanced this week by their initiation of a unique dance—the most novel thing of its kind that we have seen during a long experience of "entertainments of the stage."

THE house is thrown into darkness, and immediately eerie figures in pierrot costumes, gleaming with a sort of white incandescence, flit about the stage like so many will-o'-the-wisps. Their movements, at first rhythmic and harmonious, become eccentric, and a weird effect is created when their bodies seem to leave their legs, which still go on dancing. One of them does a skipping-rope dance, and their pretty and effective manœuvres on the night of our visit to the house were watched with astonishment, admiration, and absorbed interest. Mr. Bert Coote may be complimented on his acquisition of a most attractive novelty, which, we understand, has been exploited in America.

MISS VESTA TILLEY comes to the Palace Theatre next Monday, and will "present" three new songs, "I'm a bachelor," "Jolly good luck to the girls"—a Militia song—and a third, which she is very delighted with, "King Baby," the notion of the song being, of course, derived from the famous picture, "His Majesty the Baby." Miss Tilley, who "goes" everywhere, is sure of a welcome at the beautiful Palace.

MR. BLYTH PRATT, previous to the strike, issued a very ingenious form of advertisement in the form of "Box Office Telepathygrams," handed in at the Planet Mars, dealing with the mystifying performances of the Nassaus.

"THE QUEEN OF SPADES," the new Alhambra ballet that has been devised by Signor Curti and composed by Signor Mario Costa, will probably be produced at that house on Feb. 11. The first scene is outside a foreign kursaal. In the second, a fanciful one, the dream of the hero is unfolded, and a gorgeous ballet of cards and liqueurs is presented, the figurantes appearing as jacks and aces, kings and queens, benedictines, chartreuses, curaçoas, and so on. This will be a very beautiful spectacle, ending with a wonderful moving game of bridge, a remarkable novelty. But there is a scene even more splendid. "Our hero" dreams that he is parched with thirst, slaked at first, but afterwards aggravated by the orgy of alcoholism through which he has just passed. Then there comes to him his own true love, the simple maiden who brings him water. It is the apotheosis of water—the whole stage is given to it. The coryphées dance in water, while birds, electrically lit, skim over its limpid surface.

MR. HYMACK, the novel entertainer who is working a comparatively speaking unexplored mine of humour with great and deserved success, has just finished a prolonged engagement at the Empire, Leicester-square, where he has become such a favourite that he has been offered by Mr. Hitchens, and has accepted, a return date in June.

"THE PROFLIGATE KING" is the title of a new costume sketch which will be played at the Standard, Pimlico, on Monday and during the week, by Mr. Albert Ward, late leading man with Wilson Barrett, Isaac Cohen, and other big managers of the theatres. The sketch, on its initial production at Poplar last month, achieved a thoroughly genuine success. It is a romantic costume episode of the Lewis Waller order, and managers on the look-out for something new would do well to see this production.

THE Islington Empire anniversary, celebrated on Friday, the 18th, as usual brought together huge audiences at both houses, eager to sample the fine and large programme which Mr. George Wilson and Mr. Harry Blight had arranged. After a spirited overture had been played by the band, under Mr. Alf. Petersen, the following artists appeared in rapid succession:—Arthur Gill, Marie Blythe, Lloyd Morgan, Belle Bolton, Clemart, Bros. Buchanan, Jack Lane, the Three Cape Girls, Chas. Bignell, Billy Hobbs, Juno May, the Black and White Quartette, Stelling and his dog, Howard and Collison, Leonard Mortimer and company, in the sketch, Captain Kettle, Amber Austa, Maud and Sidney Wood, Chrissy Cross, Boy Glen, the Donohoes, Tom Carney, Harry Tipton, Bert Elmore, Dan Kirton, Scottie, Webb and Branston, Will Van Allen, Bonnie Goodwin and her coons, Nina Martino, Harry Champion, Mendel, Lilian Elfreda, Wilson Hallett, J. W. Winton, Joe Chinn, F. Martenengo, and Tony Tant. Many of these turns appeared in both houses. The stage was under the direction of Mr. Alf. Bishop and Mr. R. Dallinger, who rattled on the turns at lightning speed; in fact, all the staff worked hard to beat the record of all past anniversaries, and they succeeded.

MISS ROSE HAMILTON has scored a gratifying success at the Metropole, Glasgow, as Prince Radiant, in Albert and Edmund's production of The Babes. She is giving a matinée on the 25th to 2000 little children who cannot afford to pay to see the pantomime; each child will be presented with a bun and an orange on entering the theatre.

MR. WOOLMER YOUNG, whose "Deal, shuffle, and deal," by Harry Adams and E. Woodville, took Camberwell Palace and Walham Green audiences by storm recently, was presented on the last night of his engagement, by a few prominent habitués of the former hall, with a gold horseshoe pin with seven diamonds. It is a good augury for this promising artist that this dramatic song is from the same pen that supplied that great artist, the late Chas. Godfrey, with "On guard."

AT Hengler's Circus on Monday will be produced a comical revue, entitled Clownland, written by Mr. Arthur Coomber, and there will be other changes in the bill.

THE Oxford announces the important engagement on Monday of Mr. R. A. Roberts, the famous protean actor, in Dick Turpin, the whole written, and the five chapters played, by himself, including a Bow-street runner, an inn-keeper, a Yorkshire farmer, a lady of title, and Dick Turpin, the highwayman.

A DRAMATIC sketch, entitled The Debt, will be produced at the Bedford on Thursday afternoon next by Miss Hélène Forest and a strong company.

SINGERS of the topical sort have been ridiculing for some years, in more or less well-written lyrics, the opinions and pretensions of Mr. Keir Hardie; but the National Alliance is receiving considerable help from the Labour Party, of which he is the chief.

The latest quotations of music-hall shares are as follows:—Alhambra, 1⅞; Canterbury, ⅞; Empire (15s. paid), 1⅛; Ditto (10s. paid), 1⅛; London Pavilion Ordinary, ⅞; Ditto Preference, 5; London Coliseum, ⅛; Metropolitan, ⅞; Moss Empire, 5⅛; ditto, 5 per cent. Preference, 3⅛; Oxford, 6⅛; Palace, 11s.; Tivoli, 6⅛; Var. Cons. Theatres, 13s.

SONGS, WRITERS, AND SINGERS.

MR. JOE ARCHER will produce shortly a new song entitled, "There's a Jill for every Jack and a Jack for every Jill," written and composed by Harry Wincott and Harry Staunton. The Shapiro, Von Tilzer Music Co., Ltd., have secured the publishing rights, and will issue it immediately in their popular Sixpenny Edition.

THE Shapiro, Von Tilzer Music Co., Ltd., have just secured the publishing rights of two new songs written and composed by Mr. R. P. Weston, entitled, "Put that in your pipe and smoke it," and "You're looking remarkably well, considering."

A PHENOMENALLY successful song, and one that is very much in evidence just now at many places of amusement, both in London and the provinces, is Pelham, Butts, and Rule's amusing ditty, "She didn't come from Borneo," published by the Monte Carlo Publishing Co. in their "Sixpenny Successes" series.

A NOTICEABLE feature at the Oxford last Tuesday evening was the ubiquity of the Monte Carlo Publishing Co.'s successful song, by Ballard Macdonald and Donovan Meher, "My tiny firefly," for not only did Miss Dorothy L. Clark sing the song, but a troupe of juvenile performers and another lady also rendered it during the same evening on the same stage. The same thing occurred with the same song at the Holborn Empire.

A WONDERFULLY "taking" song of the coon "motto" order, written and composed by John P. Harrington and Jas. W. Tate, and entitled "You don't miss de water till dere ain't none in de well," is issued by the Monte Carlo Publishing Co., and several well-known artists are already exploiting this tuneful number, which bids fair to become immensely popular. A few further singing permissions will be granted for a week or two.

MESSRS. PAUL PELHAM and Herbert Rule are responsible for no less than four of the Monte Carlo Publishing Co.'s latest advertised "springy" songs, viz.: "I'm thinking always of you," "Don't be afraid, little soldier," "Belle of the Dardanelles," and the big music hall and pantomime success, "She didn't come from Borneo."

THE Monte Carlo Publishing Co. have this week acquired from Messrs. Mellor, Lawrance, and Gifford a great new song, with a German environment, which is now in the press, and the title of which will be advertised next week. Artists are advised to make immediate application to the publishers for permission to sing this song, as only a very limited number of permissions will be granted, and these will be accorded in the same order that applications are received.

IT is a novel idea for one firm of publishers to simultaneously publish two "German" songs written by the same authors and composers; but this is what the Monte Carlo Publishing Co. are doing, as in addition to the song referred to in the preceding paragraph, they also have in the press "My château on the Rhine," also by Mellor, Lawrance, and Gifford.

"THE GIRL FROM BIARRITZ."

A Comedy-Sketch, by Leonard Robson, produced for the first time in London at the Chelsea Palace, on Monday, Jan. 21.

Mr. Charles Flutter ....MR. LEONARD ROBSON
Mr. Anthony Crieff .....MR. IVAN BERLYN
Miss Angela Criss .....MISS ELLA KITSON

The ubiquitous "girl" is once again prominent in a comedy-sketch which had its first London production at the Chelsea Palace on Monday. Her introduction comes about through an eccentric will left by the uncle of Mr. Charles Flutter, which provides that unless he marries his cousin before five o'clock on a certain day the sum of £600,000 will go to the founding of a university among the Zambeesi. It is now within a few hours of the prescribed time, and the solicitor who has the matter in hand is in the deepest despair because all his advertisements in "agony columns" have failed to discover the whereabouts of the lady. Charles himself does not seem to care a cent for his uncle's gold, having determined to marry a young lady whom he met in Biarritz, and of whom he has just caught a fleeting view in a cab at Charing-cross. While Charles has gone in pursuit of the fateful vehicle a lady enters with a letter, but the solicitor is too perturbed to attend to her, and sends her away. After she has disappeared he opens the letter, only to find to his dismay that the bearer was the very person for whom he had been searching, but is now on her way to New York. The lawyer is on the verge of madness; but, fortunately, the lady, having forgotten to leave her address, returns, and Charles, coming back from his fruitless errand, recognises in her the captivating damsel from the Continent, with the result that he gets both the money and the maid.

Mr. Ivan Berlyn, whose valuable work on the regular stage will be remembered, adapts himself admirably to the requirements of the part of the elderly solicitor, his droll capers and demonstrations of despair causing constant laughter. Mr. Berlyn has a voice of remarkable timbre, which he turned to the purposes of merriment, the eccentricities of the old lawyer being delineated with rare effect, and the art of facial expression was seldom used to better purpose. As Mr. Chas. Flutter, the author gave a realistic sketch of the infatuated youth, careless of everything except that which affects the object of his infatuation, and acted with buoyancy and ardent expression. The girl from Biarritz was suitably realised by Miss Ella Kitson, who imparted agreeable ingenuousness to the rôle. The sketch was received with the utmost favour.

TWO HOUSES A NIGHT.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE ERA.

SIR,—Re the two-shows-a-night system run by Mr. Harry De Freece at the Alhambra Music Hall, Manchester-street, Liverpool, you say twenty-six years ago I worked the two-houses-a-night there for Mr. H. D. thirty-eight years ago, and did three turns a night at the Oxford Music Hall, Liverpool (now the American Bar), during the same weeks. But previous to this date I was offered an engagement to play at the Cosmotheca Music Hall, Wells-street, Edgware-road, run by Mr. Sinclair, two houses nightly. This was in November, 1867. It was at this hall that the late dear Dan made his first appearance in a pair of tights adapted from his mother's stockings. The first music hall in Great Britain to adopt the term "variety theatre" was Geo. Harwood's in Pitfield-street, Hoxton (now the King's, Hoxton), in about 1870, with two shows nightly. Then there was the Eastern Alhambra, run by Tanner and Parks, two shows a night and on Saturdays three.—Faithfully yours,

J. W. ROWLEY.

MISS MILLIE HOWELL has left London for a ten weeks' provincial tour, returning to town April 1 to open on the Moss and Stoll tour at the Stratford Empire.

MR. GUS ELEN, who motored down to Olympia recently, was seen shortly afterwards proudly mounted on a massive elephant, looking as comfortable on his perch as the mahout of a maharajah. A remarkable thing about the ride was that the gentle pachyderm was led by Mr. Jimmy Glover, a pioneer of high-class music on the South Coast, the Mayor of Bexhill-on-Sea, and the popular chef d'orchestre of Old Drury.

LONDON VARIETY THEATRES.

THE ALHAMBRA.

The programme at the Moresque palace in Leicester-square continues to be of the super-excellent character demanded by its very fastidious habitués. The beautifully-staged ballet, Parisiana, goes as merrily as ever, the audience fully appreciating the various incidents pantomimically introduced by the leaders. The beautiful costumes and unerring exactitude with which the members of the ballet perform the labyrinthine evolutions, combine, with the catching music, to produce an entertainment well calculated to dispel even the ill-humour of the most grumpy misanthrope. Ventriloquism is an art which has a perennial fascination for the public, and when it is of a humorous character it is specially appreciated by the younger generation, who, at this season, constitute a strong element in the audiences at all our places of lighter entertainment. Mr. J. W. Winton is a thoroughly successful exponent of the art, his humour taking the form of a running fire of very uncomplimentary personalities directed against himself by his doll McGinty.

Mechanical toys have, at the present time, realised a wonderful degree of perfection, but they will never probably attain to the marvellous ingenuity of De Witt, Burns, and Torrance, who give a very attractive gymnastic display, their first appearance being in the guise of dolls, which, however, soon display a very superior degree of agility. The equilibristic act by the two male performers is characterised by a daring which could only be justified by the absolute perfection reached. Mr. Gobert Belling, with the assistance of a highly-trained mule, donkey, circus horse, and boarhound, gives a most mirth-provoking imitation of a circus show. His appearance as an equestrienne of the haute école is so utterly absurd as to thoroughly merit the recall which is awarded him. Cherry blossom is the prevailing feature in a really lovely Japanese scene, designed by Mr. E. H. Ryan, and "Home again, my Cherry Blossom," is the pretty title of a very charming song, in which Miss Annie Mars continues to receive an enthusiastic reception. This approval is by no means to be laid to the account of our present very friendly feelings towards our allies in the land of the chrysanthemum, but to the inherent beauty of the whole scena itself.

The feeling of perplexed wonder which the Zancigs at first elicited is in no way allayed as their visit to the metropolis draws to a close. Although the columns of our contemporaries have contained innumerable explanations of "how it is done," there is still apparently a very large section of the public who are not yet quite convinced of the accuracy of these more or less probable solutions, and who are still quite prepared to be entertained by the amazing precision with which Mme. Zancig reads the names on visiting cards, the dates on coins, and the numbers of watches. Whether the explanation lies in the discovery of some new manifestation of those ethereal emanations whose first investigation is associated with the name of Crookes, and whose later developments are due to Röntgen, or whether we have merely a demonstration of superlatively clever trickery, is really a matter of small moment. The conclusion arrived at by an audience whose real object is to be amused is that the "turn" is the finest of its kind yet placed before the public, and that until they are superseded the Zancigs deserve all the popularity they now enjoy.

That L'Amour is the finest terpsichorean display which even the Alhambra has ever offered is an opinion long ago expressed, and the warmth of its nightly reception shows no signs of abatement. The scenery is of thoroughly Oriental magnificence, to which the weird music of M. Francis Thomé contributes in no small degree. Signorina Morina, the petite and graceful première danseuse, is an Alhambra favourite whose airy gyrations are a perfect embodiment of the poetry of motion. The Urbanora pictures still command, by their wonderful realism, unstinted admiration. The scene entitled "Puck's Pranks on a Suburbanite" is a proof of the wonderful adaptability of scenic arrangement to which the bioscope can attain; while the trip across the Atlantic in a big liner gives us a good idea of what "a life on the ocean wave" is now really like. When one watches from the stern of the big ship the receding track of snow-white foam churned up by the propellors, one listens instinctively for the warning bell of the patent log to record the quickly-passing knots, or when from the bridge we watch the huge breast of water thrown out by the steamer's bow, or see a big roller break over the forecastle head, we can hardly suppress an involuntary "Oh!" or refrain from making a rush for the shelter of some protecting weather-cloth.

Mr. George W. Byng's splendid orchestra has never been heard to greater advantage than in its rendering of the "Silver Trumpets" march as an introduction, or the always popular William Tell overture as a selection during the interval.

THE TIVOLI.

The strike had a strangely contradictory effect at the Tivoli on Wednesday night. In conjunction with the intense cold, it reduced the audience to most discouraging limits, but as regards the programme which Mr. Joseph Wilson succeeded in presenting it is questionable whether it was not almost as good as it would have been had there been no strike. The conductor found himself supported by only three violinists and a clarionet player, and to these a very able pianist proved a strong reinforcement. Apparently a good many of the audience expected that there would be some excitement furnished by interruptions caused by members or friends of the Federation, but in this they were practically disappointed. There was certainly a little good-humoured raillery from the gallery, but in the balcony, where there were to be observed a number of well-known members of the music-hall world, practically perfect order prevailed. One youthful enthusiast attached to the end of a cigarette, on venturing to audibly advise one of the opening performers to "go home," had his attention drawn by one of the attendants to the convenient proximity of an urbane policeman and immediately collapsed into a respectful enjoyment of the rest of the programme. At the other end of the balcony three stylishly-dressed ladies, who were probably a deputation from the Suffragettes' headquarters in the not far distant Clement's Inn, and who had scented an opening for a little further cheap notoriety, proved perfectly amenable to the gentle remonstrances of Mr. James Howell, and apparently determined to reserve their exertions for the more classic arena of Westminster.

The Romsakoff Troupe gave an interesting display of drill in the Russian Army. They excited a considerable amount of amusement by their exaggerated use of the "goose-step," but the precision exhibited in all their movements secured them a cordial reception. A rather long wait ensued, during which a gentleman in the gallery requested his money back, and then a lady and gentleman gave an excellent selection on cornets and trumpets. Miss Ethel Walker, by her capital rendering of two songs to her own pianoforte accompaniment, won the very hearty approval of even those among the audience who were somewhat inimical. "Are we downhearted?" and "It's all right now" constituted a logical sequence which the audience seemed to regard as peculiarly in keeping with the crisis through which the profession was passing. Mr. George Beale, in giving a song and dance, was subjected to a little interruption, but by calmly ignoring this gained a goodly share of applause. Miss Frances Roscona sang an amusing song, "Don't say a word, just wink," which under more favourable circumstances would have obtained a recall. Miss Kitty Loftus had as enthusiastic an ovation as the somewhat attenuated audience was capable of. Her song, "Don't you think the little girl was right?" was thoroughly appreciated, while "A splendid force the police" contained just sufficient well-deserved praise to justify her agreeable banter of the London bobby.

Mr. Stanley Cook presented an amusing sketch, entitled The Lady Doctor, his somewhat indistinct voice being accounted for by the fact that he had been "obliging" at a number of other halls. Mr. Tom Clare's laughable musically illustrated story of the troubles of an elocutionist reciting "Eugene Aram" to the accompaniment of a pianist accustomed to play at bioscope exhibitions was original and very funny. Miss Kitty Malone sang "I'm a Yankee girl" in smart and pleasing style, and then Mrs. Brown-Potter was heard in a finished rendering of "The legend of the daisies." As an elocutionist Mrs. Brown-Potter has few rivals at present on the stage, and the audience insisted on having an encore. In "The way to use your fan" she imparted a delightful lesson in the graceful art of ballroom coquetry by which the happy male biped may be lured to beauty's feet. It is unfortunate that those illustrious foreign artists, Prince and Princess de Broglie, should be in London while this dispute is raging. However, they must have been gratified at the warmth of cheering accorded to the Princess's delivery of "The Swanee River" and "Annie Laurie." It is to be hoped that a larger orchestra will soon obey the lead of the Prince's bâton. Mr. W. Frampton showed how a clever actor might in an emergency play all the parts of a burlesque drama—a lesson which no doubt the Tivoli management regarded with approval. Miss Collette furnished proof of considerable talent as a vocal mimic, and Mr. Kenneth Lawson managed to cram the maximum of dry humour into his musical entertainment.

To the music-hall strike the public will always owe one debt—that is the discovery of such a singer as Miss Zetland. To a charming personality she adds a beautiful voice very well trained, and her rendering of "I loved you so" and "Sing me to sleep" earned for her an ovation in inverse proportion to the size of her audience. She will certainly ere long take a high place on our platforms as an exponent of high-class music. Mr. Joseph Wilson had acted throughout the evening as a sort of chairman, announcing the various artists, and the genial smile with which he addressed the house went far to dissipate any incipient signs of disturbance. When he thanked the audience at the close the round of applause which greeted him showed that the trying nature of his position was fully realised by everyone.

THE CANTERBURY.

Thursday night's audience at the Canterbury was not a large one, but it was one, apparently, perfectly willing to extend a great deal of good-humoured sympathy to the management in their difficulties. And, after all, it speaks volumes for the kindliness of a London audience, the major portion of which was composed of the working class, that in no single instance was any artist, however feeble his or her efforts, "guyed." It would have been interesting to know what the real opinion of the public on this vexed question was, and the writer watched closely the faces of those around him and of others still further away, but failed to detect anything but the utmost indifference to the whole matter. Of course, this may be explained by the fact that the public do not understand the issue in dispute.

Mr. Fred Miller succeeded in getting together a fairly efficient orchestra over which Mr. Archie Howells, the conductor, presided at the piano. A printed programme, detailing twenty-three items, was issued. Miss Tots Davis came as an extra turn. First she appeared as a lodging-house slavey, with a song declaring her aspirations to marry into the ranks of the aristocracy. Her other ditty, "When you are promenading on the jetty," enlivened as it was by a smart dance, proved hugely to the delight of the audience. The Howes gave a thought-reading exposition, which was in every respect equal to that provided by the Zancigs at the Alhambra. Their method of interpretation was exactly the same, with the exception that the lady is blindfolded. Of course, the éclat of the Zancigs' was absent, but in every other respect this performance was as bewildering, as mysterious, and as clever as the one in Leicester Square. Lockhart's Elephants presented a remarkable demonstration of animal intelligence. They seemed almost to watch the movements of their trainer, Captain Taylor, and fully to enter into the fun of the show. Mr. Edward Cranston and Mrs. Bennett submitted a clever little melodramatic sketch, entitled Terry; or, True to His Trust. Mr. Cranston furnished a well-considered portrayal of the best qualities of the Irish peasant, and Mrs. Bennett was bright and vivacious as the heroine. A couple of talented vocalists, Messrs. Norman and Phillips, occupied the stage for a few minutes, and the audience would have been quite willing to have heard more of them. Their duets, "Here's to our Empire united" and a battle song, were rendered in exquisite style. Roland and Oliver appeared in a little dramatic episode, Her Last Dance, which was capably acted; and Norman and Vanderbilt presented an amusing duologue, My Wife's Peculiarities. Miss Jessie Huddlestone, the original La Poupée, enchanted her hearers with her delivery of "Good-bye, summer"; and others who lent able assistance in the entertainment were Mr. Percy Cahill, comedian; Deal and Broadway, duettists and dancers; Miss Elsie Deane, comedienne; Miss Elsie Enry, serio and dancer; Mr. Fred Stuart, comedian; Miss Sybil Montague, vocalist; Young Vento, descriptive vocalist; Miss Flossie Behrens, lady whistler; the Yorkshire Mill Lads; Miss Florence Moody, in monologue; Miss May Gurney, in a medley of Old English ballads; Mr. Fred Elmont, comedian; Bothwell and Ward, patter comedians; and Ruffell's Imperial Bioscope.

HACKNEY EMPIRE.

Another new production occupies a prominent position in the current programme at this popular place of amusement. The novelty is entitled The Freaks, and is played by Mr. Herbert Darnley's company of comedians. There are three scenes, and the plot is of very minor importance, being quite subservient to the rollicking fun and frolic on which the new production depends for its success. A comical Colonel, with a stiff leg, is determined to prevent, if possible, the marriage of his son, a Captain in the Army, with a young lady known as the Princess Ruby. The lovers join a circus company, and, after various adventures, succeed in their purpose. The first scene represents a Dutch fair in full swing, and a merry crowd fills the stage. Here we make the acquaintance of the Princess Ruby and her friend, La Belle Pepita, the wonderful lady snake-charmer, who quickly becomes the object of amorous attentions on the part of Colonel Slachter, quite a typical military lady-killer. Then the crowd makes way for the entrance of the freaks, which include a camel, a wild man, a giant, a dwarf, and, of course, a bearded lady. A couple of comic burglars named Vinkel and Vogel are mistaken by the Colonel for detectives, whom he has engaged to discover the whereabouts of his son, and they are not slow to benefit by the error. The living curiosities are again in evidence in the second scene, the Freak Museum, where the gay Captain is discovered disguised as the bearded lady, and amusing complications follow. The third and last scene—inside the Circus—presents quite a realistic picture, the seats around the ring being occupied by spectators, while the Princess Ruby rides around on a fine horse, her lover acting the part of the ring-master; La Belle Pepita also goes through a performance with her snakes, and one of the comic burglars, a couple that are prominent throughout, finding that they have been discovered, and that the place is surrounded by the police intent on their capture, takes a dive into the big gun, and becomes "a human bullet." The members of the cast work hard and with satisfactory results. Miss Madge Merry is a fine representative of La Belle Pepita, and Miss Georgina Leno does well as the Princess Ruby. Messrs. Bertie Wright and Albert Weston, as Vinkel and Vogel, make good use of their opportunities for the introduction of extravagant comic business. Mr. Charles H. Adeson furnishes a laughable sketch of Colonel Slachter, who walks with a stiff leg; and Mr. William A. Armour is active and alert as the Captain. The Misses Vic Charleton, Daisy Nelson, Daisy Byford, and Cora Weldon make handsome military officers in attendance on the Colonel. Several well-known names appear in the cast, Mr. Mark Sheridan, jun., representing Lieut. Peters, Mr. Tom Costello, jun., Lieut. Knapps, and Mr. Johnny Scholfield as Lieut. Schnapps.

D'Arc's Marionettes are exceedingly cleverly worked, and the impersonations include many of the most popular variety artists of the day. The Trapnell Family, in their acrobatic and tumbling entertainment, meet with unqualified success. The girls who take part are remarkably graceful and supple in their movements, and are evidently in the very pink of condition. The only male member of the troupe is also a skilled and well-practised performer, and takes a full share of the honours. Very welcome is the appearance of Miss Amy Clevere, always artistic and refined in manner, and an excellent vocalist as well. She sings with much charm "I can't come out" and a pretty love ballad, both of which are received with much applause. Dome, dressed in the garb of a labourer, contributes to the entertainment as a comedy clay-modeller. With this plastic material he, with a few deft touches, models portraits of famous people. Miss Fanny Erris looks well in the picturesque costume of the time of George the Third, and sings with good effect "In days gone by," illustrating the last verse of her song by a sword exercise. Mr. Clarence C. Corri's company is appearing here in the pathetic musical episode, entitled Heart Strings. Miss Gladys Hooley, who plays one of the three parts, gives evidence of her skill as a violinist, and is applauded. Miss Nellie Coleman, described as "the only lady comedian," gives a realistic character-sketch of a tramp, with a song, "Looking for employment." The lady, in an original line of business, is well received. The Cambrian Trio of lady vocalists sing tunefully, and are dressed in becoming costumes. The American Bioscope has a very amusing subject this week—"The Animated Mattress"—which evokes peals of laughter. Mr. John Christie, the acting-manager here, announces that a special matinée, in aid of the Lord Mayor's Cripples' Fund, will be held on Thursday, Feb. 21.

HAMMERSMITH PALACE.

There is a very amusing sketch this week at the Hammersmith Palace bearing the title of The Cruise of H.M.S. Victory, presented by Mr. Arthur Watson and company. In the first scene, which represents the grounds of a hotel overlooking a dock side, there enter a number of able seamen from abroad H.M.S. Victory—not, by the way, the Victory of Trafalgar's day, but a modern battleship. The sailors indulge in the usual jolly tar larks with some pretty waitresses. Later there arrives Lady Teasum in search of her long lost niece. She elicits the sympathy of one of the men who undertakes to keep a sharp lookout for a girl with "a black mark under her right ear." In an amusing scene the girl is identified by the merry tar, but before the discovery is made known to the aunt a little comedy is enacted between that worthy lady and her husband, Admiral Teasum, who suspects her of intrigue with a clergyman. The latter is really a sailor disguised in canonical attire. However, all ends well. Mr. Arthur Watson, as Jack Marlinspike, the mischievous sailor, is extremely entertaining; and Miss Flo Stanley is pretty and vivacious as Lady Teasum's niece. Mr. Harry Watson is boisterously jovial as Hatchway; Mr. Bob Leardo amusingly sustains an air of injured dignity as the Admiral; and Miss Maude Roberts contrives to add to the humour of the piece by her assumption of dignity in the rôle of Lady Teasum. Lively choruses are interpolated in the playlet.

As graceful and attractive as ever, Miss Marie Kendall offers some sentiments which are pleasing to a British ear. "England is good enough for me," she sings in her enchanting style; and, then, turning from the serious to the comic, she renders a laughable character song, entitled "Come away." Tray and Rich, the black and white-faced comedians, decide to join issue against each other in a contest of exaggerations. One tells of the wonderful things that are done in America and the extraordinary sights to be seen in that land of modern miracles; while his companion endeavours to go one better with the aid of his imagination. Messrs. Tray and Rich have a keen sense of the ridiculous, and one cannot keep a straight face while listening to their merry repartee. Mdlle. Rosina shows the funny side of a menagerie, consisting of a lion, tiger, elephant, giraffe, &c., represented by dogs, who seem to have been remarkably well trained and whose performance is most interesting. Mr. Steve McCarthy dilates upon the advantages of the possession of a bit of gold. He sings the lines in a clever character style, which he also brings to bear upon another ditty, "Love letters."

Mr. Charles Coverdale is deputising for Mr. Phil Bransby, the latter gentleman, who had been announced to appear, having been unable to turn up. Mr. Coverdale's vocal representation of a dog fight and his other imitations are characterised by a realism and naturalness highly suggestive of the careful development of remarkable gifts. From that charming and versatile "impressionist," Miss Alice Pierce, we get a series of impersonations of well-known actresses. Thus, we are treated to an imitation of Miss Lena Ashwell in Leah Kleschna, Mrs. Leslie Carter in Zaza, and Miss Victoria Monks in her song, "Ain't you gwine to say good-bye?" Every item in Miss Pierce's repertoire is a commendable portrayal. Mr. Charles Russell wins applause for his song scena, "It's a wonder what music will do," in which, in entertaining fashion, he describes the effect of various forms of melody upon various people in various circumstances. The Bohemians (Will and Madge) submit an attractive instrumental and comedy act; and Miss Lotte de Abbey's character impersonations of a Dutch girl and a baby are altogether praiseworthy. Mr. Harry Champion's popularity as a comedian is unabated. In his quick and quaint manner he delivers a couple of mirth-provoking items, one of which is called "What a mouth!" and the other, "Keep on!" The comedy acrobatics and vocalism of Mueller and Coyne cannot fail to find favour with a variety audience, and their business is never wearying, as it is constantly subjected to new ideas. Messrs. Samuel James and F. S. Jennings are presenting the dramatic episode, Vengeance. Mr. Jennings as Harry Gridge and Miss Cora Deane as Millicent Nelthorpe furnish some capital acting, and they are supported in able fashion by Miss Kate Fulton and Messrs. Harry Barford, A. T. Kaye, and H. C. Nerney. What cannot be described as anything but an admirable programme concludes with a delightful series of Edisonograph pictures.

(For Notices of Other Halls see pages 18 and 21.)

THROUGH the generosity of the management of the Theatre Royal, Leamington, the inmates of the Warwick Union, numbering upwards of 200, were allowed to visit a matinée performance of Mr. Milton Bode's fairy pantomime on Thursday, and, judging from their hearty applause and laughter, they thoroughly enjoyed the treat.

THE MUSIC HALL DISPUTE.

STRIKE OF STARS.

The prospects of peace between proprietor and performer have been shattered—for a temporary period only, we hope—by the most acute crisis that has ever arisen in the amusement world. It was evident from the tone and temper of the mass meeting at the Surrey Theatre on Sunday that some drastic step would be taken by the tripartite alliance between the Variety Artists' Federation, the National Union of Stage Employees, and the Amalgamated Musicians' Union. Even the inflammatory announcements of that meeting showed that the period of conciliation had passed, and at half-past twelve on Monday an ultimatum was sent to the office of Mr. Walter Gibbons, which was handed to him on his return there at six o'clock. By that time the Alliance had decided to allow no artist, musician, or Union stage employee to work at any hall under his control unless he signed the Charter, which he refused to do. The Alliance thereupon called out artists, bands, and stage-hands, and their action affected the Holborn Empire, the Islington Empire, the Hippodrome, Ealing, the Grand, Clapham Junction, the Croydon Empire, and the Duchess, Balham. The first intimation was conveyed to the artists and employees by the pickets of the Alliance, which met them as they entered the stage door of each house affected. At the Holborn a first performance was given by some artists hastily pressed into the service, and an accompanist was found, the place of the limelight man being filled by the cinematograph operator with his lantern. The audience took the situation good-temperedly in the main; though there was a noisy demonstration at the opening, which was, however, speedily quieted by a speech from Mr. Claude Marner, the manager. In his apology to the audience Mr. Marner stated that the grievance of the Alliance against Mr. Gibbons was that he refused to discharge old employees and replace them by Union men. A second performance was found to be impossible.

At the Grand, Clapham, the performance had commenced before the will of the Alliance had been made known; but pickets speedily arrived, and Mr. Henry Ketteman, the manager, had to give up the idea of continuing the programme, and the audience was dismissed, their money being refunded. The admission money was returned at the Islington Empire shortly after seven o'clock; and no performance could be given at the Empire, Croydon, the Duchess, Balham, or the Ealing Hippodrome. At the last-mentioned place a large first house had assembled, but the absence of the orchestra foreshadowed trouble. After a considerable period of waiting Mr. E. W. James, the manager, announced that, in consequence of the action of the Variety Artists' Alliance, and pending the result of a conference with Mr. Walter Gibbons, there would be no performance. A considerable amount of excitement was caused by this statement, both on the stage and in the house. Nevertheless the audience took its disappointment good-humouredly, and, being supplied with passes for any future performance, quietly dispersed.

Mr. Harry Mountford led the pickets, and the notice he displayed was the official notification of the strike issued by the Alliance, and signed by the secretaries of the three societies involved—Messrs. Frank Gerald, Joseph B. Williams, and William Johnson. The notice read as follows:—"To the members of the Alliance,—You are forbidden to enter any of the Gibbons' halls until you receive instructions for the bearer of this letter." Manager Grimes, of the Empress, Brixton, and the Putney Hippodrome, signed the Charter.

THE SYNDICATE HALLS INVOLVED.

On Tuesday the strike extended to the halls governed by Mr. George Adney Payne, who at 3.30 received a letter, of which the following is an extract:—

"Some information has reached us that, after agreeing to meet a representative of the National Alliance on Feb. 3, you sent a letter to most of your employees telling them that you did not intend to recognise the Alliance or any other societies composing it. Having regard to the fact that you are taking sides against us, and assisting Mr. Gibbons in his fight, we beg to inform you that unless the enclosed Charter is signed and returned to us by four o'clock to-day we shall consider ourselves free to take immediate action to protect our members."

The letter referred to was one written by Mr. Payne to the employees of his halls, telling them that his co-directors did not wish to influence them either to join or not to join any Union, as each man was judged solely by his individual performance of his duties. Mr. Payne replied as follows, addressing the letter to Mr. Frank Gerald:—

"In reply to your favour of to-day's date, I will put your letter before my co-directors at our next meeting to-morrow, and send their reply The appointment for Feb. 3 to which you refer, still holds good on our part. The communication to our employees to which you refer is of a different nature to that you speak of, and your information is, therefore, inaccurate. In the meantime, the whole matter is to be considered this week by the London Entertainment Protection Association in order, if possible, to arrive at a basis for mutual arrangement."

This communication was answered by the annexed ultimatum on Tuesday afternoon:—

"Dear Sir,—Your letter to hand. In reply thereto we beg to say that the Alliance Committee have decided, at the request of the members, to sanction their withdrawal from the following halls under your control to-night:—

Tivoli.	Canterbury.
Oxford.	Walthamstow Palace.
Euston	East Ham Empire.
Paragon.	South London Palace.

If we receive the signed copy of the Charter per bearer we can cancel this arrangement.—Yours sincerely, "FRANK GERALD."

Mr. Adney Payne, without authority from his co-directors, could not agree off-hand to a Charter that covered existing as well as future contracts, and all the terms of which had not been examined. He had no alternative, therefore, but to refuse to sign it, delivered as it was only two hours before the curtain was to rise at his various houses.

The Tivoli opened as usual shortly before eight o'clock; but the pickets had done their work, and soon after the doors opened Mr. James Howell came to the footlights and read the following manifesto:—

"I have to inform you that, so far as this hall is concerned, the Trade Union Committee governing the artists, musicians, and stage hands have suddenly determined to deprive the public of their entertainment to-night. So far as we can judge, this course has been adopted vindictively and without real reason. Nearly the whole of the staff and stage hands, who, as a rule, are paid union wages, have been employed for a great number of years without alleging any dissatisfaction, while the artists' salaries are the largest in all the world, many of them being equal to, and in some cases exceeding, those of Cabinet Ministers.

"The management are taking immediate steps to fill up any gaps in the programme occasioned by the sudden and very ill-advised course taken by the Union. We can but pity the many misguided artists and others who are being thrown out of employment, perhaps permanently, but we hope that wiser counsels will prevail. No grievance has at any time been unheeded on our part, and we have never refused to consider representations on the part of anyone employed by us."

The manager concluded with the statement that money would be returned at the doors, and asked the audience to disperse quietly. There was no disposition to do otherwise. The speech was received in silence, except for a few ironical cheers when the salaries of Cabinet Ministers were mentioned.

THE OXFORD.

Mr. Blyth-Pratt, the manager here, coped with a difficult situation with considerable tact and finesse. Vouchers were issued to those who paid for unreserved seats, in case the occupants wished for their money back, and a force of police was requisitioned to keep the pavement clear outside the stage-door; but there was not the slightest disorder. An attenuated orchestra took their seats, under the direction of Mr. Burgess, and Mr. Blyth-Pratt came to the front of the curtain and said:—"You are aware, ladies and gentlemen, of what is taking place, and I am sorry to tell you that the Variety Artists' Federation is endeavouring to prevent our artists working here to-night. I regret that it will be quite impossible to give our regular programme, but I am going to put forward an entertainment which I hope will really entertain you."

Among the entertainers announced by the manager were Mrs. Brown-Potter, who gave a recitation; Mr. Tom Clare, entertainer at the piano; Mr. Ted Thomas, who sang a jockey song; Mr. Jan Rudenyi; Mlle. D'Aubigny, from the Paris Opera House, who sang Tosti's "Good-bye" with much taste; the Hungarian violinist, who played a rhapsody; a diminutive Continental mandolinist, a decidedly good player, accompanied by a buxom vocalist; and a very welcome turn was supplied by Corman's Juveniles, who kept the show going with choruses, dancing, and ballads, the turn winding up with a gavotte in Watteau costumes, which fetched the house immensely. A very agreeable impression was caused by the appearance of Mrs. George Adney Payne, who returned to the stage temporarily to assist her husband in the crisis. Looking particularly winsome in a simple white evening dress, Mrs. Payne, who bravely overcame her nervousness, sang with much fervour and culture "The Holy City" and "Dear Heart." A couple of comic acrobats were also included in the scratch programme, and a comic singer. The audience behaved admirably, and were manifestly fair in their attitude, and applauded without stint when such recognition was deserved.

There was at least one unpleasant altercation between one of the Chartists and the manager, and we are given to understand that a very conspicuous and important member of the V.A.F. left the saloon at the request of one of the directors; but, taking into consideration the excitement prevailing, both parties displayed admirable control. The directors who arrived about ten o'clock included Messrs. George Adney Payne, Henry Tozer, Henry Sutton, Walter Gibbons, Joseph Davis, and Henri Gros, the last-mentioned gentleman being called up from the country, where he had been recuperating after a severe illness. The saloon, too, was largely filled by artists and agents, among whom we noticed Messrs. G. and F. Peel, Sydney Hyman, Sydney L. Cohen, Edward Granville, Harry Day, Emanuel Warner, Jack Somers, Ernest Edelsten, Didcott, and Howell. Mr. and Mrs. Gus Elen came in to see the show, and among the artists also present were Mr. Edgar and Miss Claire Romaine, Mr. Bert Clark, and Miss Hamilton, Mr Barney Armstrong, Joe O'Gorman, and others.

At the Euston there was a fairly large audience at a quarter-past six, but when the entertainment should have been started, Mr. Fred McAvoy, the local manager, appeared before the curtain, and announced that it would be impossible to carry out the programme, owing to the action of the Variety Artists' Federation. Consequently the theatre would be closed, and everyone would receive back at the doors the money paid for admission. This statement aroused no demonstration, and the audience quietly filed past the pay-box, where they received their money.

"No show this evening" was the cry at the Paragon on Tuesday; but the orchestra remained stedfast to the management. Mr. Fred Miller, at the Canterbury, had also to close down.

At the South London, Lockhart's Elephants, under the direction of Captain Taylor, appeared twice during the first performance, and the Biograph also turned out a blessing to the management. At about a quarter to eight, however, a hitch in the temporary arrangements brought Mr. Payne, the manager, to the footlights. He explained that there was a little grievance between the proprietors and the Variety Artists' Federation, which body prevented the artists from working. "We have Lockhart's Elephants here, and several other turns; and I have had news from other variety theatres that there are excellent artists coming to fill the bill. You have had the elephants on once and the pictures once. Would you care to have the pictures again, or the elephants? What will you have—pictures or elephants? Pictures?" Shouts of "No!" "Elephants?" "Yes! yes! yes!" "Very well, we will put on the elephants again." The gentle pachyderms ambled on to the stage, and did their best; but soon after Mr. Payne, firmly resisting the invitation to sing a song himself, announced his intention of closing the house.

The Ealing Hippodrome was opened on Tuesday by Mr. E. W. James, with a full variety programme. The sole occupant of the orchestra was a pianist, who most effectively answered all calls made upon him. There was no disorder of any kind at the first house, and everything passed off successfully. Outside the theatre, the Broadway was paraded by "sandwich" men, bearing aloft placards announcing the "Music Hall War," and considerable crowds assembled; but otherwise there was nothing to cause remark. Mr. E. W. James, the manager, finds his greatest difficulty is obtaining capable bandsmen.

At the Islington Empire the two performances were given as usual on Tuesday; but the only orchestra obtainable consisted of Mr. Peterson, the conductor, who played the piano, and got through remarkably well. Just previous to the first performance, Mr. Wilson, the manager, in a short speech, expressed his acknowledgments to his patrons for their admirable behaviour on the previous evening.

The East Ham and Walthamstow Palaces were closed on Tuesday, but reopened on Wednesday evening, with a new programme. At the latter place the artists were accompanied by a pianist; but at the former the orchestra almost reached its full muster. At the Paragon, Mr. Charles Beecham reopened on Wednesday with a full orchestra, under Mr. Arthur Grimmett, submitting a fresh bill, announcing each turn from the stage. The company included Mr. Neville Graham and company, in Louis N. Parker's playlet, The Man in the Street; Laura Doone, the Leider Quartette, Miss Alcock, Miss Le Roy, Victor Scobel, the Brown, Ernestine Walters, The Ottos (comic acrobats), Lincoln and Warren, Lily Arthur, Harry Harris, the Three Kentucky Girls, Little Uno, Ruby Emberson, Mme. Mysto, and the Paragon pictures.

The Euston reopened on Wednesday with two performances, as usual. A piano and a violin did duty as orchestra, and Mr. Fred McAvoy announced each artist from the stage. The company included Mr. Chilcock, comedian; Miss Montague, ballad vocalist; Mr. Jacobs, sand dancer; Miss Dorothy Clarke, descriptive vocalist; Mr. Reginald Leyland, with a sketch at the piano; Miss Cecil, dancer, Mr. J. Taylor, comedian; Miss Anderson, comedienne and dancer; Mr. Croft, Australian actor-vocalist; and Miss Louisa Peach and company, in a sketch, entitled Taking It Home.

Mr. Walter Gibbons has issued the following manifesto :—

AN APPEAL FOR JUSTICE!

I feel it my duty to place before my numerous patrons a few facts in connection with the music hall strike, feeling that, by adopting such a course, my position will be justified in the eyes of the public.

By virtue of agreement between myself and the Variety Artists' Federation, made in December last, I agreed to accept the undermentioned conditions and terms made by them, and these terms I have loyally adhered to.

Summary of Agreement.

1.—I agree to pay all musicians and stage hands in my employ at the halls under my control the full Trade Union rate of wages, and to pay, pro rata, for all extra performances, including matinées.

2.—To show no bias or prejudice against any artist or musician who was, or might in future become, a member of the National Alliance of Artists, Musicians, and Stage Employees.

3.—To pay additional wages to all stage hands at a rate which was mutually agreed between the Alliance and myself.

4.—To refer to a Board of Arbitration, consisting of two nominees appointed by myself, two nominees appointed by the Alliance, and an independent chairman, all disputes which might thereby arise. The agreement has been strictly adhered to by me in every way.

On Monday, January 21, at 12.30 p.m., a letter was received at my office from the Alliance, during my absence, containing new and impossible conditions, and ignoring the arbitration clause made between us; furthermore threatening serious consequences in the event of a non-compliance with the terms. I was given thirty minutes to decide. At six o'clock I returned, and the letter was handed to me, but the Alliance had already decided to allow no artist, musician, or member of the Society to work at any hall under my control.

In the interest of my large staff of employees, I could not accept the condition that only Trade Union or Society men and women should be retained. The accepting of such a condition meant throwing out of work a large number of loyal and faithful servants, who would then be penniless. In my reply to the Alliance I stated that I had paid, and would pay, to all my employees the Trade Union wage in accordance with the terms of my agreement, but I would never discharge from my employ those men and women who had stood by me so loyally. That arbitration afforded full opportunity for discussion for any grievance which might have arisen.

I ask the public to continue to give me that support which I have tried to deserve by careful study of their interests. By doing so they will assist to keep in work a large staff of men and women whose living depends on the halls being open.

Trusts do not exist in the music-hall world, and any statements to that effect are quite fictitious. The leading artists receive enormous salaries in consequence of the keen competition that prevails, and the majority of them receive amounts that any ordinary Trade Unionist would envy. Three of the leading spirits in the strike, i.e., Miss Marie Lloyd, Mr. Alec Hurley, and Mr. Arthur Roberts, hold contracts with me at salaries of £80 per week, £85 per week, and £80 respectively; both Miss Lloyd and Mr. Roberts have other contracts for the same period. The lowest salary paid to any artist in the present companies is £4 for the week.

Are these condition (to use Miss Marie Lloyd's expression) slavery?

In consequence of the Press having published certain statements made by members of the Artists' Alliance that I have not paid Trade Union wages, I have submitted my books to two firms of chartered accountants, and herewith append their report :—

Walter Gibbons, Esq.

Dear Sir,—We have, as requested, compared the salaries books of the—

Holborn Empire
Islington Empire
Duchess Palace, Balham
Empire Palace, Croydon
Grand Palace, Clapham Junction
Ealing Hippodrome,

for the week ending Jan. 19, 1907, with Rule 10 of "Working Rules and Minimum Rates of Pay" produced to us, and signed by William Johnson, secretary, and with the minimum rates of pay quoted in the Daily Chronicle of this day's date. We find that the salaries paid to members of the orchestra and to the stage hands either agree with such minimum rates or exceed same.

And we also find that, in accordance with the undertaking given, we understand, by you in December last, artists under contract at that date have received additional salary in respect of matinées.—Yours faithfully,

(Signed) Newson, Smith, Lord & Mundy,
37, Walbrook, E.C.
Baker, Sutton, & Co.,
Eldon-street House, E.C.
Jan. 22, 1907. Chartered Accountants.

Under these circumstances, I ask the public to give me careful consideration and their support; to allow no garbled statements to influence them against my action, which has been dictated by a desire to deal fairly with servants in my employ who have not chosen to become members of the Alliance.

Any outstanding question that there may be affecting the interests of any persons employed or engaged by me I have been, and am still willing, to discuss in an impartial manner.—I have the honour to be, yours obediently,

WALTER GIBBONS.

THE ALLIANCE MANIFESTO.

The following is the official statement of the Alliance issued on Wednesday from the offices, 28, Wellington-street :—

"Mr. Gibbons has informed the public that he has carried out his agreement with the Alliance in the letter and in the spirit. Had he done so the present strained position would never have come about. In the case of his musicians, he says he is paying the Union rate, and that we desire to compel him to dismiss old servants because they are not members. That is untrue, because every member of his orchestras is a member of the Union. The trouble in so far as the musicians are concerned is due entirely to Mr. Gibbons instructing his musical directors to weed the Union men out, two at a time, and replace them with non-Unionists. The Alliance has, by Mr. Gibbons' action, been forced into insisting on his carrying out the promises which he gave on two different occasions to engage Union men at Union rates.

"As regards the artists, Mr. Gibbons has tried to prejudice the case of the Alliance by pointing to the salaries he is paying to the best-known artists. Surely he must see that he is giving his own case away, because they must have drawn the money in his halls five or six times over, or he would never have engaged them. On the other hand, it must surely reflect the highest credit upon these artists who are in receipt of such comfortable salaries that they are standing by their poorer brother and sister professionals. Mr. Gibbons says that no artist has been engaged by him at less than £4 per week. That is not the case. Some of our members hold contracts for considerably less than that per week. The public do not understand what even the highest salaries mean. They do not know that the artists have to provide their dresses, 'fit-up,' band parts, and even special scenery and properties. Then they have to pay their travelling expenses from one town to another, and in the majority of cases keep two homes going. The artist may be engaged in London this week and in Glasgow the next, and he has to get there at his own expense. Add to this the fact that the artist is often out of work for weeks at a time, and it will be seen that the music-hall profession is not the pleasant one Mr. Gibbons wishes to make it out to be.

"As regards the staff, a certain class of managers introduced the system of underpaying the stage hands, because of the generosity of the artists in tipping them at the end of the week. Unless members of the staff were sure that they would be tipped, they often made it uncomfortable for the poor artists, who were doing their best to amuse the public. In one instance a lady dresser receives 2s. 6d. for her week's work; in another case a man receives 15s. for working day and night. Other cases could easily be given.

"All branches of the profession are at our back, and it is now a fight to a finish. The public do not go to see Mr. Gibbons or his halls. They go to see the show. The providers of the best shows are in the ranks of the Alliance. We are confident the public will support their old favourites, and then houses of amusement will sign our Charter."

MR. GEORGE ADNEY PAYNE,

Managing-Director of the Syndicate Halls, and a director of the Variety Theatres Consolidated, which are worked in conjunction.

THE L.E.P.A.

Under the auspices of the London Entertainment Protection Association, a meeting of proprietors and directors was held at the offices of the syndicate, 1, Durham House-street, Strand, on Wednesday afternoon. The following official statement reviews the negotiations before the strike broke out :—"At the request of Messrs. Frank Gerald, J. B. Williams, and William Johnson, secretaries of the three societies now merged in the National Alliance, an appointment to discuss their proposals was made for Jan. 8 with Mr. Henry Tozer (chairman), Mr. G. Adney Payne (managing director), and Mr. Henry Sutton, as representing the directorates of the Tivoli and Oxford. The meeting was duly held, and the three secretaries presented the terms that had previously been agreed to by Mr. Walter Gibbons after his dispute at Brixton. It was pointed out that several clauses did not apply to the Tivoli and Oxford, and, after three hours exhaustive discussion, modifications of some of the clauses affecting artists, calculated to pave the way to mutual arrangement, were made by the secretaries, who agreed to return a copy of these amended clauses—after reporting same to their excutive—for consideration by the London Entertainments Protection Association at its next available meeting. The clauses affecting stage hands and musicians were left for discussion until Feb. 5, a date named by the secretaries themselves; but, in relation to these clauses, Messrs Williams and Johnson were informed definitely that the conditions which compelled the proprietors of music halls not to employ any musician or stage hand who was not a member of the particular Unions these gentlemen represented could not be accepted in any case. The conditions as to wages, &c., were to be closely examined and discussed at the adjourned meeting. As showing that this was definitely accepted by the executive of the National Alliance an official announcement of the arrangement arrived at was made in the Alliance's journal, The Performer. Instead, however, of abiding by this arrangement the Alliance sent a letter on Jan. 10 to Mr. Tozer asking him to place before the meeting of the London Entertainment Protection Association, not the modified demands, but the original demands, plus an entirely new clause. On the following day the Alliance receded still further by declining to deal at all with the London Entertainments' Protection Association, upon which the following letter was sent by Mr. Tozer to the Alliance on Jan. 12 :

"'I am in receipt of your favours of the 10th and 11th inst. enclosing memorandum of eight points of agreement to become operative on Monday next, Jan. 14, which you ask me to put before a meeting of my co-proprietors. I may remind you that having, on Tuesday last, discussed them at great length with you and your colleagues (except that relating to barring, which was not in the list you handed me for discussion, and which was only shortly referred to at the end of our interview), it was made clear to you that the original terms of some of your proposals, notably Nos. 1 and 4, must be more clearly and equitably defined in order to receive the favourable consideration of my co-proprietors, and they were therefore tentatively revised by you and your colleagues.

"'Without seeming to foreshadow the decision of my co-proprietors, I must point out that the object and result of our meeting on Tuesday last would be nullified and the hours spent together wasted unless the amended suggestions arrived thereat are submitted. It is the intention of my boards to consult, at the earliest convenient date, the general body of entertainment proprietors upon all the points you have raised. This course, which met with your unqualified concurrence at our last meeting, is identical with that which you as representing music-hall employees have adopted, and is the surest and speediest method of arriving at a complete as well as a mutually satisfactory understanding.'

"The executive took no further steps, beyond a bare acknowledgment of Mr. Tozer's letter, and the next communication from them was the ultimatum delivered to Mr. Payne on Jan. 22. So far from there being any unwillingness on the part of the proprietors to consider fully any representations from artists and employees, these proprietors, as it will be seen, accorded every courtesy and a most patient hearing to everything that was put before them, and were still giving detailed consideration to the proposals when the unfortunate action of the Alliance, without any warning, brought negotiations to a standstill."

THE MANAGERS' DECISION.

At their meeting on Wednesday the managers decided to fight the National Alliance, and not to agree to that body's proposals embodied in their Charter. The following resolution was passed unanimously by a representative attendance :—"That every member of this association pledges himself to support the action taken in resisting the attack made upon certain members by the National Alliance, the same support to be given to any other members of this association who may be called upon to resist similar attacks."

It was also announced that the association has now been extended to include provincial members. This extension is regarded in music-hall circles as of considerable importance, as it may possibly result in the friction between proprietors and artists being no longer confined to London, the Variety Artists' Federation having members all over the country.

Mr. Adney Payne, in reply to an interviewer on Wednesday, said there was no alternative for the managers but to fight the Alliance. "What is asked is," he said, "that the Alliance shall manage our business for us. One of the terms of the Charter contract is that the Variety Artists' Federation form of contract be adopted as soon as supplied. That means that we are asked to adopt a contract which we have not even seen." Dealing with the case of the Tivoli, he said, "All the Tivoli men are Trades Union men. They are perfectly satisfied with their work, and their pay, and the way they are treated, and yet they are called out. They are compelled to go out, otherwise the Trades Union would call them blacklegs."

MR. STOLL'S HALLS.

As no ultimatum was on Wednesday presented to Mr. Oswald Stoll the five London halls under his control were unaffected.

During the afternoon an important meeting was held at the Moss-Stoll offices in Cranbourn-street, W., at which Sir Edward Moss, Mr. Stoll, and other directors were present.

At this meeting, which lasted nearly two hours, it was decided that in the event of any demand or notification being received from the Federation, no notice of any sort would be taken of it, nor would the Federation be recognised in any sense.

Following this meeting definite instructions were wired to every hall in the country controlled by the syndicate. In effect these messages were :—

Pay no attention to any orders received from Federation. If necessary, employ auxiliary staffs.

In view of the rumoured threats that action would be taken last night, at every theatre controlled by the syndicate entirely auxiliary staffs—stage hands, orchestras, and artists—had been provisionally arranged for.

"Our artists, our stage hands, and our orchestras," said a prominent representative of the syndicate, "are paid as much and even more than this so-called union demands. Our contracts with artists extend to 1916. Any artist attempting to break his or her agreement will immediately be proceeded against."

Additional evidence of the interest that is being taken by at least a section of the public in the Music Hall Strike was obtained by a visit to the Islington Empire on Wednesday evening, when, in spite of the intense cold, a small crowd had, some time before the time fixed for the beginning of the first entertainment, collected around the main entrance in Upper-street; but obedience had to be paid to the stentorian voice of police authority, which gave utterance to the familiar command, "Pass along here, please, pass along." The constables on duty here were evidently quite prepared to suppress anything in the shape of disorder, but as a matter of fact the excitement never reached a high pitch, only a mild kind of curiosity being shown by the loiterers outside the hall. In spite of the bitter east wind, Miss Marie Kendall, the well-known comedienne, was on duty as one of the pickets, and it certainly requires no little enthusiasm in a cause to undertake such a task on one of the coldest nights of the present winter season. The weather was suggestive of the Arctic regions, but Miss Kendall stuck pluckily to her work, and got rid of quite a large bundle of handbills calling attention to the alleged broken agreement to give fair terms and conditions to the members of the artists', musicians', and stage-workers' societies, and appealing to the public to support the strikers. Miss Kendall had the assistance of another lady artist and some male members of the V.A.F. One of these was heard to declare that it was of course impossible to prevent certain artists from appearing on the stage, and a performance by a "scratch" crowd would no doubt be given. On making enquiries of Mr. George L. Wilson, the present manager of the Islington Empire, we ascertained that the first performance was about to begin, and were handed a printed programme containing the list of turns. There was no orchestra, and a fresh set of stage hands had, we were informed, been engaged in place of those who had struck.

MR. HENRI GROS,

President of the London Entertainments Protection Association.

On entering the hall, we found that the audience was reduced to about half its usual dimensions, and the overture was being played on the piano by Mr. A. Petersen, the musical director here, who, when he made his first appearance, was received with a cheer. The first item in the bill was the "new Oriental burlesque," presented by Osborne and Yates's company, entitled Princess Katchi, the company including Miss Queenie Lawrence and Miss Jennie Belmore. Both these ladies were conspicuous in the representation of the musical piece, and enlivened it with some excellent singing and dancing. The comedians also gave able assistance, and the company included a number of young ladies attired in Oriental costume. The musical portion of the sketch naturally suffered from the absence of an orchestral accompaniment. Amurat performed various feats of strength, in proof of his prowess as an athlete, concluding by bearing the weight of a piano, and a young man who was seated at the keyboard. Miss May Gurney, a lady with an excellent voice and cultured style, sang a pleasing medley of well-known ballads, which were received with loud applause. Mr. Henry Maynard contributed a couple of songs with much acceptance. Miss Amy Alcot proved to be an attractive song and dance artist; and other names on the list included Florrie St. Roy, comedienne; Kenneday and Ascot, in a sketch, True Irish Hearts. Mr. E. Cranston and company also appeared in the well-known dramatic sketch, entitled Terry; or, True to His Trust; and Ruffell's Imperial Bioscope presented a series of pictures, representing the International Obstacle Race, from start to finish. The programme, it should be added, was well received by the audience.

V.A.F. IN THE PROVINCES.

To the Editor of the Era.

Sir,—If the V.A.F. are not too busy, may I be permitted to ask them, through your columns, why, if they are so desirous of fair play, that they do not turn their eyes towards the provinces, where some of their own members are, at their own free will and pleasure, giving two shows each performance, at halls with two houses nightly with one or two matinées thrown in, making twenty-four to twenty-eight turns weekly, thus depriving one or two "humble turns" of the chance of obtaining a date, however small, that might mean, in these horrible times, life or death to them?

I speak principally of third-rate sketch companies who, being unable to obtain shops by fair means, make engagements to give or play two sketches in each house, which enables the avaricious manager to give an entire performance with about two other turns and a bioscope.

I see that the V.A.F. propose raising the entrance fee. Why? Hundreds of poor variety pros. would willingly join the Federation, many, including myself, being eager, I know; but how is it possible, when, with all the cry for "fair play," their own members are cutting the ground from beneath our feet and keeping us from earning the means to do so?

If there is such a terrible bother respecting half salaries for matinées, surely something should be done with the managers who require, and get, twenty-four to twenty-eight shows at the price of twelve.

With apologies for an appeal that has become a necessity,—I remain, yours truly,

A SUFFERER.

THE ORCHESTRAL ASSOCIATION.

To the Editor of the Era.

Sir,—It is stated in the Press that the Music Hall Alliance "indignantly denied" that they had asked for the dismissal of non-Union men. I beg to point out that the very contract which the managers are asked to sign stipulates for the employment of musicians of the Amalgamated Musicians' Union. This means that the members of the Orchestral Association (who form 75 per cent. of the orchestras of London) must either clear out or join the Union. As this association is a London professional organisation with a membership of nearly 1500 bond fide professionals, and the "Amalgamated Musicians' Union" is a provincial organisation, with a London branch of a little over 400 members, your readers will agree that it is a tall order on the part of the Alliance to expect the managers to be so unjust as to dismiss them at the demand of this Union.

Although this association has not been consulted by the Alliance, we are not prepared to assist any of the managers unless the minimum salary is paid for all performances, which the Alliance also claims. Yet, in spite of this, the Alliance will demand the dismissal of our members, or the option of joining them. With every desire to help them, my council feel this to be a serious obstacle in the way, as they consider that if the minimum is obtained that is all that can be reasonably expected.—I am, Sir, your obedient servant,

F. ORCHERTON, Secretary.

NEW GRAND (LTD.), CLAPHAM.

To the Editor of the Era.

Sir,—In reply to Mr. Alec Hurley's statement in the Daily Mail on Jan. 22 that he is a shareholder in the Grand, Clapham, and is losing by the strike there, I beg to inform the shareholders of the above company that the controversy between Mr. Gibbons and the artists will make no difference to the dividends of this property, as the rent is, and always has been, paid well in advance, and a large sum of money is placed in the joint names of the directors as security. Therefore, Mr. Hurley's assertion that he is a sufferer in this direction is inaccurate and misleading.—Yours faithfully,

T. G. HALES,
Director, New Grand, Clapham.

"WHAT UNCLE LOST."

A "Musical Squall," written by Syd. O'Malley. Music by H. Pether and C. Thornton. Produced at the Empress, Brixton, on Thursday, Jan. 24.

Joe ..... Mr. Phil Sinclair
Mr. Goldbag ..... Mr. Fred Newham
Liza ..... Miss Boyce
Peggy ..... Miss Janet Reeve

This new musical sketch was produced at the Empress, Brixton, on Thursday night by Mr. Fred Karno, and played by the members of one of his numerous companies. As is commonly the case in pieces of this description, the plot is quite subservient to the medley of song and dance, jest and joke, which are so freely introduced. To judge of the merits of a sketch of this kind by a first performance would not be fair, because so much is done subsequently in the working up of the piece by clever artists who know their business. The beach at "Merry Margate" has been chosen as the scene of the new production, with a view of the pier in the distance, the background being occupied by bathing machines. Prominent in a troupe of trippers of the Cockney brand is Joe, a busker, who, it appears, has won the heart of Peggy, niece of Mr. Goldbag, Mayor of Margate. The name is certainly suggestive of wealth; and Joe, the busker, is evidently in luck's way if he marries his worship's pretty niece. However, the consent of the Mayor has yet to be obtained, and it is scarcely likely that he will readily sanction the union of the lady with a gentleman who gets his living by singing on Margate sands. Peggy is a lively little maiden, and amuses herself by masquerading as a French officer, who has, according to his own account, travelled to England by means of the Channel tunnel. The stranger makes the acquaintance of the Mayor, who fails to recognise his niece Peggy in the dapper little Frenchman. His worship enters one of the bathing machines, and creates a diversion by making his reappearance in bathing costume. More amusement is caused by a lady entering the Mayor's machine instead of her own, and refusing to give up possession. In the meantime Joe has annexed Mr. Goldbag's trousers, and makes it a condition that he will return the indispensable nether garment if the Mayor at once gives his consent to a matrimonial alliance with Peggy. However, the trousers are removed by force, and the couple cut a ludicrous figure. Eventually the Mayor is induced to sanction the wedding between Joe and Peggy, and all ends merrily and happily. When the fun and frolic have been worked up to the required pitch there is every prospect of a successful career for What Uncle Lost.

Mr. Phil Sinclair was a capital representative of Joe, and made a hit with a sneezing song, in which the chorus of trippers joined with amusing effect. Mr. Fred Newham was comical and did good work as the corpulent Mayor. Miss Janet Reeve was a very smart and vivacious Peggy, and scored with her vocal contributions. Miss Boyce was also well placed as Liza, a typical tripper from the East End. The new sketch enjoys the advantage of being adequately staged, and it was favourably received by Thursday night's audience.

DEATH OF MR. DICK KITCHEN.

In the death of Mr. Dick Kitchen, the well-known comedian, lovers of pantomime and of the music hall have lost one who contributed much to their enjoyment. The deceased caught a chill while performing at Kilmarnock with Fred Karno's company in the part of Sergeant Lightning in His Majesty's Guests, and was suffering badly when he went on to Falkirk. On Thursday evening of last week he became so ill that he was unable to appear on the stage. He improved on the Friday, and hopes were entertained that he would be much better by Saturday; but he took a turn for the worse at midnight on Sunday, and died two hours later. The cause of death was acute pneumonia and pleurisy. Among those with him at his death, besides the grief-stricken wife, were Mr. J. Theurer, of Fred Karno's company, and Mr. Horace W. Ebbutt, resident-manager of the Grand Theatre, Falkirk (where the company had a week's engagement.) A sad circumstance in connection with the regrettable event is the fact that deceased's brother Fred (who is playing Dame Trot at the Grand, Glasgow) paid a surprise visit to Falkirk on Sunday, and left again in the evening with the assurance that his brother's condition was improved. The news of his sudden demise was therefore to him and his friends a considerable shock.

Deceased, who was forty-seven years of age, is survived by his widow (Hermance Mercier) and two children. He was a native of London, and came of a good professional family. In addition to his brother Fred, there is also another brother, Harry, following the same line of business. "Dick" was widely known, and had played in most of the theatres in the kingdom. He was a son of Mr. R. H. Kitchen, an old-time favourite in Glasgow.

The funeral was arranged for Thursday at Falkirk cemetery.

The Douglas Town Council invite tenders for the season of 1907 for the rights to perform on one or more suitable positions on the foreshore; for occupancy of band-stand on the Harris Promenade for musical entertainments; the right to perform with a suitable string band on the public music-stands within the borough; and the right to perform on the band-stands during the evenings.

The Borough of Southend Corporation invite tenders for the privilege of placing 100 automatic machines on or near the pier during the ensuing year.

NATIONAL ALLIANCE MASS MEETING.

A Mass meeting of the National Alliance representing the Variety Artists' Federation, the Amalgamated Musicans' Union, and the National Association of Theatrical Employees, was held at the Surrey Theatre, kindly lent by Mr. Frank Macnaghten, through his manager, Mr. Fred. Baugh, on Sunday last, with Mr. Will Crooks, M.P., in the chair.

Among the large number of sympathetic messages was one from Mr. Cecil Raleigh, as follows: "Alliance has my best wishes, and my great hope is to form an Actors' Trade Union which will be federated with you."

MR. CROOKS, who opened the meeting, in the course of a long speech, said:—You are going to stand up and stand firm for something that is really useful to have. Although you might try and persuade managers that you are absolutely indispensable, they say: "You are quite right; you are just the fellow we are looking for, but at my price." We men who have been in the Labour line for some time have been looked down upon by you. I have seen you working frightfully hard in describing the man who was born tired. You have not done it very well because it has made you sweat. Now, if you had patent boots and spats, instead of hobnail boots, and imitated the lazy man in Rotten-row—well, you could rely upon the cheers of the pit and gallery, whatever the boxes thought. The public are not sweaters, except when they have an extra good singer, and then they will have him on time after time. The artist does not get anything extra for that, except the cheers; but when he is done up, people say: "Poor old chap, I knew him in his prime." You are asking for the right to live in decency and comfort; and do not think that when that is obtained that life can be all beer and skittles. Unknown to you, unknown to the general public, I have known Mr. Frank Gerald—whose service to you is beyond price—to worry public men in your interests.

MR. FRANK GERALD, the next speaker, said:—This is the first public meeting of the National Alliance, and to me it is, and always will be, a memorable occasion, and I think it will be one to look back upon with felings of deep gratification. It may appear to you that the National Alliance has sprung into existence very suddenly. It may appear to you to have been rather rushed; but I want to undeceive you on that point. Before we had been in our offices at 28, Wellington-street one week this very subject was broached, and the ideas that were put forward that day last April have come to reality to-night. This is now a triple alliance of the component parts of organisations for those who provide entertainments which the public pay their money to see. This meeting to-night is a demonstration very much in the same way as the British Fleet at times is ordered to make a demonstration to show some foreign Power that we are awake, and mean to use our power if necessary. I trust the Alliance will never be called upon to use its power. Much more do I sincerely hope that we shall never abuse our power; but when the time comes we must say "Ready, ay, ready." Now more particularly with regard to our own Society. A week or two ago agreements were entered into with Walter Gibbons and Frank Macnaghten. Up to the present moment, we have no evidence before us that Mr. Macnaghten has done anything but stand by his agreement. With Mr. Gibbons the case is somewhat different. At the interview of the three Secretaries with Mr. Gibbons he gave his word that he would agree to the conditions put forward, but he begged not to be compelled to put it into writing at that moment. Now, the way in which Mr. Gibbons is carrying out his agreement with us is very peculiar. You know there are two ways of carrying out an agreement. Most of us, I presume, are smokers, and you all know the difference between straight-cut and twist. I will endeavour to demonstrate to you what I mean. If Mr. Gibbons agrees that commission shall not be deducted from your salaries, and then offers five per cent. less for your contract than for previous contracts, what is that? If he agrees to pay for a matinée performance in the week, and then you find there are two matinées, what is that? Very well, if we twist Mr. Gibbons in return he has only himself to blame for not serving us fairly. It is gratifying to think that we have the assurance of many individual proprietors, who have already said that they are agreeable to come to terms with us, but there is the probability that sooner or later we shall come to cues with Mr. Stoll after his recent action with regard to the barring clause and with regard to the matinée clause. There are many here to-night who are the victims of Mr. Stoll's action with regard to barring. As I look into a box to my right just now I can see someone who is suffering from it already. Now, such a state of things should not exist. We do not intend that it shall. I will mention a case in point. I will mention the case of Mr. Pat Carey. He was engaged for the Empire, Birmingham, last week. Mr. Carey found himself down for the Bordesley Palace. He wired to 28, Wellington-street, and he awaited the instructions of the Federation. I communicated with Cranbourne-mansions, and I was informed in due course that they had heard nothing from Mr. Carey. And I said, "Neither will you. Mr. Carey has put his case in the hands of the Federation, and if you want Mr. Carey to go to the Palace, Bordesley, you will have to ask him to do so through the Federation." Mr. Stoll communicated with Mr. Carey, and the latter forwarded a reply that he awaited the instructions of the Federation. This has been the result, that the Moss's Empires have had to engage somebody else for the Palace, Bordesley, and pay Mr. Carey his salary in full for walking about Birmingham. This, I think, will be a very pleasant thing for the shareholders to know about, and I hope the executive of this Federation will send a representative to attend the general meeting of the shareholders at Edinburgh next month. In the eyes of some the alliance that has been formed between these societies may have been looked upon with some little disfavour. I cannot see why it should be so. As your General Secretary, whose bounden duty it is to think out and to organise the best ways and means of accomplishing the work which we have set out to attain, I think the best has been done. I say it, and I know that there is a great deal of responsibility resting upon me. I welcome the responsibility owing to the circumstances that have been brought about. In my mind it is only by becoming trades unionists, by adopting trade union principles, and by following them up, that we shall ever work out our own salvation. It has been said, I notice by a report of a provincial meeting, that stage hands, for instance, were not artists, and that they were merely workers. I maintain that we are all workers. The stage employés, the musicians and the artists, work out the programme together. You go to the Oval Cricket Ground, and you will see gentlemen, headed by the captain, Lord Dalmeny, walk out of the pavilion at a certain gate, but when once they and the other players are on the field of play one is just as good as the other. It is the same in the case of the artists, the musicians, and the stage workers. We know that we have right upon our side. In any case that has gone into court I cannot recollect any instance where a judge has expressed any other opinion than that the circumstances under which the music-hall artist works are most hard. As I say, we have always had right on our side, and if we are only true to the alliance and true to our charter we must win. As an organisation we certainly have youth on our side, and in the Lexicon of youth there is no such word as "failure."

MR. WILLIAM JOHNSON (General Secretary N.A.T.E.) said, on behalf of theatre employés, he wished to put their case so far as it concerned their particular departments. He wished to support the explanation of Mr. Frank Gerald to the effect that the development which that meeting indicated was not so sudden as many of those connected with their organisation believed. Some months ago he accompanied his colleagues to the office of the Federation, the object being that they should discuss together how some method might be established for properly protecting general workers in the profession. They found that Mr. Gerald had already thought over this question, and so far from finding it necessary to submit a scheme, they discovered that he was ready to submit a scheme of his own. Mr. Gerald told them that he looked forward to the time when they would see a music-hall programme presented by a company every member of which was a member of the V.A.F.—every man and woman appearing on the stage, every member of the orchestra, and every man working behind the curtain being combined to protect their own interests. That was what the Alliance had been established to accomplish. He had always felt that a federation of that kind was inevitable in the natural course of events. Members of the variety profession had been endeavouring to fight as best they could for years against injustices, and that Alliance had been brought into existence by the tyranny of the music-hall proprietors. So far as the stage employés were concerned, they fought their fight in London fourteen years ago. They established then a minimum rate of pay, but the new conditions that had come along in recent years had forced them to renew the struggle. The new syndicates had imposed conditions very different to those which they imposed, and they had therefore come to the conclusion that unless they made their conditions uniof struggling for justice and fair dealing, for, if, after all that had been done, they failed in this fight they would place themselves in the position of deserving the contempt of the workers in this country. But he did not believe that they would fail, but that they would go forward and not cease their endeavours until every section had had that justice to which they were entitled.

MR. WILLIAMS, General Secretary, A.M.U., supporting the resolution:—Mr. Macnaghten said he had met them in a fair way. He said: "I recognise your strength; I recognise that you can crush me, but I want to give way to the force of your argument rather than the force of your powers." He appealed to them all to be true to themselves; to be true to each other. Their children who come into the profession will then be able to say: "Thank God that the men and women who went before us did their duty."

MR. HARRY MOUNTFORD proposed the first resolution, which was as follows:—"That this meeting emphatically enforces 'the charter of the Alliance,' and pledges itself to support any steps authorised by the Alliance to secure the adoption of the charter; and also calls upon the organised workers of the United Kingdom to support the Alliance by refusing to patronise those places of amusement where the managers refuse just terms and fair conditions to the artists and workers in the entertainment world."

MR. MOUNTFORD said:—We are fellow-workers. It is from us that dividends are produced. We were a white powder which they said they could blow away with a breath; but they have thrown the cold water of reason upon our powder, and they find we are now plaster-of-Paris, and our telegraphic address is "Concrete, London."

We don't want to fight; but, by Jingo, if we do, We have got the Pros., we have got the staff, and got the music, too.

Defence, and not defiance, is the creed of this Alliance. If the managers will not come to terms with us there is nothing to prevent artists opening an opposition hall. But you must remember that they cannot close their halls down exactly as they do mills. And, furthermore, remember that you are not isolated people. You are a part of the Federated Trades Unions of Great Britain, and, when the word comes, are you going to disgrace us?

MR. GEORGE GRAY, vice-chairman, V.A.F., spoke to support the resolution. They had, he said, heard a certain amount of argument that night about the doctrine of pacification. However, for the last few months he had been carrying on a certain amount of warfare, and it was his determination to fight as he had never fought before, and to the end, with the gentlemen he saw around him that evening. One often heard the advice, "Put not your trust in princes," and it certainly was a most marvellous thing to him how they could have gone on for years and years without defending themselves better than they had hitherto even attempted to do against great injustices. If, in the future, the order came to him in the country or anywhere else, "Come out," he would come out; and, what was more, he would do his best to see that no one else went in.

ALDERMAN ISAAC MITCHELL, Secretary National Amalgamation of Trades Unions, supported the resolution:—I want to see Mr. Mountford deliver such an address as he did to-night to the delegates of the Trades Union Congress. If it is desirable to have an actor-manager at Spring Gardens, why not put your secretary there also?

THE CHAIRMAN then put the resolution, which was unanimously adopted.

MR. JOE O'GORMAN, chairman, V.A.F., then moved the second resolution, which ran thus:—"That this meeting declares it is imperative, in the interests of all those engaged in the entertainment profession, that every artist, musician, and stage employé who is not a member of one of the allied societies should join at once." Mr. O'Gorman said:—"I promise you that I will endeavour to use, with all the fearlessness belonging to my race, every spark of enthusiasm that is within me in furthering the cause of the Federation. I want to mention here that Mr. Mitchell said the artists were a step above the stage employees, &c. To that I most emphatically demur, because I claim that the great majority of our profession, and especially those who have reached the zenith of popularity, have started from scratch, and I am one of them. I do not think it any credit to any man to be born with a silver spoon in his mouth. When a person starts in our business at 30s. a week, and reaches £30, or even £80, a week, he deserves some credit. Therefore I maintain that in this fight we should all be equal. We talk about tips. I am not going to encourage men who have the audacity to pay a stage-manager 16s. per week, and tell him he has got a good job, because he can help the man with the baggage and share the tips. When a man becomes tainted with management, whether he comes from the artists or the commercial office, he becomes a man to grind an artist down. I know of a case where a young fellow on the stage, who takes in the luggage, gets no salary at all but his tips. Think of a full, able-bodied man, who has to work and depend upon that which he gets by putting his hand to his hat! It is a most contemptible thing. I know people in the booking-office who are getting 1s. per night for two houses a night. I may tell you a gentleman, on whose word I can rely—a man who has been the friend of the profession in many instances—told me that already there is on foot a proceeding if we do not give way, to close some theatres for three months. But what are the shareholders going to say? Let me tell you they won't close them for two nights. If there is any closing coming, it will come from us. I say this, and I say it fearlessly, that if we ever have to go to such extremes it will not be without the whip having been applied to our carcases. We number in round figures 4,000, and we are getting the applications in from two to three figures weekly, notwithstanding our raising the subscription. I appeal to you who are not members to join at once, and not only to join at once, but to insist on all your comrades joining at once, and when the time comes for the fight—and I am positive it will not be long now—you will be able to present an impregnable front to the common enemy for the common good.

MR. C. C. BARTRAM, supporting the resolution, said:—It is getting late, I am closing a strong bill, and know, through eighteen years of experience of doing a dumb show, that I must work quick if I want to hold any of my audience. I say if there are artists who do not wish to join us, let them stop with the managers who refuse to sign our charter, and we will go across the street to another theatre, or hall, take our two million trade unionists with us as our audience, and, by leaving our enemies severely alone, let them starve.

The resolution, which was seconded by Mr. Charles Jesson, L.C.C., A.M.U., and supported by Mr. Charles Coborn, was carried unanimously.

MUSIC HALL BENEVOLENT FUND.

The postponed annual general meeting of the Music Hall Benevolent Fund was held at 1, Durham House-street, Strand, on the afternoon of the 18th inst., under the presidency of Mr. George Adney Payne, one of the trustees. There was a large attendance. A letter was received from Mr. J. L. Graydon, the president, expressing regret that he was unable to attend the meeting, as he was at Brighton.

THE CHAIRMAN, in opening the proceedings, said he was pleased to see such a large gathering. No doubt many of them were aware that the Fund had of late been getting from bad to worse. He was one of the founders, and had been closely associated with it from the start as one of its trustees. However, it had been a labour of love. That the Fund had done a great deal of good there could be no question. It had granted a number of pensions, and relieved many cases of distress, and a large sum of money had been expended. Lately, however, the receipts had, from various reasons, fallen off. He knew that a great many faults had been found with the Fund. A few years ago he consented to act as its president, and about £1,000 was raised that year. When he took office the deposit at the bank had been overdrawn. He was followed by Mr. Frank Allan and Mr. Henri Gros. He found during his presidency that certain people who did not subscribe to the Fund grumbled at its administration. It was, of course, very easy to grumble. The expenditure might have appeared rather large as compared with the receipts, but it was the same as when the Fund first came into existence. As matters stood at present it seemed that the only thing was to wind it up. Of course, it could be resuscitated; but it was impossible to go on without funds, and he understood there was only enough to last about six weeks. At the same time, he was ready to listen to any suggestions that might be made for continuing the Fund.

MR. HORACE MARRIOTT, the secretary, then read the minutes of the last meeting, and the committee's report for the year ending Aug. 31, 1906, was presented, as follows:—

In submitting the report for the year, the committee regret that there has been a serious decrease in the income, and the increase which it was their pleasure to announce some time back has not been adequately maintained. They are, therefore, most anxious as to the future, as they are faced with a grave increase of poverty during the winter months, and fear, if funds are not forthcoming, the allowances to the pensioners and the general weekly relief will be jeopardised. They hope, however, that when this fact is generally known, aid will be quickly forthcoming from its supporters. The uncertainty of employment among a large number of professionals carries with it great distress and poverty, with which the committe are constantly struggling, and they would be glad of anyone interested in the Fund to come to the office and ascertain for themselves the work the committee are engaged upon.

The annual dinner, they regret to say, was not so successful as previous ones.

Although there has been a falling-off in the pence-box collections, the committee still think that these collections should be the mainstay of the Fund.

By the lamentable death of their chairman, Mr. Frank Weeks, the Fund lost a conscientious and enthusiastic worker, and the poorer members of the profession a real charitable friend. His pence-box collection at the South London Palace during the year was £25. This good work has now been taken up by his successor, Mr. William Payne.

At the suggestion of Mr. G. A. Payne, collecting-books were issued to managers and agents, and the committee beg to tender their thanks to the following gentlemen who have assisted in this direction:—

R. L. Adkin, late Islington Empire; A. V. Alton, Grimsby Palace; Arthur J. Barclay, Walthamstow Palace; Thos. Barrasford, 11, Leicester-place; Chas. Beecham, Paragon; H. Burdette, Glasgow; C. J. Cawood, Edinboro' Empire; J. Christie, Hackney Empire; H. Cole, Liverpool Empire; Bert Dent, Greenwich Palace; Fortune and Granville, Strand; E. Foster, Bordesley Palace; Nelson Francis, Empress, Brixton; A. G. Garrick, Alhambra, London; A. Graham, Hull Palace; Lyndon Greenwood, late Islington Empire; A. Galley, Leeds Empire; A. W. Matcham, Birmingham Empire; Fred Miller, Canterbury, London; G. H. March, Dublin Empire; E. P. Morgan, Manchester Hippodrome; C. Mussett, Glasgow Empire; Frank Weeks (the late), South London Palace; N. M. Robinson, Huddersfield Hippodrome; A. Mitchell, Swansea Empire; Fred McAvoy, Euston Palace; I. Field, Plymouth Palace; T. S. Lonsdale, Portsmouth Empire; Tom Shaw, per Miss Soloman, London; William Payne, South London; Ernest Bridgen, New Cross Empire; H. Russell, Newcastle-on-Tyne Empire; W. P. Wells, Edinboro' Empire; H. and M. Rayne, London; F. H. Pedgrift, The Era; and G. A. Payne, London.

Notwithstanding the falling-off of the funds, the committee investigated and relieved, as far as funds permitted, 1,580 cases during the year, and helped to bury four poor professionals, bringing up the total of burials to 114 in eight years, who otherwise would have been buried in paupers' graves.

The committee regret that it appears, from the auditors' investigations, that, in addition to the large sum of over £1,500 unreturned loans, there is a considerable amount owing to the fund in respect to unpaid dinner donations and tickets, and unpaid subscriptions, and steps are being taken to collect these outstanding amounts. It is obvious that the usefulness of the Fund is seriously curtailed by this deficit.

The committee, in administering the Funds placed at their disposal (the wearisome nature of which should appeal to all), hope that the personal sacrifices of time they have made in carrying out their duties will meet with the approval of the subscribers.

HORACE MARRIOTT, Secretary.

The following statement of receipts and expenditure, from Sept. 1, 1905 to Aug. 31, 1906, was also submitted:—

PERCY L. WILLBY AND CO.,
Accountants and Auditors.

Nov. 10, 1906.

THE CHAIRMAN proposed the adoption of the report and statement of accounts.

MR. H. G. HIBBERT seconded the motion. He said he had acted as chairman of the committee since that very deplorable incident, the death of Mr. Frank Weeks. He thought that a reference should be made to this sad event, because they had never had a more loyal and devoted worker than Mr. Weeks, who enjoyed the confidence of every subscriber to the Fund. He believed that, but for the deceased gentleman, it would not now be in existence, and he wished that Mr. Weeks could have been presnt at that very critical moment of its history. He regretted that the committee had such a bad report to submit; but he believed that the seriousness of the position might mean the salvation of the Fund. He felt that the outcome of that eminently representative meeting might be to place the Fund upon a better basis. For his own part, he should like to see it handed over to the members of the profession, to be worked by them for themselves. Working members of the profession had been reproached for failing to support the Fund, but he had never endorsed that reproach If the members of the profession had not supported the Fund, he believed it was because they thought they had good reason to withdraw their support. He desired to point out that the secretary had been most indefatigable and assiduous, and his salary was certainly not larger than should be paid to an official upon whose ability and integrity they were able to rely. He denied that managers who attended the weekly meetings of the committee obtained information that could be used in a manner derogatory to the position of the artists; on the contrary, they did all they could to assist artists out of work, two instances of this having come under his own knowledge.

MR. HARRY MOUNTFORD said it gave him great pleasure to support the adoption of the report, but at the same time he desired to move the following amendment:—

"That this meeting should hand over to the Variety Artists' Federation the name, goodwill, and administration of the M.H.B.F., and that for the ensuing year it shall be governed and controlled by a joint-committee, composed of eight members of the executive of the V.A.F. and eight members of the present committee of the M.H.B.F."

He said he thought that the Fund, properly managed, ought to bring in an income sufficient to meet all cases of poverty amongst the members of the profession. He desired to add his small tribute to the memory of one of the best gentlemen and one of the hardest workers they had ever had, and whose untimely decease had been greatly mourned—he referred to the late Mr. Frank Weeks, who was present at every meeting of the Fund, and whose hand was ever open to the call of charity. With respect to his proposal, and to remove any doubts as to the money being misapplied, he wished to point out that the M.H.B.F. would be a separate and independent fund. Whatever differences of opinion and disputes they might have outside, he felt confident that both managers and artists would meet in regard to the Fund on the one broad basis of charity.

THE CHAIRMAN said he wished to point out that he was quite in favour of the Fund being resuscitated if it could be done, and he thought that the suggestion now offered was a very good one. He could see no possible objection to it. It would be a very great pity if the Fund were to die.

The motion for the adoption of the report and financial statement was then agreed to, and the proposal of Mr. Mountford, taken as a separate motion, was seconded by Mr. Charles Coborn, and carried unanimously. The following gentlemen were then appointed members of the committee:—Messrs. J. O'Gorman, W. H. Clemart, G. Gray, C. Coborn, A. Schaffer, C. C. Bartram, C. Butler, and H. Mountford (of the V.A.F.), H. G. Hibbert, T. Pacey, F. Miller, C. Beauchamp, A. Macey, J. Lawson, H. Ashley, and R. Warner, with power to add to their number, but not to exceed twenty-four.

Some discussion took place with respect to the reappointment of officers, and eventually it was agreed that the meeting should be adjourned for a month, to receive the report of the joint-committee.

MR. MOUNTFORD suggested that Mr. G. A. Payne should be asked to act as president for the ensuing year.

THE CHAIRMAN: As it seems to be your wish, gentlemen, I shall be very pleased to comply with it

The meeting then closed, with a vote of thanks to the chairman.

THEATRICAL PATENTS.

The following particulars have been supplied us by Messrs. Hughes and Young, patent agents, of 55-56 Chancery-lane, London, W.C., who will give advice and assistance free to our readers on all matters relating to the protection of inventions, designs, and trade marks.

Mr. G. C. Hale, of 204, Empire-buildings, Kansas City, Missouri, U.S.A., has invented new improvements relating to apparatus presenting to the occupants the illusion of rapid motion over the rails of a track round bends thereof and over crossings, the deception being aided by an air blast and by a moving picture projected on a screen. The apparatus is housed in a building which may resemble a railway station, and is provided with turnstiles. The "passengers" enter cars standing before the entrance of tunnels, and are conveyed to the illusion apparatus. Exit passengers are arranged at the sides of the tunnels. The floor of each car is inclined, and the front of the car is open so that all the passengers are able to view a screen on which moving pictures are projected in such a manner as to take up the whole field of vision. The car is hinged on a longitudinal central axis to a stationary platform, and to give the effect of motion round a railway line curve is swung over to one side or the other by means of a belt crank hand-lever attached to the floor by a link.

THE MUSIC HALL HOME.

NEW YEAR'S APPEAL.

Once more we take pleasure in opening our columns to The Era New Year's Shilling Fund on behalf of the Music Hall Home, and in doing so we take still further pleasure in being able to associate with that appeal the names of the president of the fund, Mr. Thomas Barrasford, and Miss Vesta Victoria. Mr. Barrasford's kindly offices in connection with the Music Hall Home are well known, and the fact that he has again given permission for the use of his name in calling attention to the requirements of the home is a guarantee—if, indeed, guarantee were needed—that he is satisfied as to the way in which the institution is being conducted, and that he considers it worthy of support. It is also gratifying to be able to associate with the New Year's appeal such a prominent variety artist as Miss Victoria. When seen at her delightful home in Stockwell Park one day this week by our interviewer, Miss Victoria, who, by the way, is now commencing her preparations for her forthcoming visit to America, stated that she would be delighted to give what assistance she could in such a worthy cause. Surely, with such sponsors, the money should come rushing along with the swiftness and volume of an avalanche.

There can be no question as to the usefulness of the Music Hall Home. Its address is 31, Wilson-road, Camberwell, S.E., and Mr. and Mrs. Fruin, the secretary and matron respectively, put forward every effort for the comfort of the inmates. At present there are eight of these, and the desire is to increase the number, which can only be done when sufficient funds for the purpose are collected. During the past year two or three of the temporary inmates have recovered their health and strength sufficiently to enable them to look for engagements. These secured, they left the Home, and the vacancies thereby created were immediately filled up. Now, this home requires keeping up, and it cannot be kept up on air. There is no need for us to refer to all the good work which has been performed by the institution in the past, as this must be within the recollection of our readers. The ages of the inmates range from fifty to seventy-six. In all probability these men will be maintained in the home until the day of their death, and their funeral expenses will be paid for out of the funds of the home. The vice-presidents and the committee are sincerely desirous of increasing its scope of usefulness. They would like to be in a position to afford shelter to many more deserving members of the variety profession, who have been stricken with poverty and illness in their declining years.

MISS VESTA VICTORIA,
Who will help the Music Hall Home Fund.

We feel we need say little more. Mr. Barrasford and Miss Victoria join in a strenuous appeal for the generosity of the profession in support of The Era Shilling Fund. When, twelve months ago, we brought before our readers the claims of this deserving charity, a very considerable sum of money was collected in separate shillings. That last year's appeal, however, and most of the money obtained by it, are, as Miss Marie Lloyd would say, "a thing of the past, old dear." We are entering upon a new year. What is the prospect? It is that of help badly needed by many of your brother and sister artists who are, in common parlance, "down on their luck," and some of whom, by reason of their age, are likely to remain in that unhappy condition.

Mr. F. H. Pedgrift is the hon. treasurer, and he will be pleased to receive postal orders and cheques addressed to him at The Era, 5, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.

"QUEEN OF OLD SAMARA."

TO THE EDITOR OF THE ERA.

MR. EDITOR,—Sir,—In your last issue of The Era there appeared a letter under the above heading, and signed by "The Monte Carlo Publishing Company."

It would be wasting time to point out all the errors in that letter; suffice to say that I am the author-composer of "Queen of old Samara," and I hold a financial interest in the song in all countries. My advertisement, also the paragraph referred to in the letter, are true in substance and in fact. With reference to the statement that the Monte Carlo Publishing Co. had no knowledge of the song having been acquired by Messrs. Francis, Day, and Hunter, I quote the following paragraph, which appeared in The Era, Oct. 6, 1906, in the "Songs, Writers, and Singers" column, and you, Mr. Editor, are aware that the matter was supplied by the Monte Carlo Publishing Co:—

"Jas. W. Tate, the musical editor of the Monte Carlo Publishing Company, has, during the week received a letter from America stating that the firm's big song, "I've built a bamboo bungalow for you,' is a 'terrific success' in Mr. Frohman's latest production, The Rich Mr. Hoggenheimer. Mr. Fred Day is to be congratulated on having placed this song to such advantage in the States, where he is the manager for Messrs. Francis, Day, and Hunter, who handle the Monte Carlo Publishing Company's publications in America."—Verb. sap.

I fully appreciate the energetic methods of the members of the Monte Carlo Publishing Co. in pushing their publications, and, in truth, it is not easy to find a success, therefore I, the author-composer, having provided the Monte Carlo Publishing Co. with two absolute "hits" first time of asking, am entitled to a little consideration, such as I receive from other publishers.—Yours faithfully,

J. F. LAMBE.

RE APPLICATIONS FOR ENGAGEMENTS

All applications by either Artists or their Agents must be made to the Head Office.

Lowest terms must be stated, and distinction made between salaries required for larger and smaller towns.

Vacant dates should be stated. If a list of existing bookings be sent, it will render selection easier.

Artists employing Agents should accredit one only at one time, as the friction arising when several Agents are employed at the same time, all expecting the one booking to go through each of them, often renders it expedient to avoid that booking altogether rather than give undeserved offence to several Agents.

New Acts seeking Engagements, or turns not re-booked (possibly because they have played a series of dates without introducing new business), will facilitate matters by having their acts seen by our District Managers. Their Districts and Postal Addresses are as follows :—

MANCHESTER, LIVERPOOL, AND DISTRICT.
MR. ALAN W. YOUNG.
Empire Theatre, Liverpool.

EDINBURGH, GLASGOW, NEWCASTLE, AND DISTRICT.
MR. S. GETHING.
Empire Theatre, Glasgow.

LEEDS, SHEFFIELD, HULL, BRADFORD, AND DISTRICT.
MR. T. GERALD MORTON.
Empire Palace, Leeds.

BIRMINGHAM, NOTTINGHAM, LEICESTER, AND DISTRICT.
MR. HATTON WHARTON.
Empire Theatre, Nottingham.

SOUTH WALES DISTRICT.
MR. W. LEA.
Empire Theatre, Cardiff.

LONDON DISTRICT.
MR. WILLIAM COLLINS.
The Empire, Shepherd's Bush, W.

N.B.—Mr. OSWALD STOLL or Mr. FRANK ALLEN can be seen by appointment on all matters arising out of the above, and for the discussion of entirely new Numbers.

All Artists or Agents who communicate with our District Representatives must have made definite applications, in accordance with above directions, to the Head Office, at the same time, or just previously.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.
Hearing that some persons were assuming our Name of Business, and Appearing at the Canterbury during the dispute this week, and many artists not personally knowing us having thought that we are the same people—this being liable to mislead, and do us a deal of injury, we wish to state that we are the Only MARVELLOUS HOWARDS, of Mind-Reading Fame, and two of the Originators of Mental Telepathy, and Conclude to-night at the Hippodrome, Westcliffe-on-Sea, a Successful Week's Engagement with Paul Vandy, Esq., and we have given our Mind-Reading Entertainment all over the World for this Last 30 Years. Our Solicitors, Messrs. WE LEAD, OTHERS FOLLOW.

MILITARY SCHOOL.
Code Word, CAHUTE.

Fine, spirited horses perform with great skill all kinds of daring exercises, the riders guiding the animals with a master hand Very fascinating.

346ft. The Subject £5 15s. 4d.

A DIFFICULT ARREST.
Code Word, CHEVREAU.

Most exciting scenes of policemen chasing some thieves. All kinds of adventures and ridiculous situations. Intensely funny.

396ft. The Subject £6 12s.

THE INDIARUBBER MAN.
Code Word, BRUSQUE.

The two American drolls Price and Revost in their sensational turn "The Tumbling Man." Full of interest from start to finish.

264ft. The Subject £4 8s.

FALSE COINERS.
Code Word, BUTTE.

This is a grand film. Briefly: The gentlemen coiners—The reward offered by the police—The cool detective—The pursuit—The hidden chamber containing the plant—Final capture of principal coiner, who commits suicide. Moving action and perfect quality as usual.

478ft. The Subject £7 19s. 4d.

THE CHARMER.
Code Word, BURSAL.

The wonderful magician turns the silkworm into a cocoon, and from out its silky depths produces beautiful human butterflies. Lovely colouring.

297ft. The Subject £4 19s.
Colouring extra, £3 1s.

CRIME ON THE RAILWAY.
Code Word, CIPAYE.

One of the most dramatic films ever shown. A guard is egged on to drink by two rogues. In this state he boards his train. The rogues sneak into his carriage while the train is in motion. attack him, steal the mail bags, and escape. The guard is reproved and dismissed the Company. In revenge he kills a signalman, gives a favourable signal to the on-coming express. An awful disaster ensues. Very exciting and dramatic.

528ft. The Subject £8 16s.

CONSTRUCTING A FISHING BOAT.
Code Word, CABOTIN.

This is an exquisite picture showing the building of a fishing boat from start to finish. Cutting the wood—Bending it—Putting in the vital parts—The launch, and, finally, sailing down the river to the sea.

428ft. The Subject £7 2s. 8d.

THE BOTTLE INDUSTRY.
Code Word, CABALLERO.

Yet another grand educational film. The whole process of making bottles clearly shown. Collecting the ingredients—The furnaces—The blow-pipe—Sorting the finished article—Packing and dispatching crates.

330ft. The Subject £5 10s.

THE FAN INDUSTRY IN JAPAN.
Code Word, CABANON.

One of the finest films that has come from the East. The whole process and art of fan making. Showing. cutting the wood, crimping the paper, binding, and hand painting. Very interesting.

396ft. The Subject £6 12s

"SPOT" AT THE TELEPHONE.
Code Word, CABOCHE.

A unique film, illustrating the keen sagacity of "Spot," a terrier. His master loses him at a telephone office, so rings him up and tells him where he is. The dog understands and runs to the place.

165ft. The Subject £2 15s.

THE YAWNER.
Code Word, CABOSSER.

This is ridiculously funny. A poor man has a tendency to yawn on every occasion, and being very infectious, every one who meets him catches the complaint. Very droll.

280ft. The Subject £4 13s. 4d.

POLICEMEN'S RUN.
Code Word, CABANE.

This is quite a novelty in pictures. A powerful bull dog steals a leg of mutton. Pursued by one policeman, the number is increased to several in a very short time. Through streets, over roofs they go. Finally the tables are turned and the dog pursues the police to their station. Intensely funny.

379ft. The Subject £6 6s. 4d.

No. 1269.

THE BUSY MAN.

A day spent with one of our great city magnates vividly illustrates the excessive speed at which work is now accomplished. Rising from his bed in the morning, he jumps on his bicycle, rides down stairs into the street to the river, and rides straight in for his regular dip. After a second or so he mounts his bicycle once again, and races back home, where his valet awaits him with his clothes ready at hand. Trousers, coat, collar, tie, and boots under the man's direction almost fly upon him, and stick, hat, and gloves are dexterously caught one after another as the man almost hurls them at his impatient master. Rushing from the house, he gets into his motor, the valet following with his portmanteau, which he just has time to fling in before the vehicle is quite out of reach. Entering the office, the man is assailed on all sides by questions from his subordinates, while he glances through the correspondence. Dictating letters, answering telephone calls, receiving and dismissing messengers, all goes on in quick succession. Now and again he has time to fly to the tape as he hears the ominous ticking. Callers are many, all who are spared a second or two of the busy man's time are sent in on an automatic chair, which rushes them in without wasting a moment of time. At the close of the interview they are instantly whirled out by the same means. Lunch time arriving, he rushes from his office to a neighbouring restaurant, where he ravenously seizes all he can, bolts his dinner rapidly, several other customers finding themselves deprived of their courses by the man who cannot wait. Before the astonished waiter can find time to expostulate, he is ordered to fetch coat and hat, which are seized, and payment thrust into his hand. Hastening to a railway station, he jumps into a train which is already leaving, and the porter pushes his bag in after him. Inside the carriage he changes his costume, and jumps from the train as it steams into the station, ready for an hour or two's shooting. A bevy of attendants follow with guns, game bags, &c., as he leaves the station. Jumping into a trap which is waiting, he is followed by the attendants, who get in as best they can. In the grounds the sport proceeds at as rapid a pace as possible. Seizing gun after gun from the men, he fires with quick aim, and brings a goodly number of birds to earth. The gamekeepers have hardly time to reload before he is again ready. The busy man is riding comfortably in his motor car, being driven by his chauffeur near the riverside. Seeing a lovely young lady on a seat, he, with his usual quick decision, orders the car to be stopped. Dismounting, he is struck by the lady's appearance, and introducing himself, he at once lays claim to her heart and hand. The girl is at first appalled by this sudden offer, and refuses his advances, but after a little further pleading she accepts him. As he hands her into his motor, he sees a clergyman approaching, and wishing to make this young lady his wife at once, he seizes the poor man, and bundles him into his car. Driving to the church, the priest is made to put on cassock and surplice, and perform the ceremony forthwith. They leave the church, the newly-made wife leaning admiringly upon her husband's arm. The clergyman breathes upon them all sorts of unsought-for wishes as they drive off, little heeding his uncalled-for protestations.

THEIR FIRST SNOWBALLS.

Recent heavy falls of snow in London came opportunely to save the credit of numerous fathers of families. They had for years described the delights of snowballing to their youngsters, but the latter grew incredulous, as no snow had fallen in their recollection. This exhilarating series depicts a couple of youngsters enjoying to the full their first experience of snow and snowballing.

A sledge ride in a zinc pail; making snowballs; ignominious experiences of a hawker and of the children's parents at the hands of the juveniles. Comic situations cleverly presented.

No. 1951. Price £4 3s. 4d. (Four Pence per Foot nett). Length 250ft.

PRIZE SKI JUMPING CONTEST AT CHRISTIANIA.

A most animated, breezy, thrilling, and seasonable subject, portraying this popular contest for the blue ribbon of the North, with its exhibitions of marvellous intrepidity and skill.

No. 1950. Price £2 10s. (Four Pence per Foot nett). Length 150ft.

FLASHES FROM FUN CITY, OLYMPIA.

Marvels in Miniature, Animal and Human. Baby animals born in captivity, with pigmy attendants from Ituri. Two juvenile elephants are remarkably docile with all comers, and thoroughly enjoy their surroundings. After they are driven from the scene, pigmies up, their place is taken by four lion cubs, neither docile nor gentle. Only one of the four exhibits any amiability, while he is being fed with milk from a bottle. A SERIES OF EXCEPTIONAL PHOTOGRAPHIC QUALITY AND BEAUTY.

No. 1948. Price £3 6s. 8d. (Four Pence per Foot nett). Length 200ft.

BUTCHER'S EMPIRE CINEMATOGRAPH.

MODEL No. 1.

PRICE (Complete without illuminant) ... £16 16s.

There is no Machine on the market to compete with the Empire No. 1 in price, reliability, and up-to-date features.

The Body is mounted in runners on a solid oak base, in which it slides to focus automatically for projecting films or slides.

The Mechanism is mounted on a solid casting, with steel spindles and well-finished brass rollers, with the shutter working between the film stage and lens.

The Eccentric Film Adjuster spaces the pictures without altering the optical centres, and by the roller on this adjuster the noise caused by the "dog" beating on the film is reduced.

Two Spools. Two Lenses. Travelling Case.

WE HIRE FILMS.

Very few showmen can afford to exhibit new films every week. To keep thoroughly up-to-date they must hire. We have thousands of feet of film available, and showmen come to us because they can rely upon us, and know that the film sent will be in good condition. We are always adding to our list. Let us quote you for supplying the film to make your Exhibition a success during the season.

UNSOLICITED TESTIMONIAL.

Shakespeare Theatre, Clapham, S.W. 24th January, 1907.

Dear Sir,—I enclose you cheque in payment of your account for cleaning dresses. I may say that I consider it perfectly marvellous that you should take away at 9.30 p.m. sixty-two elaborate Pantomime dresses from Clapham Junction and return them perfectly cleaned by 3 p.m. the following day. I am sending you about 150 dresses next week which will have to be done at lightning speed, feeling perfectly confident that they will be returned at the time promised. You are at liberty to make any use you like of this letter.

Yours very faithfully, ROBERT CROSSMAN.

PROVINCIAL THEATRICALS.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENTS.)

ABERDEEN.—His Majesty's Theatre.—Managing-Director, Mr. Robert Arthur; Acting-Manager, Mr. H. Adair Nelson.—The comic opera Veronique is presented this week by Mr. George Dance's company. Mr. Roland Bottomley gives a finished interpretation of Florestan; Miss Ethel Negretti sings delightfully in the title-part; Mr. Tom Seymour makes a most enjoyable Coquenard; Miss Doris Greville is a highly satisfactory Agatha; and Miss Maud Leonard is admirable as Aunt Benoit. Miss Isobel Vivian displays excellent ability in the part of Denise, and Mr. Scott-Cullen is exceedingly amusing as the groom.

Palace Theatre. — Managing-Directors, Messrs. Rosen and Bliss; Resident Manager, Mr. Walter Gilbert.—The Chronophone turn this week is followed with the keenest interest; and the San Carlos Italian operatic artists sing delightfully a number of classical selections, particularly from Cavalleria Rusticana. The Lyons Trio are pantomimists of infinite resource; Lozelle performs many remarkable feats on the trapeze; and among the other artists who deserve to be mentioned are Miss Lillian Sevado, gymnast; Les Sados, a youthful juggler and equilibrist; Miss Rosie Royal, comedienne; the Cattaneos troupe of acrobats; the Dunlops, expert trick cyclists; Mr. Jack McCormack, comedian; and Miss Fannie Humber, vocalist and instrumentalist.

ABERTILLERY. — Theatre Metropole. — Lessees, Messrs. Arthur Carlton and Sam Duckworth; Resident-Manager, Mr. Geo. W. Ventom; Stage-Manager, Mr. Fred Thomas.—Home, Sweet Home, the attraction this week, is being presented by Messrs. Travis Green and Arthur Hinton's company. Mr. Arthur Hinton as Stephen Armitage and Miss Leila Zillwood as Joan are excellent; Mr. Travis Green as Lucas Lyle gives a finished performance, and Mr. Frank Hudspeth as David Armitage leaves nothing to be desired.

ACCRINGTON.—Prince's Theatre.—Proprietor, Mr. J. B. Ormerod; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. E. Barnes.—On Monday Mr. J. Gar Kiddie's pantomime, Little Bo-Peep, opened here to a packed house. Miss Lizzie Payne as Bo-Peep gives a bright and clever performance; Miss Susie Beaven acts throughout with the dash that makes her ability conspicuous; Miss Ida Dorrie sings and plays her part in a charming manner; Miss Nora Beverley must be complimented on her performance as Fairy Moonbeam; Mr. J. Gar Kiddie is vastly entertaining as Tommy Long; Mr. J. W. Groves provokes hearty laughter as the dame; Mr. Bert Allen fills the part of Johnny Stout with distinction; Gilron and Gross assist greatly in promoting the merriment; Mr. Albert Kail is good as Jimmy Green. The part of the Wolf is well played by Mr. W. H. Gatty. The specialities are by the Salon Trio, Lohrenz Quartette, and Hammersley troupe of dancers.

Hippodrome. — Proprietors, Messrs Willmot, Vandy, Potter, and Weisker; Acting-Manager, Mr. Frank Parsons.—The programme here this week includes the Lezors' Night in Japan, which is highly appreciated; Molly Doon is a dainty comedienne; George Prince is very good; the Sisters Belmont must be complimented on their smart dancing; Yorkshire Tom is amusing; the Brothers Pim are clever gymnasts; Ossi Souplessi is an anatomical wonder. Some good pictures were shown on the Biograph.

ALDERSHOT.—Theatre Royal.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Clarence Sounes; Resident-Manager, Mr. Geo. E. Williams.—Mr. J. D. Hunter's Dick Whittington is here. Miss Emily Taylor as Dick has a captivating appearance, combined with a sweet voice. She is heartily received in her rendering of "The Zuyder Zee," in character. Miss Roselie Jacobi, a winsome Alice, sings two songs tunefully, and acts with pleasing effect; Miss Florrie Bray is a vigorous and dashing Captain; and Miss Marjorie Seymour a fascinating Fairy. Mr. W. Ellerslie (Fitzwarren) and Mr. Chas. Wood (Cook) are capable and exceedingly versatile comedians; Mr. Frank Carson as a mirth-provoker is another success as Idle Jack, and a not-to-be-denied encore was accorded to him and Miss Correlli Livesey for their clever plantation duet, "My little octoroon," followed by a burlesque roller-skating act. Another excellent speciality turn is De Lillo and Metz's acrobatic and juggling performance; and Mr. Chas. Wood impersonates twenty faces under one hat. The Sisters Edwardes, who have been specially engaged, give duets and dances in a dashing style. The orchestra is under the direction of Mr. Surtees Corne.

ASHTON-UNDER-LYNE.—Theatre Royal.—Sole Owner and Manager, Mr. Chas. Revill; Acting-Manager, Mr. Wm. Revill. — The return to pantomime has been brought about by a visit this week of Messrs. Levy and Cardwell's juvenile pantomime company with The Sleeping Beauty. Miss Dolly Dodd as Beauty charms all by her vivacious manner and her vocal gifts; Miss Kitty Trewhitt, a bold and dashing Prince Florizel, dances and sings well; Miss Daisy Fielder as Sir Alfonzo is equally smart and full of vigour; Mr. George Wood as Bertie scores heavily; and as Queen Claribell Miss May Gibson is the pretty fairy who succours the distressed hero and heroine.

The Empire Hippodrome.—Proprietors, Messrs. W. H. Broadhead and Sons; Manager, Mr. W. B Broadhead; Acting-Manager, Mr. Percy B. Broadhead; Resident Acting-Manager, Mr. W. Leech.—The popular selection by Mr. R. Peel and his admirable orchestra for the week is "Popular Songs." The curtain rises on Nelly Navette, a clever burlesque actress and speciality dancer; in the art of juggling Primavesi is unique; the revisit of those amusing aeronauts, the Airship Kings and Society Acrobats, is welcome, and they are responsible for much hearty merriment; Geo. Duval is a humorous specimen of the stump orator; the Five Saxonias give a musical turn on many instruments; the Paolias, lady and gentleman, give displays of muscular power; Corta and Mirtziana are responsible for a smart exhibition of hand and head balancing; and Harry Cross's collie is quite an intelligent specimen of the species. Two young lady artists were put on as an extra turn on Monday, and sang duets; and Karoly Cynski (late of the Hungarians) gave a wonderful display of skill on drums and xylophone. The Bioscope is good.

ATTERCLIFFE.—Theatre Royal, Limited.—Managing-Director, Mr. F. Macnaughten; Resident-Manager, Mr. Chris. Wordsworth.—A hearty reception was accorded here on Monday evening last to Messrs. Moore-Kennedy's company in Dick Whittington, a smartly-written pantomime, abounding with fun, tuneful music, and graceful dances. Mlle. Lucretia, in the title-rôle, is charming, her singing and dancing receiving hearty applause; Miss Helena Barton is bright and vivacious as Alice Fitzwarren; Miss Jessie Barrow is a pleasing Maid Marian; Miss Josephine Townshend is well placed as Princess Charming; and Miss Mollie Revell is cordially received in her vocal items as the Fairy Queen. A large share of the fun is sustained by the Canadian Boys, Rino and Kirby, as Shuffle and Shirk, ably assisted by Mr. Will Sandes as Idle Jack, Mr. Clarence Turner as Captain Bunting, Mr. Fred Fulton as Betsy Mary Ann, and quaintly funny "Little" Hatch. Mons. Pauletti presents a clever impersonation of Tibby, the cat; and good service is done by Mr. Tom Lewis (Demon Rat), Mr. Percy Victor (Alderman Fitzwarren), and the Sisters Dunville (Algy and Polly). There are a number of specialities introduced, including Mlle. Lucretia, top-boot dancer; Sandes and Vincent, eccentric comedians; Victor's musical dogs; Mr. Tom Lewis, patriotic songs; Mr. Clarence Turner, the Lancashire lad; Pauletti, bicycle act; and "Little" Hatch, a most laughable comedian. The Lily Godfrey troupe are responsible for some clever acrobatic dancing.

Palace Theatre of Varieties.—Proprietor, Mr. T. Allan Edwardes; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. Lacy Lyne; Assistant-Manager, Mr. T. Edward Owen.—The place of honour here this week is accorded to Mr. Herbert Terry and an excellent company, who give a dramatic sketch, with elaborate scenery and effects, entitled Retribution. Other interesting turns are given by Larola, a clever juggler, with eccentric methods; Miss Rose Cabani, daintily costumed, in song and dance; Mr. W. B. Raby, comedian; Zerini, a smart hand-balancer; Miss Dolly Denver, speciality dancer; Mr. Arthur Elvy, sporting comedian; and Mr. Clayton's Attergraph pictures, which are always highly appreciated.

AYR.—New Gaiety Theatre.—Managing-Director, Mr. R. C. Buchanan; Acting-Manager, Mr. Harry W. Day.—The pantomime, Jack the Giant Killer, is here for a week. It is an elaborate production, presented by one of the combinations directed by Mr. R. C. Buchanan and Mr. Ernest Stevens. As a spectacle it would be difficult to beat, and nothing has ever been seen in Ayr to approach the Terpsichore's Dream, which is wonderful, strange, and beautiful. The company is an all-round clever one. Jack has a rollicking exponent in Miss Eily Helene, who makes herself a favourite; Miss Emmie Cozens, a neat little Margery Daw, sings and dances nicely; King Pad and his Queen are entrusted to Mr. Harry Farrow and Miss Pattie Fairley, who make the most of their parts; Dame Dabble is made as funny as can be by Mr. Johnny McElroy; Miss Winifred Murray as Daisy dances daintily; the Giant Blunderbore finds a capable exponent in Mr. W. S. Stevenson; and much of the fun and frolic depends on Donal', the page (Mr. George Helm); Messrs. Harris and Worth create no end of fun with their smart patter.

BARNSLEY.—Theatre Royal.—Manager, Mr. A. C. Mitchell. — Miss Mary Austin and Mr. E. Vivian Edmond's company is here this week in Woman and Wine. Miss Cissie St. Elmo, in the leading rôle of Muriel Rigadout, imparts much finish to her acting; Mr. E. V. Edmonds gives a capital impersonation of Dick Seymour.

Public Hall.—Manager, Mr. Geo. E. Hoey.—Messrs. Holland and Wood's pantomime, Aladdin, under the direction of Mr. Jasper Redfern, is drawing good houses here this week.

BARNSTAPLE.—Theatre Royal.—Proprietors, the Bridge Trustees; Manager, Mr. Harry Ashton. —The Christian was presented here on Monday and Tuesday by Mr. J. Bannister Howard's company. As John Storm, Mr. E. Stanton-Sharp displayed undoubted ability in his representation of the self-willed ecclesiastic, and thoroughly merited the success he obtained; Miss Laura Walker won golden opinions for her bright and forceful rendering of Glory Quayle; Miss Constance Stephens made a dignified Mrs. Callander; and Miss Cicely Oates as Polly Love quickly gained the sympathy of the audience. Father Lamplugh was delineated with reverence and dignity by Mr. Harry Colbeck; while the Archdeacon Wealthy received ample justice at the hands of Mr. Phipps Stanley. Mr. P. Gedge Twyman's impersonation of Lord Robert Ure had much to commend it, and his acting throughout was keenly appreciated; Horatio Drake, too, had a clever exponent in Mr. Ernest Stidwell. The company is under the management of Miss Marie Beckenham.

BARROW-IN-FURNESS. — Royalty Theatre and Opera House.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Hugh Robertson; Resident-Manager, Mr. Geo. Stone.—Mr. Robert MacDonald's company in Human Hearts is here. Mr. W. W. Fazan is a capital hero as Tom Logan, and Mr. Ernest Gray a decided villainous Frederick Armsdale. Mr. E. H. Dobell makes a capital Jem Mason, and Mr. George Hewitson a characteristic Mose Jones; Mr. Fred Lester is a success as Jimmy Logan, Mrs. Edwin Palmer is an impressive Samatha Logan, Helen Shaw is cleverly taken by Miss Althea Hyde, Miss Maud Lindon is an accomplished Jeannette Logan, and Reana Roberts a bright and attractive Little Grace.

His Majesty's.—Lessees and Managers, Mr. and Mrs. Calvert Routledge.—Mr. Frank Lindo's company in Home, Sweet Home is here. He himself proves an able exponent of the part of Stephen Armitage, and Mr. Hodgson as the scheming Lucas Lyle is very clever; Captain Gamber is a dignified Duke of Ancaster, Miss Wakeford is a sympathetic and winning Joan, and Mr. Doyle, Mr. George Overs, and the Misses Rochefort are all efficient in their respective parts.

Tivoli Theatre of Varieties.—Lessee and Manager, Signor Pepi; Stage-Manager, Mr. Tom Whiting.—The great attraction this week is provided by Mr. Fred Kitchen and Mr. Frank Lister in a clever sketch, No. 99. The Vernon troupe of xylophone experts are very popular. Charles Santon gives a musicianly turn; Gladys Raynor is a pleasing vocalist, Will Walton a smart comedian, and Cleland a good comedy juggler.

BATH.—Theatre Royal.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Egbert Lewis; Acting-Manager, Mr. Lewis A. Long.—A revival this week of a series of Gilbert and Sullivan operas, by the D'Oyly Carte repertoire company, commenced on Monday with a capital all-round performance of The Yeomen of the Guard. Enthusiasm reigned throughout the evening, and Mrs. Carte, who was present, must have felt gratified at the reception accorded the opera and company alike. The audience welcomed such old favourites as Mr. Fred Billington and Mr. Charles R. Walenn with hearty applause, and never have these clever comedians appeared to greater advantage as Wilfred Shadbolt and Jack Point than upon the present occasion. Mr. Strafford Moss's fine tenor voice is heard to advantage, and he also acted in excellent fashion as Colonel Fairfax; as the Lieutenant of the Tower, Mr. Leicester Tunks did particularly well; Mr. Albert Kavanagh made a typical Sergeant Meryll; the rôle of Leonard was undertaken with credit by Mr. H. Blake Johnston; a new-comer was welcomed in Miss Mabel Graham as Elsie Maynard, and her rendering of the character, both from a vocal and histrionic standpoint, was charming; Miss Mabel Burnege was seen for the first time locally as Phœbe Meryll, and from her opening solo became a firm favourite with the audience; Dame Carruthers was undertaken with success by Miss PhyHis Grey; Miss Marie Carveth as Kate proved of great service in the famous madrigal, which had to be repeated three times. On Tuesday Patience was staged, with Miss Hope Hastings in the title-rôle and Mr. Walenn as Bunthorne. The Mikado, The Gondoliers, and Iolanthe have formed the bill during the remainder of a delightful engagement.

Palace Theatre.—Proprietor, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. Chas. Schuberth.—That "odd fellow from Lancashire," George Formby, is greatly in evidence this week, and at each performance he is obliged to give a quartette of songs before he is allowed to depart; the Four Maisanos, the well-known eccentric musicians, are once again giving their popular interlude, and are rewarded loud applause for their efforts; the Chee-you-say Family of Chinese conjurers mystify the audience successfully; Stelling and his clever dog Kaiwaski are worth watching; Ida Kathrena, in her Dolly Girl scena, is cordially received; Johnny Holland and company, in their hilarious sketch, The Millionaire, create plenty of merriment; Vowles and Bryan, in songs and stories, also appear. Raymond's Bio-tableaux are, as usual, included in the programme.

BELFAST.—Theatre Royal.—Managing-Director, Mr. Fred W Warden; Acting-Manager, Mr. James M. McCann.—Mr. J. Maundy Gregory and company presented on Monday Lights Out, which met with considerable approval from a numerous audience. Mr. Charles Esdale—a fine actor—deserves the utmost commendation for his earnest and skilful impersonation of Lieut. Von Lauffen. The rôle presents many difficulties, but Mr. Esdale was eminently successful throughout. Honours should also be accorded Miss Frances Davie for her powerful impersonation of Klara Volkhardt. Miss Davie's acting, especially in the court-martial scene, is worthy of high praise. An excellent and convincing impersonation of the old soldier, Sergeant Volkhardt, was submitted by Mr. Lionel D'Arragon; and the woman-hating Corporal Queiss was cleverly embodied by Mr. Francis J. Bithell. Mr. Richard Fielding's acting in the part of Corporal Helbig could not easily be surpassed; and Mr. F. Clive Ross was a dignified Major Paschke. Some humour was infused into the piece by Mr. Frederick Clifton, who appeared as Private Michael. Other rôles were capitally sustained by Messrs. Arthur Stone, Kenneth Brampton, Alfred B. Allen, &c. The play in one act, entitled Nan, was a smart curtain-raiser, the various characters being ably sustained by Miss Eileen Barry, and Messrs. F. Clive Ross, Alfred B. Allen, Kenneth Brampton, and Fredk. Clifton.

Palace Theatre of Varieties.—Proprietors, Warden, Ltd.; Managing-Director, Mr. Fred W. Warden; General-Manager, Mr. J. De Freece; Resident-Manager, Mr. George Harris.—The Kellinos head the bill here, and provide a remarkably clever entertainment, entitled A Fête in Venice. The performance of Miss Ella's troupe of lions has created quite a sensation. Mr. Marriott Edgar is an excellent comedian with good songs; and the ventriloquial act of Mr. Bert Williams gains the utmost approval; Mr. Montague Biggs, female impersonator, takes well, and deservedly so; Miss Lottie Collard, comedienne; Miss Millie Williams, comedienne and dancer; and the Palace pictures are also on the programme. Although billed, Mountford and Walsh did not appear on Monday, Mr. Mountford, it is understood, being detained in London on business connected with the music hall strike. A good substitute was found in Warden, Reed, and Co., in their humorous duologue, Married or Photographed, which was accorded a big reception.

Empire Theatre of Varieties, Ltd.—General-Manager, Mr. Frank Allen; Acting-Manager, Mr. John A. Walker.—The Dandies top the bill, and provide a capital entertainment, which has been accorded a good reception. Mr. Cliff Ryland's humorous songs and up-to-date patter have caused much amusement; and the three Sisters Chester uphold their reputation with their delightful vocalism and dancing. The Great Hughes introduces with much effect his funny burlesque and exposure of hypnotism; and Mr. Arthur Melrose is an exceedingly clever whistling comedian. Also appearing are Miss Ethel Dunford, vocalist; The Phantom Ship, an amusing speciality; Mr. H. F. Wilson, tenor vocalist; and Miss Lena Willard, comedienne.

New Alhambra Theatre.—General-Manager, Mr. Henry T. Downs.—The Alhambra Dramatic Company, under the direction of Mr. M. Montgomery, is appearing here this week in the fine drama, Shadows of a Great City, with much approval. Mr. Horace Denton deserves much commendation for his clever impersonation of the hero, Tom Cooper; and Miss Nina Blake-Adams commands much success by her skilful impersonation of the dual rôles of Annie Standish and Nellie Standish. Mr. Balfour Dennistown furnishes an admirable impersonation of George Benson, and Mr. Elmore Frith an acquisition to this company, could not easily be surpassed in his impersonation of Arkwright. Mr. Tom H. Solly is humorous as Jem Farren, and Mr. Cyril Grier—capital in every part he undertakes—scores as Abe Nathan. Miss Mattie Crawford as Mrs. Higgins, and Miss Alice Clarke as Biddy Roman give excellent representations. The Alhambra bioscope exhibits an amusing picture this week, entitled "The Policeman's Little Run."

BILSTON.—Theatre Royal.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Harry Battersby; Musical-Director, Mr. J. E. Machin.—Claude Ginnett and company are here in Dick Turpin's Ride to York and Rejected Remounts, which are enthusiastically received. The variety company includes clever Rodin, the trick cyclist; the Musical Dunvilles; J. C. Heffron, comic singer and dancer; Nita Carmen, comedienne; Bros. Tarrant, patterers; Magna, statuist; and Jasper Redfern's Bioscope.

BIRKENHEAD.—New Theatre Royal.—Lessee, Mr. W. W. Kelly; Acting-Manager, Mr. Charles Pell.—Mr. Lester Collingwood is a manager in whom the Birkenhead public have every confidence, and a visit from his pantomime company, in Blue Beard, has naturally given great satisfaction. Produced, at it is, with a wealth of accessories and scenic effect, the performance goes with a swing from start to finish. Mr. S. Lockridge acts the title-rôle with every success; Mr. Fred Lindo is a capital Ibrahim; Miss Millie Warde is a charming Fatima; Selim is delightfully played by Miss Marie Liston; Mr. Harry Tilbury is irresistibly funny as Sister Anne; Miss Gladys Wingrove is a smart Cassim; and Miss Irene Wingrove as Beda, Miss Edie St. Clair as Hassan, and May Ruby as Zoebedie are most efficient. Messrs. Wheeler and Wilson, the Valerie Girls, the Two Jays, and the Three Rubys assist in the specialities, and Miss Issa Steel and Miss Jennie Cuthbert are also conspicuous in the cast. The musical arrangements are controlled by Mr. Arthur J. Braddock.

Argyle Theatre of Varieties.—Manager, Mr. D. J. Clarke.—An excellent company includes the Craggs, clever acrobats, in an amusing sketch; the Harvey Boys, in their highly popular boxing act; Sinclair and Parr, accomplished vocalists; Dandy George and his dog, a marvel of canine sagacity; Miss Alice Maydue, a talented comedienne; the Four Spanish Goldinis, in their equilibristic feats; Miss Maude Marlow, serio; Mr. J. H. Crew, comedian; Miss Maggie Runnier; Mr. Charles Craston; and Brown's Royal Bioscope.

BIRMINGHAM.—Theatre Royal.—Managing-Director, Mr. Tom B. Davis; Acting-Manager, Mr. Philip Rodway.—There is no falling off in the great success attending The Queen of Hearts, neither have the artists abated their energy and enthusiasm one whit. Mr. Philip Rodway's courtesy and tact in seating and accommodating such large crowds of the public win him increased respect, and all things point to an exceedingly long and prosperous run.

Prince of Wales's Theatre.—Lessees, Messrs. Rodgers, Limited; Manager, Mr. J. F. Graham; Acting-Manager, Mr. Henry Johnston.—There is a marked improvement in the tone and variety of Crusoe's Adventures, excellent though its production was on Christmas Eve, and the public show their appreciation of the same by filling the house at every performance. On Wednesday, at a matinée, a special concert recital was held by Mark Hambourg, the great Russian pianist, assisted by Jan Hambourg, solo violin, and Boris Hambourg, solo 'cello, a large and appreciative audience being present.

Grand Theatre.—Proprietor, Mr. J. W. Turner; Manager, Mr. Victor Turner.—Crowded houses continue to testify to the unfading popularity of Mr. J. W. Turner and his famous opera company, Monday's reception of Fra Diavolo being particularly warm and hearty. Mr. Turner's singing in the titular-rôle was again a gratification to his admirers; and Mr. Sidney Clifford, Mr. John Ridding, Mr. F. J. Hargrave, Mr. Richard Cummings, Mr. George Ridding, Miss Grace Parish, and Miss Kitty Brownless ably supported their chief in the other parts. On Tuesday Faust was given, with F. J. Hargrave in the name-part, which proved a highly meritorious performance. Miss Kitty Brownless made a successful appearance as Marguerite, her singing of the famous Jewel Song being much admired. Mr. Sidney Clifford showed sardonic humour and excellent vocalisation as Mephistopheles; Mr. Tom Griffiths was prominent as Valentine; Miss Jessie Dennis made much of the part of Siebel; and Miss Beatrice Hill as Martha and Mr. Geo. Ridding as Wagner were successful. The chorus and orchestra were also exemplary in their duties. Other works presented this week are The Lily of Killarney, Nigel (described elsewhere), The Rose of Castille, The Bohemian Girl, and Maritana.

Alexandra Theatre.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Lester Collingwood.—Cinderella shares in the public favour enormously, and will surely run till Easter. The Bros. Obo are the funniest and best Ugly Sisters that have appeared here, and Miss Bessie Butt's conception of the heroine is a delight to all. The other characters are also remarkably well placed.

Metropole Theatre.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Andrew Melville; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. Hindle Taylor.—Mr. Andrew Melville's company appears here in the powerful drama The King of Crime, which well sustains the character of this popular house. Mr. Fred A. Marston's forceful acting as Ronjarre is a strong point in the success of the piece; Miss Rose Ralph's popularity grows apace as the blind wife, Henriette; Mr. Percy Dawsone's robust acting as Louis is highly appraised; Mr. Austin Milroy acts with fine effect as Simon; Mr. Andrew Emm elicits laughter and cheers with his clever, droll acting as Mick; Miss Jessie Yatman lends important aid as Matilda; Miss Bella Power is successful as Mère Crouchard; Mr. Harry Cooke as Toto and Miss Amy Corelli as Clarissa do clever work.

Carlton Theatre, Saltley.—Licensee and Manager, Mr. James Alexander.—Aladdin is presented here by Mr. Herbert Barrs, who has equipped his production with a capable cast and gorgeous scenery and dresses. Miss Maude Vincent, who figures as the hero, has a taking manner and several catchy songs, which score; Miss Lora Lyndon gains much admiration as the Princess; Miss Dorothy Wilson does well as Pekoe; Mr. Will Sherlock shines among the comedians with his clever and resourceful acting as Abanazar; Mr. Carl Fredericks contributes to the merriment as the Emperor; Mr. David Phillips is a capable exponent of the Widow's rôle; and Messrs. Alf Selwood, Duncan, and Morton, and Wilfred Dare, Little Della, Miss G. Dale, and the Whitworth Cycling Girls, together with Campkin, the clever tramp cyclist, shine in the production.

Theatre Royal, Aston.—Lessee, Mr. Charles Barnard; General-Manager, Mr. E. Hewitson; Acting-Manager, Mr. Frank Whittles.—The Forty Thieves has attracted visitors from all parts of the manor and afar, the fame of Messrs. Little and D'Arcy's version being widespread. The clever and charming Sisters Silcott diffuse a brightness throughout the production, Miss Marie as Morgiana, Miss Minnie as the Captain, and Miss Violet as Ganem being very smart and popular. Mr. James Ferguson gives a droll personation of Cogia that is well received; Mr. Ted Wooton wins favour as Cassim; and Mr. Willie Black as Ali Baba proves an admirable humorist. Mr. Willie Hicks as the sportive and necessary donkey contrives to be genuinely amusing; Messrs Malone and Conley wax furiously funny as the lieutenants; and the cycling speciality of the Daunton-Shaw Troupe and the graceful dances by the Esmeraldo Quartette, among many other good things, add to the interest of the pantomime.

Empire Palace.—Resident-Manager, Mr. A. W. Matcham.—Topping the bill this week is Madge Lessing, always a favourite with Birmingham audiences. The Aurora troupe of cyclists give a remarkable display; the Courtiers are society entertainers of more than average ability; Hall and Earle are quaint acrobats; the Paxton Trio are expert hand-balancers; George Young is a talented blind pianist; and the Three Tauberts, xylophonists, Charles Pastor, comedian, and Techow's cleverly trained cats also contribute.

Gaiety.—General-Manager, Mr. Albert Bushell.—The Matweef-Hugoston troupe of Russian singers, dancers, and acrobats hold first place in the programme this week. Their business is very clever; Arthur Aldridge is a fine tenor. "The Lady in Black," introduced by Lieut. Albini, thoroughly mystifies the audience. H. Leslie Bell, Lily Pearl, and company create much merriment with a sketch, entitled A Bit of String; Toch and Tard are very amusing. Other good turns are given by Mount and Corelli; George Castray; Henderson, the blind musician; Marie Wilton; and the Gallery Boy.

Hippodrome.—Managing-Director, Mr. Thomas Barrasford.—Bob Hutt and company are producing here a laughable sketch, entitled Welcome Home. Mr. Charles Diamond and Miss Beatrice are responsible for a high-class musical turn; the Silver Tone Quartette of Coons render their native songs in a charming manner; Ted E. Box is a remarkably good whistler; Ray Maskell is a stylish comedienne and an expert dancer; Leah Ardell is a charming vocalist; and the Katos give a novel turn with their automatic theatre.

Bordesley Palace.—Resident-Manager, Mr. Edward Foster.—Madge Grey, an excellent dialect comedienne, holds the premier position this week. The Arthur Lloyd Trio give an excruciatingly funny sketch, entitled Little Charlie; or, The Twin Sisters; Sylvesta performs several good illusions; Lidden and Hayward provide an interesting musical turn; Genaro and Theol are clever contortionists; and Browning and Wally smart gymnasts. Sid Bandon has a taking song; and C. B. Jerome is well applauded.

BISHOP AUCKLAND. — Eden Theatre. — Lessees, Messrs. R. Addison, Ltd.; Managing-Director, Mr. R. Addison; Acting-Manager and Secretary, Mr. J. Huntley.—A warm reception is being accorded Messrs. Fred J. Little and Fred Darcy's company, in the pantomime entitled Sinbad the Sailor. Miss Marie Reeve as Sinbad is eminently successful, her singing and dancing soon installing her as a great favourite; Zorilda is prettily undertaken by Miss Amy Calcott; Lustre, the good fairy, is effectively rendered by Miss Marian Ellis. The pantomime literally teams with fun, the chief contributors being Messrs. Newco and Sullo, as Baccah and Stoppa, and Mr. Walter Adams as Tinbad the Tailor. Mr. Albert E. Mann is well placed as Mrs. Sinbad; and mention must also be made of Mr. Fred Dobito as Ali Loofah, and Miss Flora Buxton as Princess Zaidre. The performance also includes the following clever variety turns:—The Marvellous Westwoods, comedy cyclists; Les Beaux Belles, in their drum song and dance; and the Calcotts, dancers and banjoists.

BLACKBURN. — Theatre Royal.—Proprietor, Mr. Harry Yorke; Manager, Mr. Reginald C. Yorke.—Messrs. Dottridge, Longden, and Livesey's company is appearing here in the drama, The Village Blacksmith. Mr. Sam Livesey is excellent in the title-rôle; Mr. Joseph Carter as Captain Leo, the villain, is no less successful; and the wrestling scene between these two actors is excellently done. Miss Louie Adair is good in the part of the blacksmith's wife; and Miss Cassie Le Grand does some effective work as Ruth Perkins; while Miss Bertha Hanbury is capital as little Harry Strong. The humorous element is well looked to by Mr. Geo. V. Campbell, who is exceedingly amusing as Billy Twig, Mr. Thomas E. Marshall (Jeremiah), and Miss T. C. Livesey (Sal Perkins). The staging of the piece is good.

New Prince's Theatre.—Proprietor, Mr. E. H. Page.—Mr. A. Clifton Alderson's company, in the drama, Held Apart, are appearing here.

Palace Theatre. — Proprietor, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. Will Murray.—The principal turn in a good entertainment is the military sketch, La Vivandiere, in which Miss Isabel Derrie, Miss Cora Patey, Mr. Race Rockingham, Mr. Charles D. Pitt, Mr. Frank Godfrey, and Mr. Reginald Maurice appear. Other entertainers are the Wedburns, comedians; the Three Whirligigs, musical artists; Wyndham and Waters, in The Professor and the Pupil; Mabel Marie, musician; Smith and Johnson, coloured vocalists; Francis O'Flynn, banjoist; and Dickinson and Johnson, ornamental swimmers. The many friends of Mr. Will Murray, the popular manager, will hear with regret that he is about to undergo an operation for appendicitis. We wish him a speedy recovery. Mr. Bradbury is, meanwhile, undertaking the managerial duties.

BLACKPOOL.—Her Majesty's Opera House.—General-Manager, Mr. J. R. Huddlestone.—Messrs. Fred J. Little and Fred Darcy's pastoral pantomime company is here this week with Little Red Riding Hood, the title-rôle being admirably sustained by Miss Verona Phillis; whilst Boy Blue finds a charming exponent in Miss Ada Twibell, whose singing is a special feature. Miss Molly Hackett is Miss Muffit, and Miss Emma Don as Prince Charming, are also great favourites; the Brothers Lavelle, as Johnny Green and Jimmy Stout, together with Mr. J. Templar Ellis as Baron Badlot, Mr. Harry Howe as Dame Mary Trot, are the principal fun-providers.

Grand Theatre. — Owner and Manager, Mr. T. Sergenson.—The Blackpool Lyric Operatic Society is in possession here this week, and giving an exceedingly praiseworthy representation of The Country Girl, reflecting the greatest credit on the coach and producer, Mr. Thornley Dodge, the well-known and popular drawing-room entertainer.

Palace.—General-Manager, Mr. G. H. Harrop; Acting-Manager, Mr. Fred Waller.—The Robertys Family, Continental pantomimists, top the bill here this week. Other popular turns are Natalia and Diana, aerial gymnasts; Stewart and Morgan, in a vocal act; Harry Taylor, comedian; Chas. Russell, in a novelty scena; Richardson Taylor, ventriloquist and mimic; Pasquali Brothers, acrobats; Lily Sharplin, mimic; J. G. Grahame, jun., and Zerlina Harrington, in a dramatic episode, called A Daughter of Pleasure; and the Paragon Trio, speciality vocalists.

BOLTON.—Theatre Royal, Ltd.—Managing-Director, Mr. J. F. Elliston; Acting-Manager, Mr. Charles Melvin.—The pantomime season over, the patrons here are this week enjoying a return visit of Mr. William Greet's principal company in the successful musical comedy, The Earl and the Girl, which is attracting large audiences. Mr. William Stephens sustains the part of Jim Cheese with much natural humour; Mr. Arthur Harrold is a capital Dick Wargrave; Mr. Percy E. Wright displays great ability as the Hon. Crewe Boodle; and A. Bunker Bliss is admirably acted by Mr. H. Courtin; the important part of Elphin Haye is pleasingly rendered by Miss Frances Earle; Miss Gertrude Melville is a vivacious Daisy Fallowfield; Miss Beatrice Anderson is well suited as Mrs. Shimmering Black; Miss Joan Clifford is unexceptionable as Miss Virginia Bliss; and 'Liza Shoddam has an excellent exponent in Miss Jennie Richards. Mr. W. Norman as Downham, Mr. Greene Taylor as Mr. Talk, and Mr. Fred W. Patrick as Mr. Hazell contribute important aid. The chorus is strong in numbers and efficiency. A very pretty dance, "L'Entente Cordiale," is given by a clever troupe of dancers.

Grand Theatre, Ltd.—Managing-Director, Mr. J. F. Elliston; Acting-Manager, Mr. Harry Kenyon. —This week the Six Brothers Luck are appearing in an original pantomime sketch, entitled Blazes; or the Lightning Fire Brigade; they also appear in another sketch, The Demon of the Cellar. Other good turns are Master May, boy vocalist; Ada Parker, coon songstress and dancer; Bert Bowden, quaint comedian; Alveno and Cleo, the flying wonders; A. E. Clifford, versatile vocalist; the Five Powells, in their screaming funny absurdity, The Deserters; C. Torbay, comedy silhouettist; the great Roland, illusionist, assisted by Miss Marjorie Russell; and Vernon's Imperial Bioscope.

BOSCOMBE. — Hippodrome.—Joint-Proprietors, Messrs. F. Mouillot and W. De Frece; General-Manager, Mr. J. De Frece; Resident-Manager, Mr. H. Ball.—A great attraction is here this week in the person of Dr. Walford Bodie, who performs some astounding feats with the aid of electricity; Phillips and Terry cause much amusement in The Dummy; Rhoda Burnhill, daintily arrayed, is a versatile dancer; Dolly Robson, with her vocal turn, is a favourite; Bella Skene is a pleasing singer; Mignon is seen to advantage in her musical turn; Belford and Mars are an amusing pair; and the Hippodrome pictures, as usual, are interesting.

BRADFORD. — Theatre Royal. — Lessee, Mr. John Hart; General-Manager, Mr. T. F. Doyle; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. Richardson.—The efforts of the clever company, and the charm and brilliancy of the scenic effects, continue to delight Mr. Hart's patrons, who nightly greet Robinson Crusoe with hearty marks of appreciation and roars of laughter.

Prince's Theatre.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Francis Laidler; Acting-Manager, Mr. N. Hepworth. —All pantomime records here have been broken, and the palm is awarded Cinderella, Mr. Laidler's most successful effort in the way of pantomime. Packed audiences are the rule; there is not a dull moment from start to finish of the performance, and laughter and unstinted applause greet the efforts of the comedians and the brilliant spectacular effects. Miss Florrie Forde submits a continual change of songs in the character of the Prince. "Zuyder Zee," with capitally arranged chorus, "Colombo," and "Down at the old Bull and Bush" are amongst her best efforts. Mr. Tom Moore, the quaint Peter the Page, is a special favourite, and Miss Alice Williams, the pretty heroine, has sung and danced herself into favour. Cinderella is evidently destined to enjoy a long and prosperous run.

The Empire. — Moss' Empires, Ltd. — Resident-Manager, Mr. Percival Craig.—Mr. George Gray, who is supported by a capable company, is presenting here his latest stirring sketch without a title. Mr. Gray was distinctly effective in his acting as the wrongly-accused Jack Beresford; Mr. Robert Purdie as the accomplished scoundrel Captain Selwyn Hilliard was excellent; and the other noticeable efforts were Ruth, the deserted wife, played with power by Miss Lucie Evelyn; Mr. G. F. Leicester's Sir John Armitage; Kate, his daughter, gracefully represented by Miss Doara Hammersley; and Mark Stein, vigorously played by Mr. Walter Beaumont. Haidee Lee and Wallace Kingston are here again with their funny knockabout sketch, Practical Joking. The quaint little packet of comedy, Fred Zola, is eliciting much laughter; clever sand-dancing on a billiard table by Hayes Brothers, the comedians, is a novelty; those clever head and hand balancers, the Manings, are again earning well-merited applause; Kate Cohen is a vocalist of qu

BRIDLINGTON.—Palace and Winter Gardens.—Manager, Mr. J. W. Delmar.—That talented combination, the Revell Troupe, are the great attraction this week, their pantomime absurdity, Mischief, causing much fun and laughter. Miss Poppie Howard is a sweet singer and dancer; Miss Gertie Lovell is a clever and charming serio and coon songstress; and the Dianias, smart patterers and acrobats, appear in their laughable sketch, The Huntsman. Mr. Jock Hamilton is a comedian who causes great fun by his parodies on popular songs; the Sisters Denham, two really good serios and dancers, give some smart exhibitions of acrobatic dancing; the Four Mertons bring an attractive programme to a close with a laughable Anglo-American burlesque, Ructions.

BRIGHTON.—Theatre Royal.—Licensee and Manager, Mr. H. Cecil Beryl; Assistant-Manager, Mr. Harcourt M. Beryl.—Mr. Robert Arthur's pantomime The Babes in the Wood, transferred from the Fulham Theatre, London, opened a fortnight's stay here on Monday. Miss Marguerite Broadfoote gave a charming and vivacious impersonation of Jack Hayseed, whose sweetheart, Maid Marion, had a very winsome exponent in Miss Lily J'eck. The Poluskis, as the comic villains, were a host in themselves, and kept the house rippling with the heartiest of laughter. Mr. John E. Coyle as the Baron and Mr. Leonard Thiel as Mrs. No-Luck Jones were very amusing. The Babes had pleasing representatives in the Sisters Herbert; and admirable support was given by Miss Vera Carey (Colin), Miss Ruby Forbes (Mavis), and Mr. Jock McKay (The McGuffin). The choruses and ballets were admirably rendered, and the duties of conductor were ably carried out by Mr. Alfred M. Moon.

Alhambra.—Managing-Director, Mr. J. L. Graydon; General-Manager, Mr. Ernest Lepard.—There is a capital company here this week. The Tan-Kwai troupe of Chinese conjurers, contortionists, jugglers, and acrobats submit an excellent turn; Holles, Goldman, and company are highly successful in their musical comedy mélange, The Little Charwoman; Herbert Clifton is a clever mimic and pleasing vocalist; Bright and Bright are well received in a novel speciality act; J. W. Ellison, comedian, achieves much success; Fyne and Hurley are very entertaining in The Coster and the Dude; the Three Californian Girls are charming vocalists and dancers; Lilian Neville is an accomplished ballad vocalist; Fred Walker, comedian, is amusing; Hans and Lux evoke hearty laughter; Jeannette Lee is a dainty comedienne and dancer; and the Alhambrascope pictures are interesting.

Hippodrome Theatre of Varieties.—Proprietors, Messrs. Barrasford and Smith; Managing-Director, Mr. Thomas Barrasford.—An attractive programme is sustained here this week. Ted Saunders gives clever imitations of popular comedians; Anthony, comic conjurer, submits a novel and capital turn; Harry Sims sings in good style; Gillin is a very entertaining ventriloquist; the Villions are skilful trick cyclists; the Warsaw Brothers win hearty applause for their comedy musical act; Fred Karno's latest creation, Moses and Sons, is a distinct success, and is admirably sustained by a company in which Albert Bruno, a mirth-provoking actor, is especially effective; and the Barrascope pictures are excellent.

West Pier.—Secretary and Entertainment-Manager, Mr. A. D. Norman.—Miss Rose Moncrieff's company is here this week with the pantomime Jack and the Beanstalk. Miss Rose Moncrieff gives an admirable impersonation of Jack; Miss Grace Rosaire is an attractive Princess Lovebird; Mr. Chris Baker as the Baron and Miss Nellie Montague as the Baroness are well suited. The Scotch comedians, The Dewars, are funny in the parts of Fanfare and Blowhard, and are well supported by Mr. Arthur Burton as the Widow. The Sisters Allen give a neat dancing turn.

BRISTOL.—Prince's Theatre.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. James Macready Chute.—On Monday last an extra treat was provided in the visit by Mr. Lewis Waller and Miss Evelyn Millard and the company from the Lyric Theatre in Monsieur Beaucaire. There was a very large attendance in all parts of the house. Mr. Lewis Waller and Miss Evelyn Millard obtained much applause for their clever impersonations of their respective parts of the Duke of Orleans and Lady Mary Carlyle; and they were admirably supported by the very capable company. The pantomime, Humpty Dumpty, continues to be highly attractive, full houses being the rule at each performance. On Monday evening, in consequence of the unavoidable absence of Miss Sybil Arundale, the part of Rudolph was cleverly taken by Miss Olive Crellin, and the rôle of the latter, Prince Spriteley, was successfully performed by Miss Madge Hamilton.

Theatre Royal.—Managing-Director, Mr. Ernest Carpenter; Resident-Manager, Mr. W. F. Crowe.—New features have been introduced into Cinderella at this theatre, the pantomime always going merrily. The attendance at each performance is highly satisfactory, and the company is a hard-working and very capable one. The fine scenery, tasteful costumes, pretty songs, and smart dances are much admired.

Palace.—Resident-Manager, Mr. Horace Livermore; Secretary and Treasurer, Mr. F. J. V. Welchman.—Galetti's Monkey Comedians, who occupy the leading position on the programme, are very amusing, and are certainly trained to perfection. Albert Wyndham and company appear successfully in a sensational dramatic sketch, The Roman Father, Mr. Wyndham and Miss Mona Foster distinguishing themselves as Viginius and Virginia, and obtaining good support from the other members of the company. The four scenes included in the sketch are effective. Other artists doing excellent turns are Ena Richards, Canadian comedienne and dancer; Meier and Mora, American speciality artists; Jack Crawley, in his novel act, The Regimental Smoking Concert; Steinway Quartette, in their successful song-scena, Songs of the Sea; Mignonette Kokin, comedienne and dancer; and Walter Munroe, Irish character comedian and dancer. The performance concludes with Vernon's Imperial Bioscope.

Colston Hall.—This is the last week of a very successful visit of Poole's Myriorama, benefits being announced for each evening.

BROUGHTON.—Victoria Theatre, Ltd.—Manager and Licensee, Mr. J. Fred Watson.—Mr. George Brydon Phillips's pantomime, Little Red Riding Hood, entered its second week here on Monday, and continues to draw good houses. Miss Rose Harvey (Prince Amorosa), Little Mamie Iris (Red Riding Hood), and the other members of the comp any spare no pains in making it a most enjoyable entertainment. In our last week's notice the name of Mr. Dennis Curzon was inadvertently omitted. He plays the important part of Johnny Stout, and is also Pantaloon in the harlequinade.

BURTON-ON-TRENT.—New Theatre and Opera House.—Proprietor, Mr. H. Dudley Bennett; Acting-Manager, Mr. John Waller.—Mr. Milton Bode's highly successful pantomime is a great attraction here. Miss Gladys Warren in the title-rôle infuses any amount of dash and go into her part. A bright and winsome Alice is Miss Kathleen Severn, who possesses a sweet voice and pleasing manner. Untiring in his efforts to amuse, Mr. Bob Hutt as Alderman Fitzwarren is an assured success. The original humour of Mr. Rolando Martin (a clever up-to-date comedian) as Idle Jack, and his able coadjutor, Mr. Fred Danvers (Matilda) keep the house in roars of laughter. The Firmans are also responsible for clever comic business. Miss Flo Challis (Tommy) and Miss Beatrice Lane (May) sing and act well; Miss Nellie Lauraine is well placed as the Empress; the antics of Dick's feline friend are amusingly portrayed by Mr. Carne Curre; Collins's Six Lancashire Lassies are exceptionally clever and taking dancers, and the marvellous feats of Wallau, the juggler, are watched with intense interest.

BURY (Lancs.).—Theatre Royal and Opera House, Ltd.—General-Manager, Mr. Otto C. Culling.—Messrs Dottridge and Longden's company is here with the very funny pantomime, Aladdin. Miss Fanny Wright, in the title-rôle, is delightful, putting plenty of spirit into her work; as the Princess Badroulbadour, Miss Kitty Brewster is a great favourite; the Widow Twankey is sustained by Mr. Julian Mack; and Mr. Joe Robins is Wot-Tzi-It, both artists proving very capable comedians. Mr. Daley Cooper as Abanazar is responsible for a great amount of fun; Miss M. Woolstenhulme as Rhadianta has a capital voice, and her numbers are much enjoyed. Among the specialities, the Brothers Brooks, knockabouts, and the Brewster Troupe of acrobats, are conspicuous.

CAMBRIDGE.—New Theatre.—Managing-Director, Mr. W. B. Redfern, J.P., D.L.—Mr. Milton Bode's principal company gave a first-class representation of The Belle of Mayfair here on Monday night. Mr. Harry Parker's Sir John Chaldicott was intensely funny; Miss Emily Stevens as Lady Chaldicott was a valuable partner; Miss May Yates made a dainty little Julia, her dancing being particularly noticeable; while Miss Mabel Dent as Pincott was equally successful. Mr. Haddon Cave (the Earl), Mr. Edward Hugonnet (Raymond), Mr. George McCloskie (Bishop), Mr. Gwyn Alwyn (Hugh Meredith), and Mr. Lauri Lisle (Comte de Perrier) were all satisfactory. Miss Daisie Irving (Princess) played admirably and sang tastefully; and Miss Aurelie de Loriere as the Countess and Gibson Girl did well.

CARDIFF.—New Theatre.—Sole Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Robert Redford.—The Beauty of Bath opens Mr. Redford's first season at the New Theatre, and Mr. George Dance presents the latest musical comedy with an excellent company. In the leading part of Lieut. Richard Valentine, Mr. Leslie Holland, a special Cardiff favourite, is quite at home. A most charming actress, Miss Gladys Gay, contributes a graceful and bewitching performance of Betty Silverthorne; Miss Edith Cruikshanks is a most pleasing representative of Mrs. Alington; capital fun is provided by Miss Ida Laurie as Mrs. Goodge; Miss Maggie White's beautiful voice is much appreciated; Miss Jessie Fraser as Truly St. Cyr submits a captivating rendition; Mr. Jack Crichton as Sir Timothy Bun is responsible for many a laugh; and Mr. Sydney Grata as the programme boy is deserving of special commendation. Mr. Sheriff Clunes (Mr. Beverley) and Mr. Frederick C. Leister (Viscount Bellingham) are excellently placed.

Theatre Royal.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Robert Redford.—Proof, the piece staged here this week, is being presented by Mr. and Mrs. William Maclaren's No. 1 company. Mr. Gerald Kennedy as Pierre h s a part which he fills with considerable credit; Mr. Wilford Bailey as Chamboran depicts that character with conspicuous ability; Mr. W. J. Butler as Lazare is responsible for a powerful impersonation; Miss Beatrice Shirley displays histronic power as Adrienne; Miss May Grimshaw as Valentine creates a favourable impression; and Mr. Carl Beechey should be mentioned for his clever portrayal of the Duke D'Aubeterre.

Empire.—Managing Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; District-Manager, Mr. William Lea; Acting-Manager, Mr. C. H. S. Dring.—Dick Turpin's Ride to York occupies chief place in the programme at this hall. This equestrian spectacle, produced by Fred Ginnett and company, and supported by a cast of thirty auxilia es, is both impressive and dramatic. Mr. Fred Ginnett as the famous highwayman is dashing throughout, and renders the part in fine style. The popular comedians, Verno and Voyce, were down for a vocal scena, entitled The Amateur Newsboy, but Verno, through illness, was unable to appear, and Jack Sheppard was introduced most successfully by Voyce and a capable substitute. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Finden give a display of light comedy acting, in their success, Two to One; Mr. C. St. John Denton and George Rowland's company of juveniles, in songs and dances, is certainly clever; Jack Camp is a smart comedian, whose sayings cause much fun. As graceful gymnasts the Geretti Sisters would be hard to beat; Parker and Parr prove themselves masters of Welsh comedy; Prof. Dunning is a clever ventriloquist; and Kahn and Kahr in modern conjuring; and Les Voces, operatic vocalists, complete an exceptionally attractive programme.

CARLISLE.—Her Majesty's Theatre.—Lessees, Mr. Thos. Courtice and Mrs. R. Stewart McKim; Manager, Mr. Thos. Courtice.—Mr. Stanley Rogers, late manager of this theatre, is immensely popular here, and the production of his smartly-written pantomime, Cinderella, drew a big house on the opening night. In the title-rôle Miss Lily Eyton scores a big success, her dainty figure and perfectly natural style fit the part exactly; Miss Madge Daly makes a dashing and handsome Prince, and her voice is heard to distinct advantage in several popular numbers; Mr. Frank Barclay displays histrionic ability, not usually associated with pantomime; Mr. Harry Ray's dance as Capers brings down the house by its surprising agility. The comic interest is in particularly good hands. As the Dame, Mr. Ted Young, always a favourite here, is extremely amusing; the Baron has a droll representative in Mr. Freddie French, who shares with Mr. Young the popularity of the audience; the Misses Edith Barwell and Grace Desmond are prominent figures as the Ugly Sisters; clever dances by the Waverley Girls win applause; and a large and well-trained chorus add greatly to the enjoyment.

The Palace.—Proprietors, the Palace Theatre, Carlisle, Limited; Managing-Director, Signor Rino Pepi; Acting-Manager, Mr. A. E. Nicholls.—This week the premier position is filled by Duncan's Royal Scotch Collies; the early return visit of Miss Minnie Cunningham is a just tribute to her popularity; a somewhat novel turn is contributed by Miss Claire Greta, a comedienne and energetic Spanish dancer; Tom Dunmore sings two quaint songs with due effect; a fine display on the rings is given by the Vetter Brothers, in their spectacular production, entitled The Page's Recreation; and as hand-balancers and all-round gymnasts they are very bad to beat; Mr. Harry Morris's imitations are popular; and a smart and original knockabout act by the Ringling Trio is deservedly applauded. Selections by the orchestra, conducted so skilfully by Mr. Henry Hinchliffe, and pictures by the Pepiscope, complete the programme.

CARMARTHEN.—Assembly Rooms.—Proprietors, Public Rooms Co.; Secretary, Mr. Edward Baldwin.—Crowded audiences witnessed the presentation by Mr. F. R. Benson's Shakespearean compay (South) of The Taming of the Shrew and Macbeth, and a matinée performance of The Merchant of Venice. Mr. Bernard Limpus as Petruchio in The Taming of the Shrew was really clever; Miss Christie Laws gave a fine impersonation of Katherine (the Shrew); and Miss Kathryn Stocks was efficient at Bianca. In Macbeth Miss Christie Laws interpreted the rôle of Lady Macbeth with dramatic power and decided ability; Macbeth was admirably portrayed by Mr. Arthur Phillips and Banco by Mr. Frank Darch.

CASTLEFORD.—Theatre Royal.—Sole Proprietor and Licensee, Mr. Chas. Gadsby; Business-Manager, Mr. Hy. Masterman.—The attraction here is Mr. Frank M. Thorne's historic drama, Napoleon the Great. Mr. Hugh Montgomery, a soldierly and dignified Napoleon, scores a big success; as the villainous Colonel Lavarennes Mr. Oliver Birrell is well suited; Miss Leslie Warner fully earns the appreciation she receives as Marie Walewska; an engaging personality is Mère Dumont, as enacted by Miss Florence Thorne; Colonel Jules Meuron is in the capable hands of Mr. Phil Harper; Mr. Bartlette Garth gives a strong and impassioned portrayal of Paul; Mr. G. Acton Dix well sustains the rôle of Fouché; and fun is furnished by Mr. Frank M. Thorne as Pierre Pompennet and Miss Marie Harcourt as Marcelle. Mr. Albert Sinclair gives a humorous impersonation of Sergeant Choupin; and Mr. R. W. Ellis is commendable as Marshal Bessierres.

Queen's Theatre of Varieties.—Proprietors, Messrs. J. Beanland and W. Emerson; General-Manager, Mr. W. Emerson.—Here the principal turn is Ford and Hanson, the American musical millionaires. They have some beautiful electrical effects, and their efforts win due appreciation. George Gulliver, the novel ventriloquist, wins laughter and applause; Sill and Silleott are good as silent comedians; Miss Claire Hastings scores with her songs; much applause is accorded Miss Nellie Nora, in her dainty instrumental act; Dick Bradley is a clever tramp cyclist; Mr. Joe Hastings gives a smart turn as an all-round jumper; Leslie Digby is a funny comedian; and animated pictures by the Loyal Dominion Co. still prove a strong attraction.

CHATHAM.—Theatre Royal.—Proprietors, Messrs. C. and L. B. Barnard; Acting-Manager, Mr. Lionel Barnard; Secretary, Mr. Geo. G. Ridley.—Little Aladdin, the second pantomime of the season, opened on Monday evening. In the title-rôle Miss Marie Beresford makes the most of her opportunities; Miss Zena Page is an attractive Prince Pekoe; and Miss Ruby Aiston a pleasing Princess Badroulbadour. Miss Edie Graham, as Saucee, scores with "Zuyder Zee"; Miss Kitty Kildare is a popular Radia; Bliss and Bliss, with song, patter, and dance, work well together as Bossi and Wrong 'Un; Arthur Aiston scores as Abanazar; and an excellent Widow Twankey is found in Jack Cromo.

Gaiety Theatre of Varieties.—Proprietor, Captain H. E. Davis; Manager, Mr. Frank E. Donne.—Daisy Palmer opens the entertainment here with song and dance, and is followed by Charles Sloman, who has some funny patter; the Gladenbecks are applauded for their hand-balancing and ring speciality act; the Musical Palmers are again delighting Chathamites with bugle calls and musical selections; Clarke's Nippers include in their interesting performance ball punching, club manipulating, boxing, singing, and dancing; Teresa Da Silva's choruses are readily taken up by the audience; Leo Dryden gives several songs, including his latest scena, "The Planter's reverie," and in response to a hearty recall, sings in his own pleasing style, "The Miner's Dream of Home." The Edisonograph shows another fresh set of films.

CHELTENHAM.—Opera House.—General Manager, Mr. H. Oswald Redford.—On Monday The Walls of Jericho opened a return engagement, Mr. Silvanus Dauncey and Mr. M. V. Leveaux presenting Mr. Arthur Bourchier's company. Mr. A. E. Anson's Jack Frobisher is an interesting and virile performance; Miss Gladys Mason is a sweet and sympathetic Lady Alethea; Mr. George Brandam a sterling Hankey Bannister; Mr. George Percy plays with a quiet power as Bertram Hannaford; Mr. Cyril Baleine undertakes, with marked success, the part of the Marquis of Steventon; Mr. A. W. Tyler is the polite villain, Harry Dallas; Miss Nora Wynne achieves a success as Lady Lucy Derenham; and Miss Marguerite Cellier's impersonation of Lady Westerby is notable.

CHESTER.—Royalty Theatre.—Proprietors, Messrs. Milton Bode and Edward Compton; Resident-Manager, Mr. C. B. Fountaine.—Mr. Edward Compton and his company are here. On Monday Davy Garrick was performed. Mr. Edward Compton submitted his usual finished performance of the name-part; Alderman Gresham was ably represented by Mr. Henry Crocker; Mr. Dennis Cleugh was satisfactory as Tom Tallyhaut; Rumbelow, Sowerberry, and Simpkins found able representatives in Messrs. Philip Gordon, Wallace Johnson, and Vernon O. Crabtree. Miss Marie Hassel was all that could be desired as Mrs. Rumbelow; a like remark applying to Miss Barbara Pigot as Selina Sowerberry. Miss Mackenzie made a successful appearance as Violet Gresham. The comedy was preceded by The Desperate Lover. Mr. H. B. Fitzgibbon is the business-manager for Mr. Compton, the stage being under the able direction of Mr. Henry Crocker.

CHORLEY (Lancs).—Grand Theatre.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. G. T. Santé; Acting-Manager, Mr. A. Hemingway.—Mr. A. E. Smith's pantomime, Babes in the Wood, had a hearty reception on Monday. The pantomime, a capital one, is endowed with good scenery and exceptionally tasteful dresses. Miss Katheline Garnon, a dashing Robin Hood, is greatly appreciated; Maid Marion is charmingly rendered by Miss Elsy Douglas; the babes, Reggie and Cissie, are admirably undertaken by Miss Rosie Morris and Little Ivy Rochefort respectively; Mr. J. H. Maxwell is a host in himself as Baron Balderdash; Messrs. Reed and Lerne create much amusement as Weary Willie and Tired Tim; and Miss Marie Walker is very successful as the Fairy Queen Flora. Among the specialities are Wal Bendene, a wonderfully clever contortionist; Miss Elsy Douglas, a charming dancer; Miss Marie Walker, a clever and artistic trombonist; Mr. I. H. Maxwell, big boot dancer; and Messrs. Reed and Lerne, comedians.

COLCHESTER.—Theatre Royal.—Sole Proprietor, Mr. Charles Macdona; Resident-Manager, Mr. F. C. Upton.—Mrs. Morton Powell and company are here in the play adapted from Guy Thorne's novel, "When it Was Dark," with Mrs. Powell herself taking the part of Helena Byars. Miss Elizabeth Watson plays with power and feeling the difficult rôle of Gertrude Hunt; as her evil genius, Constantine Schuabe, Mr. George H. Pitt shows evidence of real cleverness; Mr. Cyril Austin-Lee, alike in speech and gesture, admirably portrays the Rev. Basil Gorte; and Mr. Henry Heller makes a capable Rev. Byars. Mr. Arthur B. Murray ably sustains the part of Sir Robert Llewellyn; and as Nunc Wallace, Mr. Geo. Mortimer does well. Mr. H. B. Summerville and Mr. E. C. Howitt are suitably placed as the journalists.

Hippodrome.—Joint-Proprietors, Messrs. Fredk. Mouillot and Walter de Frece; General-Manager, Mr. Jack de Frece; Resident Manager, Mr. Ben de Frece.—The management have this week put forward a particularly bright bill, with Will English, who is paying a welcome return visit, at the top. Rappo and Ella, in a refined equilibristic performance, are a good turn; Chas. Banks, on a return visit, accompanied by his dog Woof, provides an entertaining item; Daisy Reed dances in smart style and sings popular songs; Amy Elvira, comedienne, also sings in excellent style; Charles Denton is possessed of a really powerful voice, and is a capital comedian. The bill includes some capital pictures, the much-talked-of "Foxhunting" film being specially good.

CONSETT.—New Theatre.—Lessee, Mr. Hugh Robertson; Resident-Manager, Mr. Lloyd Clarance.—Miss Annie Bell and company are appearing here this week in Sapho. Miss V. St. Lawrence plays the title-rôle with commendable ability, and is well supported by Mr. Otto Minster as Jean Gausin; Mr. Oliver Rogers is a capable Father Le Grande; and Mr. George Antley does full justice to the part of Cæsar Le Fenat. Little Miss Doris Graham is a pleasing Joseph.

CORK.—Opera House.—Manager, Mr. John Horgan.—The Moody-Manners Opera Company entered on its second week here on Monday with Cavalleria Rusticana and I Pagliacci. In Mascagni's opera Mme. de Vere, in the part of Santuzza, sang in a most cultured style, her acting also being extremely powerful. As Lucia Miss Alvard was successful; and Miss Garland as Lola was decidedly good. Mr. Lewys James as Alfia used his fine baritone with good effect; as Turiddu Mr. John Child sang with much sweetness and power. The chorus and orchestra were under Herr Richard Eckhold. I Pagliacci followed. Miss Kate Anderson as Nedda scored a distinct success; as Canio; Mr. Joseph O'Mara acted with great passion and fervour; Mr. William Dever as Tonio was admirable, his singing of the prologue being highly dramatic; as Silvio Mr. Lewys James excelled himself; and Mr. V. Brodo as Beppo was satisfactory.

Palace Theatre.—Manager, Mr. Henry Kemble.—The programme here is excellent, the star turn being the Leopold Troupe of lady and gentleman acrobats, numbering seven; Sam Shipley is a quaint comedian; Bosanquet is a clever violinist; Coma, a smart juggler; Maud Esmond, a capital sentimental vocalist; Long and Hill are expert step-dancers; D. W. Watson, with but one arm, plays the cornet and coaching-horn in good style; and the Compact Comedy Company appear in a piece, entitled Harmony at Home, introducing well-sung solos, duets, and quartettes.

COVENTRY.—The Empire.—Proprietor, Mr. Geo. Dance; Manager, Mr. A. Rand.—A notable attraction is provided by the appearance of Mr. Geo. Gilbey, who gives "The Goalkeeper" with marked success; Hunt and Thomas are responsible for a really clever piece of acting in their musical duologue, entitled Her Birthday; Mezzetti and Mora give a smart turn on the triple bar; Spry and Monti are successful in a turn, entitled The Dandy Guardsman; the Four Jumels give a pleasing new musical act; Kitty Marion is a dainty comedienne; Gus Garrick is successful in "Music Hall Tit-bits"; the Bioscope pictures are quite up to the average.

CRADLEY HEATH.—Empire Theatre.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Jno. H. Morton.—Mr. James Hare's company is here in A Destroyer of Men. Miss Irene Clifford, in the part of Olga Mischla, gives a finished piece of acting; she is ably assisted by Mr. C. P. Wentworth, who, as Count Starevitch, submits a very careful study; and by Mr. James Hare, who scores as Karl Mischla. Mr. Ross Warren is Coco Tachoski provides the fun of the play; Mr. Chas. Coventry as Feder Strellitzke is very good; Mr. Hill Cremer is quite at home as Paul Starevitch; and we are indebted to Mr. Chas. Bickell for a clever interpretation of Michael Mischla. Mr. Arthur Swain deserves mention for his Colonel Linievitch; and Mr. Arthur Conroy must not be overlooked for his General Drakensburg. Miss Gladys Lloyd is a winsome Vidal Ravel; and Miss Alice Buckland makes a capital Nisa Pattakake. Sergeant Krauz has an able exponent in Mr. Alfred Minns.

CREWE.—Lyceum Theatre.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Henry Taylor, J.P.—Messrs. Cullen and Carthy are providing an attractive programme here this week with their pantomime, The Babes in the Wood. The company is a powerful one, and the principal comedians, Messrs. Cullen and Carthy, as Bill Morgan and Dick Rockyfeller, keep the house in roars of laughter with their quaint antics and ready wit. As the Baron, Mr. Arthur Stratton worthily acquits himself; and Mr. Geo. Casey is excellent as Dame Peggy. Mr. Fred Morrisy is commendable as Herne; and Little Cluley is funny as the Baron's secretary. Dolly Cullen and Elsie Jordison are charming babes, and their song, "Zuyder Zee," is a distinct success; Miss Florence Carlile infuses plenty of "go" into the part of Robin Hood; and Maid Marion is daintily played by Miss Nancy Thornton. As Fairy Venus, Miss Gertrude Martini is successful; and the Sisters Volbecque, as Little John and Phyllis respectively, are an attractive pair. Cock Robin is creditably sustained by Miss E. Wood.

CROOK.—Theatre Royal.—Proprietors, Wallace Davidson, Ltd.; Managing-Director, Mr. Wallace Davidson.—Mr. Charles March's company is here this week in the sensational French military drama, The Gamester of Metz, in which Mr. Charles March appears with great success as Paul Baldot; and Mr. Geo. Byrne is a capable Captain Badaire. The character of Lucia receives full justice at the hands of Miss Una Lane; and Miss Eva Lyndhurst submits a fine portrayal of the Countess Baldot. Mr. Fred Aldworth's General de Monparasse is deserving of praise; and Mr. W. G. Dudeney displays considerable histrionic ability as Louis Badaire.

CROYDON.—Grand Theatre.—Manager, Mr Lawson Lambert.—Mr. Mouillot's company, with exquisite dresses and scenery, and a well-balanced chorus, is appearing here with success in The Girl Behind the Counter. Mr. Arthur Cartwright is in excellent voice as Charles Chetwynd; Mr. H. B. Clarke Chadwick gives a quaint rendering of General Sir Wilkie Willoughby; Mr. Howard Cridland is quite in his element as Viscount Gushington; Mons. Jules Charmettes is well placed as Monsieur Duval; Mr. Geoffrey Allsopp is a creditable Rudolph; Mr. Frederick Park makes a whimsical Adolphus Dudd; and Messrs. A. M. Moore and William Amery give droll sketches of the exhibition waiters; Miss Nora Brocklebank is an enchanting Winnie Willoughby; Miss Winifred Knightley is charming as Lady Willoughby; Miss Olivia Eltone makes a handsome Millie Mostyn; Miss Edith McIntosh is a pleasing Ninette; and Miss Dorris Langdon is pretty as Susie. Mr. Lawson Lambert's abilities as a manager are of a high order, and he is always in touch with his patrons. Mr. Hubert Sullivan Brooke cleverly conducts the augmented orchestra.

Theatre Royal.—Managing-Director, Mr. Samuel James; Acting-Manager, Mr. Charles Herrick.—Mr. Tom H. Taylor's company, in The Worst Woman in London, is here this week. Mr. George Gaisford submits a fine impersonation of Jack Felton; Mr. Paul Barry Lewers is distinctly good as Vincent Lyle; Mr. F. Vernon Travers as James Melford is capable; Mr. Harvey White as Bob Goldfinch delights the audience; Mr. H. W. Monte makes the most of his opportunities in the rôle of Hugh Drayton; and Mr. Leonard Booker gives a capital representation of Phillip Armstrong. Miss Elizabeth Watkins as Ruth Milford acts with grace and sincerity; Miss Polly Marsh as Matilda Parker is exceptionally smart; and Miss Olga Audre as Francis Vere proves herself an actress of no mean talent.

Empire Palace of Varieties.—Proprietor, Mr. Walter Gibbons; Manager, Mr. Eustace Jay.—The programme here includes Juno May, the lady wrestler; Edith Bland and company of juveniles in the scena, In the Days of King Charles, are much liked; the Metropolitan Quartette of operatic singers deserve praise; J. P. Kennedy and company are entertaining in the sketch, A True Irish Heart; Espinoza and Edwards are applauded for their musical and dancing act; and Amy Spencer is a pleasing ballad vocalist. Others who appear are Charles Wren, comedian, and Hal Kendal, comedian.

DARLINGTON.—Theatre Royal and Hippodrome.—Licensee and Manager, Mr. James Bell.—Pantomime is again the attractive fare this week, and Messrs. C. S. Kitts and Somers Bellamy's Cinderella company opened to a packed house. The general mounting of the piece is excellent. Mr. Kitts as Billy Boy causes roars of laughter; Messrs. Ford and Ford are mirthful comedians; Bert McNallie and J. Oliver Russell are very amusing as the ugly sisters; Miss Jennie Lynwood makes a capital Prince Brilliant; Miss Madge Haines as Dandini sings charmingly; Miss Linda Riley and Will T. Riley are sprightly in their respective impersonations; Miss Rhoda Windrum as Cinderella sings with marked effect, and is very pleasing.

DARWEN.—Theatre Royal.—Lessee, Mr. A. M. Loader; Acting-Manager, Mr. F. J. Robinson.—Mr. Charles H. Lester and company are this week presenting the detective drama, The Bank of England. Mr. Lester gives a capital impersonation of Sherlock Holmes, his clever disguises being a feature of the performance. He is ably supported by Mr. G. Clifton Boyne, who is well placed as Stephen Hartley. As Mrs. Aminta J Beane, the American widow, Miss Gertrude Godart achieves a triumph; Miss Dorothy Riddell is a charming Sylvia Barraclough; and Miss Marjorie Davenport is capable as Margaret Dane. Mr. Edmond O'Grady gives a clever delineation of the Jew, Gordon Isaacs; Mr. C. Herman Pullen makes an excellent Hon. Bertie Burlington; and the comedy parts are well sustained by Mr. C. Stanley as Tommy Sprouts and Miss Tina Shaw as Lucy Lockett. Mr. Harry T. Wood as Eric Dane, Mr. F. Ernstone as Godfrey Dane, and Mr. J. H. Firman as Sir Sydney Barraclough all do well. Mention must also be made of the excellent whistling solos by Mr. Will Whittaker as Jeemes, the flunkey.

DERBY.—Grand Theatre and Opera House.—Sole Proprietor and General-Manager, Mr. T. Allan Edwardes; Acting-Manager, Mr. Charles Denley.—After opera comes melodrama, the boards being occupied this week by Mr. Douglas Bruce's company in Mr. Walter Melville's play The Girl Who Lost Her Character. Miss Emmie Barton plays the part of the heiress, Rose Seymour, with success; and in the name-part Miss Ethel Bracewell also proves herself a capable actress. Marian Franklin is well accounted for by Miss Lydia Mannington; Mr. Vincent W. Carlyle acquits himself ably as the clergyman; Mr. Stanley S. Gordon does good service in the dual rôles of Jack England and Private Johnson; Mr. Frank Adair as Captain Caversham, Mr. George Mitchell as James Sutton, and Mr. H. Macartney as the detective all acquit themselves satisfactorily; and some amusing comedy is contributed by Miss Daisy Meynard and Mr. Geo. H. Asquin.

Palace.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. T. Allan Edwardes; Assistant-Manager, Mr. Herbert Taylor.—Would-be Actors, a most amusing sketch presented by Carter Livesey and Lilian Rosebery, causes much merriment, and is quite a feature of the bill. The Bros. Lilian are a finely-developed pair of acrobats; Ormonde Penstone submits an accomplished sleight-of-hand entertainment; the Sisters Russell, burlesque artists, appear to distinct advantage; Woolmer Young is a most acceptable comedian; the Two Wiltons are responsible for some clever singing and dancing; and Pat Rafferty is also in the bill. The Palace Bioscope projects some capital films.

DEVONPORT.—Metropole Theatre.—Manager, Mr. Geo. S. King.—Dick Whittington and His Cat nightly pursue their varied fortunes for the edification of large audiences. Some new features have been recently introduced, including Carl and Carl, in a highly diverting sketch, entitled Fun in a Restaurant, and Hess and Lisbon, comic skaters.

DUBLIN.—Gaiety Theatre.—Managing-Director, Mrs. Michael Gunn; General-Manager and Secretary, Mr. Chas. Hyland.—Sinbad the Sailor finishes here to-night after a very successful run. On Tuesday Mr. Edward Lauri, who has done splendidly as Sinbad, had a benefit. Thursday, Mr. T. G. Finglas (Pompey) had another big benefit, and a bumper house on Friday was anticipated for Miss May Beatty, who has made a hit as Sinbad.

Theatre Royal.—Managing-Director, Mr. Mouillot; Resident-Manager, Mr. George Parrington.—The pantomime, Mother Goose, is continuing its successful career here. Miss Carlotta Levy acts with charm and grace as Colin; Miss May Moore Duprez is very popular as Gretchen; Mr. Martin Adeson causes much laughter as Mother Goose, and is ably supported by Mr. William Cromwell as Jack; the eccentricities of Harrigan and Holt are much enjoyed; Miss May Rawlinson is an excellent Fairy Heartsease; and Miss Molly McIntyre figures to advantage as Jill; and the Saker Harlows are extremely funny as the O'Rourke and Patsy, his brother. Mr. John Donald is good as Ravages; and the Misses Elsie Roby and Anna Kenwick are all that could be desired as Lady Biddy and Lord Shamus. The musical arrangements are in the capable hands of Mr. John Moody, and the dresses and scenery are elaborate.

Queen's Theatre.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. J. W. Whitbread; Acting-Manager, Mr. John M. Davis.—Mr. J. W. Whitbread's company of Irish players is paying a return visit here this week, and on Monday night Sarsfield was presented to a full house. The part of Sarsfield has an excellent representative in Mr. Frank Lydon; and Miss Cecilia Dare successfully fills the rôle of Lady Honor de Burghs. General de Genkle is cleverly enacted by Mr Dane Clark; and Miss Madeline Hurst plays effectively as Lady Rose. Mr. James O'Brien, as Terry Hogan, provides much amusement; and Miss Jessie Glen as Billy Blake submits a capital study. Mr. Henry Forrest makes the most of the part of the Duke of Wurtemberg; and Molly is well played by Mrs. E. F. Brady. Prince of Nassau, General Talmash, and General Sir John Lanier find smart exponents in Messrs. A. C. Overton, Ion Ireland, and C. Durant; and Mr. James Daly as Parrah Ruadh, Mr. W. H. Fielden as Oinery Rafferty, and Mr. Harry Richardson as Hans Osterdam, are also good in their respective parts. The Irish Dragoon and Lord Edward are also in the bill.

Empire.—General-Manager, Mr. Frank Allen; Acting-Manager and Secretary, Mr. George H. Marsh.—The array of talent here this week is of an excellent character. Harry Cadle's circus entertainment causes no end of amusement and laughter; Harry Drew receives well-deserved appreciation for his basso songs; Mlle. de Dio, in her weird dance, is most sensational; the Davis and Gledhill Trio, in their "Man v. Motor" performance, is heartily received; Gretta May, with her songs and dances, has many admirers; T. W. Magers does a capital comedy turn; Prince Kokin, Japanese juggler, does well; Ethel Ra-Leslie, with her old-time songs, receives great applause; and the Empire pictures are most interesting.

Tivoli.—General-Manager, Mr. Charles M. Jones; Secretary, Mr. H. A. Murphy.—A good bill is presented here this week, pride of place being given to Charles Fisher and company, who are very successful in their amusing sketch, The Music Master. Raynor and Reece are excellent in their singing and dancing act; and Martinengo a capital 'cellist and baritone vocalist, merits applause. The Montaldos give a clever and interesting display as equilibrists, and are cordially received; and Tom Garland is an entertaining ventriloquist. J. H. Darnley and company, in the sketch, What a Night, arouse merriment; and some clever feats are performed by the Egertons, aerial gymnasts. Ted Waite scores as a vocal comedian; and the Zelovas, Continental equilibrists, and the Bioscope complete the show.

World's Fair and Music Hall.—Proprietor, Mr. C. A. James.—The following artists are appearing here:—The Neilsons, sketch artists; Mickey Wilford, comedian and dancer; May Neale, International dancer; Harry Wynne, vocal comedian; and Fred Hill, ventriloquist.

DUMFRIES. — Theatre Royal. — Lessee, Mr. W. E. Potts; Manager, Mr. Payne-Seddon.—For the first three nights of this week we have had a return visit of Miss Eva Moss in the plays of Frou Frou and Camille. Miss Moss was successful as Gilberte; Miss Phyllis Manners played the part of Baroness de Cambri in a pleasing manner; Miss Wynne-Hanley impersonated Louise very efficiently; Mr. Cecil Du Gue as Henri de Sartorys was all that could be desired; Mr. W. Kingsford Pearce was well placed as Count Paul de Valreas; and Mr. J. Poole Kirkwood ably filled the rôle of M. Brigard.

DUNDEE. — Palace Theatre. — Managing-Directors, Messrs. Rosen and Bliss; Manager, Mr. E. J. Dexter.—The top turn this week is that lively and beautifully-staged extravaganza, The Belle of the Orient. Joe Peterman, as Ike Novinsky the moneylender, keeps the house in continual merriment; while Florence Vie is a most bewitching "Belle." Lambert and Robertson score a success in their delightfully-acted comedy-sketch, A Scots Folk's Wooin'; Barney Kane, a Scotch comedian with an Irish name and an undeniably English accent, is exceptionally clever; Victoria Dagmar, in her charming horizontal bar act, is always a big favourite here, and her comedy assistant is funnier than ever; McAskell, "the man of few words," supplies plenty of excitement during his turn; Lindsay and Harte score a decided success; as do also the Cosmans, in a comedy act, and Georgina Nicol pleases with several coon ditties. Vernon's Imeprial Bioscope completes an attractive bill.

Empire Theatre.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Frank Percival.—A welcome return visit is paid by the British Empire Photo. Co., who are exhibiting some of the finest pictures seen here. A capital film is the story-picture, "Curfew shall not ring to-night," shown in nine scenes. Several variety artists contribute enjoyable turns, including Harry Lamb, a comedian of the quaint school; and Miss Doris, a clever little ballad vocalist, who appears with success in several illustrated songs.

EASTBOURNE. — Pier Pavilion. — Manager, Mr. George Hayes.—Mrs. Russ Whytal, supported by an admirable company, is paying a return visit with Alice Sit-by-the-Fire. The sympathetic and appealing work of Mrs. Russ Whytal as Alice is again worthy of high praise, and she carries the audience with her throughout. Miss Beatrice Bramah contributes an earnest, girlish performance as Amy; Miss Lucie Verrier is a distinctive Leonora; Miss Ninon Dudley makes much of her opportunities as Richardson; Miss Ada Marius is an excellently sedate Nurse; and Miss Beresford is a helpful Fanny. Mr. J. J. Bartlett repeats his work as Colonel Grey, which is consistently fine; Mr. T. Pauncefort is a boyish, realistic Cosmo; and Mr. Aubrey Mallalieu a well-defined and attractive Stephen.

EBBW VALE.—Central Hall.—Messrs. Carlton and Duckworth's pantomime, Aladdin, is being presented here. Miss Edith Royal as Aladdin is a great success; the Princess is delightfully taken by Miss Lily Stewart; and Miss Kitty Cameron does well as Pekoe.

ECCLES.—Grand Theatre and Opera House.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. C. Hamilton Baines; Acting-Manager, Mr. Albert Orton; Secretary, Mr. P. Ryan-Smith.—This week we are having a visit from Mr. Edwin C. Jazon's company in Cinderella. Miss Flo Melville gives a clever and vivacious interpretation of the title-part; Miss Louie Hurman as Prince Brilliant sings acceptably; Dandini has a capable representative in Miss Madge Bryde; Miss Marie Harding as the Marquis of Taxes looks and acts well; Mr. Stan. Aubrey is a very funny Baron Crooked, and gives some very clever and eccentric dances; Messrs. Charles Preston and Alf. Brookes as the Ugly Sisters are responsible for a large share of the fun; Mr. Fred Pearce as Buttons is a host in himself; Messrs. Onda and Leon give a clever performance on the triple bars; and McCann's performing terriers also are responsible for a capital speciality turn.

EDINBURGH. — Theatre Royal. — Managing-Director, Mr. F. W. Wyndham; Acting-Manager, Mr. Wm. Whitehead.—The Babes in the Wood is still drawing large audiences nightly. Mr. Mark Sheridan, as Baron de Boots, is a host in himself, and his quiet, incisive humour never fails to strike a note of merriment; the Brothers Egbert, admirable comedians and acrobats, have established themselves prime favourites; and Mr. Harry Conlin's performance as Charity is extremely funny. The fresh and charming acting of the two children, Baby Betty Green and Wee Wallace, as the Babes, appeals strongly to the young folks; and Master Nipper Lupino Lane scores repeatedly with song and dance, his rendering of "The Zuyder Zee" being much above the average. The grace of Miss Gwladys Elvey as Robin Hood; the dainty acting of Miss Daisy Dormer as Maid Marion; and the delightful singing of Miss Gladys Cooper as Mavis, are powerful attractions in a spectacle which is full of fun and beauty. Miss Edna Loftus as Molly, Miss Mildred Claire as Allan-a-Dale, and the clever impersonation of the Poodle by Mr. Harry Lupino are also notably good.

Royal Lyceum Theatre.—Proprietors, Messrs. Howard and Wyndham, Ltd.,; General-Manager, Mr. Geo. T. Minshull.—The Chinese comic opera, See-See, is drawing appreciative houses, and among several old favourites in the company, Mr. W. H. Rawlins is responsible for admirable fooling as the merchant, Cheoo; while an irrepressibly funny impersonation of Hang-Kee is given by Mr. Frank Danby. The songs allotted to Yen, as rendered by Mr. Leonard Mackay, are received with great favour; and See-See finds a very charming representative in Miss Lily Elsie. Legions of friends, old and new, accord Miss Amy Augarde a cordial welcome; Miss Topsy Sinden's neat and nimble dancing is among the leading attractions of the piece; and recalls are fairly well divided among these principal players. Miss Alice Hatton, Miss Daisy Wallace, Miss Octavia Barry, and others secure due recognition.

King's Theatre.—Managing-Director, Mr. R. C. Buchanan; Acting-Manager, Mr. Amand Mascard.—Cinderella shows no signs of waning popularity here. Dan Rolyat's amusing impersonation of Archibald is greeted with loud applause. The actor's business in scene 3 is a revelation of grotesque comedy. Miss Violet Englefield's unfortunate illness unhappily still prevents her from resuming the part of the Prince, admirably played by Miss Dorothy Ward; and Miss Gwennie Hasto creates something like a furore every evening by her exhilarating dancing.

Empire Palace Theatre.—Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; Acting-Manager, Mr. W. Parham Wells.—Mr. Dean Tribune's compressed pantomime, Bo-Peep, occupies a large share of this week's programme, and the performers make the most of their opportunities. Mr. Tribune provides a deal of entertainment as Simple Simon; Miss Ethel Lonsdale as Bo-Peep, and Miss Estella Tribune as Boy Blue, fill their rôles with all needful charm and spirit; and the remaining members of the cast give adequate support. The bill also includes other attractive turns, notably the clever juggling display of Mr. Walter Bellonini, the delightful part-singing of the Coloured Meisters quartette of vocalists, and Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Lucas in their effective rendering of "Scenes from Dickens." Mr. Harold Hughman is an excellent imitator of bird and animal cries; the Two Butterflies prove themselves very expert juvenile gymnasts; Fraser and Mac contribute an amusing comedy act; further capable comedy-work is done by Princess Pauline, Mr. Harry Lawson, and Miss Ruth Doris; and the Bioscope manipulators show a fine series of films.

Cooke's Circus.—Proprietor, Mr. John Henry Cooke.—Benefits are the order of the day here, but the additional attractions on these occasions have not caused the management to relax their efforts to bring new and varied talent for the weekly change of programme. Herr Footit, a clever and expert foot equilibrist, gives a pleasing turn; the Lynches, in their excellent picture songs, are particularly good; the Brothers Austin, chair pyramidists, exhibit proficiency in a very difficult performance; and the laughable sketch, The Clown's Club, displays the strength of the company as comedians and jesters. The Water Carnival goes with unabated fun, and evokes the laughter both of young and old. On Thursday, Mr. Leicester Alfred Cooke took his benefit under the patronage of the Edinburgh Kennel Club, when a splendid variety of collies, terriers, and whippets was exhibited, and the beneficiare's popularity was evinced by the large and enthusiastic audience which crowded the circus.

EXETER. — Theatre Royal.—Chairman and Managing-Director, Mr. Edward J. Domville, J.P.; Acting-Manager, Mr. Percy M. Dunsford.—Mr. Charles Macdona's company is appearing here this week with A Country Girl. As Nan, Miss Edith Maynard gives a dashing performance, rendering her songs in a very taking style; Miss Violet Leslie makes a sweet Marjorie Joy, her singing and acting being excellent; Miss Irene Wood sustains the part of the Princess of Bhong with distinct ability; Miss May Florence was good as Mme. Sophie; Miss Maud Read is responsible for two charming dances; as Barry, Mr. Arthur Staples is excellent, and provides the lion's share of fun; Mr. Martin D. Pitts is decidedly good as Geoffrey Chaloner; Mr. B. Vaughan makes a fine Rajah of Bhong; and Mr. W. O. Billington ably sustains the part of Sir Joseph Verity. The augmented orchestra is under the able direction of Mr. E. Peterson.

FALKIRK.—Grand Theatre and Opera House.—Mr. Chas. Macdona's principal company opened a week's engagement here on Monday in the pretty lyrical comedy, The White Chrysanthemum. The charming colour and beauty of the production and the delightful music were much appreciated. Mr. Shirley Lea was a pompous Admiral, and his singing was very acceptable. Mr. H. Langdon Bruce as Lieut. Reginald Armitage was highly successful, his vocal numbers being very well received. As Lieut. Chippy, Mr. H. E. Garden filled the part of the "Johnny" officer very cleverly. Mr. Richard Telford's Sin Chong, the Chinese cook, found favour with the audience. His antics were very amusing. As Private Perks, Mr. Jamie Dallas also supplied much of the humour of the piece. The acting of Miss Muriel George in the title-rôle was pretty, and her singing very fine. Miss Wilmot Karkeek made the best of Cornelia Vanderdecken, the American heiress; and Miss Dorothy Sephton as Betty Kenyon, a young widow, was captivating enough to hook the Admiral.

FOLKESTONE.—Pleasure Gardens Theatre.—Manager, Mr. H. W. Rowland.—Mr. Arthur Hardy's company is here this week with Beauty and the Barge. Mr. Blake Adams as Captain James Barley gives a most amusing rendering of the rôle; Mr. Edward Coventry as Lieut. Seton Boyne is natural and effective; Mr. Pennington Gush is an excellent Herbert Manners; Mr. Walter Pemberton as the irascible Major Smedley evokes much laughter; Mr. Fred Knight causes much fun as Tom Codd; Mr. Forrester Harvey as Augustus, and Mr. Charles A. White as John Dibbs, are also deserving of favourable mention. Mr. Ewart Drake as George Porter soon has become a general favourite; Miss Mona Robin is responsible for a pleasing portrayal of Mrs. Smedley; Miss Dido Drake's impersonation of Ethel Smedley is very natural; Miss Mary Pemberton is seen to advantage as Lucy Dallas; and Mrs. J. W. Braithwaite and Miss Ruby Wyndham are remarkably good in their respective parts of Mrs. Porter and Mrs. Baldwin.

GAINSBOROUGH.—King's Theatre.—Proprietor, Mr. Arthur Carlton; Resident-Manager, Mr. J. H. Stear. — Messrs. Payne-Seddon and Geo. Robertson's company, under the management of Mr. A. L. Baron, appeared here for three nights last week in the ever-popular Charley's Aunt. Jack Chesney and Charlie Wykeham were well portrayed by Mr. Basil Lynn and Arthur Claremont; Mr. Tom Macfarlane was a most amusing exponent of Lord Fancourt Babberly, the pseudo Charley's Aunt; the real Aunt was cleverly played by Miss Grace Baring; Amy Spettigue, Kitty Verdun, and Ella had charming representatives in Misses Sybil Grey, Ernestine Holker, and Norah Johns; Mr. McCawsland Stewart gave a good character-sketch of Colonel Sir Francis Chesney; and Spettigue and Brassett had capable representatives in Mr. Percy Tyler and Mr. W. A. Stoltuck.

GATESHEAD. — King's Theatre. — Lessees, Messrs. Rosen and Bliss; General-Manager, Mr. Harold Arnold.—With the change of management comes an excellent company, headed by Hadj Abdullah's Arabs, a dozen of the smartest tumblers ever seen here. Rastus and Banks, coloured Americans, sing and dance with gratifying success; Lee and Bentley, in The Night Owls, cause uproarious laughter; Harry Taft, a whistling comedian, has a fund of new gags; the Mysterious Lilith, an illusion not new to Gateshieadians, is an attractive turn; the Haverleys, American song illustrators, are very popular; Lilian Warren also sings illustrated songs, and has numerous admirers; J. H. McCann, although mounted on roller skates, dances cleverly; and Winnie Scott, comedienne, and pictures by Vernon's bioscope complete the entertainment.

Metropole Theatre.—Lessees, Messrs. Bolam and Bacon; General-Manager, Councillor Sidney Bacon; Acting-Manager, Mr. Thomas France.—The attraction here is Messrs. Fred J. Little and Fred Darcy's amusing pantomime, Robinson Crusoe. Miss Marion May is quite at home in the name part; Miss Nellie Moore in the part of Polly Hopkins achieves a notable success. Assisted by Master Willie Johnson, she renders that favourite of favourites, "Zuyder Zee," in a delightful manner, and the following sabot dance creates great enthusiasm. Miss Cissie Conyers as the Captain plays capitally and sings sweetly; Miss Bertha St. Ruth does well as the Princess. The company is rich in comedians, chief amongst them being Mr. Fred Lloyd (the Dame); Messrs. Geo. Rapley and Tom Shenton, Sandy and Carl, and Sidney T. Russell are also to the fore. The dancing of the Sidney Quartette is a prominent feature, as are the specialities of the Zaracs and the Ladderites.

Queen's Theatre.—Lessees, Messrs. Bolam and Bacon; General-Manager, Councillor Sidney Bacon; Acting-Manager, Mr. Stephen Smith.—Mr. F. B. Woulfe and company provide the entertainment here. Lady Godiva was presented on Monday and Tuesday, with Mr. Woulfe as Tom and Miss Ethel Griffies as Lady Godiva. On Wednesday and Thursday Nell Gwynne was played; and on Friday Jane Shore.

GLASGOW.—Grand, Ltd.—Managing-Director, Mr. R. C. Buchanan; Acting-Manager, Mr. D. Macfarlane.—The splendid success of the pantomime, The House that Jack Built, continues, the legend, "House Full," being shown nightly ere the curtain goes up. The latest attraction is the engagement of Capt. Bevan's team of Gordon Highlanders, who go through a fine series of movements in lightning military drill, rifle swinging, &c., while their nimble and dexterous feats in wall scaling and similar manœuvres are such as bring down the house. Mr. Fred Kitchen and all the lady and gentlemen principals are as clever and successful as ever, while the rank and file are conscious of their duty and do it well.

Royal Princess's.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Rich. Waldon; Acting-Manager, Mr. Hugh Murdoch.—Mother Goose is running with the greatest success, and bids fair to outshine many of its predecessors. Miss Ella Retford as Marguerite, and Miss Ethel Campbell as Robin, continue to divide the favours of the audience. The Sisters Hall also meet with marked appreciation. Foreman and Fannan are responsibe for most of the mirth. The other members, notably Messrs. Austin Lenton, Wal Croft, Harry McClelland, and Misses Grace Elvio and Sadie Wade all give great assistance in the production.

Metropole, Ltd.—Managing-Director, Mr. Arthur Jefferson; Acting-Manager, Mr. W. Gillespy.—After a successful run, The Babes in the Wood is in its last week. The pantomime has proved a highly-amusing production, mainly due to the efforts of the Albert and Edmunds troupe, ably assisted in the comic business by Messrs. Barnard and Weston, Mark Tapley, and Ernie Sparks. Miss Rose Hamilton makes a very pleasing principal boy, and received a complimentary benefit on Wednesday as Princess Dainty. Miss Lucy Lynch has sung herself into popularity. A sprightly second boy and girl were found in Miss Patti Bella (Sir Bertie) and Miss Ada Martine (Dolly Daydream), while the babes were cleverly represented by Misses Blanche Albert and Ada Merry. Friday night was set apart for the benefit of the Albert and Edmunds troupe.

Lyceum.—Proprietor, Mr. Rich. Waldon; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. H. Oakden.—Mr. John Tiller's bright pantomime, Dick Whittington, is now in its concluding week here, and the principals have become strong favourites. Miss Jessie Templeton is a smart and lively Dick, and an attractive Alice is found in Miss Dorothy Gould. Miss Hilda Vining makes a hit as the Emperor of Morocco, and the Princess of Miss Lizzie Hay is charming. Mr. Will Lytton is a decidedly clever and resourceful young comedian, and as Idle Jack he is a great favourite. Mr. T. Gibbs and Mr. Barney Dixon ably second his efforts, and the dancing of the Tiller Girls is specially neat.

Empire.—Proprietors, Moss Empires, Ltd.; District-Manager, Mr. S. Gething; Resident-Manager, Mr. Charles Mussett.—Great interest has been evinced here in the appearance of La Milo in her classical poses, and a huge audience give critical but appreciative attention to the details of her various expositions of beauty unadorned. The caricatures of Cruikshank, between the poses, were all much enjoyed. Herbert Lloyd's eccentric turn was provocative of hearty laughter. Matthew Brodie and company appeared in the pathetic playlet, A Drummer of the 76th, in which this clever actor gives a good impersonation of Napoleon, and a clever young girl acts well as the drummer. Bert Woodward, the coon cyclist, who adds new and daring feats to his turn on every visit, takes extremely well. Nina Gordon's mimicry is smart; J. H. Scotland sings well; Burg, Haud, and Wise give their amusing knockabout turn, The Brown Cow Inn; Winnie Gordon scores well as a siffleuse; and Jimmy Shields again proves his ability as a one-legged dancer.

Zoo-Hippodrome.—Proprietors, Moss Empires, Ltd., and E. H. Bostock; Resident-Manager, Mr. E. H. Bostock.—The special item here this week is the production of Harry Cadle's burlesque pantomime, Mick Whittintun. From beginning to end the fun is fast and furious, and the general "make-up" and dresses being ludicrous in the extreme. The sketch, The Hotel Boots, by Manning's Entertainers, had a good reception; a clever and unique performance is given by Paulinetti and Piquo, expert gymnasts; and a farcical sketch, entitled The Drink Cure, is smartly played by Tom E. Conover, assisted by Rose E. Rovana and T. Arthur. Other acceptable turns include Dan Leno, jun. (son of the great comedian); Harry Maynard, vocalist; George and Leila, in comedy act; Mlle. Ameda, novelty entertainer; Gus Merriman, coon artist; and the Hippodrome Bioscope, with new pictures.

Pavilion, Ltd.—General-Manager, Mr Samuel Lloyd.—The Boys in Blue give a very smart and attractive display of American military drill, and are very well received; Mme. Craigie and Mr. J. W. Bowie are heard to advantage in their popular duet entertainment; Mlle. Yetta, in the cake walk on the wire, gives a novel and unique turn, with some claim to sensation, and goes well; Fioretti and Elly are clever in a spade jumping act, which is out of the usual run; Espinosa and Neilson are speciality dancers of ability, and win applause; the original Cecilias play various instruments very skilfully; Chas. J. Johnson, the Black Diamond, gives a first-rate and enjoyable turn; Fox and Melville, in their "vocal pictures," delight with songs and pictorial effects, and merriment is the order of the moment when Henry Carlton and his comedy team in One Night Only occupy the stage.

Coliseum.—Proprietors, Moss Empires, Ltd; District-Manager, Mr. S. Gething; Resident-Manager, Mr. Harry Burdette.—Mrs. John Lawson and her company appear here in that grim playlet, The Devil's Sunday, and the acting of this lady in the part of Fay Faber is very striking, the other members of the company giving excellent support. G. W. Hunter, as great a favourite as ever, shines in clever songs and patter; Spry and Austin as a comedy couple have a strong hold on the Glasgow public, and it is well deserved, for their business and songs are always up-to-date; Griff, assisted by Alpha, gives that ingenious turn entitled The Clown in Apartments, and in addition to his smart tricks, the originality of his dialogue keeps the audience in a roar; the Schiavonas troupe of acrobats are wonderfully good, the feats of strength displayed by the lady member being marvellous; Derenda and Green contribute a smart Indian club display; the Kurios appear in a lively knockabout acrobatic turn; the Avolos are clever in a unique display on upright poles; and Joe Wesley, the popular local negro comedian, gets a good reception for his amusing items.

Palace.—Proprietor, Mr. Rich. Waldon; General-Manager, Mr. Harry M'Kelvie.—The most interesting turn this week is that of Tarro Myaki, the Japanese wrestler, who gives an exciting display of the style of his country. Ernest Montefiore and company present an exquisitely tender sketch called The Little Colonel, in which a very young lady charmingly plays the title-rôle. Jeannette Hall is an accomplished vocalist, with a voice of rare depth and power, which she uses effectively. Hill and Whitaker accompany their songs on a variety of instruments, the lady having a fine contralto voice and a considerable touch of humour. Pyck, Tholl, and Taylor are an amusing trio, who introduce some pleasing songs and dances into their sketch. The Romanos combine acrobatic feats with graceful poses plastiques. The audience seems never to tire of charming Sadie Seymour, and Connie Mora's singing and dancing is equally pleasing. The Palacescope is the name given to a lively variety of animated pictures.

Gaiety.—General-Manager, Mr. W. H. Howard; Assistant-Manager, Mr. H. Bowerman.—Marion Wills, assisted by Mr. H. Walton, in their sketch, A Musical Comedy Rehearsal, keep the audience in the best of humour, and Ley Harte does well as a conjuror and pianist; Charles Clifford is much appreciated as a harpist; Chester and Lees' marionettes gives a clever performance; Lillie Hales, comedienne; Sisters Stratton, duettists and dancers; Katie Eplett, comedienne; and the Gaiety Bioscope complete the bill.

GLOUCESTER.—Palace.—Owners, Messrs. C. W. and J. R. Poole; Manager, Mr. R. T. Rea.—Judge's performing cockatoos provide a clever performance; Bromley and Fontein are responsible for a great deal of laughter in A Musical Birthday; the Royal Quintette are a smart troupe of dancers; and Great Vincent is applauded for an intrepid act. Les Bollingers introduce a novelty in rag-picture making; Selby and Myers, in their dancing, are novel and effective; Mr. and Mrs. Hal Collier give a humorous interlude, My Husband, the Lunatic; and Jack Hylton, comedian, and the Sisters Clare are also in the bill. The Bioscope completes the bill of fare.

GOOLE.—Theatre Royal.—Lessee, Mr. John E. Tomlinson.—Miss Lydia Donovan and company opened here on Monday night in the drama, Her One Great Sin. Mr. Alfred Cole played the part of Reuben Warhurst with dramatic force; as Arnold Thornhill, the unscrupulous spendthrift, Mr. C. Quinton Fulford gives a powerful portrayal; Mr. Fred Hodgson keeps the house in roars with his amusing portrayal of Jerry Jumble; he is ably supported by Miss Nellie Lambert as Nancy Winpenny; Mr. Chas. E. Lambert gives a clever character study as Dan Hundle; and Mr. J. C. Crondace is highly successful as Jack Hundle. Grace Warhurst is presented with much sympathetic force by Miss Lydia Donovan; Miss Maudie Lambert is a very clever and charming Little Gracie; Miss Phyllis Damian gives a touching embodiment as the poor waif, Charlie; and Miss Louie Walton gives a striking study of Bet Hundle. The minor parts are in capable hands, and the dresses excellent.

GREAT YARMOUTH. — Royal Aquarium. — Proprietor and Manager, Mr. J. W. Nightingale.—Mr. Arthur Gibbons' grand Christmas pantomime, Little Red Riding Hood, is here for the week. In the title-rôle, Miss Nellie Banks sings and acts charmingly; and Miss Janet Lawton is excellent as Prince Bountiful; plenty of laughter is evoked by Mr. Geo. Westand as Baron Badenough; Mr. Ted Mac as Dame Margery, Mr. J. T. Banks as Johnny Stout, Mr. Sam Johns as Tommy Thin, and Mr. George Marriott, jun., and Mr. Walter Edge, as Rates and Taxes. Miss Florrie Turner is a smart Jack Horner; and Miss Nina Terri a dainty Maid Marian. Miss Ena Soutar is admirable as the Fairy Queen; and Miss Maud Fergusson is exceedingly good as Cat's Eye. The Terri Trio are responsible for some clever acrobatic dancing; and Le Diabelo gives a sensational act—flying the devil's wheel.

GREENOCK.—Alexandra Theatre.—Proprietors, The Greenock Theatre Co., Ltd.; Managing-Director, Mr. R. C. Buchanan; Resident-Directors and Managers, Messrs. A. B. and J. J. Wright.—This week Mr. Wentworth Croke's My Sweetheart company is here. Miss Minnie Palmer still plays and sings with unimpaired vigour, her embodiment of Tina being highly appreciated; Mr. Robert H. Howard as Tony Faust is very capable, his singing and acting being much admired; Mr. Leslie Tyler appears successfully as Harold Bartlett; Mr. Fred W. Leonard amusingly fills the part of Joe Shotwell; the rôle of Dr. Oliver is admirably filled by Mr. Richard Elliott; Mr. Alfred Ibberson scores as Dudley Harcourt; and Farmer Hatzell is capably represented by Mr. Alfred May. Miss Mildred Sylvestre is to be highly commended for her admirable representation of Mrs. Fleeter; Mrs. H. E. Russell is seen to advantage as Mrs. Hatzell; and little Miss Elsie Foster prettily interprets the rôle of Peek-a-Boo.

Empire Theatre of Varieties.—General-Manager, Mr. H. L. Skivington.—A sensational motoring act is engineered here by the Tom Davies Trio, and proves most attractive; Doody and Wright, Australian comiques, make a decided hit; Amy Neild renders vocal items in accomplished style; the Wilfords arouse enthusiasm by their clever equilibrist feats; capital female impersonations are given by Percy Maye; Harry Cove's vocal selections are most acceptable; and the Empire pictures continue to be a prominent feature.

Pavilion Theatre. — General-Manager, Mr. Samuel Lloyd; Resident-Manager, Mr. Chas. A. White.—The Macdonald Troupe of dancers give a clever performance here; the Clayton Twins, assisted by the Misses Wood and Willis, in a funny sketch, Which is Which? creates roars of laughter; a pleasing turn is presented by the Players; Webb and Branston, in operatic selections, are received with rapturous applause; Oakley and James amuse with eccentric comedy; Harry Niblock, boy comedian, is good; and the Paviscope shows some good pictures.

GRIMSBY.—Prince of Wales's Theatre.—Chairman of Directors, Mr. H. J. Curry; Managing-Director, Mr. J. H. Curry.—Fred Karno's new edition of Saturday to Monday presents many fresh and entertaining features. Mr. W. E. Matthews is now seen as the eccentric John Willy Jaggs, and extracts a lot of fun from the character; whilst as John Willy, jun., Mr. V. H. Crawford adds to the merriment. Miss Amy Rogerson is well suited to the part of the bride, Clorinda; and her sister, Violet, is charmingly presented by Miss Daisy Stone. Mr. Dick Harcourt makes the most of the part of Mr. Potts, the best man; whilst others conributing to the success of the show are Mr. J. W. Bradbury as Mr. Blake, Mr. C. Herbert Summers as Tom Freeman, Mr. J. Fletch as Spinks, and Miss Ada Maskell as Aunt Skinner.

Curry's Tivoli.—Chairman of Directors, Mr. H. J. Curry; Managing-Director, Mr. J. H. Curry; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. W. North.—Chung Ling Soo, the great Chinese magician, has drawn a crowded house at each performance; a remarkable equilibristic act is contributed by Marstro and Mlle. Oretta, the lady supporting a billiard table upon which Marstro balances himself whilst perched on billiard cues; the Bros. Ashley present their amusing hairdressing burlesque; Bob Hamilton scores as a Scottish humorist; Alec Aubrey contributes an artistic gymnastic turn; Starr and Jerome prove smart dancers; and Ida Ross sings pleasing Swiss ballads.

The Palace.—Managing-Director, Mr. T. A. Edwardes; Resident-Manager, Mr. T. W. Moyes; Acting-Manager, Mr. A. V. Allton.—Tom Lloyd has increased his reputation as a mirth-creator, his songs being decidedly smart; Mlle. Amalia's minature hippodrome, introducing trained dogs and ponies, is a popular turn; The Days present an interesting séance of thought-reading, &c.; and The Davenports' exhibition of modern magic is well received. Toney and Novel perform smart staircase gymnastics; Gus W. Blake and Maude Granby combine in a humorous scena; Bessie Willow contributes excellent vocal selections; and Arthur Goodman secures favour as a juggler.

GUERNSEY.—St. Julian's Hall.—Lessee, Mr. C. Robt. Perkins.—On the 25th Mr. Arthur Carlton's company presented In Sight of St. Paul's. The piece was admirably staged and excellently interpreted. Mr. Ernest R. Allen cleverly expounded the part of Tom Chichester; Harry was ably represented by Mr. W. H. Domoney; Mr. Herbert Cecil was sufficiently villainous as John Gridston; Mr. Edward Valentine creditably worked out the unthankful part of Fretley Burside; and Mr. Henry Gilpin proved successful as the rascally Bildstein. The comic element was amusingly supplied by Mr. Herbert Colley as Jim Palfrey, ably assisted by Miss S. Hammersley as Becky Fetch. Miss Gussie Everitt merited warm praise for an admirable conception of Cynthia Dell; and Miss Louie Valentine capably portrayed the part of Beatrice Morland.

HALIFAX. — Theatre Royal, Ltd. — General-Manager, Mr. Otto C. Culling.—A crowded house gave Mr. Frederick Melville's company in The Beast and the Beauty an enthusiastic welcome here on Monday. Jack Barrymore had a powerful representative in Mr. Herbert Ford; his father was well delineated by Mr. Wm. E. Passmore; the rôle of Ned Sampson was dramatically portrayed by that talented actor Mr. Eric Campbell; Mr. Bernard Mervyn in every way distinguished himself as Henry Denver, and was adequately supported by Miss Daisy Gwynne as Delilah Vane. A delightful assumption of Violet was submitted by Miss Lydia Andre; while Mr. Harry Seton's comedy as James was received with acceptance.

Palace and Hippodrome, Ltd.—Resident-Manager, Mr. Ed. Harrison.—Great favourites here are Bella and Bijou, whose smart satire, The Suffragette, enhances their reputation. Cavalli is a wonderful ventriloquist with an excellent fit-up; Harwood's juveniles in a novel scena, A Children's Christmas Eve, are vociferously greeted; the Twin Bros. Dean, the dancers in white; Bert Brantford, comedian, and Grant and Grant, American octoroons, present attractive items; and Raymond's Bio-Tableaux cause amusement.

HANLEY. — Royal, Ltd — Managing-Director, Mr. Chas. Elphinstone; Manager, Mr. Douglas Elphinstone.—A Royal Divorce is presented this week, under the management of Mr. W. W. Kelly. Miss Edith Cole is once more seen as Josephine, and her interpretation is, as usual, excellent; Miss Agnes Imlay as Marie Louise is most successful; as Napoleon Mr. Frederick Victor is capital; Mr. Graham Woods as the Marquis de Beaumont contributes a sound performance; Mr. Claude Angew as Talleyrand acts with effect; as General Augereau Mr. Alfred Grenville is most successful, and Mr. Geo. Hudson makes a capital Grimaud.

Grand.—Managing-Director, Mr. Chas. Elphinstone; Manager, Mr. Alfred Edwardes.—The bill this week is headed by Levi Lake and company, in their amusing sketch, Bloomsbury Burglars, which is thoroughly enjoyed; Athas and Collins return in their skit, For Four Bob; Albert Athas also dances admirably; Mlle. Pollo contributes a gymnastic turn, which is a great feature in the week's programme; the Three Clarions are seen in a good sketch; Carl Howard, the comic card, does well, his burlesque conjuring being appreciated; Lily Foy is a comedienne of merit; the Frasettis score in their musical turn. The Grand pictures are capital.

HARROGATE. — Grand Opera House.—Managing-Director, Mr. Wm. Peacock; Acting-Manager, Mr. C. F. Smith. — For the first three nights of this week we had a return visit of Mr. Chas. Macdona's company, in the ever-popular Gay Parisienne. Mr. Will Harman worked well as Ebenezer Honeycombe; Mr. S. Day gave a good performance of Major Forsdyke; and Mrs. Honeycombe had an able exponent in Miss Holford Beringer, endowed with a clever "Suffragette" song, in which she earned a hearty encore; Miss Lilian Talbot made a vivacious Julie Bon Bon, and had excellent assistance from Mr. Clifford Seyler as M. Pompier. Mr. Philip Moore made a good Tom Everleigh; and Miss Madge Soutter was very successful as Ruth. Miss Lancashire, Limited, came on Thursday evening.

HARTLEPOOL.—Empress.—Proprietors, Messrs. Everton and Cragg; Manager, Mr. Harry Burns; Assistant-Manager, Mr. Charlie Ferrier.—The wonderful whistling by Shawlene is creating quite a sensation this week; his performance is applauded to the very echo. Will Mitcham, comedian and instrumentalist, and Fred Casburn, old favourites, are having a gratifying reception. The Clement Trio, in a trapeze act, attempt some apparently impossible feats; Trixie, a clever little child artist, is well received; a pretty selection on the silver bells is well done by Will Cornish; and Walter Wade, vocal comedian, The Dancing Gilberts, and some interesting and amusing films are shown.

HASTINGS.—Gaiety Theatre.—Manager, Mr. H. W. Rowland; Resident-Acting-Manager, Mr. Charles E. Scutt.—The Shulamite is being presented here this week by Mr. Theodore's company, whose performance on Monday kept the audience in rapt attention throughout. The impersonation of the stern, fanatically cruel Boer farmer by Mr. Algernon J. Hicks was an admirable character-study; the sensitive and weak nature of Robert Waring was well depicted by Mr. Charles Fancourt; Miss Ruth Shepherd was equal to the difficult task of depicting the wife's growing hatred of her tyrant husband; Miss Emily Levettey as Tanta Anna played with spirited energy; Mr. Geo. Ramsell made an excellent Jan Vanderberg; and the Kaffir Slave Girl of Miss Chrissie Bickerstaff was a well-thought-out sketch of character.

HUDDERSFIELD.—Theatre Royal.—Proprietors, Messrs. Milton Bode and Edward Compton; Resident-Manager, Mr. W. J. Andrews.—Mr. Chas. Macdona's company is here, playing Mr. Popple of Ippleton. The piece was well received on Monday night, though it was played under very disconcerting conditions. Mr. Arthur Longley—the Freddy Popple—after doing excellently well through the first act, and opening the second, suddenly fainted, and had to be carried off the stage. Mr. Sydney Courtenay, his understudy, finishing the act. Mr. Longley revived sufficiently to appear again in the last act. Mr. L. Bullock Webster was a smart, well-groomed Norman Popple, and Mr. Tom May a bright Platt; Miss Nellie Hodson was attractively pert as Louise; Mr. Sydney Courtenay and Mr. James Stevenson played with discretion as Hennay and Doring, Miss Alice Reve and Miss Stella St. Audrie being quite satisfactory as their jealous wives. The particular star is Miss Millie Hylton as La Bolero, her crisp methods and artistic rendering of songs being decidedly successful. An alert chorus and augmented orchestra give useful assistance under the experienced guidance of Mr. H. R. Matthews.

HIPPODROME, LTD.—Resident-Manager, Mr. N. M Robinson.—The house this week is occupied by the Huddersfield Amateur Operatic Society, who opened their eleventh annual production on Tuesday evening, playing, by kind permission of Mrs. D'Oyly Carte, H.M.S. Pinafore, followed by Trial by Jury..

HULL.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Sole Lessee, Mr. W. Morton; Resident-Director, Mr. W. F. Morton.—Quite an acceptable change from pantomime is the smart farcical comedy which is sending away audiences amused to no small degree this week. What the Butler Saw is about as comical a conception as dramatist ever invented. Apart from the cleverness of the authors, Judge Parry and Mr. Frederick Mouillot, the comedy has the advantage of such smart astists as Lionel Rignold and Ada Blanche. To watch Mr. Rignold as the butler—he has no need to speak, only simply follow his movements, and one need be a stoic not to have every risible faculty in the fullest play. He has all the comedian's best gifts, added to an easy, spontaneous style. As Mrs. Barrington Ada Blanche revived all the memories of histrionic achievements that have been so justly praised in every quarter. She captivated the audience from her first entrance. In the company are several very clever artists, Mr. Fawcett scoring well as Jack Barrington.

GRAND THEATRE AND OPERA HOUSE.—Managing-Director, Mr. John Hart; Resident-Manager, Mr. Wynn Millar.—On Saturday night the management will bring to a close a highly-successful pantomime season, and one which will no doubt be remembered in the city for the beauty of its mounting and the splendour of its ballets. During the all too short run it has proved conclusively one thing—that a principal boy can add to a reputation by gentility and refinement, both of which attributes are the possession of Miss Rita Everard. Mr. Rowland Hill, as the Dame, has never erred either in the way that some male impersonators of female rôles do. The Brothers Neward should have every reason to be pleased with their first pantomime production in Hull.

ALEXANDRA THEATRE. — Mortons, Ltd. — General-Manager, Mr. Geo. Morton.—In Holy Russia is just the play to please the popular parts of the house. It is full of striking scenes, and its incidents are not less exciting. On a past visit it received high commendation which can very well be now repeated. Mrs. Rice Cassidy is a Renee who fills with considerable credit a very exacting rôle. As Uncle Dick Mr. Rice Cassidy is very much at home. As the Czar Mr. Cockcroft is all that the author intended he should be; whilst the comic relief finds an excellent exponent in Mr. Joe Cuthbertson, cast as Micky. From the support given it seems as if In Holy Russia could still draw in this city on many, many future occasions.

HYDE.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Sole Lessee, Mr. Fred Granville, Acting-Manager, Mr. A. R. Feather.—Heading an attractive programme here this week are the Lukushima Japanese, in a marvellous balancing and acrobatic performance; Miss Mayne Cannon is a charming coon vocalist and an expert pianoforte player; Therese and May appear in a pleasing pot-pourri act; Mozetto is a skilful though quaint juggler; the eccentric Cranks perform some smart cycling tricks; Master Harry Raley sings very nicely; Mr. Bert Lytton scores as a comedian; Burley and Burley are funny in a comedy act, and prove themselves clever contortionists; Polo and Florence give an original balancing entertainment; the Marcos are responsible for a comic triple bar act; Barfoot and Carson figure conspicuously and with success in a musical and dancing turn, and the latest bioscope pictures are much appreciated.

OHMY'S CIRCUS.—The chief attraction here this week is Dr. Carl Hermann, hynotist, who creates roars of laughter by reason of the ludicrous actions of his subjects; Ariel and Astarte are expert gymnasts; Mons. Hanlan is a clever three-bar performer; the Three Bostons are successful as vocalists and dancers; the scene act on horseback, Joan of Arc, by Miss Ada Ohmy, is a graceful performance, and is deservedly applauded, and the two-horse act by the Sisters Ohmy is another skilful equestrian act. The cake walk horse goes through its work most intelligently, and Prince Cliner, the riding dog, furnishes another instance of canine sagacity; August and September are as entertaining as ever in their comic sketches, and the Bros. France and Little Bishop also do some clever clowning. Ohmy's Living Pictures maintain their popularity.

ILKESTON.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Managing-Director, Mr. L. F. A. Rogers.—Mrs. Frank Bateman and company present No Wedding Bells for Her this week. Miss Lizzie Montague is excellent as Lola Delaspierre, and in a kindred part Mr. Abney Stone is good. The comic relief of Mr. Will Skelton and Miss Bessie Franks is enjoyable; Mr. Percy Shaw excels as Dick Delver; and Mr. Stuart Lomath merits mention. Mr. Fredk. Garton makes the most of the small part of Montague Blair; Mr. Arthur Linay as Harold Trevelyn and Mr. Geo. Herbert as Horatio Fane are commendable. The parts of Adonis Tightfist and Marie Flail are in the capable hands of Mr. Robt. Lord and Miss Ellen Owen. Miss Grace Battersby is good as Doris Fane.

QUEEN'S PALACE OF VARIETIES.—Licensee and Manger, Mr. T. Knightall.—The mannikin show by Mlle Fontain is still being given; a pantomime, entitled Blue Beard, is worked with much effect by the two McMays; Ivy West is meritorious as a serio; and the like remark applies to Fred Dice (comedian), R. G. Fane (comedian), and Harry Henric (vocalist).

IPSWICH.—LYCEUM THEATRE. — General-Manager, Mr. Leonard Grey.—Mrs. Henry de la Pasture's comedy, Peter's Mother, played by Mr. Percy Hutchinson's company, commenced a three-nights' engagement here on Monday. The piece was favourably received, Miss Edith Mackay making a striking impression by her clever impersonation of Peter's mother; Mr. Percy Hutchinson in the character of Peter Crewys was also favourably received, evoking much applause throughout; Mr. Ellie Norwood scored well as John Crewys; and Mr. Townley Whitting was at home in the part of the Doctor. Miss Hilda Honnes was a pleasing and graceful Sarah Hewell. The incidental scenery and appointments were satisfactory.

HIPPODROME.—Proprietor, Mr. E. H. Bostock.—Another attractive programme drew crowded audiences to this popular place of entertainment this week, some strong turns being included in the bill of fare. Austin Rudd paid a return visit, his new songs and personations being loudly applauded; Tom N. Mills acquitted himself well as a descriptive and motto vocalist; Maude and Sidney Wood were a pair of clever dancers. A pleasing item also was that of Belle Braham in her "Popular Songs and Singers"; Letine, female impersonator, was very successful; and the same may be said of Seely and West, musical comedians and duettists.

JARROW.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Hugh Robertson; Acting-Manager, Mr Jerold E. Reed.—This week Messrs. Carpenter and Cooper's company is here with The Spider and the Fly. Mr. Benson North gives a manly rendering of Cyril Girdlestone; Mr. Ellis J. Preston plays with force as Welby Girdlestone; Mr. Lanceley is very good indeed as the Rev. Mr. McAllister; and Mr. Reginald Payne makes a capable David Strong; Mr. Charles A. Preece a creditable Remus Roe; and Mr. Charles Russell a successful Romulus. Miss Amy Venimore is an excellent Stella; Miss Nina Vaughton a charming Edith; and Miss Lucy Murray causes much amusement as Molly Blake.

JERSEY. — OPERA HOUSE. — Lessee, Mr. C. Robt. Perkin.—Mr. Allan Wilkie and company are appearing this week in Shakespearean and other plays. The company opened on Tuesday night with Othello, in which Mr. Allan Wilkie appeared as the Moor. Mr. G. Alexander Marsh did himself full justice in the rôle of Iago, and Miss Carrie Baillie made a charming Desdemona. Mr. Herbert Morgan well sustained the part of Cassio, and Mr. George Munro figured with credit as Roderigo. Mr. John Paley was an admirable Brabantio; Miss Ine Cameron was good as Emilia. Sheridan's School for Scandal was played on Wednesday, and Romeo and Juliet on Thursday. There was an excellent house on the opening night.

KEIGHLEY. — QUEEN'S THEATRE.—Proprietors, Messrs. Carson and Kendall; Acting-Manager, Mr. Will Carson.—Large audiences have given Mr. James Kiddie's company, in Little Cinderella, an enthusiastic reception. Mlle. De Rose is an excellent principal boy; and Miss Edith Harmer a bewitching Cinderella. Miss Zena Pana scores as Dandini; Mr. Tom Payne is a comedian of infinite resource, and works hard as Pimples; Mr. Dick Thomas appears as the Baron, and is very funny; Mr. W. G. Wesley and Mr. Sydney Benson cause unlimited laughter as the Sisters. The pantomime is a pronounced success.

KENDAL.—ST. GEORGE'S THEATRE.—Managers, Messrs. Butler and Chorley.—The Moody-Manners' Opera (B) Company is here this week. On Monday evening Carmen was presented to a crowded house, and evoked considerable enthusiasm. Miss Rosina Beynon deserves special mention for her portrayal of the part of Carmen; she is not only the possessor of a fine contralto voice, but her acting is all that can be desired. The like criticism applies to most of the principals, and the chorus is all that can be desired. Various other operas from an extensive répertoire are included in the week's programme.

KIDDERMINSTER. — NEW OPERA HOUSE. — Licensee and Managing-Director, Mr. James P. Moore; Acting-Manager, Mr. R. C. Gudgeon.—Playgoers here this week have a rare treat in a visit from Mr. Charles Macdona's chief company in Are You a Mason? Mr. Ernest Cossart ably portrays the character of George Fisher; Mr. E. H. Paterson gives a capital rendering of Amos Bloodgood; Mr. Howard L. Tracy scores well as Frank Perry; Mr. G. R. I. Austin causes no end of fun in the rôle of Hamilton Travers; Mr. Buchanan Wake as John Holton is excellent. Mrs. Caroline Bloodgood is strongly played by Miss Adelaide Grace; Miss Margaret Fareleigh as Eva is all that can be desired; Annie and Lulu are prettily played by Miss Babs Stuart and Miss Madge Merrique. Each evening, preceding the farce, the one-act drama entitled A Bad Penny is produced with pleasing results.

KIRKCALDY.—KING'S THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. R. C. Buchanan; Resident-Manager, Mr. John Burton.—For the first time Miss Grace Warner and her company are paying a visit here this week. On Monday night The Little Widow was presented, Miss Warner being seen to much advantage in the title-rôle. Miss M. Stamer was a decided success as Mrs. Potter, and Miss Hilda Herne made an amiable Emily Randal. Miss K. Cranston was effective as Sophonisba; and Messrs. G. Gordon and J. L. Leigh as Mr. Wilkins Potter and Dr. Potter were responsible for much of the laughter; Mr. Arthur Page was good as the Frenchman, and equally successful was Mr. R. Brown as the butler.

LANCASTER.—ATHENÆUM.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. S. Rogers; Acting-Manager, Mr. Alfred H. Hook.—Mr. James Kiddie's pantomime, Dick Whittington, opened on Monday to a crowded and enthusiastic audience. Miss Adele Roze as principal boy acts with cosiderable dash, and her spirited rendering of the vocal items which fall to her lot are specially pleasing. Miss Leah Laurie makes a charming Alice, and finds plenty of scope for her abilities in song and dance. A handsome Captain Navycutte is seen in Miss Annie Broughton; and equally successful is Miss Florence Hilton as Sir Algernon de Mash. Mr. Fred Spencer is mirth-provoking as the Dame Amelia; Mr. J. H. Wakefield works hard as Fitzwarren; as also does Mr. Archie J. Milne as Rodento and Mr. Alec Kendal as Idle Jack. Messrs. Bass and Guiness are smart comedians, and add much to the success of the pantomime as Silly Peter and Lazy Larry. A word of commendation is also due to Mr. Bert Hindson, who does extremely well as the Cat. There are several specialities, including the Three Sisters Kilner, Bass and Guiness, and the Saxon Troupe of Dancers.

LEAMINGTON. — THEATRE ROYAL. — Lessees, Messrs. Milton Bode and Edward Compton; Manager, Mr. Harry Hunter.—Mr. Martin Harvey visited Leamington for the first three nights of this week. On Monday evening, the opening night, The Breed of the Treshams was played, and Mr. Harvey and his company were accorded a great reception by the largest and most enthusiastic audience that has been seen in the local playhouse for some time. Mr. Harvey appeared as Lieut. Reresby, and his very fine delineation of the character was truly an artistic triumph which created the greatest enthusiasm among the audience. Miss N. de Silva gave an excellent rendering of the boy Batty; whilst the part of the Hon. Margaret Hungerford was successfully sustained by Miss Coleridge. Mr. Charles J. Cameron played with mingled force and dignity as Viscount Dorsington; whilst as Colonel Hungerford Mr. Chas. Glenney displayed very careful and conscientious acting. Mr. A. E. Raynor's impersonation of Sir Henry Curwen was worthy of the highest praise; and Mr. Leonard Craske's Cornet Tresham was appropriately bright and ingenuous. The Breed of the Treshams was repeated on Tuesday, and on Wednesday A Cigarette Maker's Romance was played, Mr. Harvey appearing in his original part of Count Skariatine.

LEEDS.—GRAND THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. John Hart; General-Manager, Mr. Edward Cadman.—Success continues to attend the grand pantomime, The Sleeping Beauty. Mr. Albert Le Fre and Mr. W. H. Powell continue to be the life and soul of the piece so far as the fun is concerned; whilst Mr. Josh Dixon and Mr. T. W. Volt are also irresistibly funny in numerous interludes. The Queen is in the capable hands of Miss Florence Parfrey, and her vocal powers continue to be much admired. The romantic parts are prettily played by Miss Katie Vesey, Miss Julia James, and Miss Edith Adeson, and each is a sound favourite.

THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietor, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; General-Manager, Mr. R. Ernest Liston.—The Forty Thieves continues a run of uninterrupted success, and is being continually improved. The comedians have worked hard to that end. The eccentricities of Messrs. Bob Selvidge, Russell Wallett, Harry Dent, and Gus Le Clerq give very little pause in the merry-making; whilst the donkey of Mr. Sam Poluski's creation is a most diverting animal. Miss Elsie Cooke and Miss Fanny Harris are pleasing and attractive ladies; and Miss Bessie Cohen as Ganem and Miss Maisie Ellinger as Abdullah are successful and popular "boys."

EMPIRE PALACE.—Moss Empires, Ltd.; District-Manager, Mr. T. Gerald Morton; Resident-Manager, Mr. Alec Galley.—An exciting tabloid drama, Our Curate, figures at the head of a strong Empire bill, the piece being presented in clever style by Mr. Fred Eustace and company. Park's Eton Boys provide a vocal turn of considerable merit; the eccentricities of Little Ganty, a diminutive comedian, are a source of merriment; and excellent comedy is also supplied by Charles Coverdale and Harry Leybourne. Chas. Mildare, the wonderful whistler, is having a good week; the Three Renads make a big thing of their clever gymnastic act; and Lily Esplin, comedienne, has a good song about the Suffragettes; the Meymotts are diverting in a comedy-sketch; and some trained birds exhibited by Mlle. Marzella prove an interesting feature.

QUEEN'S THEATRE.—Lessees, Messrs. Dottridge and Longden; General-Manager, Mr. C. H. Longden; Acting-Manager, Mr. Chas. Bush.—Mr. Harry Fischer's company arrived here on Monday with the touring pantomime Cinderella, and a hearty welcome was extended by a crowded house. Miss Empsie Bowman is an admirable choice for the name-par', pleasing all with dainty action and excellent singing. The Prince is Miss Julia Bassett, and her performance is a dashing and attractive one. Of the funmakers, Mr. Ernie Mayne is an easy first favourite, having great opportunity for merriment in the rôle of Pickles, the Baron's page. Mr. Johnny Johnstone is vastly amusing as Baron Bunkum, and the humorous efforts of Mr. Charles Tempest and Mr. Charles May as the Ugly Sisters are also successful in many entertaining interludes. Miss Adele Lincoln makes an effective Dandini; the capital singing of Miss Grace Olivia as the Good Fairy is a much-enjoyed feature; whilst the the eccentricities of Conan and Doyle also find favour.

HIPPODROME.—Proprietor, Mr. Thos. Barrasford; General-Managers, Mr. Claude Shayler and Mr. Chas. Weldon.—The Three Demons, with a sensational cycling act on a revolving table, is a big feature here; Barker's circus is very popular; Barrington Foote and company hold the interest of their audience with a dramatic sketch; Oakdene submits his comedy ventriloquial entertainment with success; Carr and Rose are accomplished and amusing in musical sketch; that prime favourite, Sable Fern, is scoring the usual solid success; and we are pleased to renew acquaintance with Walter Stanley, a clever comedian; Harry Cotton also scores with comedy business; and the Waltons, expert gymnasts, do their work in good style.

CITY VARIETIES.—Proprietor, Mr. F. W. Wood; General-Manager, Mr. J. C. Whiteman; Acting-Manager, Mr. Sam Jones.—Mabel Bright is the central figure of a bright song-scena, "Girls Will be Girls," which is delighting good houses nightly at this hall. Some artistic vocal tableaux by Mme. Sylvia are very acceptable; the Society Quartette of vocalists and dancers have a pleasing entertainment; that versatile pair, Rita and Roma, make another successful appearance; and Ingram and Irving, in comedy act; Dan Robans, operatic vocalist; Tiny Arnold, with a novel specialty; and Jack Woods, comedian, are doing particularly well.

LEICESTER.—ROYAL OPERA HOUSE.—Proprietors and Managers, Messrs. Milton Bode and Edward Compton; General and Business Manager, Mr. Henry Dundas.—The reputation of this house for pantomime has been well maintained this week by the production of Mr. Milton Bode's fairy pantomime, Red Riding Hood. Probably no more beautiful scene has been staged here than the Butterflies' Ball at the termination of the first half. The dresses in this scene are most gorgeous, and the gigantic butterfly, when lit up with many hundreds of electric lights, aroused the audience to a storm of applause. Another noteworthy scene is the King's Pageant, at the termination of the pantomime, which represents the four countries of the United Kingdom. This is exceedingly charming with its artistic representation of the Prince of Wales's feathers, its network of thistles and shamrock, and a huge crystal globe on which stands Britannia holding an illuminated shield. The dresses are all in harmony with the entire setting. The company engaged is a first-class one. At the head is Miss Annie Purcell as Boy Blue, who has endeared herself to all by a vivacious and clever performance, her songs, "Zuyder Zee" and "Isle of Anglesey," meeting with well-deserved and hearty appreciation. Miss Norah Guy, a delightful Red Riding Hood, rendered her songs, "Hyacinth" and "The shade of the Pyramids," in excellent style. Miss May Hopkins as Bo-Peep and Mr. Ted Hopkins as Lewis Bach are to be highly complimented on their success, their whole performance being brimful of rich humour. Miss Hopkin's songs, "The cottage on the hill" and "Remember me to mother dear," elicit hearty approval. Mr. Harry Bickley makes a most amusing Dame Trot; Mr. Jay Laurier a mirth-provoking Johnny Stout, with a droll song, "Silly Billy Brown." Messrs. Keith and Merson work hard as Johnny Green and Simple Simon; Mr. Ainsley Burton as the Squire is good, and others who deserve praise are Miss Agnes Tandy as Tom, Miss Sybil Viney as Mary, Miss Nellie Duval as the Fairy Queen, Mr. Stanley Fields as the Wolf, and Mr. Walter Walton as the Demon. There is a large and well-balanced operatic chorus and augmented orchestra under the direction of Mr. Frank Seddon. The Collins-Stella troupe execute some delightful dances, and the Royal Welsh Singers are also heard to considerable advantage. The artists responsible for the beautiful scenery are Messrs. T. E. Ryan, Stanley Schuter, and T. F. Dunn.

THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietors and Lessees, Messrs. Milton Bode and Edward Compton; Business-Manager, Mr. E. R. Beaumont.—Mr. Fred Jarman's company, presenting the Anglo-Russian drama, Under the Czar, is the attraction here. Miss Lillian Herries enacts the part of Sonia with conspicuous success; and both Miss Beatrice Annersley as Siomka and Miss Madge Calre as Zara Bhura are excellent. Mr. Willson Howard plays well as Nicholas Jeroslaff; and Mr. Gerald Smythe as Captain Johnson, Mr. George H. Doyle as Zakhar Kovesky, Mr. Louis Westo nas Paul Ignat, and Mr. R. Tarrant as Victor Kleff also fulfil their respective tasks in admirable style.

PALACE THEATRE, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; District-Manager, Mr. Hatton Wharton; Acting-Manager, Mr. C. Finch-Hatton; Assistant-Manager, Mr. Bertram G. Iles.—A large house and an enthusiastic welcome awaited Madame Alice Esty here on Monday, when she presented for the first time in Leicester a delightful operatic scena, entitled Betta, the Gipsy. The famous prima donna sang with exquisite taste and expression, and was accorded a most gratifying reception. She is supported by a well-trained operatic chorus and company, chief among whom are Mr. Charles Ommanny as Jempestro, Mr. Crauford Kent as Lord Valentine Carlyle, and Miss Lena Pierpoint as Aliska. At the other end is Tom Costello, one of Leicester's greatest favourites, who scores a big success with his latest song, "The Lady Suffragettes." He is also heard and seen to great advantage in his pathetic rendering of the part of the old clown, his acting being especially praiseworthy. Another popular show is Holden's Mannikins, the puppets being worked in a remarkably clever manner. Adey North is a comedian who raises hearty laughter; the Three Ramoniers shine in a smart and clever balancing act on ladders; Clarice Netta is an excellent soprano; and other attractions are the Gentle Mackweys, in a fast and furious comedy acrobatic act; Frobel and Ruge, aerial comedians; James Brady, comedian; and the Bioscope, depicting "The Village Fire Brigade."

PAVILION THEATRE. — Proprietor and Director-General, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Acting-Manager, Mr. Walter Lapworth.—Miss Lois du Cane and company are again the great attraction here this week, and are presenting the sensational episode Anarchy, which has the advantage of being interpreted by a very good company, chief among whom are Miss Lois du Cane as Ellen Grey, Mr. Scrope Quentin as Gilbert Newton, Mr. E. Eardley Howard as Maurice de Varney, and Mr. Gerald Blake as Leonard Grey. The sketch is meeting with a most gratifying reception. Walter H. Pallister's bioscope is again a special feature. A clever boy juggler is seen in Gicardo, and others entertaining are Millie North, comedienne and dancer; Arthur Williams, vocalist; Mona McDonald, comedienne; and Martin Haley, comedian.

LEITH.—NEW GAIETY THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. R. C. Buchanan; Resident-Manager, Mr. John Darlison.—This house is doing remarkably well with the pantomime Little Red Riding Hood. Since its production here a week ago the piece has evidently grown in popular favour, thanks, no doubt, largely to the amusing comic element, for which Mr. George Le Clerc and Mr. Ben Brown are mainly responsible. The other comedians, Messrs. Astor Wybert, Alfred Bennett, Cutler, and Harry Nelson are eminently successful in their respective rôles; and the Wolf of Mr. Fred Zarnella is a clever performance; Miss Lilian Lee, Miss Nancy Hearne, Miss Rose Florence, and Miss Katie Butter showed marked ability in their vocal contributions; and good work is also done by Miss Rosa Hilene, Miss Florrie Durrant, and Miss Beatrice Wilson; while the child actress, Miss Decima Brooks, as well as the Leith sixteen little lassies, and the Arcadian Girls in speciality dances are all pleasing in their several turns LEVEN.—TOWN HALL.—On Monday night Miss Inez Howard's company presented The Girl Who Took the Wrong Turning. Miss Edith Knight gave a capable rendering of Sophie Coventry, Lucy, the much-tried sister, being played in sweetly pathetic fashion by Miss Cora Linda; Miss Laura Hansen did well as the unscrupulous Vesta le Clere. Mr. Martin Pedler looked and acted Willie Mason, the British tar, to the life, and shared popularity with Mr. Arthur Plummer, who made a capital Jack Fenton. Messrs. Tom Warry, C. Coleman, and A. Knight were good as Bill Slater, James Harcourt, and Richard Fenton respectively. Mr. E. Arnold Palmer and Miss Lillie Romaine as Johnny Walker and Poppy Slater were favourites.

LIMERICK.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Manager, Mr. Robert Fogerty.—The Ian Maclaren Shakespearean and Old English Comedy Company opened a week's engagement on Monday, when David Garrick was presented, with Mr. Maclaren in the title-rôle. Mr. B. Iden Payne made a clever Alderman Brackson; the Honourable Bob Fairley had a good exponent in Mr. Arthur Fayne; the rôle of Arabella Johnson was capitally played by Miss A. U. Grogan; Miss G. Littlewood was an excellent Mrs. Peters; and as Mabel Brackson, we had the pleasure of witnessing a delightful performance by that talented actress, Miss Edith Coleman. On Tuesday night Othello was put on.

LIVERPOOL. — ROTUNDA THEATRE. — Manager, Mr. M. Montgomery.—A Girl's Cross Roads, played by Mr Walter Melville's company, has been the attraction here this week. Miss Hilda Beverley repeated her able assumption of Barbara Wade; Miss Florence Zillwood gave a satisfactory rendering of Nellie Meadows; Miss Jessica Black handled the rôle of Constance Cornell with care; a finished picture of the old farmer, John Meadows, came from Mr. Charles Franmore; Mr. Wilson Gunning made an effective Jack Livingstone; and the remainder of the cast afforded excellent support.

LYRIC THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Henry C. Arnold; Directors of Entertainments, Messrs. T. Barrasford and F. Willmot; Acting-Manager, Mr. Fred Coles.—A highly entertaining programme is billed here. Wild, Willie, and West hold premier position in their comedy acrobatic sketch, The Three Bouncing Nawvies; The Motramos are very popular; Lillie Soutter is a delightful comedienne; Le Vails are decidedly clever acrobats; Newman and Cross are well received; Harry Grey can certainly make people laugh; Beattie and Blanche are clever dancers and duettists; and Olive Armidale, comedienne, and F. S. Hulme contribute commendable turns.

STAR THEATRE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Harris Fineberg.—A return visit of Lucky Durham, a play which on its previous appearance here received much patronage, has been welcomed. Messrs. Armitage and Leigh brought an able company, along with the original scenery. In the title-rôle Mr. Edmund Kennedy played with telling effect, and was accorded loud applause; Mr. Robert Forsyth gave a fine representation of Lord Mountfallon; as the careless Reginald Steighton Mr. Arthur Leigh was particularly good; the rôle of Mr. Vallerton was made the most of by Mr. A. E. Walker; Mr. W. F. Clitherow submitted a life-like picture of the Jewish Verstein; Miss Louisa Gourlay handled the character of Mrs. Durham with tenderness; Miss Alice Hester Belmore was a sweet Helen Vallerton; and Miss Frances Wolviston proved a dignified Lady Mountfallon.

QUEEN'S THEATRE.—Proprietors, Messrs. Carson and Kendall; Resident-Manager, Mr. Fred L. Arthur.—Mr. Frank Burdett's company is paying a return visit with The Indian Mutiny, which has given the frequenters of this popular house much pleasure. The drama is well put on, and ably presented. Miss Melrose Millett gave an impressive rendering of the part of Ghuz-nah; Mr. E. Hamilton filled the rôle of Lieut. Manley with every satisfaction; and Mr. Villiers Stanley was a sufficiently villainous Nebu Singh.

ROYAL HIPPODROME.—Managing-Director, Mr. Thomas Barrasford; Manager, Mr. Walter Hassan.—Heading a long programme here this week is Gustave Fasola, whose remarkable illusions have been watched with wonderment; Ergotti and King Luis troupe of Risley acrobats, display abilities of a high order; Bertisch performs feats of great strength; the coon songs and dances of Mark Leslie are loudly applauded; Sibb and Sibb give a graceful exhibition on the trapeze; some pleasing singing comes from the King's College Boys, assisted by Miss Maie; Henri Bekker performs particularly smart conjuring tricks; and also in the list are the Sisters May, duettists and dancers, and Mabel Le Roy, comedienne.

ROYAL PALACE OF VARIETIES.—Manager, Mr. M. Montgomery; Acting-Manager, Mr. Frank O'Toole. The Terror of Paris has been given here this week by the Royal stock dramatic company. Mr. Percy Boucher submitted a humorous Bruno; Mr. Harry Tresham proved effective as Pierre Valjean; a villainous Captain Brigand was provided by Mr. Sydney Grant; Mr. Robert Wilton filled the part of Henri Martin with ability; Miss Florence Palmer was a sweet Marguerite; and Miss Beryl Ravenswood played strongly as Claire.

PADDINGTON PALACE.—Lessee, Mr. M. Montgomery.—The Royal stock company here are this week giving the drama A Traitor to His Country. Mr. Wallace Campbell makes a capital Karl Ivanovitch; Mr. Frank S. Stickland gives a powerful representation of the villainous Alex Bulenski; Mr. H. G. Brandon provides a deal of humour as Petroff; a telling picture of Yevan is given by Mr. Albert Sember; Miss Gladys Hastings-Walton makes an impressive Ilma; and Miss Florence Barnes does the most with Vatinka. The Royal Bioscope has some capital pictures.

PARK PALACE, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. Walter de Frece; Director of Entertainments, Mr. Fred Wilmot.—Here this week Mr. J. Koffler-Reynolds' company are producing the dramatic sketch Conscience, in the course of which a drawing-room is demolished as the result of a fight between two men. The Three Dorians go through a smart gymnastic exhibition; Maston shows much ability as a mimic; some popular songs come from Harry Mallie; T. W. Barrett has several taking songs; and others in the list are the Orchids (Violet and Harry), high-class entertainers; and Jenie Hartley, comedienne and dancer.

WESTMINSTER.—Lessee, Mr. Fred E. Weisker; Acting-Manager, Mr. G. Montgomery. — Jimson's novelty sketch, Jimson's Pets at Home, heads the programme here this week, and has been received with marked favour; a pleasing all-round entertainment, and patter, song, and club swinging is provided by Drum and Major; Tony Iveson is particularly amusing as the tramp at the piano; Le West gives a neat ventriloquial show; Snowball and Dolia are a couple of smart comedy artists; and others who appear are Reno, a clever and humorous conjurer, and J. A. Noble, character-vocalist.

EMPIRE.—Proprietors, Moss' Empires, Ltd.—Top of the bill here this week are Lasky, Rolfe, and company with their latest novelty, The Fourteen Black Hussars, a combination of coloured musicians, who with a brass band, assisted by their vocal powers, give an excellent and most enjoyable entertainment. This is the troupe's first appearance in this country, and there is every promise that their tour will be a successful one. Hilda Jacobsen has a most favourable reception for her neat operetta, 10 p.m.; as acrobats, singers, jugglers, and dancers the Strassberger's Lilliputians distinguish themselves, displaying wonderful skill; a smart and funny comedy, The Order of the Bath, is given by Lilieth Leyton and John Spurling; Alma Gray proves herself a pretty singer and clever dancer; La Danseuse is an accomplished little artist with a nice dancing scena, Santa Claus; Boyd and Gilfain furnish a highly diverting musical scena; and others in the list are Ernesto, musical equilibrist and juggler; Frank Darwin, actor-vocalist; and Gertrude Bradshaw, soprano.

LLANDUDNO.—PRINCE'S THEATRE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. C. R. Chaplin.—The attraction here is the drama Her Lost Self. Mr. Cecil Gray as Wilfred Daventry is well placed; Mr. G. Osmond Tearle as Norman Esmond well sustains the villainous part; Paul Kimberley is in the able hands of Mr. Leslie Yorke; Miss Min Johnson as Dorothy Daventry is excellent, her songs being well received; Miss Frances Delaval in the rôle of Philippine Marcel in a difficult part is all that could be desired; and Abraham Cohen (Mr. L. W. Halfpenny) and Rachel Cohen (Mrs. Edmund Lyons) complete a good cast.

LONDONDERRY.—OPERA HOUSE.—Sole Proprietor, Mr. W. Payne-Seddon.—Mrs. Bandmann-Palmer is here this week, appearing in Mary Queen of Scots, From Washerwoman to Duchess, East Lynne, Hamlet, and Peg, the Irish Actress. In the first-named play, as Queen Mary, Mrs. Bandmann-Palmer gave a finished interpretation of the part, and Miss Katherine Herbert was good as Queen Elizabeth. Mr. F. Skein played the Earl of Leicester very well, Mr. Ashmore Vincent scored as Shrewsbury, and Mr. Leonard Cheetham is a capital Lord Burleigh.

LONG EATON.—LYCEUM THEATRE.—Flattering patronage has been given to Mr. Henry Bedford and company in The See-Saw of Life, a drama which gives scope for Mr. Bedford's talents in the part of Matt Marston. Sir James Dulroy is well played by Mr. Robert Gilbert; and Miss Bessie Bedford scores as the poor seamstress. They are assisted by Miss Phyllis Elton, Mr. Cecil Churton, and others. Mr. Sid Bedford is an admirable flunkey. Gipsy Jack with its rollicking fun, was played later in the week.

LOUGHBOROUGH.—NEW THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietors, Messrs. W. Payne-Seddon and George Robertson; Acting-Manager, Mr. Lindsey Edwardes.—The attraction here this week is Mr. Arthur Linforth's pantomime company in The Babes in the Wood. Miss Mary Ambrose as Robin Hood has established herself a warm favourite, and is well suited to the rôle; Miss Lily Maxwell as Maid Marian is full of vivacity, and her songs could not have been better received; Miss Nellie D'Alvo, a sprightly Margery Daw, wins much applause for her singing and dancing; Mr. Frank Lawton is a great success as Winston; Mr. Fred Lincoln in the rôle of Mary Ann Sparkhurst is clever; and the Bros. Harnison as Raitiz and Taxis are responsible for much laughter. Mr. Charles W. Anson as Baron Verdigris is also good.

LOWESTOFT. — MARINA.—Managing-Director, Mr. E. A. Smith.—Mr. G. Carlton Wallace's company is here on a return visit with the drama The Love that Women Desire. Squire Abingdon finds a capable exponent in Mr. J. O. Stewart; the part of Richard is finely interpreted by Mr. Alfred Brandon, whose accomplice, Madge Abingdon, is successfully portrayed by Miss Cicely Desmond. Philip Carnaby finds a careful and effective exponent in Mr. Jerrold Heather; and amusing sketches are afforded by Mr. John Hignett and Miss Nita Imeson. Miss Lalla Stanhope is well placed as Sybil Thorburn; and Miss N. Griffiths is thoroughly successful as the Indian maiden.

HIPPODROME.—Proprietor, Mr. George Gilbert.—The successful series of animated pictures are still a strong source of attraction, under the direction of Mr. Frank Freeland. The artists include Kyoto, Miss May Geraldine (comedienne and dancer), and Percy Johnson (comedian).

LUTON.—GRAND THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. E. Graham Falcon; Business-Manager, Mr. Louis J. Beard.—Mr. Edward Graham Falcon has brought his up-to-date pantomime, Aladdin, here this week. The company is one of all-round excellence. Amongst those who specially excel are Miss Blanche Marion as Aladdin, whose singing is very good; Miss Nina Moore as the Princess is excellent, and a firm favourite; the dancing of the San Remo Girls is above the ordinary; and the Three Raynors do a marvellous performance. Messrs. Dampier, Harry Kirk, and Shea as Aladdin's Ma, the Emperor, and Vizier respectively are responsible for most of the comedy, and keep the house in roars. The transformation is effective, and the Raynors, in the Harlequinade, are the delight of the younger portion of the audiences.

MACCLESFIELD.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. W. K. Gattey.—Messrs. Pardoe's company is here this week in Cinderella. Miss Lottie Holland as Prince Charming, a dainty singer of dainty songs, is heartily applauded; Miss Beattie Shamrock charms by her delightful portrayal of the name-part; Miss Nelly Rose as the Princess Rosalia and Miss Stelling as Dandini are both admirable in their respective embodiments; Miss Violet Rivers and Miss Louie Bright as Eva and Maud are very pleasing; Mr. Tom Hulme and Mr. George Hyam as the Baron and Scoot indulge in an amount of amusing business exactly suited to the tastes of the audience; and the Bros. Hannaway as Blotts and Blabbs, and Mr. Tom Griffitt as Father Time are pleasing features of a bright show.

MANCHESTER. — ROYAL OSBORNE THEATRE. — Manager, Mr. W. B. Broadhead; Acting-Manager, Mr. P. B. Broadhead.—Before a crowded house Mr. Frank Denman-Wood's capable company opened here with the pantomime Dick Whittington. All the principal parts are in good hands. Miss Daisy Morrell plays Dick with excellent spirit, and is well matched by Miss Millie Doris as Alice Fitzwarren. Fine fun is provided by Mr. Will Dennis as Idle Jack; and others who contribute largely to the amusement are Messrs. Juan and McQue as a pair of comic sailors, Mr. Fred Aston as Alderman Fitzwarren, Mr. Frank Daleno as the cook, and Mr. Jack Simpson as the cat. Smart work is added by Miss Marion Mayne as the Prince of Abyssinia, Miss Fanny Williams as Princess Toffee, and Mr. Edward Stream and Miss Clairette Florence as the Demon and the Fairy. Messrs. Correze and Keith provide a clever speciality act, and the songs and allusions are smart and up to date. The pantomime is well mounted, and includes a large number of auxiliaries.

METROPOLE THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. W. B. Broadhead; Acting-Manager, Mr. P. B. Broadhead.—Messrs. Northway and Garrod's company in The Prodigal Parson is the attraction here this week. The piece is well played, being equipped with a cast which includes Mr. W. V. Garrod as the Rev. Tom Godley and Miss M. Howard as Fern Godley—the two heroic rôles; while clever character-studies are presented by Mr. Alfred Northway as Jaggins, the churchwarden, Mr. Wm. Hayward as Ben Jaggins, Mr. W. Vincent as Kettlepin, Mr. Owen Remonde as the amusing Phil Drive, Miss L. Hart in the corresponding light rôle of Gretchen, Miss D. Rusell as Fräulein Korale (a good dancer), and Miss V. Jeffreys as the child Myrtle—a very clever performance. The remaining parts are well handled, and the play lacks nothing in the way of adequate staging.

GRAND JUNCTION THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. W. B. Broadhead; Acting-Manager, Mr. P. B. Broadhead. —The Fatal Wedding is here this week, after a successful week at the Royal Osborne Theatre.

EMPIRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; Acting-Manager, Mr. H. Hall.—Mr. J. F. Elliston's delightful pantomime, Puss in Boots, remains the attraction here, and full houses are the rule.

HIPPODROME. — Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; Acting-Manager, Mr. E. P. Morgan.—That most sensational spectacle, The Earthquake, produced by Mr. Frank Parker, is the great draw here this week, and business is brisk. The company is particularly strong, and includes Miss Edith Fink, and Messrs. Cecil Morton York, Scott Craven, Frank Rickards, T. Wyndham Guise, and Colin Hazlewood in principal parts; whilst some excellent dancing is done by the Hippodrome troupe. Carl and Mary Ohm introduce some exceptionally well-trained animals; Wilson and Waring are highly diverting in A Bit of Nonsense; and the Great Alexander does some wonderfully clever cycle tricks on a small elevated track; the Northern Troupe of International Dancers foot it merrily, and are well received; Winnie Derson, comedienne, pleases with her song, "When the Volunteers go by"; the Three Guitanos are acrobats of the eccentric order, and are very amusing; and Harry Anderson, character-vocalist, scores with "My new pal." The programme is completed with two vocal items by the Choir and a series of enjoyable films on the Bioscope.

KING'S, LONGSIGHT.—Manager, Mr. W. B. Broadhead; Acting-Manager, Mr. P. B. Broadhead.—At the top of the bill here this week the Six Brothers Luck present their amusing pantomime, At the Hotel Grande. The Bounding Pattersons are seen in a wonderful acrobatic display; Gus Harris, the Hebrew delineator, is seen to advantage in his act entitled The Synagogue; and some delightful singing is submitted by Standring, the mill lad, whose voice is excellent. Other good turns are given by Chas. Lestree, juggler; the Evalos, comic jugglers and gymnasts; George Rae, Scotch comedian and smart dancer; and Mr. "E." whose illustrated patter act is brisk and novel. The pictures are entertaining.

QUEEN'S PARK HIPPODROME.—Manager, Mr. W. B. Broadhead; Acting-Manager, Mr. P. B. Broadhead. —Pantomime gives way to the usual variety show here this week, Mr. Jack Haddon presenting his comic pantomime, Jack and the Beanstalk, with undoubted success, judging by the full houses. The book is well written and up to date, and the performance goes from start to finish with enjoyable smoothness. Miss Kitty Upton makes a good impression as Jack, and Miss Nellie Burdette is a winsome Dora, both artists singing well. Mr. Hal Forde is capital as Dame Trotter; Mr. H. A. Langlois is an excellent Giant; as the Squire, Mr. Jack Haddon sings well, and is particularly good; whilst considerable amusement is caused by Mr. Alfred Maynall and Messrs. Barrett and Knowles, three excellent comedians. Miss Marie Rayner is good as Discordia, and Miss Jeannie Langlois does well as Harmonia. The staging and music is good, and the orchestra is under the direction of Mr. Norman Latham.

HIPPODROME, HULME.—Manager, Mr. W. B. Broadhead; Acting-Manager, Mr. P. B. Broadhead.—Alec Huline and Tom Le-May top the bill here this week, and cause genuine fun as musical clowns, their business being excellent. The Glenroy troupe of dancers are first-rate in their smart sword exercises, songs, reels, hornpipes, and jigs, and are particularly appreciative. The Three Moxons show considerable skill in their act, Fun with a Tourist; Walter Curtis is full of wholesome humour, and is well received; as is also Bessie Travis in her clever ventriloquial sketch. The eccentric lawn tennis ball manipulator, Raglus, gives a fine show; Chris Masters, character-vocalist, is heard to good effect in a military song; and Pueblo and Cropp, Creole artists, receive quite an ovation for their capital singing and sand-dancing. The animated pictures complete an excellent programme. Tom Read, comedian, did not appear on the night of our visit.

MANSFIELD.—GRAND THEATRE.—Proprietors, Mansfield, Sutton, and District Theatres, Ltd.; General-Manager, Capt. Cecil Clayton.—Mr. Ernest Abbott's company is occupying the boards here. On Monday the drama, A Wife's Triumph, was presented. Mr. Ernest R. Abbott ably delineated the rôle of Frank Wilton; Mr. W. H. Garbois made a typical betting man; Mr. F. Johnson as the village constable, Megson, was all that could be desired; Miss Doris Dew admirably impersonated Alice Wilton; Miss Marjorie Tennant made a capable Margery Crebb; and Miss Ada Abbott played the part of Bessie Dewhurst creditably. On Tuesday evening the ever-popular drama, East Lynne, was presented, with Miss Ada Abbott as Lady Isobel; and on Thursday and Friday Sapho was presented.

MARGATE. — HIPPODROME. — Joint-Proprietors, Messrs. Frederick Mouillot and Walter de Frece; General-Manager, Mr. J. de Frece; Resident-Manager, Mr. C. F. Bawtree.—Heading the bill this week is E. R. Dainez's famous troupe of performing animals. Handsome, a well-trained pony, goes through a unique performance; Smiler, a precocious donkey, is very intelligent; and the leaping hounds are splendid jumpers, the clown dog also being exceptionally good. Marie Stoll, comedienne and dancer, has proved an attraction; and the Sisters Holly are also well received. Mr. and Mrs. Leonard present a very amusing playlet, entitled Coming Home, which creates great laughter; and Fred Herbert, topical vocalist, is smart. The animated pictures this week include "A Morning Dip at Margate," which is provocative of considerable merriment.

MERTHYR TYDFIL.—THEATRE ROYAL. — Lessees, The South Wales Entertainments, Ltd.; Manager, Mr. Lewis Gilbert.—Harry Tate's company is scoring a great success here in Motoring; May Fallowfield, soubrette, has a taking style; Massona does some excellent juggling; clever wire-walking is contributed by Celeste; Walter King's songs are greatly enjoyed; Nellie Cotter is popular with her chorus songs; and Dusty Rhodes is a first-rate comedian. Bioscope pictures complete the programme.

TEMPERANCE HALL.—Manager, Mr. Israel Frece.—The Naval Quintette, singers and dancers, are clever; Wilfred Gregory, the flexible marvel, gives a good show; Mozzetto is a smart juggler; Jerry and Leo are amusing; Ida Evilo scores as a trapeze artist; Charlie Spinch gives a wonderful display of club-swinging; and Bandoni contributes a musical act. The Biograph pictures are greatly admired.

MIDDLESBROUGH. — THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Charles Imeson.—Now in its second week, Mr. J. H. Elliston's production of The Sleeping Beauty continues to draw large audiences. Miss Esme Gordon as the Prince has proved a most pleasing artist, and the assured ease of her acting and her fine, cultured voice have made her a great favourite. Miss Lily Vane charms all hearts as the Beauty; Miss Agnes Molteno makes a pleasing Fairy Godmother, her singing being particularly fine; the greater part of the merriment is due to the untiring efforts of Mr. W. J. Churchill, whose songs and patter keep the house in a constant roar of laughter; Mr. Alf. Gibson and Mr. Dave O'Toole are exceedingly funny as the King and Queen respectively; the character of the Yellow Dwarf is in the capable hands of Mr. Lounen Meadows; and Miss Ada Tilley is pleasing as the Grand Chief. Mr. Julian Gallier, Mr. Ralph Howard, and Miss Nellie Howard all capably fill responsible parts; the Morton Trio make a great hit, their singing being well appreciated; Miss Lottie Stone's troupe of dancers prove an acceptable feature; and Ganty's illuminated fairy grotto is exceedingly pretty.

OPERA HOUSE.—Acting-Manager, Mr. W. K. Chutto.—In Sight of St. Paul's is the attraction here this week, played by Mr. Arthur Carlton's company. Miss Gussie Everitt takes the principal female rôle, that of Cynthia Dell. She gives a capital rendition of a most exacting part. Mr. Arthur Armfield, in the character of Mr. Chichester, submits a well-balanced and altogether satisfactory performance; Mr. Herbert Cecil sustains the part of John Gridston admirably; and Miss Louie Valentine is good as Beatrice Moreland. Mr. Ernest Allen as Tom Chichester, Mr. Edward Valentine as Fretley Burnside, and Mr. W. H. Domoney as Harry Chichester are all that can be desired.

OXFORD PALACE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Alf. Graham.—A most enjoyable programme is presented here this week. The Collinson Combination appear in the dramatic episode, entitled The Club Raid; F. V. St. Clair proves a popular favourite with his latest songs; while the Royal Delomes provide a clever dancing turn. The Scottish Meisters are a quartette of accomplished singers; and Frank Boyce is an excellent vocal comedian. The Grosvenors sing popular melodies in excellent style; and Russell Carr is a clever ventriloquist.

MOTHERWELL. — NEW CENTURY THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. R. C. Buchanan; Resident-Manager, Mr. Reginald Grant.—Mr. Chas. Macdona's company, in A Chinese Honeymoon, is fulfilling a three nights' engagement here. Mr. Ernest Sefton sings and dances in excellent style as the effervescent Mr. Pineapple; and Miss May Davies is exceptionally bright and pleasing as Mrs. Pineapple. Miss May Stevenson, as the Princess, plays with great charm, and sings very prettily; Miss Kitty Clayton is exceptionally funny as the eccentric little servant, Fi-Fi; and Miss Alma Bolton as the official mother-in-law is decidedly good. Mr. J. Maxwell Edwards suitably sustains the rôle of Tom Hatherton; and Mr. James Wilson is amusing as the Emperor. Mr. Louis Ashmede as the Lord Chancellor is capable; as is also Mr. Frank Sutten in the part of the Lord High Admiral. There is an efficient chorus and an augmented orchestra, under the direction of Mr. A. Galloway.

NEWCASTLE-ON-TYNE.—TYNE THEATRE AND OPERA HOUSE.—Lessees, Messrs. Howard and Wyndham; Acting-Manager, Mr. Fred C. Sutcliffe.—Half its course has now been run by Aladdin at the Tyne Theatre, and the success attending the production must have exceeded the most sanguine hopes of the management. To give an instance of its unprecedented popularity, it may be stated that for the matinée on Saturday last many who had stood for hours were unable to gain admission, and they straightway took up position in the queue for the evening performance. As the afternoon wore on the queue assumed extraordinary proportions, and the pressure became so awkward that mounted police had to be requisitioned to keep order, the scene being one never before witnessed outside a Newcastle theatre. For the tremendous popularity of the "annual" Messrs. Harry Lauder and Dan Crawley are mainly responsible, and, much as has been written, a great deal could yet be said of the many funny scenes in which they are the heroes. Capital support is given to these two talented artists by Messrs Imro Fox and Harke Nicholls, and Miss Beryl Somerset in the title-rôle and Miss Jose Collins as the Princess.

THEATRE ROYAL.—Managing-Director, Mr. Robert Arthur; Acting-Manager, Mr. F. Teale Lingham.—At the Royal Theatre Mr. Rbt. Courtneidge's lavish and picturesque production of Aladdin has entered upon its sixth week without any signs of diminution in the large share of patronage accorded it. Considerably improved upon its successful initial representations, and now going with merry swing and proving more than ever a musical treat, it is indeed worthy of more than a second visit. Miss Florence Smithson and Miss Lily Morris continue to win golden opinions with their pretty vocal efforts; and Mr. Fred Allandale in this respect also continues to be a firm favourite. Then in the fun-making Mr. Neil Kenyon, Mr. Charles Harvey, and Mr. Alfred Clark combine with wonderful success.

GRAND.—Lessees, Messrs. Bacon and Bolam; Managing-Director, Mr. Sidney Bacon.—Messrs. W. H. Hallatt and Walter Howard's company in Her Love Against the World is drawing good houses here this week. Mr. Walter Howard gives an imposing portrayal of the Earl of Strathmere; Miss Rosie St. John distinguishes herself as Nello; Mr. Mayor Cooke's impersonation of Ulric, Prince of Ravensberg, is all that could be desired; Mr. W. H. Hallett gives an admirable representation of Prince Othmar; Mr. Sam Arthur is good as Prince Maurice; and Miss Ellen Snow as Iris acts throughout in a charming manner.

EMPIRE THEATRE.—Proprietors, Messrs. Moss' Empires, Ltd; Managing-Director, Mr. Richard Thornton; Resident-Manager, Mr. Harry Esden.—Mr. Fred Karno's company with The Dandy Thieves heads the bill here this week, and keeps the audience in roars of laughter. The Sergeant Lightning of Mr. W. E. Matthews is a talented impersonation, and the company altogether is excellent. The Stein Eretto Troupe perform some marvellous feats as hand-jumping acrobats, and earn much well-merited applause; one of the most decided successes is Miss Hettie Chattel, who sings her song in male attire with great vivacity; Mr. Fred Elton scores heavily with songs accompanied on the piano; Lily Tiso is a clever comedienne and dancer; Professor Vox, ventriloquist, is well appreciated; Harry Clifford is a comedian of undoubted ability; and Marie Dunna (operatic vocalist) and the Allisons (duettists and dancers) complete a good programme.

PAVILION THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Thomas Barrasford; Manager, Mr. Will H. Boardman.—Leoni Clarke, the Cat King, is the popular star turn here this week. His performances with his trained dogs, monkeys, rats, and canaries are remarkable, and he was accorded a good reception. Mons. Slippere, although blind, performs well on the piano, and also sings in good style; Hinton and Wooton introduce a novelty in the way of a football match on cycles, which arouses great enthusiasm; as a musical contortionist, Max Duffek is a marvel, and plays excellent selections in the most grotesque positions; Harry Russon, a comedian fast rising to the front rank, had a warm reception; the acrobatics of the Juanitas are astonishing; and Charles Cardow presents a delightful entertainment. Keir and Kempton, Dick Kendall, and the Barrascope pictures are the remaining features of a well-balanced bill.

NEWPORT.—EMPIRE.—Moss' Empires, Ltd.; Manager, Major Gallaghar; Assistant-Manager, Mr. Page.—Chief among the turns here are the Four Royal Welshmen, who sing with rare taste and precision; Frank Bernard and company are amusing in their farce, Hello; the Whirlwind Dancers (the Robertys) present a turn that is unique; and the Bandurria Troupe give much pleasure with their musical selections. Dot Hardy is a character comedienne of promise; and James Herow, who has a rich voice, sings a couple of attractive songs; Agnes Hazel, who was repeatedly called back for a smart Highland song and dance, is quite a favourite; the Two Bostons, the novelty showmen; Michael Nolan, a humorous Irish singer; and the American Bioscope, showing a new series of pictures, complete the bill.

NORTHAMPTON.—OPERA HOUSE.—Proprietors and Managers, Mr. Milton Bode and Mr. Edward Compton; Resident-Manager, Mr. Charles Hermann.—Mr. Milton Bode's company is here with Aladdin. Miss May Marton is a charmingly vivacious Aladdin, and is well supported by Miss Janet Reynolds as Princess Yo-San. Mr. Tom Owen is very good as the Widow Twankey; Mr. Clifford Morgan is highly successful as Abanazar, and his artistic singing is appreciated; Mr. Leo Sterling, who introduces some instrumental specialities, and Mr. Happy Attwood as Chew-Chew and Chop-Chop, afford plenty of fun; Mr. Frank Couch as the Grand Vizier, Mr. Walter Cranch as the Emperor, and Mr. Tommy Nelldon as Lip-Tung-Tee render excellent service. The Royal Welsh Meister Singers deserve mention. The chorus and orchestra are ably controlled by Mr. B. J. Paterson. The pantomime is produced by Mr. E. R. Beaumont, the business-manager and stage-director.

NORTH SHIELDS.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Arthur Jefferson; Acting-Manager, Mr. Horace Lee.—Mr. Junius Booth and company are presenting Monte Cristo here this week, and have had a cordial reception. Mr. Booth as the Count of Monte Cristo gives an excellent portrayal, and has scored a great success; and Mr. Beckett Bould is good as M. Mortier. Mr. Augustin Bowerman is smart as Baron Danglers; Mr. C. W. Crowe contributes a capital delineation of General Fernand Mondego; Mr. Walter Huron scores as M. Villefort; Mr. Leonard Marshall is well placed as Lieut. Albert de Morcef; and Mr. Walter Martin is seen to advantage as Abbé Faria. As Lar Carconte, Miss Alice West acts the part in a finished manner; Miss Mona Grey is a capable Mercedes; and Miss Amy Manfree makes quite a hit as Sophie Danglers.

CENTRAL PALACE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Wm. Mould.—Mr. Edgar Forrest's comedy company heads the bill here, and causes hearty laughter; Mr. Arthur Albert, light comedian, meets with his usual success; and Miss Rhoda Paul, comedienne, is a great favourite. Miss Jessie Star, the female Harry Lauder, comes in for a hearty reception; Mr. Charles Akbar is a smart gymnast; the Two Allans, speciality artists, do well; and the Bio-photoscope is still successful.

NORTHWICH.—CENTRAL THEATRE.—Proprietress, Mrs. S. Golden.—This week a great musical treat is provided by Mr. F. S. Gilbert's United English Opera Company. Maritana was given on Monday night. Miss Elsa May, who possesses a rich soprano voice, played the title-rôle in a pleasing manner; Miss Doris Gilbert deserves great praise for her delineation of Lazarillo, her rendering of "Alas! those chimes" being excellent; Mr. J. Kneale Campbell's portrayal of Don José was largely responsible for the success attained; Mr. F. C. Silverstone undertook the King of Spain with telling effect; and Mr. F. S. Gilbert's Don Cæsar de Bazan was played with great force and spirit, his numerous solos being vociferously encored. Miss Kate White, Messrs. James Knox, Fred Featherstone, and H. Blagrave did well in their respective parts. Other operas given during the week were Daughter of the Regiment, Il Trovatore, Faust, and Bohemian Girl.

NORWICH.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Sole Manager, Mr. Fred Morgan.—Miss Ida Molesworth and Mr. Mark Blow's company is here this week in Under Two Flags. Mr. Wellesley Draper deserves praise for his capable representation of Bertie; Mr. Chas. West does well as Barklie; and the same may be said of Mr. Charles Brooke as Lord Roy Ellien and Mr. Robert Faulkner as Lord Rockingham. Mr. Arthur Elwyn is successful as Black Hawk, and Mr. Harry Benson makes a humorous Rake. Miss Amy Maitland is an extremely vivacious Cigarette; Miss Mabel Ormonde a gracious Princess; and Miss Madge Stevens as Lady Beatrice and Miss Ivan Stern as the Countess Olga are well received. Miss Ella Dixon as Lavina is also successful.

HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, Messrs. E. H. Bostock and F. W. Fitt; Manager, Mr. Councillor F. W. Fitt.—Mr. Alec Hurley heads the bill here, and creates quite a sensation with his humorous songs and with his company in The Coster's Friendly Lead, which is immensely appreciated. Mr. W. I. Ashcroft as a character comedian is well received, both for his songs and dancing; Craver and Piccolo are clever jugglers and equilibrists; Kenneth and Kane, comedy duo, evoke much laughter; Fred Dunstone is successful as a comedian; Leah Arden is a charming vocalist; and Walter Wallis is good in his patter and songs. The Hippo-Bio displays some interesting pictures.

NOTTINGHAM.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Managing-Director, Mr. Robert Arthur; Acting-Manager, Mr. Howard Finney.—The last week of Dick Whittington has been reached, and its merry course will close to-night. The charming and dainty mannerisms of Miss Madeline du Val has won all hearts, and the bright, vivacious style of Miss Gladys Huxley brought many expressions of approval. Miss Maud Lake should carry away pleasant recollections of her visit here; and the delightful singing of Miss Maud Holland has been no small factor in the pantomime. Another fine vocalist is Mr. Fred Maguire, whose rendering of "The Rat" song always roused the greatest enthusiasm. For the comedians we have nothing but praise. Messrs. Bert Danson, Harry Brayne, Bert Lloyd, Fred Solo, and Bishop and Hanlon have been funny without being vulgar; and the laughter of the children as well as the "grown-ups" must have been ample reward for their herculean efforts. Mr. Johnny Fuller was always a source of merriment in his grotesque caricature of the Cat; and the acting-manager of the theatre, Mr. Howard Finney, is to be heartily congratulated on his attainment of a hugely successful pantomime season.

GRAND THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. Chas. P. Cooke.—Mr. Samuel James's company in the pantomime Jack and the Beanstalk bid farewell to their admirers here this week. It is not too much to say that everybody will regret having to part with so successful a pantomime company. Miss Daisy Sillcott and Miss Phyllis Yorke have won their way into the hearts of everyone; and the Sisters Brand have become great favourites. Mr. Chas. Gardiner and the comedians associated with him, including Messrs. Cordon and Elgar, have worked indefatigably, and the successful run depends no little on their efforts. For this week a charming speciality turn in the shape of the Ongars, song and dance artists, has been engaged, and is giving every satisfaction.

EMPIRE THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; Acting-Manager, Mr. Charles H. Bowmaker.—General curiosity has been excited by the visit of a portion of the Boy Army, who form a brave show in their military manœuvres, and evoke the heartiest applause for their smartness. Frank and Jen Latona are a droll and smart couple, whose patter, cross-talking, and singing make a thoroughly enjoyable entertainment; Edward E. Ford, described as an Australian sundowner, provides a novel turn, in which facial expressions play a prominent part; Syd May's impersonations of music-hall celebrities are accorded a gratifying reception; and the comical patter of Jordan and Harvey creates much laughter. A gymnastic act by the Mascotte Trio arouses considerable interest; and a vast amount of fun is provided by Billy McClain and company in a scena, The Hottest Coon from Dixie. Charles Robinson is heard to advantage in an illustrated song; and a local comic juggler, Arthur Bedini, helps along the fun. The American Bioscope also supplies some amusing pictures.

NUNEATON. — PRINCE OF WALES'S THEATRE AND ENTERTAINMENTS CO., LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. A. F. Cross; Acting-Manager, Mr. Walter J. R. Bryan.—Miss Go-Won-Go Mohawk opened here on Monday in Wep-Ton-No-Mah. Miss Mohawk in her clever impersonation of the title-rôle wins hearty applause; Mr. C. W. Charles makes an excellent Colonel Stockton; as Manuel Lopes, Mr. Edward Leroy is well placed; Captain Franklin is ably portrayed by Mr. Henry P. Kennedy; and Mr. Pasco Bioletti makes a good Indian Chief. Miss Minnie Goepel wins much favour as Nellie Stockton. The humour of the piece is provided by Mr. Guy D. Hackney (Sam White), Mr. Dan Ryan (Carry Cullen), and Miss Jessie Hart (Matilda Sniffles). Included on the programme are Mr. W. H. Killey (Billy Bugler), Mr. Antonio Driscoll (Rodrigues), Mr. Albert Simons (Antelope), and Miss A. Dorg (Pinkie).

OLDHAM.—EMPIRE THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. E. Dottridge; Assistant-Manager, Mr. J. Hulme.—Mr. Robert Courtneidge's company is here in The Dairymaids. Miss Violet Lloyd as Peggy and Miss Rhoda Gordon as Winifred earn several recalls for their sweet singing. Miss Beryl Vaudrey interprets her numbers in a highly finished manner, and makes a dainty Hélène. Miss Cissie Sephton is an energetic and quaint Eliza. Miss Edith Blanche acts the part of Lady Brundenell in a dignified manner; and Miss Madge Avery makes a capital Penelope Pychase. Among the comedians are Mr. Lionel Victor as Joe, Mr. E. Statham Staples as Sam, and Mr. George Desmond as Lieut. Brundenell, who entirely banish any suspicion of dulness from the representation. Mr. Forbes Dawson as Dr. O'Byrne also contributes to the fun. Mr. Alex. Fraser sings well as Capt. Leverton.

COLOSSEUM.—Manager, Mr. W. Eastwood.—Mr. T. Morton Powell's company is here in Honour Thy Father. Mr. Walter M. Cameron in the heavy part of Gabriel Garth is clever; Mr. Bertram H. Ross is a manly Jack Halyard, and Mr. W. R. Winning a creditable Duncan Bly. Miss Mabel Coleman is highly successful as Lillian Garth; Miss Kate Newton makes an excellent Gertrude; Miss Maud Grey and Miss Muriel Dean as Violet and Mercy respectively are capable, and Miss Ada Salmon infuses much humour into the part of Poppy, being well supported by Mr. W. H. Melrose and Mr. Fred Rolls as Ned and Mike.

ROYAL THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Manager, Mr. E. Dottridge; Assistant-Manager, Mr. W. Howgate.—Lottie Lennox, who is topping the bill here, is being recalled four and five times nightly. Ryan and Hall, funny acrobats, cause hearty laughter; Marie Jones, a versatile artist, presents How To Win a Bet, in which she is assisted by Ernest Munroe. The Brothers Bright are smart in their gymnastic feats; Edie Grey and the Boys sing their trios in a harmonious manner; the De Breans in a Japanese turn show some skilful work; Martinet and Wallace appear in a musical turn; and Zaro, comedian, and the Royal Dottoscope complete an excellent programme.

HIPPODROME. — Manager, Mr. E. Dottridge; Assistant-Manager, Mr. Nuttall.—The Macdonald Trio give a capital comedy turn in "The Musical Garden"; Winona and King do some excellent feats in shooting; the Lannons (Will and May) in their dancing on the double pedestal receive much applause; the Three Seabornes are clever acrobats; Carlotta Lunn is a pleasing ballad vocalist; and Harry Bent is a clever mimic. The Paul Hesse Trio are good in an acrobatic pot-pourri act, and an interesting picture is being shown by the Dottoscope.

OXFORD.—NEW THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Thomas Lucas, J.P.; Acting-Manager, Mr. C. C. Dorrill.—This week the Carl Rosa Opera Company is here, and crowded houses are testifying in no uncertain fashion the appreciation in which the company is held. On Monday Lohengrin was splendidly rendered. A better Lohengrin then Mr. Julius Walther could not be wished for; his superb singing bringing down the house, and he had a triple recall at the fall of the curtain. Mr. Dillon Shellard was highly satisfactory as Telramund; Mr. Arthur Winckworth sang admirably as Henry, the fowler; and Mr. Frederick Clendon was excellent as the Herald. Miss Grace Nicoll scored as Elsa; and Miss Doris Woodall achieved a brilliant success as Ortrud, her singing and acting eliciting well-deserved applause. The excellent band was conducted in masterly fashion by Mr. Eugene Goossens; and the powerful and highly-trained chorus reflect the highest credit on Mr. Goossens and Mr. Walter van Noorden, the conductors. On Tuesday Don Giovanni drew a packed and delighted house, and the week's programme includes Tannhäuser, Il Trovatore, The Merry Wives of Windsor, Faust, and Carmen.

PAISLEY.—PAISLEY THEATRE.—Sole Proprietor and Manager, Mr. J. H. Savile.—After a successful six weeks' run, Goody Two-Shoes concluded on Saturday. On Thursday evening the Roland of the pantomime could not appear through indisposition, but this chief character part was ably and intelligently sustained by Miss Ella Ross, one of the three sisters in the pantomime, who have all displayed marked ability. Possessed of a fine presence, Miss Ross appeared to advantage as principal boy, her singing and deportment being worthy of all praise. On Friday evening, Mr. Savile, as is usual, had his annual benefit, when a crowded house greeted the worthy and genial proprietor. Extra turns were given by members of the company, assistance in this line being also spontaneously given by other members of the profession appearing at Mr. E. H. Bostock's Hippodrome. Mr. Savile, at the close, appeared on the stage, and said he had much pleasure and pride in thanking all present for the way in which they had rallied round him that night, and for the kindness and sympathy they had shown him. This week the theatre is occupied by the Paisley Masonic Amateur Operatic Society, in a production of Gilbert and Sullivan's popular opera, Patience. Mr. Herbert Marchmont, so long identified with the Savoy operas, has been coaching the amateurs for some time, and giving of his well-trained experience this week in its production.

EMPIRE.—Lessee, Mr. J. H. Savile; Manager, Mr. Tom Foy.—A good programme is submitted here, heading the bill being The Anarchist Terror, played by Mr. Edward Nevile and company; it is an interesting sketch, and excellently played. Frank Vallance is a particularly smart conjurer and illusionist; a dainty comedienne is Nellie Elliene; Hart and Victor, comedians, score a success with their sketch, The Golfer and the Caddie; the Darnton Sisters are charming duettists; unstinted marks of approval are bestowed on James Toner, in his impersonations of well-known artists; and N. C. Bostock is accorded a hearty welcome.

PENTRE. — LYCEUM THEATRE. — Sole Owners, Messrs. Carlton and Duckworth; Manager, Mr. Sam Duckworth; Resident-Manager, Mr. Harry Counsell.—Miss Emma Litchfield's company, under the direction of Mr. Stuart Cleveland, appears here this week in A Clever Impostor. Mr. Stuart Cleveland showed much versatility; Mr. Herbert Evelyn was seen to advantage as Captain Desmond; and in her several rôles of Nora, Sarah Ellen, Old Rebecca, and Molly O'Flynn, Miss Emma Litchfield earned much appreciation. The lighter vein is well introduced by Mr. Edward Swinton and Miss Florence Gomer, as Jim Brightside and Annie Pleasant respectively.

PENZANCE. — ST. JOHN'S HALL.—Mr. John A. Thomson's pantomime The Babes in the Wood, under the management of Mr. Ernest James, appeared here for two nights this week. Bright, effective scenery, pretty dresses, and sparkling music were the characteristics of this capital production. Miss Clair Wadham as the good fairy Glowworm possesses a beautiful voice, which she used in cultured style. Miss Beatrice Wadham was a dashing Robin Hood, combining a charming presence, a good voice, and graceful action in a highly satisfactory manner. Miss Bertha Hall was also good as Will Scarlet, her song "The Zuyder Zee," with a smart clog dance, being much to the taste of the audience. Miss Daisy Connell and Miss Neva Hazen were the Babes, playing their parts in naturally simple style. Miss Dena Druid as Maid Marion and Miss Nellie Hill Scorey as Phyllis were also well suited in their respective rôles. Mr. Bob Lord as Baron Graball never missed an opportunity of keeping the fun going; and the same may be said of Mr. Henry Eglington as Dame Durden, who, in conjunction with Messrs. Jack and Harry Randsford as the Ruffians, worked very hard and very cleverly together. The Four Scoreys, in their musical and eccentric speciality, created the greatest enthusiasm; Hill and Lane are patterers and knockabout artists of the genuinely funny school; Druid and Lord, comedy entertainers, gave a bright turn. The various ballets were highly creditable to Mr. Louis Finch, in whose hands rested the music and arrangements. The tour is under the direction of Mr. Samuel J. Liddicoat.

PERTH.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Sole Lessee and Manager, Mr. J. H Savile; Acting-Manager, Mr. Frank Aldridge.—Mr. Savile's seventh Perth pantomime has been looked forward to with more eagerness than ever, and the success with which Goody Two-Shoes is being received here this week is most gratifying all round. Miss Maggie Bowman is entrusted with the title-rôle, and the trust is certainly well placed; Miss Marie Adair is responsible for a clever and talented impersonation of Roland; Miss Florence Lister's Mephisto is a special feature; as also is Miss Lena Wylie's rendering of the Fairy Goodheart. The Misses Carrie Foy and Adela Crispin are well to the fore in their respective parts of Peter Piper and Dolly Dimple. No better entertainer could be desired than Mr. Peter D. Bermingham, and his Sandy Sapps evokes continual mirth; Mr. Jack Foley's Dame Fanny Freckles is also highly amusing, and is rendered with much acceptance; Mr. Harry A. Gribben is seen to advantage as Baron Grabb; Mr. Tom J. Morton plays the important part of Simon with evident success; Messrs. Thomas and James Passmore are highly entertaining as Truthful Tommy and Phil the Philosopher respectively; as also are Messrs. Claremont and Victor, in Smirk and Smile. The Tricky Trio, speciality dancers, Misses Dolly Lancaster, Queenie Hollingsworth, and Maisie Rawlins are accorded a hearty reception.

PETERBOROUGH.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Manager, Mr. A. Darville Vernon.—Mr. Geo. Brydon-Philips' company opened here on Monday night with Sinbad. Miss Belle Harcourt is a fine principal boy, and very ably sustains her part, contributing several songs, which she sings exceedingly well; Mrs. Sinbad is impersonated by Mr. Charles Dillon, who makes a capital dame; Mr. Dan Whitley does well as Hindbad; and Mr. Willie Page is an acceptable Captain Scuttle. Miss Lucy Coventry also proves successful as Badoura; and Miss Cissie Verne is a charming Zoe. Specialities are introduced by Esmonde, Verona, and Esmonde, and Snow and Farron.

PLYMOUTH. — THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. C. F. Williams; Acting-Manager, Mr. J Langdon Lee.—Plymouthians are not slow to appreciate the strong attraction offered them this week, and are flocking in large numbers to see Sunday. Naturally the principal interest centres round Miss Emily Poloni in the title-rôle, and her acting has the hall-mark of real ability in all of the many trying situations in which she is placed; as the contemptible Brinthorpe, Mr. Max Montesole does well in a very exacting part; Messrs. Sidney Rennef, Wm. Lockhart, Cecil

Miss Muriel Pope gives an accurate study of a nun, and Mr. Ernest Douglas is a popular Tom Oxley.

GRAND THEATRE. — Lessee and Manager, Mr. C. F. Williams; Acting-Manager, Mr. Percy Williams; Assistant Acting-Manager, Mr. Ernest Grant.—Mr. C. Watson Mills' romantic drama, A Warning to Women, is staged for the week. Miss Elaine Vanbrugh as Moira is the leading member, and fully deserves the confidence the management have in her ability; Mr. C. B. Melton as Shaun makes a good Irishman; Mr. Walter Terriss is a capable Squire Kennion, and Mr. Edward Beecher as Dr. Marcus Dread is a typical villain. Other members of the cast are Mr. Harry Stuart (Fergus McNaughton), Miss Irma Farington (Shelia), and Mr. Arthur Beaufort.

PALACE OF VARIETIES.—Manager, Mr. Jack Field.—The management are this week giving their patrons a high-class bill of fare. The chief item is that of the Kauffman troupe of lady cyclists, who perform feats of exceptional cleverness and daring in the limited space at their disposal; Sydney James's Strolling Players have an amusing burlesque on Macbeth, in which some very humorous business is introduced; the Gondolier Glee Singers are an accomplished quartette of glee singers, and give some tit-bits from grand opera in first-class fashion; Mr. V. L. Granville presents a fine character-study of the Silver King, Nero, and Svengali; Corman's Juveniles were loudly applauded for an attractive song-scena entitled The Waif; and Louis Kerno is an acceptable coon impersonator, and Vernon's Bioscope has an amusing film entitled "A Night Off." The Monte-Myro troupe are also engaged.

PORTSMOUTH. — THEATRE ROYAL. — Licensee and Manager, Mr. J. W. Boughton; Acting-Manager, Mr. Armstrong Bell.—Mr. Milton Bode's well-selected company is here this week with A Chinese Honeymoon. Mr. George Ryden as Mr. Pineapple gives an admirable personation; Mr. Rudolph Kloss makes a commanding Hang Chow; Chippie Chop is taken by Mr. P. Allerton Turner in an able manner; Hi Lung is presented by Mr. Leonard May in breezy style; and Mr. Harry Jennings acts Tom Hatherton consistently and with care. Miss Nancy Rossiter portrays Soo-Soo very charmingly; Miss Gladys Ward as Mrs. Pineapple is sprightly and engaging; Miss Maud Adams as the Official Mother-in-Law, Mrs. Brown, is good; and Miss Gwennie Harcourt's impersonation of Fi-Fi is an exceedingly quaint and amusing one.

PRINCES'S THEATRE.—Licensee and Manager, Mr. J. W. Boughton; Acting-Manager, Mr. T. E. Agate.—Mr. Hal Reid's stirring drama At Cripple Creek is here for this week, and had a hearty reception on Monday, Miss Ida Molesworth and Mr. Mark Blow's able all-round company presenting the drama with great completeness. Mr. Stanley Bedwell gives a fine manly portrayal as Joe Mayfield; Martin Mason, the Terror, is powerfully sustained by Mr. Eric Hudson; the bully, Manuel Alvarez, is admirably undertaken by Mr. Oscar Power; and the faithful Indian, Wahketah, is enacted by Mr. Arthur D. Layland in a picturesque and able manner. Miss Agnes Verity as Dynamite Ann acts with vigour and success; and Little Tatto is played very prettily and with marked intelligence by Miss Rosie Hopkins. The comedy of the drama is excellently well looked after by Messrs. Harry Leander as the nigger Ben White, Mr. Will Hook as Reggie Harwood, and Miss Daisy Carlton as Maggie Mason.

PRESTON. — ROYAL HIPPODROME. — Proprietors, Messrs. W. H. Broadhead and Sons; Resident Acting-Manager, Mr. E. J. Linsdell.—At the head of the bill here this week are Amy Anderson and company in a merry musical production, entitled The Coster's Honeymoon. Conway and Garland present a mirth-provoking burlesque absurdity, Left in Charge; the Cumberlands give a remarkably clever athletic acrobatic cycling performance; Arthur Slater is an accomplished whistler; Little Dence's songs are well appreciated; Billie French is a nimble and energetic buck-dancer; and other successful turns are supplied by the Five Casino Girls, brass instrumentalists; Harry Tomlinson, vocal comedian; and Ce Me Marie, the Eastern wonder.

RAWTENSTALL. — GRAND THEATRE. — Lessee and Manager, Mr. Arthur de Frece; General-Manager, Mr. George Dickinson.—This week Mr. A. F. Smith's pantomime company occupies the boards in Aladdin. As principal boy, Miss Bessie Carlton scores a success, her bright style being very effective; Miss Emay Leycester as the Princess is a charming exponent of the part; and Miss Julie Harriss and Miss Lillie Harriss are charming attendants. The Brothers Padley are amusing as Nabem and Catchem, their eccentricities causing much laughter; Mr. F. Wheatcroft is funny as the Emperor; and Mr. Percy Beresford is excellent as the Grand Vizier. Mr. Arthur Warren scores as Abanazar; and Mr. Fred Ramsdale is comical as the Widow Twankey. Miss Lillie L'Orville is an admirable Chee Chow; and Miss Connie Irwin is a charming and accomplished Genie of the Ring. The specialists are the Padley Brothers, acrobats and hand balancers; Mr. Oliver Chew, whistler; and the Silverdale Troupe of lady dancers.

READING.—ROYAL COUNTY THEATRE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Milton Bode.—The Gaiety success, The Spring Chicken, is being played for the first time in Reading by Mr. George Dance's company. Mr. J. S. Durrant acts cleverly as Gustave Babori; Mr. Harry Averell is also good as the clerk, Boniface; Mr. Fred Payne is highly diverting as Mr. Girdle; Miss Chrissie Ralland is sprightly and fascinating as Rosalie; Miss Nellie Kavanagh is amusing as Mrs. Girdle. Miss Florence Cortner as the Baroness Papouche, Miss Florence Wix as Dulcie Babori and Miss Lilian Errol as Girdle's niece all act excellently. Mr. Edwin Dodds is very funny as the head waiter; Mr. C. Brierley is capital as the precocious Stephen-Henry. All the other characters are well filled, and a numerous chorus do full justice to the concerted music. Mr. Knight Pearce is an efficient musical conductor.

ROTHERHAM.—THEATRE ROYAL, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Resident-Manager, Mr. Holbery.—Pantomime is still booming here, and Mr. J. Gar. Kiddie and company are drawing excellent houses with The Babes in the Wood. Mr. D. J. Tandy is very funny as Sir Brokale de Pawn; Mr. Harry Albery is successful as Araminta; Farr and Farham are clever as Soap and Trust; and Mr. Dawson Derrick creates a good deal of fun as Soft Sammy. Miss Amy Allnutt is smart as Robin Hood; Miss Amena Walton is a pleasing Maid Marian; Miss Kathleen Emmett a successful Will Scarlet; Miss Nelly Dyson a vivacious Merrie Mavis; Miss Norah Prendergast a charming Sylvania; and Mr. Leonard Oliver a successful Infernalilo. Special turns are introduced by the Lohrens Quartette of Ladies in a comic shadow pantomime.

SEACOMBE.—IRVING THEATRE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. James Kiernan.—Mr. Herbert Hollister's company is here this week with The Lights o' London. Mr. Horace Herbert gives an excellent personation of Harold Armytage; and Bess is capitally sustained by Miss Jeannie Burgoyne. Mr. Chris Mason, Miss Nellie Fern, and Miss Renee Douglas cause much amusement as Jarvis, Mrs. Jarvis, and Shakespeare Jarvis respectively; Squire Armytage is adequately sustained by Mr. Sydney N. Hallows; Clifford Armytage being strongly portrayed by Mr. Herbert Humber. Seth Preene is well rendered by Mr. Herbert Hollister; and Hetty is ably depicted by Miss Constance Davey.

SEAHAM HARBOUR.—NEW THEATRE ROYAL. —Proprietor, Mr. A. C. Harrison; Manager, Mr. Sidney Beltram.—The Russian drama, A Woman Worth Winning, is being presented here this week by Mr. Percy Norman's company. Fergus Lovinskie is acted in a powerful manner by Mr. A. B. Mackay, the author; as the villainous General Borinski, Mr. Percy Norman stands out prominently; Amos Pauloff is carefully treated by Mr. Gilbert Standing; Bertie Scribbler is humorously drawn by Mr. E. Hall Eldon; and another good comedy part is presented by Mr. E. C. Edwards as Peter Popples. Roma Pauloff is submitted in admirable style by Miss Maud Buchanan; and as Katerina, Miss Ida Mackay is very good.

SHEERNESS.—THE PALACE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Phil Reymond.—A good all round company is engaged here this week, but business in the town is very quiet. Miss Millie Anson is well received in songs and ballads, Mr. Mick Ohlson fully deserves the title of eccentric comedian; Miss Josie Watson is very popular here. Mr. Phil Reymond, the well-known comedian and character-actor, continues a big favourite, and the Holroyds conclude with a capital comedy act, Now or Never.

SHEFFIELD. — LYCEUM THEATRE. — Managing-Director, Mr. John Hart; General-Manager and Treasurer, Mr. J. E. B. Beaumont.—The splendidly-staged Oriental extravaganza The Blue Moon is still being performed to delighted audiences. Mr. Alfred Beers as Moolraj causes merriment; and Mr. Reginald Switz as Private Taylor is a great favourite. Miss Clarice Lockstone charms the Lyceum patrons by her graceful deportment and winning manner as Chandra; and Miss Florence Imeson, the favourite Fi-Fi of The Belle of New York, delights her many Sheffield admirers as the tuneful and sprightly maid Millicent.

THEATRE ROYAL. — Managing-Director, Mr. John Hart; General-Manager and Treasurer, Mr. J. E. B. Beaumont.—Mother Goose finishes its six weeks' run here to-night. The Valdos have made themselves big favourites; and the clever Dutch business and elegant dancing of that pretty and accomplished artist Miss Daisy Jerome have been one of the main factors in the success of the annual.

ALEXANDRA THEATRE. — Managing-Director, Mr. W. D. Forsdike; Acting-Manager, Mr. C. W. Ramsay.—Dick Whittington is proving a worthy successor to the long list of triumphs at the old local home of pantomime, and the "second edition," presented on Monday, will no doubt prolong the run for some weeks. New songs, gags, and scenas were introduced by Miss Alma Obrey, the dashing principal boy; Miss Ethel Bryant, the Sisters Brookland, Miss Blanch de Verne, Miss Billie Murray, Miss May McKenzie, Mr. Gilbert Rodgers (the genial Fitzwarren), Mr. Jack McKenzie (the funny Cook), Mr. J. W. Gallagher (Idle Bill), Mr. Kennedy Allen (Jack), Mr. Alf. Clegg (the agile Cat), Mr. F. Bentham (the comical Captain), Mr. J. Bangs (the Sultan of Morocco), and Mr. Leo King (the Rat King). Pete and Juno did some good dancing, and terpsichorean displays by the Monaco troupe brought down the house.

EMPIRE PALACE.—Proprietors, The Moss Empires Co., Ltd.; Acting-Manager, Mr. Alan D. Dunbar. —Mr. Jake Friedmann's well-staged musical terpsichorean and sartorial absurdity, Happy Holland, was received by a crowded house with enthusiastic applause on Monday. Mr. Jake Friedmann was the centre of a merry band of laughter-makers, and some spirited dancing was given by a troupe of comely and graceful "Deutscher girls." The Peters, Trans'lantic duettists, caused hearty laughter; Mr. Sam Elton is as comical as ever; and other admirable "turns" this week are the Tapps, eccentric acrobats; Russell Brandon, athlete; the clever Petram Sisters, in a novel and refined act; the Six Welsh Wanderers, vocalists, &c., Mr. Frank Harwood, vocal comedian; and the American Bioscope, with new pictures.

GRAND PALACE.—Proprietor, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. Richard Ralli.—The following artists are billed this week:—Rosine, illusionist; Miss Ethel Netherton, comedienne; Mr. Fred Southern's combination; and Pallister's Biograph, with humorous and topical films.

HIPPODROME.—Proprietor, Mr. Victor Samson.—The pantomime of Sinbad is doing good business here.

SOUTHAMPTON. — GRAND THEATRE. — Lessee and Manager, Mr. Fred Mouillot; Resident-Manager, Mr. Arthur Weston.—Mr. Frank Curzon's principal company is this week presenting The White Chrysanthemum. Mr. Davy Burnaby, a great local favourite, provides the greater part of the evening's amusement as Chippy. Mr. O. E. Lennon is very diverting as Sin Chong; and Mr. Harry Paulton as Private Perks ably assists in the laughter-making. Mr. F. Pope Stamper as Lieut. Armitage sings and acts admirably; and Mr. St. John Hamund scores as the peppery Admiral. Miss Dorothy Court as O San plays in delightful style, and quite captivates her audience; Miss Gracie Sinclaire is vivacious as Cornelia; and Miss Maisie North successful as Betty Kenyon. Mr. George Parker ably controls the company, and Mr. Leonard Hornsey is the experienced musical-director.

PALACE.—Sole Proprietor and Director-General, Mr Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. Wm. Trussell.—T. E. Dunville, the droll comedian, is this week delighting everyone with his extremely comical sayings and doings; Collinson's "Topsy-Turvy School" creates hearty laughter; J. P. Ling's mimicry is loudly acclaimed; and David Poole's ventriloquial show finds great favour. Satsuma, Japanese conjurer, George Hall, siffleur, and Millie Howell, comedienne, complete the bill.

HIPPODROME. — Proprietors, Messrs. F. Mouillot and W. de Frece; General-Manager, Mr. J. de Frece; Acting-Manager, Mr. H. P. Howell. —John Lawson is scoring his usual big success with the sensational sketch Humanity; the Musical Schaffers submit a novel and entertaining act; Ricardo and Salving are smart acrobats; and the Sivronis, comedy duo, cause roars of laughter. Edith St. Claire and Almon complete a capital programme.

SOUTHPORT.—OPERA HOUSE, WINTER GARDENS. LTD.—Secretary, Mr. R. Singleton.—On Monday evening a large audience accorded an encouraging reception to Mr. J. F. Elliston's up-to-date pantomime, Mother Goose, which is the first production of its kind presented here this season. The scenery and dressing are on an elaborate scale, the Hall of Gold being especially commendable. The artists engaged make the most of their opportunities, prominent amongst whom are those clever comedians, Harry and Charlie Rich, in the rôles of Mother Goose and her son Jack, whose performances are exceedingly diverting; Miss Lola Patey is an admirable representative of Gretchen, her rendering of "The Zuyder Zee" being exceptionally good; Miss Isabella Dillon is a vivacious and dainty Colin, and sings "Dear old Southport Town" in good style; Miss Pauline Hague depicts the part of Jill in a praiseworthy manner. The comedy parts of Lord Pudsey, Wibsey Slack, and the Mayor of Tapham are very creditably and successfully impersonated by Mr. H. O. Wills, Mr. Leonard Maitland, and Mr. W. Fullbrook respectively; Miss Violet Ashcroft is a charming representative of the Fairy Queen Heartsease, Mr. Charles Homer impersonates the Demon King satisfactorily. Specialities are supplied by the eight Tiny Dots, a troupe of midget dancers, and Miss Lottie Stone's quartette of lady dancers.

SOUTH SHIELDS.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessees and Managers, Messrs. John and Fred. Coulson.—Mr. T. Edward Ward's company is appearing here in a drama entitled Man and Wife. Mr. John F. Traynor makes a manly Paul Revere; Mr. Wilson Coleman forcibly portrays Captain D'Esparre; the Sergeant Jacques of Mr. Ambrose Horton is a meritorious performance; Miss Ward, as the heroine, Marcelle, plays in a finished style; the comedy element is strongly represented by Miss Polly Denville (a charming Rosette), and Mr. Sidney Briant and Mr. Val Gulley as the twin brothers, Bimbo and Bambo.

EMPIRE PALACE THEATRE.—Proprietors, The South Shields Empire Palace, Ltd.; Managing-Director, Mr. Richard Thornton; General-Manager, Mr. Frank Allen; Resident-Manager, Mr. Geo. F. Thompson.—Mr. John F. Preston's company appears in a good racing sketch, Rogues of the Turf, in five scenes, the principal parts being capably performed by Mr. Geo. Harvard, Mr. Fred Terris, Mr. Hardy Marco, Mr. Horace Custins, Miss Mabel F. Barlow, and Miss Hilda Shirley. Kelly and Ashby, the bounding billiardists, maintain their popularity; Carney and Armstrong are well received in a sketch introducing singing, whistling, and acting; a good reception is accorded to Speedwell, the lightning painter; Sybil St. Elmo is a sweet vocalist; and the remaining enjoyable turns are Edie Veno, comedienne; Dan Conroy, comedian; Carrie Joy, comedy artist; and the Bioscope.

SPENNYMOOR. — CAMBRIDGE THEATRE.—Lessee, Mr. Hugh Robertson; General-Manager, Mr. Lloyd Clarance; Resident-Manager, Mr. David Collins.—A strong attraction occupies the boards here this week in the shape of Mr. Charles Macdona's company in The Toreador. In the title-rôle Mr. Sidney Granville presents a picture of an ideal toreador. As Sammy Gigg, Mr. Robert Rous is the life and soul of the piece; Mr. Fred Thompson is very droll as Sir Archibald; and as Augustus Trail Mr. J. Herbert Willis is very successful. Mr. Richard Adams as Pettiter has a part which suits him to the ground; Miss Leah Howard is responsible for a neat, piquant, and pretty delineation of Susan. As Mrs. Malton Hoppings Miss Gwen Clifford appears to the greatest advantage; Miss Nina Charlton fits the part of Donna Teresa in every way; and Miss Florence Wood as Dora and Miss Beatrice Rowe as Nancy are both well placed.

STAFFORD.—LYCEUM THEATRE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. James Elphinstone.—Mr. J. Mouillot's company opened on Monday in The Blue Moon. In the character of Moolraj, Mr. F. W. Bowers made the most of his opportunities, and proved his ability as an alert comedian; Mr. Chas. Stephenson gave an amusing and clever study of Private Taylor; Mr. F. I. Rooney was a gallant Captain Ormsby; as Major Vivian, Mr. Victor Wallace presented a capital sketch of the military man; in the title-rôle, Mlle. Marguerite Naudin sang and acted admirably; and Miss May Audrey was a charming and vivacious Millicent.

ST. HELENS.—THEATRE ROYAL AND OPERA HOUSE.—Proprietors, The St. Helens Theatre, Ltd.; General-Manager, Mr. McLeod Loader.—Mr. Edward Marris's pantomime, Robinson Crusoe, under the direction of Mr. E. H. Bertram, opened here on Monday before a packed house. A strong company is engaged. In the title-rôle Miss Masie Garard looks and plays well; Polly Maydew has a charming representative in Miss Effie Vincent; Mr. George Brentwood is sufficiently callous as Will Atkins; Mrs. Crusoe has a clever exponent in Mr. James Craydon; Mr. Joe Waldron and Miss Etty Waldron cause much amusement as John Willie and Matilda respectively. Specialities are introduced by the Thalian Glee Singers, Chandler and Payne, the Waldrons, and Brentwood and Hargraves.

HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, Messrs. Barrasford, Will Sley, and Fred Wilmott; Resident-Manager, Mr. A. V. Carnell.—Mr. Dan Thomas is appearing here in Aladdin twice nightly. Miss Daisy Yates is an ideal Aladdin, Miss Amy Bellwood does full justice to the part of the Princess, and Miss Edie Harton makes the most of Pekoe. Mr. Dan Thomas is very funny as Widow Twankey, and Messrs. Haverley and Homer as Slip and Slop are highly appreciated.

STOCKPORT. — THEATRE ROYAL AND OPERA HOUSE.—Sole Owner and Manager, Mr. Charles Revill; Acting-Manager, Mr. Charles Revill, jun. —The sporting drama Bound to Win is being presented here this week by Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Kimberley's company. Mr. Kimberley impersonates the character of Harry Lyndon with much ability; and as the villain, Philip Ayre, Mr. Geo. Steel acts effectively. Mr. Edward Bikker as Squire Forbes gives an admirable portrayal of the part; Ned Oakley is a pleasing character in the hands of Mr. J. Franklin; Mr. H. Arnold Allen is very amusing as Horatio Buffit; and Mr. Dick Seddon is praiseworthy as Willie Winkins. Miss Lottie Addison (Mrs. F. G. Kimberley) acts with power and effect as Gladys Orme; Miss Violet Langley is sympathetic as Marian Forbes; and Miss Effie Macintosh makes a delightful Winnie Oakley.

STOKE.—HIPPODROME.—Proprietor, Mr. T. Allan Edwardes; Manager, Mr. H. Miller.—The premier position is held by Mr. Henry Herne, Ida Millais, and company, in Blackmail. Miss Millais as Ada, and Mr. Henry Herne as the Rev. James Harland, score successfully; Messrs. Harry Cullenford and C. F. Young do well in their respective parts; the Wallys are jugglers extraordinary, and their turn is much appreciated; the Cyros are heard in a pleasing duet; Steeley and Towton are an amusing pair; W. C. Webber has a fine bass voice, which is heard to advantage; Fred Erick is a comedian of merit; and Minnie Fenton is a pleasing vocalist. The pictures are most interesting.

SUNDERLAND.—AVENUE THEATRE.—Director and Manager, Mr. Chas. E. Machin.—The lively and entertaining Dick Whittington finishes his career, so far as regards the Wearside borough, to-night. The concluding week has been largely devoted to benefits, and on Monday Mr. Tom Foy, who has done much to make the pantomime a success, was the beneficiare. Many extra attractions were provided by Mr. Foy and company, in their absurdity, The Yorkshire Lad in London, and the various specialities by the principal members of Mr. Elliston's company and other artists from the neighbouring theatres. On Tuesday night the popular manager and director, Mr. Machin, received a complimentary benefit. Special mention may be made of Mr. H. C. Barry, Miss Dorothy Desmonde, and Mr. Walter Ashley, all of Dare-Devil Dorothy company, and several of the principal turns from the People's Palace (by permission of Messrs. Rosen and Bliss and Messrs. Browne and Stringer).

KING'S THEATRE.—Managing-Directors, Messrs. Stevens and Buchanan; Acting-Manager, Mr. Harry L. Carlo.—The Fair One with the Golden Locks is proving quite a success here. Mr. Will Letters (Prince Pippin) is a host in himself, and keeps the ball merrily rolling the whole time he is "on"; Mr. Barry Lupino (Sauceboy) is cleverly amusing, and along with Miss May Lupino is responsible for some really good numbers; Miss Gertrude Branscombe, in the title-rôle, is pleasing; Miss Beatrice Bonnie is a dashing principal boy; a big feature is made of the illuminated spectacle, entitled "Electra's Dream," in which Alma, Abdullah, and La Superbe appear in their aerial flights; Miss Olive Prince, as the Good Fairy, sings sweetly.

THEATRE ROYAL.—Managing-Director, Mr. Chas. E. Machin; Acting-Manager, Mr. Jas. Hemingway. —Mr. Henry Swinerd's Dare-Devil Dorothy company forms the attraction here. It is by no means new to the town, but there are many changes in the cast. Mr. H. C. Barry now appears in the rôle of Silas Crump, and scores a great success; Mr. Walter Ashley is fair as Captain Geo. Fielding; and the same may be said of Mr. H. C. Ward as Captain Ed. Dudley. Miss Dorothy Desmonde is well placed as Dare-Devil Dorothy; and Miss Marie Vere ably acts the part of Ruth Montrose. Miss Nellie Harcourt plays the part of Judith with plenty of vivacity and energy. In Act III. speciality items are contributed by Dorothy Desmonde; Nellie Harcourt, American soubrette; Mabel and Lillie Blake, dancers; Marie Vere, soprano; and Mr. Barry.

PALACE OF VARIETIES.—Lessees and Managers, Messrs. Rosen and Bliss; Acting-Managers, Messrs. Brown and Stringer.—The bill here includes Sydney Bacon's sketch company, in The Maniac; Zaid, in some wonderfully intricate work on the rings; Edie Maddison, comedienne; Allsopp and Bekwith, duettists; the Three Missouris, in an absurdity act; Herbert La Martine, vocalist; Rogers and Weston, in a comedy scena; the Mezzettis, in their gymnastic act, The New Recruit; and Harry Freeman, the popular comedian, in his latest successes.

SUTTON-IN-ASHFIELD.—KING'S THEATRE.—General-Manager, Mr. Edward Gray.—Pantomime holds the sway here this week, and the story of Little Red Riding Hood, as presented by Mr. H. Graham's excellent company, is both interesting and highly amusing. Mr. Graham has succeeded in securing a good all-round cast, Miss Rosie Juden, in the name-part, being very dainty. Miss Mabel Kessler makes an excellent Boy Blue, and also contributes some very fine cornet solos in the palace scene. The Three Escladers are also seen to good effect; and the fun is kept merrily going by Messrs. Grant, Kelly, and McGane.

SWINDON.—QUEEN'S THEATRE.—Proprietor and Responsible-Manager, Mr. Alfred Manners.—The popular parts of this house were crowded on Monday, when Mr. Bulmer's company opened another visit to this town with the drama Sentenced for Life. The efforts of Mr. E. Vaughan as Captain Paul Derrick and Mr. Edward E. Louis as Lieut. Roy Stillwell were greatly appreciated. Mr. Morris Maud undertook the rôle of the Rev. M. Orris very effectively, and was deservedly applauded for his earnest work; Miss May Neilson was successful as Kate Rennell; Miss Maud Boyne did well as Lady Grey; Miss Madge Douglas and Miss Flora Hastings in their respective parts must be complimented on capital work; and Messrs. Howard Keane, James F. Firth, Arthur Keand, and Reg Oldroyd each scored in their parts.

WAKEFIELD.—ROYAL OPERA HOUSE.—Proprietors, Sherwood and Co.—Miss Maud Hildyard and company occupy the boards this week in the drama The Great Awakening.—Mr. A. C. Hardie plays with great dramatic force and finish the part of James Selby; the dual rôles of Sir Henry Merton and Jack Merton are cleverly portrayed by Mr. Magill Martyn; Mr. Stephen Langton does well as Guy Rogan; Mr. Gordon McLeod is admirable as Captain Harry Lambert; Mr. Herbert Lewis is capable as his servant, Billy Brass; Miss Maud Hildyard as Lola Selby displays rare histrionic abilities, and scores heavily; Miss Doris Digby is successful as Molly Merton; and Miss Lilla Nordon is smart as Selina Worts, the maid.

HIPPODROME.—Lessee, Mr. Alfred Selwyn; Manager, Mr. Sidney Tolfree.—The programme this week includes the Newsboy Quintet of vocalists, who sing well; the Two Izons, comedy artists; Onzell and Onro, trapeze artists; Miss Ada Clare, a dainty comedienne; Lecon and Leco, comedy jugglers; I. H. Hegarty, comedian; and Stanley and Vandyke, a smart comedy couple, in an amusing sketch, entitled Mr. Penwiper; and the Bioscope.

WALSALL.—HER MAJESTY'S THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Proprietors, The Walsall Theatres Co., Ltd.; General-Manager and Secretary, Mr. W. H. Westwood.—The bill here is headed by the Seven Savonas, whose combined playing on various instruments has been received with loud applause. The beautiful and brilliant stage-setting has also called forth general admiration. The storm scene is wonderful. Horace Jones, the Welsh humorist, is well received; Stanley and Greenop are clever banjoists; and Happy Tom Parker, Stacey and Williams (patterers and dancers), Catherine Radford (vocalist and dancer), the Brothers Huxter (with marvellous tumbling and vaulting), and the American Bioscope with capital pictures also add to the attractiveness of the bill.

GRAND THEATRE. — Proprietors, The Walsall Theatres Co., Ltd.; General-Manager and Secretary, Mr. W. H. Westwood.—Messrs. E. Hill-Mitchelson and Harris Finberg's company is here in The Traitor. Mr. Bensley Evans appears successfully in the dual rôles of Prince Rudolph and Colonel Nervi; Mr. Stephen E. Scanlan is impressive in the title-rôle; Miss Effie Bartlett makes a capital Zulu; Miss Gwynne Warren does well as the Countess Zicka; and Miss Katherine Vere undertakes the part of Elsie Dupres with credit.

WEST BROMWICH.—THEATRE ROYAL AND OPERA HOUSE.—Lessee, Mr. Harding Thomas; Manager, Mr. Herbert Vere.—Messrs. Carson and Kendall's company opened here on Monday with Babes in the Wood. The piece is well mounted and dressed. The principals include Miss Rose Tilley as Robin Hood, Miss May Grayce as Maid Marion, Mr. Hugh Brady as the Baron, Mr. H. Roberts and Mr. J. McGarth as the Robbers, Miss Dolly Marsden as the Fairy, Miss Doris Middleton as Harry and Miss Dot Moss as Eva, the Babes.

NEW HIPPODROME.—Manager, Mr. H. W. Player. —This week the bill is headed by Mr. Nat Clifford, who has a most hearty reception; the Carls submit a clever entertainment; Miss Dolly Moore, a refined male impersonator, gives an excellent turn; Leslie Brothers, in their musical act, evoke much laughter; Frank Sauteron contributes some remarkable jumping; What a Life, a comedy duologue by Edwards and Dacre, is well received; Ross, Rose, and Rosert, in Always Moving; Ernie Williams, vocal comedian; and the Hippodrome pictures make up the remainder of the programme.

WEST HARTLEPOOL.—PALACE. — Proprietor, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. Julius Simpson.—The chief item this week is provided by Yukio Tani in his demonstration of the art of ju-jitsu; the mimicry by Takio, another Jap, is remarkably clever; sensation is provided by Blanche and Diacoff, who cycle the teacup track; a programme more than usually interesting is that by Miss Eva Hope and Jack Wayho in some duologues from the works of Charles Dickens; and others who provide entertaining turns are Marion Scott (comedienne), Dora Lyric (comedienne), Brilliant and Brilliant in charming Xylophone selections; and a series of pictures on the Bioscope.

WEXFORD. — THEATRE ROYAL. — Proprietor Mr. E. P. Ronan.—Mr. Montague Beaudyn's company opened here on Monday night with the sensational Russian melodrama, A Beautiful Fiend. As Ivan Paulovitch, Mr. Beaudyn was all that could be desired, and gained much applause; Mr. J. P. M'Bride played the part of the brutal Count Karateff in a manner that brought out all the repulsiveness of the character; Mr. Herbert Steardon, in the rôle of Sergius Strogoff, made the most of his opportunities; and Mr. W. Robertson Foulis as Malachi was very good. Mr. Harry Oates as Christopher Crackles and Miss Annie Clunn as Patty Woodlands supplied the comic element, and were greatly amusing; Miss Irene Munroe invested the part of Wadine Karateff with the requisite amount of feeling, and evoked the sympathy of the audience; while the strong part of Wanda Lubinoff was entrusted to Miss Sidney Crowe, who portrayed the baser side of woman's nature in a very realistic manner. The remainder of the cast was efficient, and the piece was very handsomely dressed and mounted.

WIDNES.—ALEXANDRA THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. Jas. Kiddie.—Mr. H. A. Jordison's company is here this week with the pantomime Cinderella. The play is prettily mounted, and on Monday evening had a good reception. Miss Iris Banfield is an admirable Prince, dancing and singing very acceptably; the Dandini of Miss Mabel Ashton would not be easy to improve upon; Miss Helen Rays is an altogether charming Cinderella, handling the part with unquestionable ability; the Princess Pearl of Miss Louis Davies is a satisfactory performance in every respect; and the same remark applies to the Fairy Crystal of Miss Mary Clarke. The Baron Pebblybeach of Mr. Chas. Martell is a genuinely humorous performance. He gains good support in the way of laughter making from Messrs. Edwin Garth and Howard Ward as Arabella and Dulcibella, the "charming" sisters of Cinderella. Mr. John Bennett is capital as Pimple; and Messrs. Earle and Melville are quaintly comical as Putemin and Kickmecout. Altogether the "production" is rich in comedians. The usual vaudeville entertainment given in the Prince's ballroom scene includes specialities by Bennett and Martell, Earle and Melville, and the Starlight Quartette of Dancers.

WIGAN. — ROYAL COURT THEATRE.—Proprietors, the Wigan Entertainments Co.—Mr. J. F. Elliston's grand children's Christmas pantomime is splendidly mounted. Mr. Shann Glenville as Baron Harduppe, Mr. Herbert Wade as Ripples, and Miss Jennie Gregson as Dimples are excellent; and Miss Mora Hersee as Cinderella, Miss Barbara Babington as Prince Florizel, and George Goodfellow as Buttons give capital representations of the respective characters. Mr. George Belrose as Father Time and Mlle. de Velin as Fairy Progress act and sing beautifully together.

THE HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, The Wigan Entertainments Co.—Fred Karno's Jail Birds is the attraction here this week; and in addition the Eltons, in a comedy bar speciality act, and Walter Purvis and company in a comedy sketch, entitled Cauliflower Joe, are most entertaining. W. H. Downes, Australian vocalist, the Marblesque Trio, society entertainers, and Frankie, the juvenile juggling wonder, are also very popular. Other excellent turns are Fred Horsfall, vocalist; and the McKays, lightning oil-painters.

WOLVERHAMPTON. — GRAND THEATRE.— Lessees and Managers, Mr. E. H. Bull and Mr. Milton Bode; Acting-Manager, Mr. Percy Percival —This week Miss Florence Glossop-Harris, supported by Mr. Frank Cellier, jun., and company is appearing here in a round of interesting plays. On Tuesday Much Ado About Nothing was presented. Miss Glossop-Harris appeared as Beatrice, and gave an excellent rendering of the part, which was highly appreciated. Mr. Frank Cellier, jun., submitted an admirable impersonation of Benedick; Mr. Duncan Yarrow capitally portrayed the part of Claudio; Mr. Percy H. Vernon did full justice to Don Pedro; Mr. David Santley made a capable Leonato; and Mr. Edward Landor an amusing Dogberry. As Hero Miss Kate Turner acquitted herself well; and the remaining characters were in good hands. During the week Romeo and Juliet and Twelfth Night were performed.

YEOVIL.—PRINCE'S STREET ASSEMBLY ROOMS.—Mr. J. Bannister Howard's Silver King company was here on Monday. Mr. Paul Beckett as Wilfred Denver gave a capable and life-like portrayal of the character, and the rôle of Nellie Denver was in the able hands of Miss F. Radcliffe. Jaikes, as played by Mr. Percy Foster, was an admirable study; and Mr. Oswald Cray as the Spider made a polished and clever villain.

THEATRICAL PATENTS.

The consice descriptions that we give below of recent patent applications are specially contributed by Messrs. Howard and Co., Patent Agents, 57 and 58, Chancery-lane, W.C., who will assist readers in all patent matters:—

1761. Frank Oscar Seye, Strand. "Improvements in apparatus for producing the illusion of travelling in a balloon or ship, and for the more realistic display of living or moving pictures."

1974. George Curtis, 34, Wynyatt-Street, Clerkenwell. "Improved Rouge."

20,600. Scenic Colour Effects. Stevenson, J., 40. Westmoreland-road, Bayswater, W. A scenic colour effect is obtained by means of a coloured picture, figure, or object, or a performer dressed in clothing of different colours, the performer, &c., being illuminated by light of complementary colours or viewed through complementarily-coloured transparent screens. Thus, a part of the body dressed in red is invisible in green light, while green is invisible in red. The stage is draped in a dead black material, and the coloured clothing is preferably of velvet material, as this only reflects light of its own colour. Partial or total disappearance of a dancer is obtained by movement within regions of different coloured lights. The effects of a zoetrope or kinematograph may be produced.

PRESENTATION. — On the occasion of his annual benefit, Mr. J. H. Savile, of the Paisley Theatre, was the recipient of a handsome present from the members of his tenth pantomime company. Miss Maggie Bowman, the Goody Two-Shoes of the pantomime of that name, was the mouthpiece of the company, and in a neat little speech presented Mr. Savile, on the stage, and before the large audience, which filled the house, with a chaste silver épergne and side pieces to match, for Mrs. Savile. The recipient made a fitting and gracious acknowledgment. The épergne was suitably inscribed.

MAKES THE SKIN AS SOFT AS VELVET.—Beetham's "LAROLA" preserves the Skin from the effects of frost, cold, winds, and hard water. Entirely removes and prevents all roughness, redness, irritation, chaps, &c., and KEEP

AMUSEMENTS IN AUSTRALIA.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

SYDNEY, DEC. 11, 1906.—Mr. J. C. Williamson's American Squaw Man company had a hearty send-off on the 7th, when Mr. Charles Waldron and Miss Ola Humphreys were compelled to make short "au revoir" speeches. The next night Miss Tittell Brune returned to appear in La Tosca. Mr. Thomas Kingston is essentially English as Scarpia. Mr. John Beauchamp made Angelotti strong but not melodramatic. Mr. Gaston Mervale is always a strong element in a cast, and his Mario Cavardossi was excellent. The old Marquis Alavanti could not possibly have fallen into better hands than those of Mr. J. B. Atholwood. Mr. Harry Sweeney is at home in "fop" parts, and Trivulce lost nothing in his care. Miss Susie Vaughan was judiciously placed as the Queen of Naples; and the scene between Gennarino (Miss Nellie Calvin) and Brother Enserbe (Mr. Maurice Dudley) was capitally done.

"THE COTTON KING," revived by Mr. Bland Holt at the Royal, is one of the best of dramas dealing with the industrial interest, and as this country is perpetually seething with labour discontent, there is always an attraction in this kind of play. The compact company has only one change, Miss Jennie Pollock replacing Mrs. Bland Holt as Kitty Marshall. The evergreen Bland Holt is again Benjamin Tupper, and their old rôles are again sustained by Misses Frances Ross, Lucy Coppin, C. Masters, Violet Canty, and Florrie Kelly, and Messrs. Walter Baker, Albert Norman, Charles Brown, Arthur Styan, M. F. Kemp, A. Harford, and Max Maxwell.

"THE EMPEROR," the new comic opera written by W. J. Curtis, was revived at the Palace on the 8th, as a compliment to Mr. W. Arundel Orchard, the composer.

THE Tivoli habitués gave a cordial welcome to Mr. Charles Leonard Fletcher on the 8th, and his clever impersonations of noted men were rapturously applauded. Mr. Harry Tate's company does a Golfing sketch; and Miss Bella Perman sings better than ever on her return. Mr. Harry Rickards has a large company of prominent artists, continually being added to, as the result of his recent trip to Europe.

SYDNEY, DEC. 25, 1906.—In producing Parsifal at Her Majesty's Theatre, Mr. J. C. Williamson has surpassed all his previous successes in staging spectacular plays. This latest dramatisation of Parsifal; or, The Redemption of Kundry, is written by the Rev. T. Hillhouse Taylor, an Anglican priest, whose previous efforts for the stage were excellent adaptations of pantomime. This new play is, however, distinctly and absolutely religious, without a gleam of humour, romance, or domestic life. The Knights of the Holy Grail and their forces are here in goodly numbers, as are also the chief officers and myrmidons of the army of Sabanus. The costumes of knights, children, choristers of the Holy Grail, and of the women and high priest from "down below," are simply gorgeous. The scenes by John Gordon, W. R. Coleman, and W. Little are wonderfully grand, the Chapel of the Holy Grail and the Earthquake, when Klingsor's castle is levelled to the ground, being particularly fine. Miss Tittell Brune was the Kundry, a most exacting part, in which the actress is kept at full tension for three out of the four acts. The struggle between a desire to reform and lead a Christian life and the demoniacal power is one requiring all the resources of just such an actress as Miss Brune, and the many loud calls after each act gave evidence of the satisfaction of a crowded house. Mr. Thomas Kingston is the Parsifal, and is manly and manifestly in earnest. Mr. Gaston Mervale's Klingsor is the best-acted rôle. The splendid costume lends colour to the general idea that costly attire means sinful courses. Mr. Mervale is ably helped by Miss Susie Vaughan, whose Zana could not be excelled, winsome, handsome, and dominating as she is. Mr. John Beauchamp gives an exceedingly valuable portraiture of the old knight, Gurnemanz. Mr. Vivian Edwards has never done anything half so good as his Amfortas, King of Grail Mount. Mr. Harry Sweeney is a manly, impulsive lover as Neric; and Mr. T. W. Lloyd gives a good account of the esquire, Gildhelm. The aged King Titurel affords Mr. J. B. Atholwood another opportunity for proving his indispensable value in a strong cast. The Dumb Maiden (Miss Nellie Calvin), Lillian (Miss Elwyn Harvey), and Enid (Miss N. Fergusson) are all capital impersonations. Mr. Harold Reeve (baritone) and Mr. Percy Coward (alto) sing solos in the chapel scene, and a large operatic chorus give the Holy Grail hymns and anthems, composed, as is all the vocal and instrumental music (save the overture to Parsifal opera), by the conductor, Mr. Christian Helleman. After many recalls of the principals, loud demands rose for Mr. J. C. Williamson, who appeared with the author and thanked everybody concerned for right loyal service.

THE Ward-Willoughby-Palotta Comedy Combination returned to the Criterion on the 22nd, and had a hearty reception in The New Clown. The three principals kept the house roaring with laughter throughout a real Christmas bill of fare. Mr. Hugh J. Ward enters into the spirit of the perplexed Lord Cyril with perfect humour, and is ably assisted by Mr. George Willoughby as the ringmaster, Mr. Dixon. The perennial favourite, Miss Grace Palotta, never had a more attractive rôle than Mary Platt. Mr. Harry Overton, Miss Olive Wilton, Miss Lillian Scaife, Mr. Edward Bonfield, Mr. J. W. Hartman, Mr. Reginald Wykeham, and Mr. Arthur Cornell had smaller, but well-acted, parts.

MR. BLAND HOLT'S bill of fare at the Royal is the play A Path of Thorns. The scenes are all faithful reproductions of familiar localities, and each of Mr. John Brunton's pictures was welcomed with shouts of delighted recognition. Mr. and Mrs. Bland Holt are the Spurway couple who keep a Sydney hostelry, assisted by Miss Florrie Kelly, who is Little Billy. Other leading characters are Andy Badun (Mr. Charles Brown), Jim Price (Mr. Arthur Styan), Jonas Dean (Mr. Albert Norman), John Merritt (Mr. Walter Baker), Rev. Frank Selby (Mr. Muir Maxwell), and the robbed and murdered man, Edmund Langley (Mr. F. M. Kemp). The heroine, Merritt's wife, is acted by Miss Frances Ross; and other important parts are filled by Miss Harrie Neland and others. An attractive picture is given of a picnic at Cremorne Gardens, where hosts of little children frolic and frivol in Christmas fashion. Every possible effect is introduced, including a big cinématograph. An uproariously enthusiastic house welcomed the play on the 22nd.

THE Palace Theatre attraction is The New Boy. Mr. Harry Macdona, a well-known Sydney actor, is the Archibald Rennick, and the company included Messrs. Thomas Cosgrove, Harry Diver, Johnson Weir, and Harry Hodson, Miss Vera Rennel, Miss Ailsa Sherbrooke, and Miss Edith Burke.

THE Tivoli has a big bill, including George Dean, the Alaskas (now finishing), Charles Fletcher, Cora Caselli, Larry Lewis, Irving Sayles, Baby Watson, Post Mason, Stewart and Lorraine, and several others of high merit.

MR. WILLIAMSON'S pantomime, Alice in Wonderland, once played here by Fred Graham, Lilian Digges, and Harry Troode, will now be acted solely by Australian children.

WONDERLAND CITY, as Mr. William Anderson anticipated and hoped, is proving a great outdoor attraction. The grounds are now complete, and side shows are being added as quickly as they can be secured.

MR. ROBERT MINSTER has been engaged to play Mr. Lewis Waller's part in the spring tour of Robin Hood. The play will be elaborately mounted.

PLAYERS OF THE PERIOD.

MISS M. E. ELLIS.

Miss Ellis began her professional career by entering Mr. F. R. Benson's Shakespearean company, and was with him some months, during which she visited most of the principal towns in England, and was one of the leaders of the ballet in his revival of A Midsummer Night's Dream at Bournemouth. Her health giving way through overwork (for Miss Ellis is devoted to her work), she was obliged to take a complete rest, which necessitated her leaving Mr. Benson; but she was to join him again for a special week at the Coronet Theatre, Notting Hill, to take up her part in the ballet of the Dream. However, in the meantime she was engaged by Mr. Norman V. Norman to play juvenile parts in his répertoire company, so Mr. Benson kindly released her, and she went straight to Mr. Norman, playing with him in My Lady Virtue, The Lady of Quality, Under the Red Robe, Nell Gwyn, Don Cæsar de Bazan (doing a solo dance in the latter), and she also made a hit as Lucy in A Scrap of Paper. Having gained this experience, she next turned her attention to light opera, and was engaged by Mr. C. E. Hamilton as concert mistress in Peggy Machree (for Miss Ellis is a musician as well as an actress), which unfortunately she had to relinquish owing to another breakdown in health, which again necessitated a rest for some time. Miss Ellis was specially engaged by Mr. Richard Maynard to sustain the part of Edith in the music-hall sketch A Love Shop.

MR. JACK DENTON

Mr. Jack Denton spent some years on sheep stations in New South Wales and Victoria prior to going on the stage in the spring of 1896. His first engagement was under the management of Willie Drew in Robbery Under Arms. Then followed a tour as Bullock Major in The New Boy, under the same management. After playing a small part at the Adelphi in Black-Eyed Susan, he had two years with Mr. Herbert Flemming's répertoire company in South Africa. Returning to England again in January, 1898, he went out with Mr. Lockwood's company in A Night Out, playing the French waiter for six months. An autumn tour with Mr. John Peachey's company in The Mighty Hand was followed by a pantomime engagement at Bournemouth and Southampton. Then came a long tour as principal comedian and stage-manager for Miss Muriel Wylford. In the autumn of 1900 Mr. Denton went out to the States, playing there in stock for a year. Returning in the summer of 1901, Mr. Denton played Mr. Penley's part in Charley's Aunt in the No. 2 Company, and afterwards went out to Australia and New Zealand for an eighteen months' tour with Mr. Frank Thornton's comedy company. On returning in the autumn of 1902 he was engaged by Mrs. Lewis Waller to stage-manage Zaza and play the Duc de Brisac. Then Mr. Denton toured a drama of his own—A Modern Judas—playing the eccentric comedy part. During an engagement with Moss and Stoll he played the juvenile parts in Tally-ho and Siberia at Liverpool, and the latter piece at Manchester. Then came another long engagement in the United States, playing under the management of Mr. D. V. Arthur. Returning last March, Mr. Denton supported Miss Rose Stahl in her sketch The Chorus Lady at the Palace, followed by a nineteen weeks' stock season under the management of Mr. Walter Melville at the Standard. At present he is playing Lily, one of the Ugly Sisters, in Cinderella, at the King's Theatre, Hammersmith. Mr. Jack Denton is the brother of Mr. C. St. John Denton, the agent, and is the husband of Miss Hettie Chattell.

MR. JACK DENTON.

MR. CHARLES CRASTON.

Mr. Charles Frederick Craston is the youngest son of the late Mr. Thomas Sharp Craston, merchant, of Manchester, and made his professional début with Mr. H. Beerbohm Tree and his Haymarket Repertory Company on Sept. 15, 1890, at the Theatre Royal, Manchester, his native town; and, glancing over his record of engagements and the large range of characters he has essayed, one is struck by their diversified nature.

In the year 1891 Mr. Craston entered upon his first really important engagement with Messrs. Louis Calvert and C. T. H. Helmsley. Next he became associated with Mr. H. C. Arnold in the capacity of acting-manager to his Lights o' London company. An engagement followed, Mr. Craston playing Tom Bowler, Victory, with Mr. J. Hewetson Porter; then rejoining Messrs. Calvert and Helmsley, and remaining with them twelve months, during which he played numerous parts.

Special engagements followed as Marias, Two Orphans; Ned Neare, Ben-my-Chree, with the late Mr. Charles Dornton; Sir Richard Loader, Lost in London, with Messrs. Cancellor and Mouillot; Lieutenant Sir Harry Linden, Blow for Blow; Fibbins, Crutch and Toothpick; William Johnstone, The Brothers, with Mr. Frank Deeley, who is now the well-known actor and popular manager, Mr. Frank Curzon. Then followed Sir Gerald Kingscote, Lost to the World, with Mr. Clarence Holt, being re-engaged for the autumn for juvenile lead, Basil Kingscote. After this successful engagement he accepted Mr. W. H. Hallatt's offer to play Dick Royal, Dangers of London spring tour of 1893. He next played Cecil Graham, the young cynic, in Lady Windermere's Fan; and Mr. Sandford, The Silent Woman. Then a re-engagement followed for the same, and another for Lawyer Dill, East Lynne. Early in 1894 another re-engagement followed for Cecil Graham. After this he joined Mr. Edmund Tearle, and played during this engagement Laertes, Hamlet; Icilius, Virginius; Cassio, Othello; and the title-rôle in Julius Cæsar. A tour followed, during which Mr. Craston played Arthur Tredgold and stage-managed The Lights o' Home with Mr. Robert Lynton. He then accepted his fifth re-engagement with Mr. J. Pitt Hardacre, again for Cecil Graham. Next came an autumn tour, again in the legitimate, under Mr. Robert Arthur's management, with the well-known actor the late Mr. Osmond Tearle. Passing from Shakespearean drama to farcical comedy, he played Tom Stanhope—Mr. Charles Hawtrey's part—in Tom, Dick, and Harry, and during this engagement with Messrs. E. Covington and E. V. Reynolds he also acted as business-manager. Then came his first engagement with Mr. J. F. Elliston to play Frank Harley, In Old Kentucky; and was re-engaged to play George Peyton, The Octoroon. He was also re-engaged for the winter and spring tour of 1896 to play Frank Harley. Following an engagement with Mr. Thomas E. Murray as Gilly Softsolder, Our Irish Visitors, he was re-engaged by Mr. Hardacre for Harold Vernon, The World Against Her; also for Sir Francis Levison, East Lynne; Lincoln Green, Current Cash; and Levison. Then came another autumn tour as Frank Harley, In Old Kentucky, with Mr. J. F. Elliston; and afterwards he was re-engaged by Mr. Elliston for the same part, this being his fifth engagement with this successful manager. After a re-engagement for Levison, making this his tenth re-engagement with Mr. Hardacre, he was engaged for the dual rôle, Paul Keswick and Old Mike, A Guilty Mother, with Mr. Wynn Miller for spring tour, which part he was offered for the autumn, but was unable to accept, being engaged by Mr. Arthur Bearne for Captain Stanmore, The Star of India. He was next engaged by Miss Grace Hawthorne for Apollyon, The Pilgrim's Progress, and Andreas, Theodora; and he then appeared as Frank Forrest, Dangers of London, with Miss Madge Ray, joining Mr. Walter Sealby for acting-management of his Paul Kauvar company in the spring, 1898. In the autumn he was engaged by Mr. Henry Dundas for the Earl of Desborough, The Derby Winner; and afterwards joined forces with his brother, William Craston, playing for a long tour Randolph Kerr, Is Life Worth Living? Then Mr. Craston was engaged by Mr. Louis Weighton to play Jean Gaussin, The Idol of an Hour, a dramatisation of Daudet's Sapho; Doctor Dumyat, Men and Women, followed with Messrs. E. J. Malyon and J. Buckland. Then an autumn engagement as Frank Tressett, Tommy Dodd, with Messrs. W. R. Pickett and George Thorne. In 1900 Mr. Craston was re-engaged by Mr. Thomas E. Murray to again play Gilly Softsolder, Our Irish Visitors; he played Lawrence Durston, Fair Play, on an autumn tour with Mr. Arthur Milton. Then came a short tour as Captain Hinton, Between the Lights, with Mr. William Craston, followed by his eleventh re-engagement with Mr. J. Pitt-Hardacre on a spring tour, playing Levison again.

As to recent engagements, Mr. Craston was starred by Messrs. Bailey and Goy as Harold Arnold, A Mad Passion, which he reproduced and acted as stage and business-manager during the tour. Joining Miss Winifred Maude, he held a starring engagement as George Britton, The Convict, also a starring engagement as Dick Wellington, Mr. Yorke Stephen's part in The County Councillor, with Mr. F. D'Alton Cleaver; and he appeared as Stephen Lucas, A Sailor's Sweetheart, with Messrs. Frederick A. Stanley and A. F. Henderson. Mr. Craston has also given several dramatic recitals, and last autumn was engaged by Mr. George Dance as business-manager of his Duchess of Dantzic South company on tour. Recently Mr. Craston was engaged by Mr. Lionel Wallace to assist Miss Lillian Dundas in the dramatic sketch At Midnight Hour, playing the part of Geoffrey Wynter.

Mr. Charles Craston, it will be seen, has done considerable work for so young an actor, and has succeeded in making for himself the reputation of being a thoroughly efficient and versatile leading man.

MISS NORA LANCASTER.

Miss Nora Lancaster started her stage career four years ago, when she walked on and spoke one line at the St James's, in The Wilderness. From there she went to the Garrick, to play the ingénue in Mr. Pinero's Iris. Then followed an engagement at the Comedy Theatre, where she played a leading part in Tom Gallon and Albert Chevalier's Memory's Garden. After this Mr. Forbes Robertson and Mrs. M. L. Ryley engaged her for Miss Gertrude Elliot's part of Peggy in the principal tour of Mice and Men. Sir Henry Irving then engaged her, and she played juvenile lead with him for nearly two years, her parts including Miss Lena Ashwell's part of Gemma in Dante, Jessica in The Merchant of Venice, and Marie in Louis XI. This engagement included a six months' tour in the United States and Canada. The remaining eighteen months the company toured the provinces, and played at Drury Lane. When Dante was staged Miss Lancaster appeared as Beatrice. Then Mr. Curzon engaged her, and she played the leading parts in Our Flat and Off the Rank at the Comedy and Strand Theatres. During a recent engagement at the Queen's Theatre, Manchester, Miss Lancaster played Galatea in Mr. Flanagan's revival of Pygmalion and Galatea. This proved very successful. Mr. Flanagan re-engaged her for his next Shakespearean revival to play Imogen in Cymbeline. Other parts Miss Lancaster has played include Julia in

The Two Gentlemen of Verona, Lady Teazle to Charles Warner's Charles Surface, and Juliet Gainsborough (Miss Fay Davis's part in The Ambassador).

MR. H. LAWRENCE LEYTON.

Mr. H. Lawrence Leyton, one of the later but by no means the least successful exponents of the part of Sherlock Holmes in Sir A. Conan Doyle and William Gillette's play of that name, is a young actor who has succeeded in gaining considerable and varied experience during the seven or eight years that he has been on the stage. The beginning of his career was quite typical of his character, for he had the courage to finance a season of répertoire for himself. Needless to say, he paid for his experience, but at the same time that experience has since amply repaid him. Since that time Mr. Leyton has been content to work under the management of others, and has been exceptionally fortunate in his engagements. He has had four seasons under the Frohman management, besides appearing in London at Drury Lane and His Majesty's. His work at the former was evidently satisfactory, for Mr. Arthur Collins engaged him to play juvenile lead on tour. Apart from this, Mr. Leyton has played leading business under the management of Messrs. Robert Arthur, Oswald Brand, Drew Mackintosh, E. G. Saunders, Stanley Hope, and James Willard.

Mr. Leyton was educated partly in Germany and at the City of London College. He is very fond of outdoor sports, his favourite hobbies being riding and driving.

AT the Town Hall, Leven, Mr. Robert MacDonald's company opened on Tuesday for two nights and a matinée with Mr. John A. Thomson's pantomime, Dick Whittington. The hero and Alice Fitzwarren found able representatives in the vivacious sisters Fay and Isla Garnet Vayne, whose songs and dances were much appreciated. Algy and Polly, well played by the Misses Violet and Lily English, also scored in song and dance; Miss Annie Swires as Fairy Goodwill proved herself a cultured vocalist; Messrs. Lang and Beal as Fitzwarren and Pimple, and Messrs C. Young Fixott and Harold Wagner as Betsy Jane and Idle Jack were all excellent, and earned a rich reward of laughter and applause; Mr. William Nixon as the Demon Rat sang a bass song in cultivated style; Mr. G. Garnet Vayne as the Cat was popular with the young folks; and a word of praise must be given to Mr. Plant for his musical performance. The company was supported by a smart and tuneful chorus.

MR. H. E. HIGH has just concluded a successful engagement in the part of Friday in Mr. D'Esterre's pantomime of Robinson Crusoe. This is the first time he has played the rôle of Friday, having usually been associated with dame parts.

Diener	HERR ZIZOLD

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

BERLIN, THURSDAY, JAN. 31.—Of late years Scandinavian authors have been coming more and more to the front here—the way having been paved for them by the great Wizard of the North—and, to confess the truth, they are mostly well worth listening to. Herr Bergstroem is no exception to the rule. His play, despite the meagre plot, is interesting from beginning to end; the characters are very skilfully drawn and thoroughly convincing, while the good-humoured satire with which many of the scenes abound is alone sufficient to make the piece acceptable. The acts develop slowly, the last two being by far the best; but each and all were warmly applauded. The turning of the Lyngaards' large spirit factory into a limited company is the chief event, and the central figure is Heymann—once manager of the factory, later director of the company. George Heymann is a level-headed, hard-working, ambitious business man, who rises step by step by cool perseverance to his high position, and marries Estrid Lyngaard, the love of his life. Heymann manages to quell a good many disturbances among the workmen, and has a clever way of allowing Lyngaard, sen., to take all the credit to himself. Jacob Lyngaard is an idealist, and is not taken seriously by the employees, and his mother is one of those good women whose philanthrophy runs away with them. Frau Lyngaard spends money lavishly on the workpeople and their families, but not always wisely, and she is forced to the conclusion that charity and gush combined may do more harm than good. An amusing character is Eduard Olfen, a young man with "principles," in the cause of which he has just finished a term of imprisonment. He was of the opinion that money should become more plentiful and more equally divided, so he set to work to manufacture paper money on a large scale. His principles not being shared by the authorities, Olfen was convicted and sent to jail. He comes out now, and finds a remunerative calling in the participation of benefits from charitable institutions, more especially those got up in favour of the unemployed. Olfen has been a victim from childhood of Frau Lyngaard's "charity," having been supplied with money and elegant cast-off clothing and the "little learning" which may prove a dangerous thing. A very significant trait in Lyngaard's character is humorously portrayed by the author. Lyngaard is an ardent collector of artistic things, and on one occasion gives a fabulous price for a painting because it so graphically depicts human misery. To the complaints of his workpeople, however, who ask for a justifiable increase of wages he turns a deaf ear. The piece was capitally interpreted, Herr Kaiser-Titz, Herr Schmidt-Hässler, and Fräulein Riechers giving particularly good impersonations. The mounting was in excellent taste.

A GALA performance was given at the Royal Opera of Adam's pretty little comic opera, Der Postillon von Lonjumeau, with Fräulein Destinn as Magdalene and Herr Joern in the title-rôle. Their Majesties, with a number of Royal guests, were present. A gala performance was also given at the Royal Schauspielhaus in honour of the Kaiser's birthday. The Schauspielhaus and Lustspielhaus companies exchanged stages for the evening, Herr Kadelburg's Husarenfieber being played before the Court, while the Royal Theatre company gave a performance of Schoenthan's Klein-Dorrit in aid of the Actors' Pension Fund. The laughable farce was as much appreciated by the Royal party as it is by the public, and the Kaiser said a good many complimentary things to the author, who was summoned to the State box in the interval.

THE New Free Stage Association produced a new four-act play of very poor stuff at a matinée on Sunday, notwithstanding that the author's name (Hans von Wentzel) has frequently appeared as collaborator in more or less popular pieces. Dämonen is the title of the new work, and the demons are so very demoniacal that descriptive words fail one. The tendency of the piece is to decry in exaggerated form the tenets of a particular religion—always a blameworthy feature in a drama. The acting was good—far too good for the piece.

HERR KADELBURG'S popular farce, Der Familientag, has now taken up its quarters at the Schiller N., where it bids fair to enjoy as long a run as it did at the Lustspielhaus. At the latter theatre it has been succeeded by Husarenfieber, Kadelburg's latest comedy, which has made such an unprecedented hit both here and in the provinces. The cast at the Schiller is the same excellent one that performed the piece at the Lustspielhaus, "change and change about" being the motto of many of our theatres.

"COUSIN BOBBY," Millöcker's capital operetta, is filling the bill at the Theatre des Westens to the exclusion of all other works, and several novelties which were to be put on must remain in abeyance in consequence of its enormous success. Fräulein Doringer and Herr Fritz Werner prove the principal attractions.

ON March 1 the Hamburg Operetta Company will come to Berlin again to give a lengthy season at the Theatre des Westens. They will open with Lehar's merry and musical Lustige Wittwe—the catch of the last season. In the meantime the company of the Theatre des Westens will play at the Deutsch-Amerikanisches, whose company intend paying a visit to the Operetta Theatre at Hamburg.

MME. SUZANNE DESPRES has finished her brief, but highly successful season. Her final performance was Henry Bernstein's play, Le Détour, in which the famous actress gave the rôle of Jacqueline. The piece was given here in German some years ago under the name of Jack, but it was reserved for Mme. Desprès and her excellent company to bring out all the points in a worthy manner. Enthusiasm rose to a great pitch, and the French guests were cheered to the echo.

ROYAL CHORAL SOCIETY.

On Thursday, Jan. 24, at the Royal Albert Hall, two works in direct contrast were given by the Royal Choral Society. Handel's Alexander's Feast and Sir Hubert Parry's The Pied Piper of Hamelin have neither been given by the Society before. In Alexander's Feast the chorus produced a fine, rich tone in "Break his bonds of sleep asunder," while Mr. Harry Dearth gave great effect to the famous solo, "Revenge! Timotheus cries." Sir Hubert Parry's Pied Piper is in the form of a narrative, sung by the chorus, Mr. Dan Price as the Mayor speaking the words. With this work, the chief portion of the solos fell to Mr. Ben Davies, who, as the Pied Piper, sang admirably, while the chorus and orchestra gave the requisite light touch which this work requires. Dr. Frederick Bridge conducted, and Mr. Balfour presided at the organ. There was not a very large audience, no doubt owing to the bitterly cold weather.

"THE ERA" can be obtained at the principal bookstalls throughout the provinces.

LONDON & SUBURBAN THEATRES.

GRAND, WOOLWICH.

On Monday, Jan. 28, the Comic Opera,
"THE LITTLE MICHUS."

In returning to the regular routine after four weeks' pantomime Mr. Clarence Sounes made an excellent start this week by booking Mr. George Dance's company in The Little Michus, and a good house was in attendance on Monday to welcome this delightful comic opera. The little Michus themselves are charmingly rendered by Miss Alice Coverick (Marie Blanche) and Miss Gipsy Dale (Blanche Marie), who play up to each other so well and whose parts are so essentially interwoven that to particularise between them would be both invidious and unnecessary. Their acting is characterised by a delightful demureness and naïveté, and their singing—particularly in the duet invocative of St. Valentine—most acceptable. Mme. Michu finds a capable representative in Miss Mary Young, who enacts the careful woman of the bourgeoisie to the life, and whose singing of several pleasing numbers is much appreciated. Miss Bessie Mackenzie as Mlle. Herpin speaks her few lines with distinction; and the dancing of Mlle. Marjorie scores an instantaneous success, both her dances being enthusiastically encored. In the character of General des Ifs Mr. Foster Courtenay has a part admirably suited to his talents as a comedian, and keeps his audience in a continual ripple of laughter at the inimitable way in which he pours out a flood of nonsense with the most engaging seriousness. Mr. Courtenay is also the possessor of a good voice, and sprang an agreeable surprise on his audience in an excellent rendering of a well-known song, "In Alcala," which he sang with a will, and which went down very well. Mr. William Everard is responsible for a dashing impersonation of Gaston Rigaud, and sings in good style, all his songs receiving a hearty encore. Mr. Gilbert Childs is an amusing Bagnolet, his clever fooling and wonderful agility calling forth much laughter. Mr. Leon Simkin, whose make-up as Pierre Michu is most artistic, plays the character with delightful naturalness; and Mr. Robert C. Harcourt makes the utmost of his rather meagre chances as Aristide. The chorus has been carefully selected, and is remarkably tuneful, and the production is well mounted and adequately staged.

THE PRINCE'S, POPLAR.

On Monday, Jan. 28, the Drama, in Five Acts, by Horace Stanley, entitled
"THE 10.30 DOWN EXPRESS."

The course of pantomime at Mr. Clarence Sounes's handsomely-appointed theatre at Poplar having been successfully run, the dramatic season has started this week with a play of such attractiveness that the large audiences which have been the rule for the past few weeks are thoroughly maintained. It is nearly eight years since The 10.30 Down Express first started, but it has since run uninterruptedly along the lines of public favour, and might go on indefinitely. The scene which gives the play its title is made very thrilling, intense excitement being aroused when the hero is seized by his enemies and tied to the metals in front of an oncoming express train. One of his captors relents, and, entering the signal-box, pulls the lever in order to show the danger-light; but his unscrupulous partner smashes the glass and renders it inoperative. He is still foiled, however, for the heroine rushes up, and, grasping the situation, mounts the signal-post and places her red kerchief over the light, the engine coming to a dead stop in a cloud of steam a few inches from the prostrate body of the intended victim. The popularity of the piece is not, however, entirely due to the sensation scene, but is owing in a large degree to the impersonation by Mr. Stanley of the part of Sam Wagstaffe, a rollicking A.B., who subsequently gives up seafaring for the joys of domesticity. Mr. Stanley's efforts to amuse the audience are endless, and whether presenting the escapades of the jovial sailor, presiding over the wash-tub, or giving the broker's man a lively ten minutes, the comedian keeps the audience literally in shrieks of laughter. It is a unique assumption, replete with many original touches of comedy and unbounded in variety. Lieut. Jack O'Malley, ever at the call of duty, has a vigorous exponent in Mr. George Beverley, who has the house completely on his side by the heartiness of his acting and the sound and distinct delivery of his lines. Mr. Charles Burdon gives the most malignant touch to the villain, James Inderwick, and pursues his sinister way with all the relentlessness of his calling; Seth Coombes, his associate in some of his crimes, is presented by Mr. Tom Roydon with dramatic power of a high order, and his make-up and facial expression also merit praise. The persecuted Bessie Leigh is played with sincerity and conviction by Miss Elsie Capell, who is not only able to secure the sympathy of all for her graceful and well-marked portrayal, but displays not a little athletic skill and agility in reaching the railway signal at the supreme moment. Miss Kate Kilpack as Peggy Potts is a contributor of considerable importance to the fun, which Miss Evelyn M. Walton as a grotesque maiden lady and Mr. Arthur E. Francis as a broker's man also help to maintain. Mr. Edwin Clarke is an acute and active detective; and Mr. Alaric Burton draws a well-defined picture of an elderly country gentleman. A characteristic rendering of the ill-fated Olive Coombes is given by Miss Josephine Lee; and Miss Hilda Miller acts naturally as a country yokel's grandchild. The other parts in the well-selected company are creditably sustained, and the reception accorded to the production has been in all respects gratifying.

THE PAVILION.

On Monday, Jan. 28, the Drama, by S. Feinman, entitled
"FIRST LOVE; OR, No. 87."

The Jewish Operatic and Dramatic Company is evidently intent upon providing a bill of fare suitable to all tastes, while the care bestowed upon the ever-changing, but well-selected, productions is always met with great enthusiasm and approval by the large audiences that crowd the Pavilion Theatre nightly. On Monday Mr. S. Feinman's domestic drama, First Love; or No. 87, was presented for the first time in London, and although in places the action was somewhat slow, yet the piece was singularly free from improbability and incohesion, while it possessed the merit of an interesting story well told and excellently played, being closely followed with keen appreciation by a packed house until the fall of the curtain. The staging and mounting have been done in elaborate style, and warm commendation must be given to the stage-manager, Mr. J. Fineberg, who has brought his experience to bear with some purpose. As Moritz Waldman, Mr. S. Feinman created a profound impression from first to last, his performance being full of dramatic fire and artistic perception, while his expression of varied emotion throughout the progress of the piece was very fine. Mme. F. Epstein, who played Schifrele, gave a splendid example of high histrionic ability, and presented a powerful exposition of a difficult part; while Mme. J. Kayzer must be congratulated upon her impassioned and impressive rendering of Schifre. Waldman; every point was carefully made, and the conflicting passions were portrayed with great skill. The impersonation of Chaim Schmuel by Mr. S. Schilling overflows with rich, unconscious humour, his "make-up" and "business" provoking continuous hilarity. All praise must be awarded to Mr. M. Gusofsky for his distinguished representation of Isaac Friedman; and an acceptable delineation of Reb Getzel Lerner was given by Mr. J. Goldsmith. The commanding figure of Mr. Isaacowitch lent dignity to his rendition of Count von Grube; and Miss R. Bryh was irresistibly funny as Chane Chaye; while Andrei was ably sustained by Mr. N. Hamburger. Mme. Goldstein made a capable Beile Basche; and Messrs Soroka and Markowitz were competent as Solomon Fagel and Frederick Grober respectively. During the week successful performances have been given of Mrs. Tartakof's Revenge, The Witch, Man and Devil, and Satan in Paradise.

THE ELEPHANT AND CASTLE.

Mr. Chas. M. East's delightful production, Cinderella, has reached its sixth week, and is deservedly as popular as ever. Crowded houses have been the rule, and on Monday a large and enthusiastic audience spent a lively and merry evening, the carefully-managed ballet, beautifully dressed, pretty scenery, a plethora of capital songs, and much wholesome rollicking comedy being greatly appreciated. Miss Alice Digby in the title-rôle is very dainty and charming, thoroughly realising the character. Miss Digby sings and dances exquisitely. Miss Gracie Taylor is a handsome and dignified Prince Charming, and as principal boy is extremely popular, the choruses of her songs being taken up lustily by the house. Miss Nora Morra is a sprightly Dandini, and by her vivacious singing and dancing contributes much to the success of the piece; Mr. Herbert Rule is quite happy as Baron Seedy, and contributes some of the funniest songs of the evening, his "Diary" song being a great favourite. As the page, Toddles, Mr. Arthur R. Carlton, in the most eccentric of costumes, works untiringly and with much success. During the first part, Mr. Carlton and Miss Digby, instead of their burlesque drama, now introduce a sabot dance, which has to be repeated nightly. Mr. Willie Scott and Mr. Arthur Watts, as the two ugly daughters, are responsible for much merriment. Mr. Scott's song, "Men," is an immense success, and evokes rounds of applause. Nothing but praise can be accorded the two Broker's Men, Messrs. Mount Stephen and Harry Rennior. This indefatigable pair have quite a genius for the invention and carrying through of laughable business, and whether as broker's men, thought readers, or golf players, the audience is kept convulsed with laughter. Mr. Mount Stephen gains much approbation for a really clever sand-dance. The Aroza Belles do excellent work in many scenes in several clever dances. Mr. C. A. East must be congratulated on the complete success of his production. Mr. Edward Godfrey is his assistant-manager. Mr. R. A. Neville gives every attention to the comfort and convenience of the audience, as well as to the interests of the theatre.

GRAND, FULHAM.

Monday, Jan. 28,
"THE PRIVATE SECRETARY."

The attraction offered to theatre-goers at the Fulham Grand this week is the appearance of Mr. Eugene C. Stafford's company, in that favourite farcical comedy, The Private Secretary, and from the reception it got from the assembled audience certainly showed that the play and acting were appreciated. The title-rôle was taken by Mr. Donald Price-Evans, who, as the Rev. Robert Spalding, with his quaint manner, kept the audience amused from his first appearance. He was ably seconded in the humorous element by Mr. W. Hargreaves as Mr. Cattermole. The part of Douglas Cattermole was played with considerable effect by Mr. R. Reade; while that of Harry Marsland was handled by Mr. James E. Hussey with successful results. Mr. Vivian Gilbert as Sidney Gibson, the Bond-street tailor, caused some amusement. Mr. W. T. Elsworthy was seen to advantage in the character of Mr. Marsland. Mrs. A. Davis as Miss Ashford, and Miss Cecily Wade as Douglas Cattermole's landlady, did well; whilst the Edith Marsland of Miss Dora Gray, and the Eva Webster of Miss B. Elliott, were both praiseworthy impersonations. The main play was preceded by a highly-amusing farce, entitled My American Admirer, in which the parts are taken by Mr. W. T. Elworthy, Mr. J. Hussey, Miss C. Wade, and Miss B. Elliott. The whole was under the joint-managership of Messrs. Price-Evans and F. Trevor.

DALSTON THEATRE.

On Monday, Jan. 28, the Play, by William Gillette and A. Conan Doyle, entitled,
"SHERLOCK HOLMES."

Mr. H. Hamilton Stewart's company this week is meeting with an enthusiastic reception at the Dalston Theatre with that most interesting and thrilling play entitled Sherlock Holmes. The title-rôle is played with great success by Mr. Hamilton Stewart, whose conception of the detective is all that can be desired. He is ably assisted by an excellent company. Miss Gladys Harvey as Alice Faulkner plays her part to perfection; Mr. Stephen T. Ewart and Miss Georgina Wynter, as James and Madge Larrabee, make an interesting pair of swindlers; and Mr. Edward Mervyn as Sydney Prince is also well placed. Mr. James Skea as Professor Moriarty is responsible for what is a perfect study of character in its way; and humour is imparted to the representation by Master Leslie Hall as Billy, who becomes a favourite as Sherlock's page-boy. Mr. Allen Jaeyes makes an affable Dr. Watson, and Mr. Fred Bell is good as John Forman. Others in the cast include Mr. Wilson Roberts as Alfred Bassick, Mr. Gordon K. Bull as Jim Cragin, Mr. E. H. Fairbairn, Mr. H. Broughton, Mr. W. Wilson, Mr. F. Spray, Mr. H. Littlejohn, Mr. F. H. Moar, Miss Rosalie Notrelle, Miss Dot Seelby, and Miss Grace Howard.

COUNTY THEATRE, KINGSTON.

On Monday, Jan. 28, the Play, in three acts, by Jerome K. Jerome, entitled "TOMMY."

After a successful run of pantomime, the Royal County Theatre returned on Monday to the "legitimate," with the above-named clever adaptation by Mr. Jerome, of his book "Tommy and Co." Miss Annie Hughes presented a fine portrayal of the title-rôle; Mr. Rupert Lister as Dick Danvers acquitted himself commendably in the part; Peter Hope was ably played by Mr. Evelyn Vernon; and excellent assistance was rendered by Miss Winifred Pearson as "Mr. Morrison," by Miss Ida Richardson as Honour, by Mr. R. F. Beach as Flipp, and by Mr. Willie Hartill as William Clodd. Miss Hughes also played the title-rôle in the comedietta, Good-for-Nothing Nan, that preceded the play.

THE WEST LONDON.

On Monday, Jan. 28, the drama, in a prologue and four acts, by Hall Caine, entitled
"THE CHRISTIAN."

Mr. Wentworth Croke's company has been a very powerful draw in Marylebone this week, crowded houses being the rule nightly at Mr. Wm. Bailey's comfortable theatre. The important rôle of the Hon. John Storm is handled by Mr. Frank Tennant in a convincing and impressive way, his grip on the audience never flagging throughout the four trying acts; Mr. W. Brisco Owen gives a quiet yet telling impersonation of Horatio Drake; Mr. Charles Hill is easy and natural as Parson Quayle; Mr. Charles E. Dering does well as Archdeacon Wealthy; Mr. Edwin Ling is a diginfied Father Lamplugh; and Mr. Fredk. Scarth's embodiment of Lord Robert Ure leaves little room for improvement. The rôle of Glory Quayle is sustained with force and passion by Miss Grace Chalmers, who carries the house with her, her success being well deserved; Miss Vashti Wellborne is an inspirting Polly Love; Miss Molly Hayden scores as Mrs. Callender; and mention must be made of Miss May Dudley's Betty; Miss Violet White's Netty; Miss Nelly Hastings' Letty; Miss Kate Lee's Liza; and Miss May Weir's Aggie Jones. The play is well mounted and staged.

LEGAL NOTES OF THE MONTH.

By ALBERT A. STRONG, LL.B.

A case of great importance is that of Glinseretti v. Rickards, which was heard before the Court of Appeal during the last month. The action was brought to recover damages for breach of a contract for the employment of the plaintiffs as acrobats. The plaintiff, Ferdinand Glinseretti, alleged that he was the proprietor of a troupe of acrobats, and carried on business in the name of "The Glinserettis," and that the defendant was the proprietor of various theatres and music halls in Australia. The plaintiff alleged that, by an agreement in writing made on Oct. 4, 1899, between the plaintiff of the one part and the defendant, through his agents, of the other part, the defendant engaged the plaintiff's troupe to travel from London to Australia, and to open their performances in Australia on or about May 15, 1902. The engagement was for a period of twenty-four weeks certain from May 15, 1902, with an option to the defendant to re-engage the said troupe for four, eight, sixteen, or twenty-four weeks. The defendant was to pay travelling expenses, including second-class passages to Australia and back, and to pay the plaintiff while the troupe was performing £75 per week. At the beginning of 1902 the defendant's agents, by authority of the defendant, repudiated the said agreement, and informed the plaintiff that the defendant had cancelled the said contract. The plaintiff claimed £1,500 damages. The defendant, by his defence, denied that the plaintiff carried on business in the name of The Glinserettis, but admitted that the plaintiff was, in October, 1899, the manager of a troupe of six acrobats who performed and were known as The Glinserettis. The defendant said that if he contracted with the plaintiff as alleged (which he denied), or at all, he did so in order to secure the personal services and performance of and by the same troupe as constituted in September and October, 1899, and that the said troupe was broken up in or about May, 1901, and thereafter was not composed of, and did not include, the individual acrobats forming the said troupe at the date of the alleged agreement. At the trial the jury returned a verdict for the plaintiff for £500 damages.

Now, the point raised here is exceedingly interesting and important to the theatrical and music hall professions. If a manager sees a troupe performing at a certain hall, and is struck by the cleverness of the performers, and engages them to perform at his own hall later on, must the troupe be composed of all of the original performers? The defendant's counsel argued in this case that it was a contract that the plaintiff should bring down to Sydney all the acrobats whom the defendant saw performing when he engaged them. It is important to see how the Judges at the Court of Appeal regarded the matter, and one can do so by seeing what questions they asked. Lord Justice Fletcher Moulton said, "If there was a contract that the Moore and Burgess Minstrels should perform at a certain place, would you have expected the same performers as when the contract was made?" To this defendant's counsel said that the principal performers ought to be the same. Then the same Judge went on:—"Take the case of the Queen's Hall orchestra. Would you in a similar case expect it to be composed of the same musicians?" To which counsel said that would depend upon the contract and the status of the particular musician.

The Court of Appeal dismissed the appeal, though the ground of their decision was not quite the one indicated by Lord Justice Fletcher Moulton in the questions asked by him. The ground of the decision was that the defendant had cancelled the contract some months before May, 1902, when the performers had to perform; the effect of that was that, although possibly the plaintiff might have carried out his contract by bringing the original members of his troupe to Australia, or, at any rate, equally good acrobats, the defendant had cut the ground from under his feet. The effect of that was that the plaintiff had the option to treat the repudiation as complete, and that left him his legal remedy of suing for damages for an anticipatory breach of contract, and it also relieved him from any obligation to perform any further conditions precedent to his right of action, which he would have been bound to perform if the contract had been proceeded with.

The basis of this judgment is very well-recognised law. If a manager engages a performer to appear in six months time at a music hall, and three months before the time arrives he tells the artist that he will not allow him to perform, it is quite clear that the artist can begin his proceedings at once. He need not wait until the time arrives for the performance. There is a popular idea that an artist cannot sue until the time for performing his contract arrives and he presents himself at the music hall for the purpose of carrying out his contract. This is not so; for if the repudiation of the contract by the manager is quite clear, there is no doubt that the artist can sue at the date of the repudiation, and there is no necessity for him to present himself at the theatre.

There was no need in the case above mentioned for the Court to base its decision on the question as to whether the troupe was or was not the same, and it is a great pity that a definite ruling of this subject was not given. In any case, it seems quite clear how Lord Justice Fletcher Moulton, at any rate, regarded the point, and his questions ought to form a valuable indication as to how judges in general would in all probability regard this point.

THE TERRISS.

On Monday, Jan. 28, the Drama, by Walter Melville, entitled
"THE FEMALE SWINDLER."

This week we have a sure draw in the shape of Mr. Walter Melville's exciting play, The Female Swindler. Unlike most of Mr. Melville's productions, the adventuress in this particular play becomes a reformed character, and marries the man of her choice. An excellent interpretation of the drama is given by Mr. Tom H. Taylor's company. The title-rôle is admirably acted by Miss Grace E. Leslie, who gives a powerful rendering of the principal female part, and looks very handsome in a series of beautiful dresses. Mr. Guy P. Ellis is a manly young lover as Harold Travers, whose sweetheart, May Andrews, is sympathetically acted by Miss Florrie Kesley; Mr. Joseph Millane plays powerfully as the detective, Jack Coulson, and supplies a very fine rendering of an all-important part; Mr. Clarence Ibbitson causes abundant laughter as the ambitious Billy Binks, and his various disguises are cleverly managed; Miss Mary Dawson ably assists in the fun-making as Mary Ann Mee; and Mr. A. Kenyon Gray is an excellent James Oliver. Mr. Stanley Radcliffe earns the execrations of the "gods" by the realistic manner in which he depicts the rascality of Geoffrey Warden; and Mr. John Belton gives a good character-sketch as the Jew fence, Abraham Mikestein. Mr. George Elsworthy is good as Fred Fellows; and Mr. D. Winstow does all that is possible with the rôle of Detective Dixon. The whole play is thoroughly enjoyable, and is mounted with all the completeness and elaborate scenery which characterise all Mr. Melville's productions.

Presentation.—A presentation took place on Saturday, Jan. 26, to Mr. J. Ashmore on his retirement from the lesseeship by the staff of the Theatre Royal, Shrewsbury, the gifts taking the form of a silver cigarette case, a silver match-box, and a silver-mounted ebony stick. The presentation was made by the business-manager, Mr. W. C. Dornton. Mr. Ashmore acknowledged the kindness of the donors in a speech marked by deep feeling.

AMERICAN AMUSEMENTS.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—The Road to Yesterday, described as a "comedy of fantasy," by Beulah Dix and Evelyn Greenleaf Sutherland, has been well received at the Herald-square Theatre. Mr. E. H. Sothern and Miss Julia Marlowe have secured the English rights of this play, and will probably appear in it during their forthcoming London engagement. It is in four acts, and the theme is somewhat theosophical. The first act takes place in London in 1903. Elspeth Tyrrell, a young American girl who is doing London for the first time, has partaken of a heavy luncheon at the "Cheshire Cheese." She returns to her cousin's studio, tired out, but wildly enthusiastic about the olden days of chivalry and romance. At the studio she encounters young Jack Greatorex, about to pose for his portrait, in the costume of Robin Hood, and into the mind of each of them comes a conviction that they have met somewhere before. This turns the conversation in the studio to the subject of reincarnation, until Elspeth retires to a cosy corner and falls asleep. There is a dark change, and time turns backward to a July morning in 1603. Elspeth comes down a country lane to meet her young lover, who, in those days was known as Reformado Jack. Elspeth learns that she is really Lady Elizabeth Tyrrell, heiress to a great fortune, and that she has just escaped from a cruel guardian, and is now disguised as a scullery-maid at the "Red Swan" inn. As this coincides with the plight of the heroines of the novels she has read and the plays she has seen, Elspeth is delighted. All through the seventeenth-century portion of the play Elspeth is vaguely conscious of her twentieth century identity, and is delighted to find that the hostler is none other than her artist cousin, who has boasted so much of his distinguished ancestry. Throughout her dream she seeks the hero, who is to be her husband; but she discovers impostors, and is always being disillusioned. The "hero" she seeks turns out to be a cruel Baron, Lord Strangevon, with a castle. Then she finds herself a prisoner, and is commanded to become his wife, while her sweetheart, Reformado Jack, is to receive two hundred lashes. Jack is brought in, bound and dying, to witness the wedding. He receives a dagger from Black Malena, a gipsy, and assassinates the Baron. Elspeth and her rescuer vanish through the secret door of the grim castle, and then, presto! the awakening comes, and all are back again in the London studio, with Reformado Jack, now Jack Greatorex, still in his Robin Hood costume, which forms the only link between the present and the past.

The scenery and costumes are in keeping with the two periods contrasted, and the atmosphere of each is delightfully maintained. Miss Minnie Dupree makes a charming Elspeth; and Kenelm Paulton, the Lord Strangevon of the dream, is ably represented by Mr. White Whittlesey. Mr. Robert Dempster as Jack Greatorex, Mr. Wright Kramer as Will wi' the Feather, and Miss Helen Ware as Black Malena play their parts admirably.

In a comedy called The Truth, in which Miss Clara Bloodgood is appearing at the Criterion Theatre, the author, Mr. Clyde Fitch, harks back to his old society field for his characters. The play deals with lies—social lies—which ultimately become so serious that they disrupt three families. As Becky Warder Miss Bloodgood impersonates a foolish woman who, while loyal to her husband, continually deceives him by petty falsehoods, which could easily be avoided. When her good friend, Mrs. Linden, urges her to patch up a quarrel between herself and Lindon, Becky complies, but becomes involved with her friend's husband. She believes that she will be able to overcome this difficulty, and still remain true to her own husband; but Mrs. Lindon, becoming suspicious, arouses the jealousy of Warder, and Becky lies to him. Private detectives are employed, telephone messages are overheard, and all confidence in Becky vanishes. Warder becomes so enraged that he casts his wife from him, and she returns to her father, a dissolute gambler and parasite, living on the charitable inclinations of his landlady, to whom he holds out in return a vague promise of marriage. It then develops that the woman inherits her penchant for lying from her parent, and that a similar misunderstanding brought about her family's downfall. The ultimate reconciliation is brought about in a manner that is almost farcical, a telegram from the father, telling the outraged husband that his wife is dying. He arrives, to find her rebelling at the deception, and cured at last of the habit of lying, so he takes her to his arms again. The dialogue is witty and diverting, and the principal characters are cleverly drawn, although, to anyone acquainted with Mr. Fitch's plays, they are mostly old familiar types. Miss Bloodgood's embodiment of Becky Warder is an excellent bit of acting; and Mrs. Sam Sothern wins approval as Mrs. Lindon.

At the Casino, the Messrs. Shubert have brought forward a new attraction, which has scored an unqualified success, and is likely to have a long run. It is Princess Beggar, the new comedy opera, written and composed especially for Miss Paula Edwardes by Edward Poulton, author of Erminie, and Alfred Robyn, composer of The Yankee Consul, &c., which takes its title from the fact that Elaine, the character created by Miss Edwardes, is of Royal birth, although at the opening of the opera she is a beggar. The scenes are laid in the mythical kingdom of Vagaria, where, some years before the opening of the play, a revolution, financed by Baron Lombardo, a type of the modern "money king," has all but exterminated the reigning house of Gregoronoff, and placed a rival ruler upon the throne in the person of Otto XXX. This jovial but impecunious monarch is so completely in the financial toils of the ambitious Baron that he is in fact a mere puppet-King, and his only hope of extricating the Royal house of Vagaria from a practical condition of bankruptcy, to to wed his son, Prince Karl, to some wealthy spinster of Royal lineage. To that end he takes advantage of Lombardo's absence to invite marriageable and richly-gowned Princesses from all the kingdoms of Europe to enter a sort of Royal match-making competition to capture the fancy and hand of the Prince. But the prospective bridegroom reveals an obstacle in the rather vague person of a young woman who once saved him from drowning, and, although he does not know who or what she is, he considers it his duty, according to all the rules of romance and chivalry, to first find her and offer his hand in marriage. Moreover, Baron Lombardo interrupts the ceremony of the presentation of the Princesses, and offers his daughter, the Lady Rowena, as a candidate for the position of Crown Princess, in spite of the fact that she has fallen in love with Count Rollo, the Prince's particular chum. When Rowena is, both for reasons of friendship and romance, declined by the Prince, Lombardo insists that the widower Otto shall make her his Queen, producing a contract compelling the Royal Family to enter into an alliance within a specified time, on forfeiture of their private estates to the rapacious Baron. But a certain Dr. Hans Von Sprudel, appointed private physician to the King by a company in which the Royal life is heavily insured in favour of the same Lombardo, shows the King a way out of the difficulty, through wedding the first woman he meets. She happens to be Elaine, a "girl from the woods," who not only saved the Prince from drowning, but fell head-over-heels in love herself. Therefore she traces him to the Palace, where she accepts the position of housemaid, in order to be near him, and incidentally courts him in most ingenuous fashion. Failing to capture the Prince, she accepts the King as second choice, and then arises the difficulty of getting married, because Lombardo has cornered the ministers. But Elaine leads the way to the Island of Ferns, where Father Boniface, formerly chaplain of the Royal House of Gregoronoff, lives as a hermit. He and Casper, her foster father, alone know that Elaine is in reality a Princess, rescued as a babe from the revolution, and, for safety's sake, brought up as a simple child of the forest. Likewise the faithful Father has preserved the chimes from the Royal chapel, swearing that they shall be rung again only to announce Elaine's wedding or coronation, which events, after many complications both comical and dramatic, are both celebrated at the climax of the opera, Prince Karl, instead of his impecunious papa, being the bridegroom. Miss Edwardes is a winsome Elaine, and easily maintains her popularity as a singing comedienne. Mr. Bertram Wallis as Prince Karl has a fine presence and a good voice, and is an ideal stage lover. Mr. Stanley L. Ford is conspicuously successful as Baron Lombardo, his rendering of the tuneful and well-written song, "I want it all," being greatly enjoyed and appreciated by the audience. Mr. Eddie Garvie and Mr. Harry MacDonough are amusing in the leading comedy rôles. Mr. Robyn's music deserves a word of praise. It is neither reminiscent nor hackneyed, but has a certain charm and freshness that leaves a most agreeable impression. This is particularly true of the "Echo" song, sung by Mr. Wallis and several members of the chorus in a most effective and ear-entrancing manner.

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—Salomy Jane, a drama of Western life, founded on Bret Harte's story, "Salomy Jane's Kiss," was received with enthusiastic approval at the Liberty Theatre on the 19th inst., Miss Eleanor Robson scoring a most emphatic success in the title-rôle. The play is in four acts and five scenes, and was written by Paul Armstrong, author of The Heir to the Hoorah and other American plays. The only important departure from the original story occurs in the first act. Instead of making Salomy Jane's love for the suspected cattle thief proceed from the stoicism displayed by him when he is about to be lynched, her interest is first aroused when he confides to her that he has killed the outlaw, Baldwin, to avenge an injury committed against another woman. The scenes of the play are laid among the big trees of California during the gold days. Salomy Jane is the daughter of Madison Clay, a Kentuckian, who is at enmity with a former neighbour in the "Blue Grass" State named Larrabee, who now lives in the same section of California as Clay does. Yuba Bill, the stage driver, has been "held up" and shot in the arm. After two weeks' work, the Vigilantes learn that a ruffian named Red Pete was one of the robbers. They capture him, and, at the same time, take "the Man." He has no other name. When the crowd proposes to lynch him with Red Pete, Salomy Jane tries to save him. Failing in that, she throws her arms around him and kisses him. He and Pete are taken away, but only Pete is hanged, and the Man escapes. He goes at once to Clay's home, at night, and Salomy Jane gives him an old overcoat and a hat belonging to her father. While making his way through the woods, he meets Larrabee, who mistakes him for Clay, and attacks him. The Man shoots Larrabee dead. Then he returns to the Clay home and settles his score with Salomy Jane's cowardly lover, Rube Waters, in the cold, grey dawn, beside the corral. The play ends cleverly. After Salomy Jane and her lover have passed through all their trials, and are presumably to be made happy ever after, she asks him "What's your name, Man?" and a humorous note is struck at just the right moment. The rôle of the Man was splendidly acted by Mr. H. B. Warner, to whom the critics gave full credit for making his most decided hit during his first American engagement in a purely American character. Mr. Ralph Delmore gave a graphic portrayal of Yuba Bill; and Miss Ada Dwyer made a distinct success as Lize Heath, the wife of Red Pete. Mr. Holbrook Blinn gave an excellent representation of Jack Marbury, a polished gambler. Colonel Starbottle, the ceremonious old Kentuckian, was played to the life by Mr. Reuben Fax; and Messrs. Earl Browne, Horace Vinton, Henry Harmon, and Stephen Wright contributed clever characterisations. Three children, on whose prattle several of the momentous incidents of the play depended, were effectively impersonated by Master Donald Gallaher, Miss Frances Golden Fuller, and Miss Ruth Abbott Wells.

"The Student King," which won instant favour when it was produced recently at the Garden Theatre, has been hailed as a genuine example of "old-fashioned comic opera." The music was composed by Reginald De Koven, while the book was written by Stanislaus Stange and the late Frederic Ranken. In Bohemia, according to the story, it was the custom to elect one of the Prague University students to reign as King for one day, in place of Rudolph, the ruling monarch. Princess Ilsa of Tyrol, betrothed to Rudolph, arrives with her train of Court women to take part in the festivities, and falls in love with the student, Francis, who has been elected King. During the carnival the Princess and Francis plan an elopement, but are frustrated by the real King, who claps the young man in irons, and is about to order his execution, when it is discovered that Francis is the long lost heir to the throne. Rudolph thereupon abdicates in favour of his son, and orders the betrothal of the lovers to be celebrated by the populace. The second act presents a lively and beautiful picture of the carnival, and a much-applauded feature of the third act is a students' drinking song, in the Fest Hall of the University. Miss Lina Abarbanell, erstwhile a favourite soprano of the Metropolitan Opera House and the Irving Place Theatre, has made a decided hit as the Princess Ilsa, charming the audience not only by her singing, but by her sprightliness as a comedienne. Mr. Alexander Clark, in the character of Rudolph, is an amusing droll; and Mr. Henry Coote distinguishes himself in the rôle of the student Francis. The music is delightful, the ensembles being particularly pleasing to the ear. Mr. Henry W. Savage has mounted the opera in his usual lavish manner, and nothing is wanting to make it a lasting success.

Mme. Alla Nazimova, the Russian actress, whose signal success in an English-speaking rôle was recently recorded, has again hit the mark, and has been showered with compliments for her fine interpretation of the part of Nora in Ibsen's A Doll's House. By more than one newspaper she has been acclaimed the leading actress of the American stage, and no one has dissented from the general verdict that she is one to whom the word "great," so often misused, may be justly applied. Her performance is marked by an extraordinary precision of technique, a rare intuition, and absolute naturalness, while her play of feature and the tones of her voice denote innumerable delicate shades of feeling. Mme. Nazimova's success during a series of special matinées at the Princess Theatre has prompted her manager, Mr. Henry Miller, to present her as a regular evening attraction at the Bijou Theatre. The Russian actress will undoubtedly win greater honours than she has won already when she becomes thoroughly familiar with the English language.

Vesta Victoria's song, "Poor John," causes a furore nightly at the Colonial Theatre, and the newspapers predict for it an even greater popularity than that of "Waiting at the church." Vesta Victoria has enrolled herself among the very small number of English artists who have ever succeeded in making an American audience join in the chorus. But the tune and the words of "Poor John" are simply irresistible.

"NIGEL."

The New Romantic Opera, in Two Acts, Composed by Stephen R. Philpott, Written by Percy Pinkerton, Produced, for the First Time, at the Grand Theatre, Birmingham, Jan. 25.

Nigel .....MR. F. J. HARGRAVE
Geoffrey .....MR. TOM GRIFFITHS
Colin .....MR. G. RIDDING
Margery .....MISS JESSIE DENNIS
Winnifred .....MISS CHRISTINE GOMEZ

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

The story of Nigel, which opens in a Devonshire village, is pretty, though plaintive, with a tragic dénouement, and concerns the conflict of the Roundhead, Geoffrey, with the handsome and gallant cavalier whose name furnishes the title of the opera. Nigel is beloved by the two maidens, Margery and Winnifred, the former of whom he delivers from the distasteful advances of Geoffrey, hence the conflict, in which the Roundhead is discomfited, and, declaring vengeance, makes his exit. Nigel comforts the maid, albeit he loves her not, being enamoured of Winnifred, who, happening on the scene at the time, develops incipient jealousy. Her affection for Margery, however, remains unabated, and soon she is assured of her lover's fidelity, and all is well. A chorus of harvesters enter on the scene, and the Cavaliers, with the gaiety of their kind, join the dance. "Sing hey, sing ho! for the gay Cavalier," "Let every gallant choose a maid," and "Wine like this sparkles with bliss," are lines wedded to a joyous lilt, which infected the audience with the spirit of the scene. The diversion is now rudely interrupted by an incursion of Roundheads, headed by Geoffrey, who, on vengeance bent, grievously wounds the Cavalier, and bears him away, bound with cords. Thus the act closes, amid the protestations of the maids, Winnifred and Margery, and the confusion of the Cavaliers and harvesters.

Act 2 opens with a procession of priests and choir, and, entering the church, the choir and organ are heard in some impressive strains, which proved the composer's capacity for scoring good, sound harmony. During this Nigel enters, helpless and distressed, and supported by Margery, who, disguised as a Roundhead, has drugged the sentries and effected his escape. Hiding him in a barn, she essays to make her own escape, but being surprised and recognised by the Roundheads, she, on refusing to betray Nigel's hiding-place, is led away for death. Winnifred, having been apprised of Nigel's place of safety, joins him, and is discovered there by Geoffrey, who brutally runs his sword through his hapless and helpless rival, putting him to death. The villain flees the spot, and Winnifred, seizing Nigel's dagger, dies, Juliet-like, at her lover's side, amid the lamentations of the villagers, who invoke Heaven's mercy on the twain. This made a very effective curtain, and the appreciative audience showered much applause, which was all deserved, for the work, though, of course, not a great one, was thoroughly enjoyable from beginning to end. The overture, embodying the leading themes, disclosed much that was admirable in the orchestration of the work, and the opening chorus for harvesters merry-making gave forth a joyous ring. The early song for Margery is distinguished by exquisite melodic charm, and it was exquisitely sung by Miss Jessie Dennis, to whom the character was allotted. The duet with Geoffrey, "What news, my pretty Margery?" and Geoffrey's fracas with Nigel, is expressed with much point, while Geoffrey's song, "For honour and country," is tuneful and stirring. "The Ballad of Lucasta," for Nigel, and the duet, "Love like the sunset," for Nigel and Winnifred, together with Nigel's "Drinking song," and the country dance and choruses for villagers, were highly suggestive of the period.

An intermezzo, "In the meadows," precedes the second act, and here again the various numbers displayed much lyrical charm. This was conspicuous in the beautiful lullaby for Margery, which was encored; also "An old, sweet tale" (Margery), "Kind, generous Margery" (Nigel), "Oh! sacred love" (Winnifred), and "I dreamt we were in Paradise" (Nigel and Winnifred). The choruses and ensembles, as well as the orchestration, show a distinct advance on the composer's former work, Gitana, and, taking it all in all, the opera is one to which the term pleasing may well be applied.

The J. W. Turner Opera Company is engaged in the presentation of the work, and Mr. F. J. Hargrave, in the title-rôle, well deserved his honours. Possessing a clear tenor voice, which has never been better used, he showed a sympathy with the part and an appreciation of the music which left its impression distinctly. Miss Christine Gomez was entrusted with the soprano part, Winnifred, which she made most interesting and successful, her solo and part singing being rendered in a most charming and artistic manner. Miss Jessie Dennis, as the self-sacrificing Margery, made a marked impression, as she always does, her sweet voice and sympathetic acting accounting for much of the success. Mr. Tom Griffiths as the obnoxious bully and Roundhead, Geoffrey, acted and sang finely, the manner of the boor and the perfection of the singer being firmly expressed. Mr. G. Ridding, in the small and weak part of the Captain, Colin, who deserts his chief, Nigel, was an able supporter, and the chorus and orchestra, under the conspicuously firm and alert conductorship of Mr. T. Lawton, did splendidly. Mention must also be made of the libretto by Percy Pinkerton, for, without being ambitious, the lines take a happy turn and convey a pleasant sentiment.

Nigel was preceded by a one-act farce, set to music, by Caldicott, entitled Old Knockles, in which Mr. P. Newton did well as Sir Miles Allbright, a young man disguised as a fisherman, to evade the conditions of a will, under which it is stipulated that he must wed a lady he has never seen. Miss Kitty Brownlees was tuneful and bright as the young lady in question, Maud Coventry, and to whom Sir Miles eventually succumbs; Miss Jessie Dennis was also successful as Kate Hazlewood, a lady novelist in search of "copy"; Mr. Richard Cummings provided diversion as Mr. Bellworthy, an amiable imbecile, with "a title in Spain and a fortune in China"; and Mr. John Ridding scored as old Knockles, who, for the nonce, is by the lady novelist taken for Sir Miles. This amusing trifle contains some entertaining items, to mention only "The fishing net" (duet), "The North Sea whale" (song), "Making the pie" (quartette), "You do it to perfection" (song), &c.

MR. GERALD FITZGIBBON, the press manager of the Crystal Palace, writes:—"I have noticed in my few months' connection with the Palace that the enormous population does not support the management of the Palace as it should. With the limited means at the disposal of the Company, they have done, and are doing wonders; but the people of Sydenham, Norwood, Penge, Croydon, and other parts can, by becoming season ticket holders, give the Crystal Palace Company the chance of bringing to Sydenham exhibitions, entertainments, and novelties which should draw the whole of the Metropolis. As it is the management present the best theatrical companies that can be obtained, and the most distinguished artists, vocal and instrumental, are engaged for the concerts, while the other entertainments both indoors and out in the beautiful grounds are unequalled. The late Prince Consort was the founder of the Crystal Palace, and it is probable that were the attention of the King drawn to the crisis through which the Crystal Palace has been passing, His Majesty would devise some means of placing so old an institution again upon a sound basis."

MR. JOSEPH DILLEY.

Mr. Dilley was born in Westminster in 1838. His first essays in dramatic writing took the shape of recitations and sketches for the elocutionary entertainments of the Walworth Literary Institution. He next wrote some short pieces for the Ingoldsby Amateur Dramatic Club. These earlier efforts included Love or Duty—Which Wins? In the Toils, Caronne, A Sleeping Hare (acted later at St. George's Hall), and a farce called Alexander the Great; or, A Pretty Piece of Chiselling. In this Mr. Dilley collaborated with Mr. James Albery, a fellow member of the club, whose local pen-name was James Allen.

In 1868 the Royal Dramatic College announced a competition for the second T. P. Cooke prize of £100 for the best drama on a nautical or national subject. The first prize had been carried off by Mr. Slous, whose play, True to the Core, had had a successful run at the Surrey Theatre. Messrs. Albery and Dilley again collaborated. The four-act play written and sent in by them was called The Mate of the Mountjoy, and their subject was the blockade and relief of the starving city of Londonderry in 1689. The sensational effect was the breaking of the boom built across the river Foyle. The piece, which a waggish competitor suggested should have been called Love and Starvation, was declared to be the best of those sent in, and the prize of £100 was handed to the gratified authors. The Mate of the Mountjoy was not, however, fortunate enough to find a stage. In 1870 Mr. Dilley produced a two-act comedy called Illusions at the Charing Cross Theatre, then under the management of Miss Emily Fowler. Miss Harriet Coveney, Mr. C. P. Flockton, and Mr. E. Danvers, of Dame Hatley fame—what a long journey backwards these names seem to take us!—were in the cast. The newspaper notices of this, Mr. Dilley's first piece on the "regular" stage, were critically cordial. There was said to be "a large balance of good" in the little comedy, and the author was told to go on writing.

An advertisement in the Echo announcing the first night of the production furnished a remarkable specimen of "printer's pie," which is worth quoting if only as a warning to compositors:—

CHARING CROSS THEATRE. Lessee. BAD AFTER ALL Saturday, May 21, ILLUSIONS, a and Manageress Miss Emily Fowler. Last night of IXION. Last night of MR. WYBERT REEVE, and NOT SO Comedy by Joseph J. Dilley.

Under the title of Chiselling, the farce, the tentative production of which has already been mentioned, was put in the Vaudeville bills in August, 1870, with the late Mr. David James in the part of Trotter. As is well known Mr. James scored a brilliant success in this part, which he played again and again after its first run was over. Mr. Dilley's next farce was A Highland Fling. It was accepted in 1875 by Messrs. James and Thorne, who did not, however, produce it until 1879, on the occasion of the 1277th performance of Our Boys—the first break in a bill that had been running for nearly four years.

A notable production at the Vaudeville in 1881 was that of Tom Pinch, a dramatisation by Messrs. Clifton and Dilley of what may be called the domestic interest in Dickens's "Martin Chuzzlewit." It was said of Mr. Thorne that he might have stood for the famous illustration of Tom Pinch in the book. He won almost equally high praise for his acting. The cast, an exceptionally strong one, included Mr. Farren, Mr. John Maclean, Mr. Lestocq, Miss Kate Bishop, and Miss Sophie Larkin. At a Crystal Palace matinée afterwards, Miss Mary Dickens, a granddaughter of the novelist, played the part of Ruth. The adaptation has been and is still being played in the United States and Canada, with Mr. E. S. Willard in the title-rôle.

A Military Manœuvre (Vaudeville, 1880), Summoned to Court (Sadler's Wells, 1880), and Cousin Grace (Gaiety, 1884), were the joint work of Messrs. Clifton and Dilley. A Glimpse of Paradise was the title of Mr. Dilley's three-act farce, of which a mock duel was the central motive. It was exploited with success at Ealing in 1887, and was afterwards sent on tour. In Whips of Steel (four acts, St. George's Hall, 1889) and Richard's Play (one-act costume piece, Ladbroke Hall, 1891) Mr. Dilley collaborated with Miss Mary C. Rowsell. The authors of the book of the comic opera, Marjorie, as produced at a Prince of Wales's matinée in July, 1889, were Messrs. Clifton and Dilley. They were congratulated on having chosen a picturesque period for their story, and on having provided an attractive plot, good comedy business, and some exceptionally smooth lyrics. A distinctive feature of the opera was the bright and telling music composed by Mr. Walter Slaughter, whose first important work it was. The opera, in revised form, was put into the evening bills of the theatre in January, 1890.

A powerful little one-act play, or, as Mr. Dilley prefers to call it, a dramatic vignette, entitled, At the Cross Roads, is his latest contribution to the stage. The piece has been round the provinces more than once, and has even been seen so far afield as New Zealand

Mr. Dilley was for nearly forty years at the Board of Trade, the colleague for most of the time of Mr. Austin Dobson, Mr. Samuel Waddington, and the late Mr. Cosmo Monkhouse.

ACTORS AT GOLF.

The theatrical match between the actors engaged at the Prince's Royal and Gaiety Theatres, Manchester, and a team chosen by Mr. T. Foster from among the members of the Manchester Club was played at Trafford Park on the 21st ult. All the talent at the pantomimes was included in the visiting team, the "star" turns being Mr. Fred Leslie, jun., and F. J. Hope, both of whom started from scratch. The former was completely off his game, and after getting into all sorts of bunkers, missing short putts, and indulging in other commonplace errors, he succumbed to P. R. Harrap, who played a strong game. W. Heyes was behind all the time in his game with F. J. Hope, and two excellent long putts on the last two greens enabled him to snatch a half. George Gregory played a fine long game, but he was somewhat disconcerted by his opponent, A. T. Spalding, who, continuing his form of Saturday last, only made his first mistake on the thirteenth green, and holed out in 77. One of the toughest fights took place between George Lee and A. Catterall, and the latter was 2 up and 3 to play. Lee, who is a stubborn opponent, played with great determination, and snatched the victory on the last green with a two-yard putt. Wilkie Bard was anything but a "star" in the outward journey, and was probably disconcerted by a small and admiring throng of photographers and spectators. As a golfer he is a very human player. In the latter stages of the game he improved, and to his great delight he halved the match with T. Foster, who was dormy two.

Wilkie Bard's start imperilled the club dining room window, and the fact that Miss Carrie Moore was critically observing his initial efforts, having driven (in a cab) down to Trafford Hall purposely, did not tend to increase his confidence. After the match the visitors were entertained to lunch, when Wilkie Bard, on behalf of his brethren, acknowledged the club's hospitality

THE ACTOR'S UNION.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE ERA.

SIR,—Will you allow me to say that Mr. Edward Van Biene has somehow made a mistake over my figures? He either has read an incorrect report of my speech, or misunderstood what I said. I never suggested that theatres should subscribe £50 or £25 each. I was speaking of my favourite matinée scheme. I pointed out that there were 250 theatres open in England. I said if a matinée were given in each of them the average result should be a good deal over £50. I added, if we got £50 from each the result would be £12,500, and if we only got £25 from each the result would be over £6000, which is more than our charities spend to-day.

Mr. Van Biene quotes only the higher figure that I mentioned, and he speaks of it as a subscription, not the result of a matinée. Now that I have drawn his attention to the fact, perhaps it may alter his view of the matter.

Mr. Van Biene's opinion with regard to who should, and who should not, assist the poor of our calling is no doubt worthy of the best consideration, but those who are trying to stimulate and systematise charity at present have at least the consolation that they are trying to do something, while their obviously more brilliant brethren can do nothing but rail at motor-cars and talk of the "common sense," which does not appear to

MR. FRANK ROTHSAY'S BENEFIT.

A complimentary benefit performance was accorded to Mr. Frank Rothsay, at the Stratford Borough Theatre, on Thursday afternoon, and a large and enthusiastic audience testified to the excellence of the programme submitted. This year's very successful pantomime, Robinson Crusoe, was the staple attraction, and the beneficiare had the assistance of many professional friends now in London. Miss Stella Gastelle, who has become deservedly popular in the name-part of the pantomime, appeared, together with Mr. Roland Cunningham, in a scena from La Poupée, and they had a most flattering reception; Miss Rosie Sylvester won all hearts with "I want a little man like you," and was a general favourite; Mr. Ben Albert was, as usual, well to the fore with his capital songs; Mr. Dan Paulton rendered a new ditty for the occasion with the utmost success; and Mr. W. E. Richardson, most diverting of "dames," lent valuable aid. Miss Ethel Ashton quickly danced her way into favour, and was cordially received; Mr. Frank Hemming, strikingly successful as Friday, contributed a successful item in conjunction with Miss Marie Free; and Messrs. Woodhouse and Wells, the popular Larboard and Starboard of the pantomime, provoked endless mirth with their speciality act. Mr. F. Maxwell Stewart, in addition to his onerous duties as stage-manager, showed the possession of much vocal ability in a pleasing contribution to the programme. In addition to the pantomime artists, Mr. Phil Ray scored quite a triumph in "Abbreviations," and was rapturously encored; Mr. Andrew Roy's fine vocalism was greatly admired in a most artistically-rendered item; and Mr. Ernest Genders was in excellent voice with "Come into the garden, Maud." Mr. Story Gofton recited, with much dramatic effect; and Miss Ethel Holden won golden opinions with her "Cigarette" song, very charmingly rendered. The duologue contributed by Dick and Minnie Lewis was most welcome; and the instrumental selection by Orpheus afforded keen pleasure.

During an interval Mr. Rothsay appeared on the stage, and, in the course of a most felicitous speech, thanked Mrs. Ellis Fredericks, the proprietress of the Stratford Theatres, the pantomime artists, the orchestra, and the staff at the back and front of the theatre, and those professional friends who had assisted towards the success of the matinée. A pleasing incident was the presentation to Mr. Rothsay of a substantial cheque by Mr. Percy Briggs, a well-known resident of Stratford, on behalf of numerous local friends of the beneficiare, as a token of their esteem and appreciation of his popularity during the eleven years he has been in Stratford as acting-manager of the Borough Theatre. Mr. Briggs's well-chosen words were enthusiastically applauded, and Mr. Rothsay, in reply, said that he had made numerous friends in Stratford, and he hoped long to continue in their midst. A telegram from Mr. Fred Fredericks, the general-manager of the Stratford Theatres, expressed his regret that a severe illness prevented him from being present at the matinée, which he wished every success.

"BLUE BEARD," at the Royal County Theatre, Kingston-on Thames, which was withdrawn last Saturday evening owing to other bookings, has been the most successful of the eleven shows that Mr. Peter Davey, the energetic managing-director, has produced since the opening of the theatre, and might well have been run for several weeks longer. The close of the pantomime was marked by a ball on the stage, after the performance, on the 24th ult., to which a number of non-professional friends were invited by Mr. and Mrs. Peter Davey. Several members of the companies appearing in the pantomimes Goody Two-Shoes, Sinbad the Sailor, and The Babes in the Wood, which Mr. Davey has also been touring, joined the gathering, which was also graced by the presence of the Mayor of Kingston, Mr. J. M. R. Francis. Dancing commenced immediately the stage was cleared, and was kept up with vigour until about 3 a.m.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

PARIS, THURSDAY, JAN. 31.—It speaks well for Mme. Sarah Bernhardt's artistic temperament that a rôle of a man with a hump should not have frightened her. There are many actresses, here and on your side of the water, who would not like to make themselves look unattractive; but be it said to the honour of this clever woman, she does not allow vanity, as regards her personal appearance, to interfere with her art It is true the man she impersonates is only a pseudo-hunchback, who in the last act throws off his hump. Yet during four acts Mme. Bernhardt has to show herself with a protuberance on her back; and the public showed itself grateful for this sacrifice. The author calls his piece a "story," and has laid the scene towards the middle of the sixteenth century, in the days when kings and great noblemen had paid jesters to entertain them. It is possible that in the course of time the paid jester slowly blossomed into a Poet Laureate, who has the advantage over his mediæval colleague of not being compelled to be funny by order. The plot is very simple. Solange is the seventeen-year-old daughter of the Baron de Mautpré, an impoverished nobleman. Owing to her father's poverty, the girl leads a secluded life in the gloomy old castle. Visitors are rarely admitted, and two young noblemen who have fallen in love with her seek some means of entering the castle. At last they hit upon a ruse. Solange feeling desponding, the Baron, in order to cheer her, decides to engage a buffoon, and organises a competition, the choice to be made from among those who present themselves. Solange herself is to make the selection, and the two lovers make their appearance, disguised as buffoons; one of them, Narcisse, in a magnificent costume, and the other, Jocasse, in a quieter dress, wearing a hump. Both excel in wit, but it is Jocasse who not only is the winner but secures the fair girl's love. The competition has been started at the suggestion of the apothecary, the Baron's medical adviser, and that kind-hearted man knows that Jocasse's deformity is only a sham. And when the anxious Solange asks him whether a man can be cured of his hump, he promptly replies that a hump frequently disappears on the humpback's wedding-day. And, almost needless to say, this miracle really takes place when the eventful moment arrives. Brightly written in excellent verse, the work scored a great and well-deserved success. Mme. Sarah Bernhardt was a pathetic and delightful Jocasse; Mlle. Greuze supplied a charming Solange; and the strong cast, comprising MM. Krauss, Maury, Laroche, Gerval, and Decœur, rendered capital service.

"LA MAISON DES JUGES."

Play, in Three Acts, by M. Gaston Leroux, produced at the Odéon on Jan. 27.

Béatrice .....MLLE. VAN DOREN
Mme. Lambert .....MME. DELPHINE RENOT
Nanette .....MLLE. MARCELLE JULLIEN
Petit Pierre .....PETITE CRETOT
L'ancêtre Pétrus Lamarque .....M. DUQUESNE
Président Louis Lamarque .....M. CHELLES
Jean Lamarque .....M. DESJARDINS
Marie-Louis Lamarque .....M. ROLLAN
Le Réquisiteur Général .....MARQUET
Le Grand Réquisiteur .....M. DUARD
Le Conseiller Lambert .....M. LEON BERNARD
Le Juge Faber ..... M. VARGAS

M. Gaston Leroux, a well-known journalist, evidently not favourably impressed with the manner in which sentences are rendered by those who hold the scales of justice, asks the question: "Has a judge really the right to punish?" Judges, he says, are only men, liable to be guided more by passion than by reason. Moreover, they make mistakes that cannot always be set right; and he wants our legislators to study this problem, which, if I am not mistaken, has already been put forward by others. M. Leroux introduces us into the "maison des juges," a house inhabited by three generations of judges. Jean Lamarque, Public Prosecutor, whose boy will enter the Bar, has his apartment on the first floor, which he shares with his father, Louis Lamarque, President of the Court of Appeal. On the floor above lives his grandfather, Pétrus Lamarque, ninety-five years old, a former President of the Assize Court. Jean Lamarque is a hard man, harsh even with the members of his household. Having received an anonymous denunciation that Béatrice, his wife, is unfaithful to him, he disregards her protestations, and, but for the fear of a scandal, would have asked for a separation. Wrongly suspected, Béatrice's life at home is well-nigh unbearable. Jean Lamarque is prosecuting a certain Tiffaire, an anarchist, who has thrown a bomb in one of the law courts. This Tiffaire is the descendant of one of the three brothers Tiffaire sentenced to death many years ago by the old grandfather, although, till the very last, they protested their innocence. Leperrier, the examining magistrate, looking through the Tiffaire papers, discovers that the before-mentioned three men had not committed the deed for which they were executed, and he lays the proofs before Jean. The latter is thunderstruck. He does not want the truth to be known, lest the prestige of the Bench might suffer. But when the old grandfather admits having wilfully committed this wrong in order to save society from anarchists' plots, Jean is horrified. The old gentleman, having made this terrible confession, drops down dead. Jean, however, will do his duty. He will divulge the truth, and he clasps in his arms his wife of whose innocence he is now convinced. It is a fine work, but beyond the mentality of the average playgoer, who does not care for lofty thoughts, but who wants a "story" to amuse him. And for this reason it is to be feared that the piece will not have the success it deserves. It was excellently acted.

WE have had a revival at the Théâtre de la Porte-Saint Martin of Notre-Dame de Paris, the popular old drama, as well known in London as it is here. Brought out in 1879, it was revived in 1885, when again it met with a hearty reception. Another generation has since sprung up, whose tastes are somewhat different; and it cannot be said that they grew wildly enthusiastic over the performance. The work, however, is well staged, well acted; and it is probable that MM. Hertz and Jean Coquelin, who are again at the head of this house, will be satisfied with the result.

"ANNA KARENINE,"

Play in Five Acts and Seven Tableaux, by M. Edmond Guiraud, adapted from Tolstoi's novel, produced at Antoine's on Jan. 31.

Anna Karénine .....MME. ANDREE MEGARD
Comtesse Miagkaia .....MLLE. GILBERTE SERGY
Dolly .....MLLE. ACKEAT
Kitty .....MLLE. VENIAT
Lydie Ivanovna .....MLLE. JANE EVEN
Princess Barbe .....MLLE. LISE FLEURY
Alexis Karénine .....M. GEMIER
Wronsky .....M. GASTON SEVERON
Stiva .....M. COLAS
Makotine .....M. GODEAU
Levine .....M. MONTLOUIS

It is not generally known that Tolstoi never claims a cent royalty from those who adapt his novels for the stage. He never derived any financial benefit from the French and English adaptation of "Resurrection"; and M. Guiraud, who has taken a few liberties with "Anna Karénine" when dramatising it, will not be called upon to share his profits with the great Russian writer. From a business point of view, this is no doubt most satisfactory; but there is another side to the question—the public does not like to see its idols smashed. "Anna Karénine" is one of Tolstoi's finest works, and we do not feel particularly happy when we see it transferred to the stage, condensed into half a dozen commonplace tableaux, shorn of the deep psychology that makes the work so human. The adapter has slightly altered the story. Anna Karénine, the wife of a high official, has fallen in love with Captain Wronsky, the fiancé of Kitty, her dearest friend. She leaves her husband and her child to go away with her lover; and as Alexis Karénine will not consent to a divorce, she and Wronsky know the melancholy side of an irregular situation. They have settled in Venice. Anna is sighing after her child, whilst Wronsky regrets that he foolishly resigned his post in the army. Anna returns to Russia to see her little boy on the stealth, and Wronsky succeeds in being reinstated into his former post. A few years later Alexis Karénine is willing to divorce; but Wronsky, who has become colonel, does no longer care to marry his mistress. In fact, he has ceased to love her. Overcome with grief, tired of life, Anna throws herself under the train that carries off Wronsky and the girl who is to become his wife. The work was effectively staged, especially the tableau wherein Anna commits suicide. Mme. Mégard may be complimented on the way in which she interpreted the difficult rôle of Anna; and M. Gémier impersonated the cold, implacable Alexis to perfection.

Miss Voos .....MISS PHŒBE MERCER
Freda Voos .....MISS GWENDOLINE BROGDEN
Clara Voos .....MISS GLADYS IVERY
Gretchen .....MISS EVA KELLY
An Old Market Woman ....MISS ALICE COLEMAN
Mina .....MISS GRACIE LEIGH
Sally .....MISS ISABEL JAY

The new piece produced at the Prince of Wales's Theatre on Thursday night by Mr. Frank Curzon proved to be a delightful example of the lighter form of theatrical entertainment which comes under the comprehensive description of musical play. While all the primal and essential features of this class of piece are conspicuous in the new production, the authors have steered clear of giving offence to the most fastidious playgoer, while at the same time they have been equally successful in presenting a bright and merry entertainment that has not a dull moment in it from beginning to end. As to plot, well that is generally regarded as of the least importance in musical comedy, dependent as it is for its attractive powers upon smart dialogue, good songs, and pretty music, to say nothing of charming scenery and dresses. Briefly told the story has to do with Mr. Hook, a Dutch distiller, who through carelessness loses the receipt of a famous liqueur, the manufacture of which has brought him wealth. A loafer named Simon Slinks finds the receipt, and from him it passes into the possession of Captain Adrian Paap. It appears that Mr. Hook has no love for the military, and this is unfortunate for the gallant captain, who has fallen in love with Sally, the distiller's attractive daughter. He thinks that by restoring the valuable recipe to its original owner he may overcome that gentleman's objection to a marriage with his daughter. As a matter of fact, however, the young lady has already made up her mind that Bandmaster Van Vuyt is the man she really cares for, and in the end the captain, instead of taking his disappointment to heart, seeks consolation elsewhere.
